NEW BEAUTY for the SOUND SCREEN

Eastman sonochrome embraces the widest range of tinted positive films that has ever been available for the sereen. And—what is all-important in this new age—the sixteen delicate Sonochrome tints are so adjusted as not to interfere with the faithful reproduction of sound....Successors to the tints of the silent era, these Eastman films bring new color moods—new beauty—to the sound screen.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY

ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

Everywhere exhibitors are hearing it in the lobbies of their theatres, big and small. The people come out laughing they wouldn't have missed that comedy for anything!

Of course it's one of Educational's new talking comedies—the pictures that have marked the rebirth of screen humor. They provide a new and better kind of comedy entertainment for your public. And the way the public is talking about them proves how they are building new business for exhibitors.

EDUCATIONAL FILM EXCHANGES, Inc.

Motion Picture News, reporting a recent program at the New York Strand says the feature "did a corking week" but adds:

"but, to all appearances, Trusting Wives," two-reel Educational Talking Camedy, with Edward Everett Horton featured, stole the show away from the feature, with the audience buzzing about the short comedy rather than the feature on leaving the theatre."

RADIO'S MIRACLE SUCCESS

A Tribute to Radio Pictures by Film Daily:

RIORITA marks the turning point in the brilliant career of Radio Pictures. It justifies all the claims they have been making for the past eight months. Here is a big producing organization that has come through splendidly with a record of performance on promises. It is probably also true that Radio Pictures has hit the peak in a shorter time than any other company in the history of the business. Eight months! Think that one over."

Vital Factors in Radio's

Sweeping Triumph

CONSISTENCY

In its first season of operation Radio Pictures has delivered two of the greatest attractions of this or any other year.

'STREET GIRL' hits a high mark of showmanly excellence and sets a blazing pace.

'RIO RITA' roars in with more class, more laughs, more romance and music and spectacle than any other show of all time and settles down to sell out business at the Earl Carroll, New York.

All other attractions have maintained a high standard at the box-office.

PRODUCER CONFESSIONS

By William A. Johnston

THIS is not the same old Hollywood.
Sound, which made such chaos here, has seemingly, now that the dust has cleared away, put production on a more solid and orderly basis. You can underscore these last words.

One of the major companies boasts that its entire season's schedule with only one or two exceptions is as good as ready for release; not only that, but at least one other of next season's pictures is ready and waiting for shooting.

That's progress. Two and a half years ago the same company was concentrating on big specials and letting program pictures make themselves in the cutting room. Which makes one observe: No wonder the public turned so enthusiastically to sound pictures.

The plain fact is that production was in a rut two and a half years ago—a serious rut. Silent pictures had just about encompassed all the effects that could make the public gasp and gape as in the past. So there was genuine hysteria on the part of those who aimed at specials, while those who had to maintain a schedule of fifty or more program pictures were in the dumps. Studio executives—now—can freely admit this.

Sound came along like an earthquake. But there are stronger edifices now on the old grounds. And what is equally important—a vastly new spirit of endeavor.

You get the impression here that production has been born anew. There's life in the studio air again. There are so many new things to do with sound—just as in the "Birth of a Nation" days there were so many and untried opportunities for animation. Again—and this perhaps is basic—you cannot make a sound picture in the helter-skelter fashion that silent pictures permitted.

The sound pictures demand elaborate preparation—so much so that there are now two distinct periods, equally important: one of preparation, one of production. This, of course, makes for order and serious thoughtful work. There is decidedly less opportunity for four-flushing all along the line.

There are dangers, however, in the new regime. They might be summed up in a phrase: beware of the stage. There are several important angles to consider.

Let us remember, first of all, that the stage has always catered to adult audiences. The picture theatre wants, and must have family patronage. So it is vital—and never will cease to be—that pictures please the young folks.

Stage themes and stage dialogue are sophisticated—away over the youthful heads, for the most part. And, despite the remarkably excellent sound pictures now being turned out, it is a fact that many are not those that will put joy in the heart of a child. They are attracting many who never cared much for the silent movies. But they may also be driving away the valuable patronage of the young.

Another thing: It will be wise in the making of talkies to forget the stage—its limitations of four walls, and its well trodden paths of technique. Pictures, with their great breadth of expression, knocked the hackneyed stage bally-west. A talkie that doesn't take advantage of all the great advances scored by silent picture entertainment is a picture weakened by just that lack of entertainment. Talk, sound and song are great dramatic values, and animation is the basic thing. Pictures must build from the ground up—with animation; not from the top down—with sound.

An Insider's Outlook

A N interesting winter is in store. Glancing over the calendar of futures, you find the merger complex thriving mightily with the end not yet in sight although perhaps visible on the horizon.

As you read this, the much-discussed Paramount-Warner wedding has been cancelled. Harry Warner says so and certainly he should know. But H. M. and a quiet gentleman named Zukor have been hobnobbing for many weeks now and what appears one way today may take an entirely different turn tomorrow.

Having no flair for betting, we won't take odds. Neither will we give them. But, if you lean at all in the direction of tipsters, take one from this reporter and jot this down in your mental notebook of things that may be:

That the Zukor-Warner flirtation will burst forth anew before many weeks have gone by. You know bringing together two companies which total their assets somewhere in the staggering region of $440,000,000 is one tough job. The Warners, phenomenally successful in the business of concocting and dispensing sound, are jealous of their business prerogatives. Why not? They have every right to feel the way they do about themselves and the commercial mammoth they have reared. H. M. has surrounded himself with a coterie of faithful workers. They have stuck close to the general when the army was being shot away right under his eyes.

Having found their enterprises dipped in red ink three times over the years, the Warners have learned in full measure the comfort that comes from staunch adherents. Any move involving the future of their house, it follows, must take into account those faithful followers. In a combination embracing more millions than we can rationally count, it would seem this consideration would seem unimportant.

But it isn't. If you know Harry Warner, you would understand at once that any deal which left them out would find him balking. Merely one of the several sidelights on one of the week's big news developments, but not an unimportant slant no matter what your own dope may be.

Mamoulian

The inside from the Paramount plant across the bridge in Long Island had it that the man was a camera nut. You know, one of the directors who insists the

From One High Quarter

An important executive, commenting on the vogue for smut and questionable bon mots in this day of talkers, has this to say:

"There is no doubt of the great difficulties created by the indiscriminate use of slang ard wisecracks. For example, I went to see a certain big picture which was being screened in a theatre for the benefit of a censor board, on appeal. I dropped in as a spectator and remained only fifteen minutes—that was all I could stand and I am a hardened old sinner at that

"At a social relations conference the other day, the only real criticism made by any of the women present was their chagrin in going into motion picture theatres in London, Paris and elsewhere and hearing this self same slang and wisecracks. Something should be done about it."

lens of the camera must be the eye of the audience. Thus it happened that the advance dope on "Applause" guaranteed a profusion of unique photographic shots and maybe not much else. A visit to the Criterion then became mandatory and what appeared at the outset to take the guise of duty developed into an evening of interest. For Rouben Mamoulian, in his first picture, demonstrates in full measure that he is entirely qualified to give Hollywood many pointers.

In "Applause," Mamoulian, schooled in the recesses of the Theatre Guild, may not have turned out a picture that fluff audiences will hail. He has, however, contributed a stirring, moving and always human document to whatever archives in which motion pictures will eventually repose. A sordid and tragic story impressively acted by Helen Morgan and Joan Peers, it induces shudders to think what claptrap the entire proceedings might have been in less appreciative and skilled directorial hands. How Mamoulian did it we do not know, but it is a fact that in this one picture he has succeeded in grasping at once the important fundamentals of picture craftsmanship in a manner befitting the outstanding creative mentalities of the industry. Those who are interested in their motion pictures as a serious endeavor must see "Applesauce" for what Mamoulian has contributed to its His efforts are an achievement for the individual and mark a definite step forward in the maturing process which is rapidly enveloping motion pictures.

A Morning Visit

In Hollywood, observers like to describe the RKO studios as one of the seven wonders of the film colony. The other six vary with the individual viewpoint.

About nine months ago, the director who spent $16,000 instead of $15,000 for an FBO outdoor epic caught several things and none of them was nice.

Good-looking leading women needing jobs, turned everywhere but FBO-ward. There was no kick in playing runner-up to a horse or dog star.

On a chilly day in December, RCA signed and turned over to Joe Kennedy a sizeable check. The directors were rescrambled and David Sarnoff sat back in an endeavor to dope out what to do with FBO now that his company owned it. He was advised to let well enough alone. FBO had been making a fair profit with cheap product and the natural inclination was to follow in well-grooved paths.

But Joe Schnitzer was on deck. He had seen the day when FBO considered itself an industrial giant with a terrific national gross of $30,000 weekly. It had been one tough fight, but Schnitzer saw other things ahead. Now the RCA deal was closed; advisors were urging continuance of the small picture policy. Not so Schnitzer. He told Sarnoff he would not lend Radio's name to the production of cheap film, argued back and forth, perhaps made himself disliked, and won his point—accompanied by more millions for production than FBO had ever dreamt possible.

Thus it was RKO entered the celluloid maelstrom. "Rio Rita" was a Schnitzer idea. Hit the Deck" another. Dix was signed and other luminaries annexed. Hand in hand with Schnitzer in this upset to FBO tradition was Bill Le Baron. Together they fought it out.

The record is yet to be written, but inscribed on it in letters bold you already find "Street Girl" and "Rita" with others to come. How many, no one can foretell, but Radio is hitting its stride and its steps are destined to be those of a Titan. Remember these words and check what this column tells you with events of tomor-

Brookhart Seeks "Art Commission" With Unlimited Power to Probe Films

Spot This One In

A surprise, gay ribhons and all, is coming your way. "Little Johnny Jones" is its monicker. Here you find Eddie Buzzell, known to musical comedy goers here and there, taking his initial bow in talkies and earning to the last handclap the applause that is his for a nicely rounded out, pleasant and sincere performance. Based on the well-known stage play of the same name, the picture shatters none of the fond memories that surround the original.

A splendid piece of entertainment fodder for picture houses. First National, if you happen to inquire, inclines toward a rave or two about this one. Having seen it, we submit our record as evidence.

Rembusch Ready With Franchises

Activities of the Motion Picture Congress of America, Inc., newly-formed franchise movement headed by Frank J. Rembusch of Shelbyville, Ind., gets under way at the national convention of the M.P.T.O.A. at Memphis next week. Rembusch proposes to place the plan before exhibitors gathering there.

It is a question at present whether or not they will be permitted the floor in the convention. If they do not sueeeed in getting permission to talk before the convention they will hold their own meetings. Immediately after the Memphis convention the group will start a nationwide campaign for membership.

Remhusch intends attending many state exhibitor conventions, in person. In addition, a special sales erew will be employed to canvass theatre owners for membership.

The eampaign objective is 6,000 houses, although Rembuseh admits the figure is not arbitrary.

During the week there was incorporated in Delaware the Equitable Pietures Corp. and it was announced that this company would be one of the producing units for the Motion Pieture Congress.

An effort made to reach W. B. Pitkin, formerly of Columbia University and more lately associated with production at Universal City, was unsuccessful, but Arthur S. Friend, one of the incorporators of the Congress, stated that it was impossible at this time to disclose who their producers were to be.

Frank Rembusch issued a statement this week urging all independent exhibitors to join him in the Motion Pieture Congress movement, setting forth the aims of the organization, which includes block buying of all supplies as well as pietures, and the fact that the exhibitors are to participate with the producers in the profits that their pietures make.

Iowa Senator Introduces Senate Bill Which Would Place Industry Under Federal Control for Three Years

Washington.—Disguising undisclosed motives under the cloak of a proposal to establish an Industrial Arts Commission, Senator Brookhart on Thursday introduced a bill in the Senate authorizing for such a commission which would be empowered to conduct industry investigations without check and make recommendations to Congress for such legislation as it might deem proper.

Eastman-Fox In Color Film Deal

Hollywood.—Eastman Kodak Company has perfected a natural color process that allows duplication of an unlimited number of positive prints, according to reports current in Hollywood.

It is understood that Fox has made a definite tie-up with Eastman on the color process, and Eastman engineers designed the building now going up on the Fox lot for the first color unit machines.

From inside sources, it is stated that Fox will immediately use it on current produc-

Sunday Vote At Exhibitor Expense

Fairport, N. Y.—With Sunday performances now legalized in Penn Yan, N. Y., as the result of a special election financed by the two local exhibitors, effort will be made by the Schine interests to accomplish the same result, in the same way, in hehalf of their theatres in Fairport.

A special election, to be paid for by the Schine Circuit, will be held in Fairport on October 29 to decide whether the local electorate wants film entertainment on Sundays.

This method of testing a question which many eity councils in six-day towns are disposed to avoid for obvious political reasons, appealed to Schine executives as being both practical in relation to the investment required, and fair to proponents and opponents of Sunday shows.

The result will be watched with interest by exhibitors in many of the six-day towns in upper New York state as a possible solution to their respective local situations, and for the opportunity it may offer to obtain Sunday opening through a straightforward appeal to voters.

Merely A Tape Worm

Hollywood.—A writer who used to rave about the fact that picture executives were watching the tape while he tried to talk story values bought some stock himself.

Now the executives cao't reach him.

Brookhart, in his measure, declares the purpose of such a commission would be to promote the "general welfare of the amusement art," but informed Washington eircles who know of his penchant for a law to end block and blind booking are frankly wondering what the inside will disclose when it is brought to light.

The objective of the proposed law is to foist upon the industry a Federal commission empowered to probe films and the general theatrieal field, with no limitations as to the scope or direction such probes might take. Specifically, the bill provides for a commission of five to be appointed by the President for three years at an annual salary of $6,000 for each commissioner.

Coincident with the introduction of his bill, Brookhart filed a letter from C. S. Barrett, of Union City, Ia., executive head of the National Farmers' Union in which it was declared a national move was necessary since the censorship boards in various eities apparently could not agree on the structure of a commission "for the purpose of eliminating immoral or obscene matter and insidious propaganda" in films.

Publix Manpower Culled From Ranks

Publix is adopting a policy of developing manpower for its theatres from within its own ranks. Unlike all former classes of the Publix Managers' Training School, the 31 students now attending regular sessions of the sixth class in New York are recruited exclusively from within. All are experienced theatre men, chosen on the strength of records with the company and were selected by Jack Barry, director of personnel and in charge of the school. Following are members of the class and the operations to which they previously have been attached:

been attached:

Harold Greenberg, Home Office B'king Dept.; Norman E. Kohn, Foreign Dept., Paramount; Herbert Brennon, Jr., Isaac F. Fine, N. Y. Department; J. C. Galloway, Clarence L. Kramer, Albert E. Sam Katz, president of Publix, is known to have recognized the necessity for developing adequate manpower for Publix.

Screen's Tax Dodgers Caught Through "Spite" Tip-Off

Washington.—The Government's round-up of alleged tax evaders and delinquents on the coast is getting a great deal of newspaper play because of the prominence of those involved, but is nothing more than the routine search for tax "slackers" going on all the time.

Every since the first income tax law was enacted, back around 1914, the Government has had a crew of investigators tracking down people who sought to evade their responsibilities. The fact that tax returns were kept unsettled for a number of years in order to make a thorough cheek, eaused a discussion a few years ago and au extra force was put on by the Treasury Department to bring the work more nearly up to Large sums in delinquent taxes are collected each year. Under the law, the department may assess penalties for failure to make a return or for mis-stating income, so that very few eases are taken to court, and the large majority are settled without publicity.

That the film colony is coming in for attention now may be due to a "tip off" to revenue officials. An honest desire to see Uncle Sam get his just dues, spite and a number of other causes are responsible for tips to the Federal anthorities regarding failure to make proper returns. All such "suggestions" are investigated, while the Federal agents often undertake inquiry on their own invitation when they have occasion to believe something is amiss. Officials are not disclosing what started them on the West Coast foray.

Continental N. Y. Branch Launched

With the opening of the New York branch at 325 W. 44th St., Harold Rodner, head of Continental Theatre Accessories, Inc., which marks the entry of Warner Bros., into the theatre equipment field, is working on plans to extend operations to other cities. Philadelphia, it is said, will be the next city to have a Continental branch office, with Chicago and Los Angeles to follow soon, according to plans.

Par. Stock Split For W. B. Deal?

Prospects of further expansion, particularly in the theatre field, as well as a provision for an eventual deal with Warners, are seen in the action of Paramount directors in calling a meeting of stockholders for Dec. 10, to consider a plan to split the capital stock on a two-for-one basis and to increase the anthorized capital from 3,000,000 to 15,-000,000 shares.

With 6,000,000 split-up shares oustanding, the balance of 9,000,000 shares authorized would remain to be used from time to time for expansion of business and increasing of assets, according to the directors.

Before sailing to Europe, Adolph Zukor stated that the company faced an exceptionally good year. Earnings, he said, were running fully 50 per cent ahead of a year ago and, although he could not definitely estimate at this time, the net for the year should approximate somewhere between $14,000,000 and $15,000,000, he said. In 1928 Paramount showed a net profit of $8,-713,063 after all charges, equivalent to $4.22 a share on 2,062,857 shares outstanding at the close of the year.

Paramount is expected to pay $2 a share on the new stock if the two for one split-up is approved. This would be equal to $4 on the old stock, which paid $3.

Herrin Wins Sunday Shows After Long, Bitter Fight

A Talkie Tip-Off

Reporter: "What about a story that is news and advertising both?"

Editor: "What is the story?"

Reporter: "One of my youngsters came home from the Saturday matioee at Fox's Jackson Heights theatre and said that every kiddie there was greatly disappointed."

Editor: "Why?"

Reporter: "She said they waited until kiddie there was greatly disappointed."

Editor: "Why 2"

Reporter: "She said they waited until the newsreel, the comedy and the feature had been run, then, when they started again on the newsreel to open the next show, the kids all started yelling for 'Mickey Mouse.' "

Editor: "Well, what about it?"

Reporter: "This—there are lots of exhibitors trying to build their matinee business, and if several hundred kids start yelling for a particular subject, like 'Mickey Mouse,' it might be a good tip-off, unless there's too much advertising in the yarn.

Editor: "Write it! Probably the exhibitors will say we are subsidized with some of 'Mickey Mouses' long green cheese, but if several hundred youngsters at a Saturday matinee really yelled for a particular subject, it's news for exhibitors, whether the producer appreciates it or not.

"By the way, is this youngster of yours truthful?"

Reporter: "Yes, but terrible in mathematics. She can't count beyond four hundred"

Hammerstein to Produce for U.A.

Arthur Hammerstein, producer of Broadway musical shows, will produce four talkers for United Artists during the next two years. The producer leaves for Hollywood Monday to prepare for the first, to be titled "Bride 66," an original by Herbert Stot-

The terms of the contract leave Mr. Hammerstein free to continue his productions for the stage. He will make two pictures a year and divide his activities between Hollywood and New York.

Hammerstein will have complete charge of the unit, in which, he said, he is a halfpartner and will receive 50 per cent of profits. His second picture probably will be "Darling of the Gods."

Kinemas Expands South Africa Chain

Sidney Hayden, head of Kinemas Limited, South Africa, is in New York in connection with a large expansion program in which his company is engaged.

Kinemas opened four new theatres since August, these being the Astoria, Krugersdorp; Kinema, Boksburg; Athlone Kinema, Witbank, and the Astoria at East London. Under current building operations, 14 theatres are being creeted in as many eities and towns.

Fox Expansion Program On In Upper N. Y. State

Albany.—With official announcement that the Liberty in Watertown had been taken over on lease and reports of negotiations with Chris Marx of Utien, for the Olympic there, the Fox organization is husy on an elaborate expansion program in this section. With acquisition of the Liberty, Fox gets control of the three largest houses in Watertown, the Avon and Olympic there having been taken over recently. Acquisition of the Utica house would give the company a strong entering wedge there.

Fox and Dep't of Justice Believed to Have Blocked Paramount-Warner Deal

Hope To Cut Taxes

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington.—Tax reductions which may be granted at the next session of Congress, for which Representative Garner announces he will work, will benefit the film industry only to the extent that income taxes may be cut down.

The picture business now is operating under a minimum of taxation, the only direct Federal tax being that on tickets of admission in excess of $3, of which very few are sold by moving picture houses. All the industry now pays is income tax, on which Garner will seek a cut.

Color Monopoly Danger Averted

One-company monopoly on color, which impended a few months ago when Warners made a deal with Technicolor to use that process in fifty-six pictures over a period of the next two years, is seen climinated. With 25 cameras in service on the coast and one a week going into use, Technicolor is now rapidly assuming a position to supply producer demand. The problem is to develop an organization of trained personnel to meet the requirements of 100 pictures in color slated for production this year.

Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president of Technicolor, and Natalie M. Kalmus, his wife, will engage several color authorities for the staff of color directors under her charge, while in Europe. They sail this week. The company controls the equipment and all filming and laboratory work under this process. Staffs are working night and day with the cameras now in service at practically all the large studios in Hollywood except Fox.

M. P. Club To Have Memorial Day For Deceased Members

An annual Memorial Day, dedicated to the memory of deceased members, has been decided by the Motion Picture Club of New York.

First observance will be on Snnday, November 3, with a program of special memorial services to be held in the club rooms at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The details of the program are being arranged by a committee appointed by Al Lichtman, president.

Warner Attorney Said To Have Strongly Advised Ending Negotiations; Paramount Makes No Statement

The Paramount-Warner deal is definitely off—for the present. A statement to that effect issued from the offices of Warner Brothers on Wednesday was the first official word on any angle of the deal from either of the corporations.

Rumors at once began to fly as to the reasons for calling off the negotiations. Everything from the failure to agree over the stock split-up in the holding corpora-

Gov't Sees Victory Over Film Boards

(Washington Bureau, Mation Picture News)

Washington.—Federal officials are considerably pleased over the decision rendered in the New York Federal Court last week upholding the Government's demand for an injunction restraining the industry from unlawful enforcement of the arbitration provisions of the uniform contract, according to an official statement released by the Department of Justice.

by the Department of Justice.

"In a similar case tried a few weeks earlier the action of the Government against the same defendants was dismissed on the ground that the Government had failed to prove its charge of restraining competition by means of so-called 'credit committees,'" it was pointed out.

"In the case just decided, however, it is represented by Government attorneys that a much more important result has been achieved on behalf of the Government because of the fact that the structure of credit committees was founded and grew out of the operation of the film boards of trade. The suit of the Government followed complaints of independent exhibitors that their business was being controlled and restrained by the producers and distributors of motion pictures through the operation of the Film Boards of Trade and arbitration boards."

Plan No Change In Arbitration

Arbitration under the standard exhibition contract and operations of Film Boards of trade will continue without interruption or change, pending conferences between attorneys for the Hays members and Government counsel to determine what alterations are necessary to remove from the contract the phases of illegality found existent last week by Judge Thacher in the Federal Court of New York.

Members of the legal committee of the Hays association met during the week, but will take no action until the decree is entered and opportunities for making the required revisions determined upon.

Changes are imminent in view of the court decision which makes revisions mandatory. Exactly how fast the necessary machinery can be set up is difficult to compute at this time.

the stock split-up in the holding corporation to be formed to a report that William Fox blocked the deal by demanding $50,-000,000 no less for his holdings in First National, was stated as the cause for the statement calling off the merger negotiations.

Two weeks ago it was known in the Warner ranks that there was opposition to the deal on the part of the legal advisors of that corporation. Abel C. Thomas, comsel for Warners, is said to have put his foot down against the deal when he returned from Europe, because of possible Federal disapproval.

At Paramount, no statement could be obtained regarding the cause for the dropping of negotiations.

The Fox angle is exciting interest. It is argued Fox would not want two important competitors to get together. It is pointed out Fox occupies a dominant position at present through having taken over Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and would naturally want to remain in that position. A Paramount-Warner deal might be held to overshadow the combined interests that Fox controls.

Fox secured his interest in First National through acquisition of West Coast theatres. The West Coast stock has played a most important part in the history of the business during the last two years. It was through agreement to vote this stock that the Stanley Company first secured control of First National. With the Warners acquiring the Stanley Co. they likewise secured the studios and the picture producing company.

At the time that the Stanley Company obtained control to vote the West Coast stock that chain was controlled by the Gore Brothers and Hayden, Stone and Co. the bankers. John Dillon of that organization and Harold B. Franklin swung the voting rights to the stock. Later Franklin made the deal whereby Fox obtained the Hayden. Stone and Gore Brothers holdings which gave Fox about a 36 per cent interest in First National, which he might desire to use as a whip to block a merger in which that company would be included.

Schnitzer Contract Up Soon; Renewal Expected

Joseph I. Schnitzer, whose contract as president of RKO Productions, Inc., expires in a few months, is expected to sign a new agreement with the company under terms considerably more advantageous to him. Schnitzer figured importantly in the task of revamping FBO and its policy of inexpensive westerns to Radio Pictures as the industry knows the company today.

Fire Destroys West Coast Lab; One Man Dead; Film Loss Heavy

Hollywood.—One dead, six injured, and approximately $250,000 in retakes by various producers are result of the fire which destroyed the Consolidated Film Laboratories here. Loss on the building and equipment is estimated at $400,000.

Fifty employees were working in the plant when the fire started, early in the morning. Albert Lund a developing room worker, died from asphyxiation after being removed to a local hospital. Several technical people were injured in escaping from the flame-swept interior.

The fire started when film being run through a polishing machine ignited. It spread rapidly, sweeping through every room in the laboratory, where employees were working on negatives and positive prints representing scenes made at various studios within the last three days. All current footage was destroyed, and first reports placed the cost of retaking these scenes at $250,000.

Caddo Losses $100,000

Work of verifying losses was greatly handicapped by the burning of record sheets. Nothing remained when the fire had been conquered to indicate what completed negatives of immediate releases may have been in the printing rooms. Definite information will not be available until firemen permit the opening of storage vaults housing millions of dollars worth of negative on completed pictures. Doors to these vaults must remain closed until the exteriors have cooled.

It is known that footage made during the last three days at RKO on "Dance Hall," "Hit The Deck," "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and "Love Comes Along" was destroyed. Caddo Productions had about 50,000 feet in work. This represented scenes taken the last two days for the perennial, "Hell's Angels," at a cost of $100,000, all of which was destroyed.

M-G-M is known to have lost the negative made the last three days on "Take It Big," "Anna Christie," "Lord Byron of Broadway." Tiffany Productions will be obliged to retake scenes made in three days work on all its current pictures.

After hearing of the coast fire the Bureau of Combustibles of the N. Y. Fire Department stated that an immediate investigation of conditions in the various laboratories in New York City would be made. A request will be made to the Los Angeles Department to obtain a full report on the laboratory fire and the result of the investigation following the blaze.

Special U. A. Unit Will Revamp Films In German

Hollywood—One of the first pieces of business to be attended to by Joseph M. Schenck upon his return from New York will be formation of a special unit to handle the 'dubbing' of German into all U. A. pictures for release in Teutonic countries. The results obtained in 'Lummox' prompt the action.

"Blues" Win In Winterset

Omaha.—Sunday shows lost at Winterset, 1a., by a vote 710 to 476. A petition for the election had been signed by 500 citizens,

300 Of Canada's 975 Now Wired

Montreal.—Canada has a total of approximately 975 theatres. Three hundred of them are wired to date, according to reliable estimate, and of this number "Erpi' leads other equipment manufacturers with 100.

In Toronto exactly 50 are wired or on the way. This represents about 66 per cent of the total seats in the city. The last large downtown house to go sound is the Regent, equipped with De Forest Phonofilm.

There are about 125 theatres in Ontario, including Toronto, with sound installations. These represent 51 per cent of the total seats of the province. About 30 per cent, or 280 theatres, in the whole of Canada have either disc or film and disc equipment.

A large number of projection rooms in exchanges have been wired. Western Electric apparatus is in use in the Fox and Famous-Lasky exchanges while First National has installed Pacent in its Canadian beadquarters. The Ontario Board of Censors uses a De Forest device.

T-S Changes Its Name To Tiffany

With Tiffany or Tiffany Tone as alternatives, Grant L. Cook and L. A. Young have determined to revert to Tiffany Prod. Inc., as the company's new name, now that John M. Stahl has retired from the corporation's activities.

Approximately 2,000 franchises have been sold to date with the prospect that the total will be increased to 3,000 by the first of the year. Osear Hanson, general sales manager, is back in New York from a complete swing around the country together with W. A. Steffes of Allies States.

The latter group fixes exhibition values for franchised pietures, "These quotas," Hanson told Motion Picture News, "range from $400,000 to $700,000 in the case of our pietures just completed. The exhibitor pays $3 per 100,000 in the case of small houses. Naturally he is able to see where he can play our pietures at a sunbstantial profit; and if we are satisfied, he is more than happy."

Linton M'f'g Sound Device

Utica, N. Y.—W. H. Linton, local exhibitor for many years, is now manufacturing a talking device. The Linton equipment is installed in three theatres in Utica.

Gag' Or Preview?

Warren Nolan, United Artists' publicity director, had a good hunch for a story. The German version of Herbert Brenon's production, "Lummox," is to be previewed. Publicity sense chose Hoboken. It offered a German colony, a gag line on the home of Hamburgers and beer not so near, plus the fame it has achieved as the habitat of the Christopher Morley troupe.

The story broke, involving all the assets to make it readable, announcing Hoboken as the site for the world premiere, and ended with the line: "No Hoboken theatre has yet been chosen.

Bans All Scenes Of Women Smoking

Lynn, Mass. — Mayor Ralph S. Bauer, one-man reform league, has again brought down wrath upon his head by serving notice on all theatre owners and managers of Lynn that he will close fortbwith any theatre showing a picture with women smoking.

To protests by the managers Bauer retorted, "Either throw out the whole film or delete the part with women smoking."

Mayor Bauer believes women should not smoke, and has said so at many public gatherings. He banned billboards showing women smoking several weeks ago. Then somebody suggested he was inconsistent, because pictures were shown of women smoking on theatre screens.

Mayor Baner does not like to be called inconsistent. He declares that if we are going to preach better morals we ought to do what we can to improve them. Yet Mayor Baner invited "Strange Interlude," the Theatre Guild play which Mayor Malcolm C. Nichols, of Boston, banned from that city, to come to Lynn and present the production.

The law gives the mayor of the city full power to ban a production or to order parts deleted. Lynn theatre managers were contemplating fighting the edict in the courts, but Mayor Bauer has announced he will not seek re-election as mayor, so by the time action could be brought to a hearing his term will have expired.

Meanwhile there is a big demand for some Mary's Little Lamb pictures in Lynn, or some historical movies where no women smoke, or airplane views taken at such distance that smoking by individuals cannot be seen.

Mayor Baner's bannings include, besides smoking, women on screen and billboards, stockingless girls from the streets and public schools, bobbed haired school teachers, wayward youths, cheating husbands, automobile petters, muscle-minded maideus, Salvation Army street meetings, speakeasies and a lot of others too numerous to mention.

To Do German "Grischa"

Friedrich Zelnik, German producer, who "dubled" in German lines for the Middle European version of "Lummox," has been engaged by RKO to handle the German dialogue version of "The Case of Sergeant Grischa" which Herbert Brenon will direct. Zelnik then returns to United Artists.

C. W. Brown Finds New Prop For Riding Scenes

Stepping up the projection speed of a horse from eighty to ninety feet a minute revealed a new type of riding crop that belongs in the prop department of every progressive studio.

Cotvin W. Brown, reported head of the newly organized Fine Arts Prod., canters each morning in Centrat Park. He wanted projection room speed of at least ninety feet a minute out of a mount which Brown figured, with a well-practiced screen eye, was projecting himself along the bridte path at eight feet a minute, or less.

Mrs. Brown was commissioned to purchase a riding crop. She asked a salesgirl for one that was flexible.

The girl handed Mrs. Brown a crop, saying: "I think this is what you want. It is very laxative."

Publix Pitting Fox In The West

Salt Lake City.—An aggressive theatre expansion program in the inter-mountain territory is under way by Publix in a move seen here as an endeavor to offset the rapidly-growing Fox holdings in this part of the nation.

Purehase of the Colonial, at Idaho Falls, Idaho, one of that state's largest houses, by the Publix-Marcus Theatres Corp., is now confirmed in this city by Harry David, division manager for Publix.

With the acquisition of the Idaho house, the Publix-Marcus concern now operates ten theatres in Utah and Idaho, David states. Four are located in Salt Lake, one in Provo, two in Ogden, one in Twin Falls, Idaho, one in Boise, Idaho, and the recently purchased house in Idaho Falls.

While the purchase price of the theatre was not announced, the deal was made with Otto Schmidt, manager of the Colonial and part owner. The building will be leased from Dr. C. M. Cline, who will retain his present interest in the holdings. Present plans call for a complete remodeling and renovation with the tentative date for opening set for November 2, under the new name of Paramount.

David also announces that the company is planning a big expansion program in both Utah and Idaho.

Fox-Comerford Deal Is Denied

Seranton, Pa.—Reports that William Fox is about to acquire the influential Comerford chain are denied by M. E. Comerford. The denial appears in newspapers throughout this section this week. The Comerford eircuit, numbering 150 houses in Pennsylvania and New York State chiefly, is considered a vital link in any Fox plan to develop a chain along the Atlantic Seaboard. Comerford and Fox are partners in the Great Lakes Theatre, Buffalo, and some months ago were reported planning additional houses throughout New York.

additional houses throughout New York.

The latest link in the Comerford string is a new large house in Wilkes Barre.

Fox-Publix Fight In Canada Again Reported With Nathanson Active

Toronto.—A Fox chain of theatres in Canada is suspected as the ultimate result of plans credited to N. L. Nathanson, storm center of the recent Famous Players Canadian theatre turmoil, in a story by S. N. S., a large Dominion news service.

Nathanson denied the story with an emphatic statement that he was through with motion pictures, and had no intention of developing a new string of houses.

One of the Toronto weeklies declares that the B. and F. theatres, in the Toronto district, will be the nucleus of the new Nathanson organization.

With either English or American financial interests reported back of Nathanson in the alleged move, it is the general belief that the support of William Fox will be finally discovered in the background.

If true, this will create a condition new to Canadian theatre activities, and start a war that will provide sensations for months to come. Famous Players Canadian is well intrenehed. Fox has carned a reputation for making only big moves. Just what the gesture will be to place his representation on something like a par with that of the opposition, should the Nathanson report he correct, is awaited with great interest by Canadian exhibitors and distributors—and by the newspapers in anticipation of competitive advertising.

Nat'l Fox Chain Gets 19 In So. Ill.

DuQuoin. III.—A coast-to-coast Fox chain is seen as being another step nearer completion with reports that control of the Sonthern Illinois situation has passed into his hands by purchase this week of the Reid, Yemm and Hayes circuit of nineteen houses, with headquarters here, the Frisina circuit of seven houses, with headquarters at Taylorville, and the John Marlow string of four theatres, with home offices at Herrin.

No official confirmation could be obtained from heads of any of the three circuits involved, but the report persists that Fox has acquired the houses, thereby giving him control of the territory between Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis.

Such action would be in line with the recent Fox theatre policy of expanding westward from the bulwark of his Eastern holdings, with his Pacific coast forces gradually acquiring houses east of the Rockies, until the two divisions meet.

The Reid, Yemm and Hayes circuit includes the Capitol and Star at Benton, Ill., Grand, Gem and Illinois at Centralia, Rex, State and Strand at West Frankfort, Majestic, Plaza and Star at Mt. Vernon, Grand and Majestic in DuQuoin, Globe and Opera House at Christopher, the Empire at Zeigler, and the Family and Orpheum at Marion.

The Frisina eircuit consists of the Elks and Capitol at Taylorsville, Illinois, Majestic and Scott at Jacksonville, and the Kay and Mattoon at Mattoon.

John Marlow has operated the Hippodrome at Herrin, the Liberty and Hippodrome at Murphysboro and the Lyric at Cartersville.

Publix Rearranges Boston Runs And Receipts Jump

Boston.—Breaking down of Publix' "Big Five' into the "Big Four" by elimination of the Fenway as a day and date run with the Seollay Square, Central Square, Capitol and Strand has shot up receipts at all houses in the group.

Publix And Fox Plan Cincinnati Theatres

Cincinnati.—Publix and Fox are to play it on opposite sides of the fence here. The former is to build a large theatre at Peeble's Corner in Walnut Hill, while Fox plans a house at Millan and Melrose, two blocks away from the Publix site.

Publix Expands In Southwest Section

Dallas.—Publix expansion in the Southwest is gaining momentum as new acquisitions are reported and talk of continued activity along this line filters in from various sections of the territory.

Among new developments are the 100 per cent control of Harlingen, Texas, through purchase of stock owned by Jack Pickens, Dent Theatres local partner. Other towns affected by the deal are Donna and Weslace.

Arthur A. Keys, Quannah and Childress exhibitor and half partner with Dent in Vernon, has sold his stock to Publix taking Paramount stock in exchange. He will retain theatres in Quannah and Childress.

Campbell Theatres, Inc., a subsidiary of the Dent in Texas, operating in Denton, Eastland and Ranger, will not dispose of the remainder of its holdings to Publix along with the Dent deal, according to Grover Campbell, but will expand.

Fox Midwesco Annexes New House at Merrill, Wis.

Merrill, Wis.—The new theatre being constructed here by A. L. Robarge has been taken over by Fox Midwesco.

Fox In Iowa

Des Moines.—William Fox is expected to acquire extensive theatre holdings throughout Iowa shortly. His purchase of the Midland circuit, via Fox West Coast, gave him the Palace at Muscatine. Around this one house, a chain will probably be developed. Locally, reports have it Fox will build a large first run in the downtown district.

Mayer-Thalberg Rumor Brings Offer Of 25-To-1 They Remain

Hollywood. — Calling for a showdown with the publishers of the "Hollywood News" over their story that he would soon resign as executive head of the M-G-M studios, to be succeeded by Sol Wurtzel of the Fox staff, Louis B. Mayer has offered to bet the local newspapermen twenty-five to one that he will remain with M-G-M at least until the expiration of his contract, which has two and one-half years to run.

So vehement was Mayer's denial of the story that he asked the "Hollywood News" publishers to put up $100,000, as the short end of his twenty-five to one odds.

Idle gossip is charged by M-G-M studio executives as the source of the report, which has been freely whispered along Hollywood Boulevard for some weeks. It did not take definite shape until the "Hollywood News" picked up the report somewhere, and published it as a rumor. It was reprinted in other dailies.

As a consequence the morale of the rank and file of the M-G-M production staff has been affected, according to Mayer. The rumor included lrving Thalberg as one of the retiring executives. His contract does not expire until early in 1932. Equally emphatic denial was made of any intention by Thalberg to withdraw, or of any changes contemplated by the Fox interests in M-G-M wherein the positions of any of the present studio executive personnel would be disturbed in any way.

Press Agents Get Bad Break In Sweet-Neilan Divorce

For the first time in years Blanche Sweet and her director husband, Marshall Neilan, received national publicity last week without mentioning a single picture in connection with their names.

Newspapers throughout the country played up the story, wired from Hollywood, that Miss Sweet had been granted a divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

General Talking Pictures Operates From 16 Offices

General Talking Pictures Corp. is expanding sales service activities in various sections of the country. Appointment of W. C. Alexander as sales representative for Alabama, and Herbert Wales for Florida, this week brings the number of offices now maintained up to a total of 16.

In addition to the New York headquarters, offices are now maintained in Scattle, Cleveland, St. Louis, Kansas City, Detroit, Cineinnati, Boston, Los Angeles, Charlotte, Dallas, Chicago, Philadelphia, Denver, Atlanta, and Eastic, Fla.

Fred Karno Under Contract To Produce For Hal Roach

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)
Hollywood.— Hal Roach has signed Fred Karma, London music hall producer and reputed discoverer of Charles Chaplin,
Stan Laurel and other comedians, to a fiveyear contract as associate producer.

Dirt Appetites Are Whetted By Censor

Honston, Tex.—Censorship talk has been renewed here by Charlie McPhail, chief of police, who whetted an appetite for dirt that failed to materialize with those who attended "The Cock Eyed World" at the Majestic. McPhail saw the picture at a preview and notified George Pruter he thought it should be cut in places. Pruter refused to do so on the grounds that he saw nothing objectionable. Local papers gave the squabble plenty of free advertising.

All records of the Majestie were broken by "Cock Eyed World," marks for the Dempsey-Tunney fight films, which held the record, and "Seventh Heaven," holder of the feature picture record, having been surpassed by the middle of the week.

Renewed Reports Sternberg Will Direct Jannings Talkie By Heinrich Fraenkel

Berlin.—Despite denials, reports persist that Josef Von Sternberg will direct Emil Jannings in the latter's first talker for Ufa. This film is the most notable of the sound features of German origin now under way. Others now in preparation are to be directed by Hans Schwartz. October saw the start of the first two full-length talker features to be made in Germany, although neither of these can claim to be all-dialoguers. One is "The Country Without Girls," a Fellner production directed by Carmine Gallone and starring Conrad Veidt. The other is a comedy only partially dialogued, directed by Richard Eichberg.

Mae Murray Sues Fox

Alleging that she suffered embarrassment from having to wear wider shoes and lower heels as the result of breaking a bone in her left foot when she stepped on stage properties in an elevator, Mae Murray has filed suit for $250,000 damages against the Fox Theatre Corp. and allied interests.

Miss Murray charges that she suffered the injury Dec. 1, 1928, in a Fox house in Brooklyn, N. Y., where she was making personal appearances.

Plans Exhibit At Columbus

. Cleveland: The Oliver M. P. Supply Co. will have an exhibit in Columbus during the M. P. T. O. of Ohio convention, November 19 and 20, and will display a complete line, including the Oliver Reproducer, the Oliver Speedometer and radios.

Films Can't Do It

While producers struggle to create main titles that will be box-office without offending good taste or arousing censorship agitation, book publishers advertise new books under titles that would have every reformer and guardian of morals in the country on the industry's doorstep with a legislative club if they were used on pictures.

On one page of a New York daily newspaper there appeared the following book titles, each set in the largest type in its particular display ad:

"Kept Woman."
"The Riddle of Sex."
"Scarlet Sister Mary."

Any exhibitor can quickly figure what his chances would be with one of the three six-sheeted in his lobby.

Blue Sunday Vote Up Soon In Mo.-Ill, Towns

St. Louis.—Proponents of Sunday shows expect to win out over the reform element in special elections to come up in Columbia, Mo., and Mount Carmel, Ill., while in Johnston City, Mo., the "blues" have succeeded in blocking passage of a city ordinance permitting Sabbath shows. The Columbia "blue noses" claim 2,000 signatures, but are being vigorously opposed and have just lost a fight to pass a "blue" Sunday ordinance.

Laemmle On Coast; Attends Chicago Meeting En Route

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)
Hollywood.—Carl Laemmle is here from

Hollywood.—Carl Laemmle is here from New York accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bergerman and Jack Ross, his secretary. The "U" chief will give his attention to production of "King of Jazz Revue," and "All Quiet on the Western Front."

Chicago.—Carl Laemmle met Universal western division managers at the Stevens en route for the coast. In attendance were L. B. Metzger, general manager who returned to New York following the meeting; C. B. Paine, treasurer; M. Van Praag, general sales manager; Charles Lowenberg, Chicago director of publicity and advertising.

Brach managers present were:
R. Moon, Detroit: H. M. Herbel, Chicago; W. W. Richardson, New Orleans; L. Abrams, Kansas City:
Wm. Moran, Oklahoma City; M. Gottleb, Cincinnati;
B. Rose, Indianapolis; William Slipes, Memphis;
Matt Skorey, Butte; Sam Cain, Denver; C. Davie, Omaha; R. C. McIlherne, Dallas and Harry Hynes, St. Louis.

Book "Condemned" For Engagement at Drury Lane

Following the premiere of "Condemned" in New York, Samuel Goldwyn will sail for London to arrange details for the presentation of the picture at the Drury Lane theatre. He will go to the coast later to complete arangements for production of the Goldwyn-Ziegfeld musical play scheduled to start February 1st, under Ziegfeld's supervision. Goldwyn is also on the watch for a suitable vehicle in which to co-star Vilma Banky and Ronald Colman in a talker.

Hearst Gets Break

Toronto.—William Randolph Hearst, big newspaper man from New York and other American points, is getting his initial break in Eastern Canadian theatres via Hearst Metrotone News. Statisticans and historians declare this is the first time that the Hearst cognomen has appeared on Ontario screens. Until now, the Ontario Board of M. P. Censors looked upon his name with anything but favor. It took the newsreel to swing this momentous event.

Chi's Film Row Due For Changes

Chicago.—The local film district is steadily moving south and within a year's time the entire aspect of film row is expected to be changed. Warners are putting up a new building on 13th and Wabash, a six-story structure which will be occupied entirely by that organization, which probably means the combined Warner Bros., First National, Paramount and United Artists. Fox probably will build, also, and in the same neighborhood, which would mean the location in that building of both Fox and M-G-M.

This undoubtedly will result in some other kind of building being put up between 13th and 14th St. to accommodate the remaining companies, including Universal, Pathe, R-K-O, Educational and National Screen Service.

Ruggles Directing Carroll

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—Wesley Ruggles suddenly returned here to direct Nancy Carroll in "Come Out of the Kitchen," under a Paramount contract he signed with Walter Wanger while on vacation in the East.

Porter Back From Coast

Verne Porter, head of the story department of Universal in the east, returned to New York this week from the coast. He was at Universal City for a discussion of story needs with Carl Laemmle, Jr., and C. Gardner Sullivan.

Cleveland.—Edward Reckman, Hamilton, O., together with several associates is reported to have acquired the Grand, Rex and Majestic at Middletown, O., and to have leased the Gordon.

"ERPI" Moves Chicago Office

Chicago.—The Chicago office of Electrical Research Products has moved into larger quarters at the Standard Oil Building, 910 South Michigan avenue. The former address was 130 North Wells street.

"Paris" Premiere Nov. 7

The world premiere of "Paris," First National-Vitaphone production starring Irene Bordoni, is to take place at the Central theatre, New York, on Nov. 7.

Gov't On Merger Hunt Will Safeguard Honest Business

Washington.—While Department of Justice officials are keeping a weather eye peeled for merger tendencies in the film industry, a policy of complete secrecy will be maintained in order to interrupt as little as possible the ordinary conduct of business. For this reason, no public aunouncement may be expected despite the vigilance of the scrutiny.

RKO To Make 36 To 40 Next Year

Expansion of theatre holdings of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corp., throughout the nation will compel its producing subsidiary RKO Productions, Inc., to increase its output next season to 36 or 40 pictures. For this season, the schedule calls for thirty, RKO is developing a chain of approximately a dozen long run houses. These must be fed production and the weekly change theatres embraced in the circuit supplied with enough pictures to keep them operating without turning to outside producers too frequently for film.

Preparations for increased production are seen in the building program now under way at the RKO studio in Hollywood where five new sound stages and a new administration building are being added.

The department's official attitude is a direct result of the storm of protest and bitterness which resulted from the Federal Trade Commission's practice, abandoned several years ago, of making public names of corporations and individuals against whom complaints had been filed, thereby creating unrest in stock exchange movements and upsetting the even tenor of lusiness operations.

The practice, affecting motion pictures and other businesses, grew and resulted in heaping on the heads of the commission considerable protest.

It has been established that a large part of the complaints handled by the commission were unfounded, although the commission's faith has rarely been questioned. But ultimate dismissal of such charges often failed to undo the harm they had done, with the result that many companies under official probe met with losses before the stigma attached to them by government investigation could be lived down. The Department is eager to avoid this.

De Mille Scores A Big Point

Ilollywood has been speculating about the correct formula for sound. Are talkers to embody the silent technique augmented and improved by the addition of dialogue and sound effects or must the stage formula which means actionless motion pictures he adopted? The editor of Motion Picture News asked Cecil B. De Mille this question while in Hollywood recently. He said "Dynamite" was his answer.

In search of that answer, the picture has been reviewed in both silent and sound form. The two versions published herewith demonstrate clearly that the silent technique dominating yet wedded to sound is practical from a production as well as commercial angle.

Silent

If you believe Jeanie Mac Pherson and Cecil B. De Mille, "coal makes the world go 'round." This is theme of "Dynamite" which, in its silent form, proves a mighty entertaining picture.

De Mille's big thrill is a eave-in in a coal mine. This will get over with a decided hang. Not that the idea is new. This particular situation has heen used often. As a matter of fact, it smacks very much of the old-fashinned. Yet, undeniably, the kick is there and, from the andience angle, the age of the situation is therefore, justifiable.

Production values are of the usual De Mille calibre. As in all of his previous efforts, "Dynamite" is loaded down with rich sets, hordes of supernumaries and a lavishness in dressing such as the public is accustomed to attach to the De Mille type of picture.

Dramatically, the picture has its moments. The story, far-fetched and leaning toward the impossible as it is, proves typical picture stuff. Improbable, but certainly entertaining. The tempo is slowed down because of almost excessive footage, but where scenes seem long, there is at least recompense in the form of big mass scenes and sweep.

SCHADER

Sound

From a production angle, "Dynamite" is significant. This is why:

The picture was made in the technique of its erstwhile brother, the silent film, with the added dramatic embellishment of sound. Here and there, its movement seems slightly impaired by the dialogue. In the main, however, the tempo moves along with no interruptions right to the close.

The dialogue is excellent, and in the early reels serves to lift situations out of the rut of the commonplace into the category of the near-distinguished. Kay Johnson, Charles Bickford, Julia Faye and Conrad Nagel are the leads and each contributes to the whole a very worthy demonstration of histrionies.

Further, the sound is true. De Mille states not a foot of film had sound or dialogue dubbed in. After sitting through "Dynamite," his assertion seems plausible and entirely acceptable.

The hox-office slant: Despite a wild and improbable yaro, this De Millian effort, by force of production investiture, movement and intelligent direction, becomes a hig money-maker. It has the goods. Unquestionably.

Anti-Trust Laws OK If Labor Out

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington.-Organized labor is not opposed to anti-trust acts but is working to have labor excluded from their provisions, it is explained by officials of the American Federation of Labor in discussing the reported effort which is being made for repeal of the Sherman law.

From the viewpoint of the Federation. the laws with respect to mergers are aimed at labor more particularly than at anything else, and in the past the organization has gone on record as favoring their repeal. At the present time, however, it is felt that these laws could not be wiped off the statute books because they are so interwoven with a number of Federal agencies, and future efforts of the Federation, it was indicated, will be devoted to amendments exempting labor.

Officials speaking for organized labor assert that so far as they can see the laws do not prevent big mergers from going through but they do prevent concerted ac-tion by workers. This, it is asserted, is an unjust discrimination and labor seeks merely the same privilege which is given other interests.

Pedestrians, Not Pickets, Litter Walks; Case Killed

St. Louis.-Two musicians whose arrest was arranged by the striking musicians' union to test their right to picket theatres where manual orchestras have been dismissed, were discharged in the city court when their cases were called to trial.

The pickets had been arrested on charges of "littering the sidewalks" in front of the Ambassador and Loew's State theatres with hand bills soliciting the public to support theatres that use union orchestras.

City Court Judge Roscean and Provisional Judge Pollack said that the evidence showed that the handbills were dropped by persons to whom they had been given rather than by the defendants.

Another week has passed without any noticeable change in the local music situation. The St. Louis Amusement Co. has closed a few of its silent houses so that they can be wired for sound. According to the announcements posted on these houses they will reopen at an early date.

Fox Heads M. P. Division For Reelection Of Walker

William Fox is chairman, and H. A. Schwartz treasurer, of the Motion Picture Division being organized by the Citizens' Committee for the reelection of James J. Walker as mayor of New York.

Schwartz as treasurer of the film branch of the Citizens' Committee, is circularizing the trade in New York for support at the election next month.

Albany "Blues" Stand

Albany.- It now appears that there will be no further effort on the part of Albany exhibitors toward putting the question of Sunday shows to a vote. Mayor Thatcher is lukewarm on the question.

Literacy Test For Writers

Konrad Bercovici, famous in filmdom and out as author of "The Volga Boat-man" and "Revenge" for the screen, went to a registration booth in New York to register as a voter in the coming election. He just recently became an American citizen.

An inspector, who should be a gag man, asked if he had ever voted before. The author said he had not.

"Then you'll have to take a literacy

he was told.

Bercovici tried to explain who he

"I don't care how many screen plays you've written," retorted the inspector. "You'll have to take a literacy test,"

Solve Problem of 'Hard Light' Hum

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—Apparatus which eliminates from "hard lights" the humming noises which made them useless for studio work in connection with sound pictures, has been developed by engineers of the Los Angeles Dep't of Water and Power, working with the staff at Metropolitan Sound Studios. Successful accomplishment of this result would restore to serviceability a large amount of studio lighting equipment representing huge investments by producers and studios.

Those responsible for the development are J. C. Alberts, supervisor of the test section for the City Bureau, and A. N. Alberts, of the test section, assisted by Wallace Octtel, chief of the electrical department at Metropolitan. The problem was one of eliminating the high-pitched whistle given off by the high intensity carbon are lamps used generally at studuios previous to the advent of talkies.

Canada Loses Its One And Only Long Run Theatre

Toronto.—Canada has lost its last long run house.

The Tivoli, operated by Famous Players, has abandoned its extended run policy, and its programs will be changed at least every three weeks hereafter, to help relieve the "on-the-shelf" position of new pictures, booked but undated.

With this change there is no theatre in Canada into which a picture can be booked to run until its hox office value has been tested to the utmost. It was at the Tivoli that "Ramona" played throughout the summer of 1927.

Fix Dividend On Common

Ottawa, Canada,-Common stock of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation has been placed on a regular dividend basis at the rate of $2 a year by action of the directors of the company. The first quarterly payment is to be made December 2.

Tully In New York For Cruze

Jim Tully, author of "Circus Parade," arrives in New York today on a mission for James Cruze, who will make a film of the novel.

Clip Film Angels In Wall St. Drop

Film men throughout the country who have been scurrying for additional margins to protect their long accounts in Wall Street, are taking consolation in the statements issued in Washington that Federal Government officials regard the country's business structure as sound.

Well informed banking interests in New York incline strongly to the opinion that the recent scarcity of money for legitimate business purposes-the result of extensive speculative activity-has created a situation which can be corrected only by forcing a reduction in brokers' loans and a lowering of the amounts tied up in margin accounts.

New Theatre Projects Affected

New theatre promotions at different points in the country recently encountered great difficulty in arranging necessary financing through local banks. The reason given was reported to be lack of available funds for that type of investment. The same attitude has prevailed toward building and expansion operations in other in-

Financial experts apparently are agreed in the belief that all Class A stocks are excellent investments for a long pull, and that the so-called "eat and dogs" on both the big board and the curb market are being punished. The current tariff fight in Congress is causing uneasiness in speculative circles, and there appears to be a fast growing lack of confidence in the continuance of prevailing high prices in many issues without an even further shakedown to put many stocks back within reasonable distance of prices justified by earnings.

While the immediate situation is said to be, causing acute mental agony to many film traders, the indications are that with easier money for legitimate business development the payroll situation will improve in many sections, with consequent benefit to theatre box-offices.

Score Drinking Scenes As Detriment To Enforcement

The contention that scenes showing drinking of alcoholic liquors is detrimental to enforcement of prohibtion will be stressed in efforts which the New York State Women's Christian Temperance Union will contribute to the drive for a Federal regulation of motion pictures.

A resolution scoring producers for filming scenes showing prohibition violations was adopted by the state organization at its convention held in Binghamton, N. Y. The resolution also contained instructions to notify Mrs. Alice Winter, past president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and now connected with the Hays office in Hollywood, of the action.

Martins Ferry Shakes "Blues"

Martins Ferry, Ohio .- The Sunday show squabble for past year here is ended. Five theatre employees who sned the mayor and chief of police for $50,000 damages on the ground of false arrests, have withdrawn suits in return for suspension of fine of manager.

Will Hays in Comedy?

"Will Hays, the actor, not the movie czar, is in the supporting cast of "Toot Sweet, the latest Lloyd Hamilton talking comedy, just completed."

Allied and MPTOA After Canadians

Ottawa, Canada. — Organized Canadian exhibitors as a hotly contested prize acquisition for either the Allied States group under Abram F. Myers, or for the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, headed by M. A. Lightman, is a report that has smuggled its way into the Dominion from the States close on the heels of record activity in increasing the membership of the Exhibitors Co-Operative of Canada, Limited.

This recently organized independent group, with headquarters in Toronto, already has established five branches at widely separated points in Canada. This action came speedily after several meetings under the direction of Earl Lawson, chairman, and member of the Federal Parliament, F. R. Lennon, national buying agent for the independent exhibitors, W. A. Baillie, of Toronto, president, and others.

While the MPTO is represented by what is regarded as a strong organization in Toronto, Allied States officials are known to be displaying a keen interest in this newest effort to create a coast-to-coast exhibitor body in Canada.

The Canadian Government granted a charter to the Exhibitors Co-Operative, and one of the organization's first official acts was to request governmental investigation of the chain theatre business in the Dominion. This is under way.

A branch has been opened in Quebec, with C. B. Howard of Sherbrooke, a member of Parliament, an exhibitor, and with an interest in an independent exchange, in charge. The Manitoba branch, headquartered at Winnipeg, is headed by J. A. Wilson. Branches also have been established at Calgary, Alberta, and in the Maritime Provinces, with offices at St. John, N. B.

Woodhull Urges Exhibs To Keep Organization Intact

Cleveland.—Members of the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors Association were urged to keep their organization intact "if you expect to protect your brick and mortar investments," by R. F. Woodhull, while here to establish a local office of General Talking Pictures.

Two New Paris Theatres

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington.—Two new picture theatres are to be opened on the Champs Elysees in Paris, Trade Commissioner George R. Canty reports to the M. P. Division of the Dept. of Commerce. One has a seating capacity of 2,000 and now is under lease to the Societe Generale de Films. The other will have 1,000 seats.

Surprise Action Looked For AT MPTOA Memphis Meet

Surprise action is anticipated at the convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America in Memphis, Tenn, next week to prove the national membership strength of the organization, as an answer to criticism of opposition exhibitor groups that it is a purely local body, using the Tri-State forces as a nucleus, and dominated by producer-owned chains.

Allied Movement Spreads In South

Tampa, Fla.—The Allied States franchise is spreading through the Southeast. Sixteen Tiffany-Stahl franchise agreements were signed by as many exhibitors who attended the zone meeting of the Southeastern Theatre Owners Association here. The franchise plan was outlined by John W. Mangham, Jr., manager of the Atlanta office.

Ohio May Be Added to the Allied Ranks

Columbus.—Another ally for Allied is expected to develop out of the forthcoming state convention of Ohio exhibitors. Abram F. Myers, head of the Allied movement, in late November will address the state's exhibitors, many of whom are understood to favor joining the national organization.

Exhibitors Urged To Tie-Up On 'Book Week'

Through co-operation of the National Board of Review, exhibitors will be afforded special opportunities for exploitation drives in connection with Book Week, November 17 to 23. The annual event is sponsored by the National Book Publishers' Association.

The National Board of Review has prepared a list of selected films comprising 115 sound pictures providing tie-up opportunities for the theatre and local book dealers.

In addition, the committee in charge, through the official publication of the organization, is urging libraries to work with theatres.

First Nat'l in 4 of 5 Publix Houses

Boston.—All Publix honses, with the single exception of the Fenway, last week presented First National productions. This has been the first time in the history of Publix in Boston that this has happened. The one exception to the complete invasion of Publix houses by First National releases, the Fenway, played a hold-over week of "Jealousy." The film followed the stage production by two weeks.

Carewe To Produce In South

New Orleans—Edwin Carewe is seeking locations for a new picture to be made in the Teche country.

"Fewer exhibitors, but more theatres represented than ever before," is the convention attendance prophecy voiced. This is regarded by representatives of the opposing groups as proof of their statements that the MPTOA is essentially a chain theatre organization, and not representative of the small and independent exhibitors, owning but one or two houses and not identified with any circuit.

It is known that officers of the MPTOA resent the charge of producer-exhibitor domination, with the claim that no exhibitor organization can be a representative one without both chain and independent exhibitor membership. Consequently those interested in the political aspects of the forthcoming assembly predict some action that will seek to establish the MPTOA as a representative national body.

300 To 500 Expected

Probable attendance is estimated at from three hundred to five hundred exhibitors. The program of activity for the three days is practically complete, and provides for the usual convention division of time between business sessions and social occasions.

One item on the program that looms importantly both for the nature of the subject and the person scheduled to discuss it, is an address by Sidney R. Kent, general manager of Paramount, who will speak on "The General Welfare of the Industry From the Distributors' Viewpoint." Many exchange managers and salesmen throughout the country are said to be eagerly awaiting Kent's statement as a key to the importance distribution will have in the future.

E. A. Eschmann will be present as the representative of J. E. Otterson, head of Electrical Research Products, Inc., and is named on the list of speakers. S. K. Wolff, manager of the Acoustic Department of "ERPI," will address the convention on "Reproduction in the Theatre."

"Small Exhibitors" Featured

M. A. Lightman, national president, announces that M. J. O'Toole, the national secretary, will present a plan for annulling the music tax. A retort to critics of the MPTOA's chain theatre membership is seen in a portion of the statement issued by Lightman reading: "Small exhibitors, the most harassed by all the problems confronting the industry as a whole, will be given the primary consideration in all the business discussions of the association."

Further emphasis on the membership strength of the association among small and independent theatre owners is indicated in a speech by M. S. Comerford, head of the Comerford chain of 185 houses, with head-quarters in Scranton, Pa., whose subject will be "The Independent Theatre's Fight for Independence."

The convention opens on Tuesday at the Peabody Hotel, with the customary registration of members and a short husiness session.

Clip Film Angels In Wall St. Drop

Film men throughout the country who have been scurrying for additional margins to protect their long accounts in Wall Street, are taking consolation in the statements issued in Washington that Federal Government officials regard the country's business structure as sound.

Well informed banking interests in New York incline strongly to the opinion that the recent scarcity of money for legitimate business purposes—the result of extensive speculative activity-has created a situation which can be corrected only by forcing a reduction in brokers' loans and a lowering of the amounts tied up in margin accounts.

New Theatre Projects Affected

New theatre promotions at different points in the country recently encountered great difficulty in arranging necessary financing through local banks. The reason given was reported to be lack of available funds for that type of investment. The same attitude has prevailed toward building and expansion operations in other industries.

Financial experts apparently are agreed in the helief that all Class A stocks are excellent investments for a long pull, and that the so-called "cat and dogs" on both the big board and the curb market are being punished. The current tariff fight in Congress is eausing uneasiness in speculative circles, and there appears to be a fast growing lack of confidence in the continuance of prevailing high prices in many issues without an even further shakedown to put many stocks back within reasonable distance of prices justified by earnings.

While the immediate situation is said to be causing acute mental agony to many film traders, the indications are that with easier money for legitimate business development the payroll situation will improve in many sections, with consequent benefit to theatre box-offices.

Score Drinking Scenes As Detriment To Enforcement

The contention that scenes showing drinking of alcoholic liquors is detrimental to enforcement of prohibtion will be stressed in efforts which the New York State Women's Christian Temperance Union will contribute to the drive for a Federal regulation of motion pictures.

A resolution scoring producers for filming seenes showing prohibition violations was adopted by the state organization at its convention held in Binghamton, N. Y. The resolution also contained instructions to notify Mrs. Alice Winter, past president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and now connected with the Hays office in Hollywood, of the action.

Martins Ferry Shakes "Blues"

Martins Ferry, Ohio.-The Sunday show squabble for past year here is ended. Five theatre employees who sued the mayor and chief of police for $50,000 damages on the ground of false arrests, have withdrawn suits in return for suspension of fine of manager.

Will Hays in Comedy?

Every live exhibitor can use his own discretion about his local billing after reading the following press notice:

"Will Hays, the actor, not the movie czar, is in the supporting cast of 'Toot Sweet,' the latest Lloyd Hamilton talking comedy, just completed."

Allied and MPTOA After Canadians

Ottawa, Canada.—Organized Canadian exhibitors as a hotly contested prize acquisition for either the Allied States group under Abram F. Myers, or for the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, headed by M. A. Lightman, is a report that has smuggled its way into the Dominion from the States close on the heels of record activity in increasing the membership of the Exhibitors Co-Operative of Canada, Limited.

This recently organized independent group, with beadquarters in Toronto, already has established five branches at widely separated points in Canada. This action came speedily after several meetings under the direction of Earl Lawson, chairman, and member of the Federal Parliament, F. R. Lennon, national buying agent for the independent exhibitors, W. A. Baillie, of Toronto, president, and others.

While the MPTO is represented by what is regarded as a strong organization in Toronto, Allied States officials are known to be displaying a keen interest in this newest effort to create a coast-to-coast exhibitor body in Canada.

The Canadian Government granted a charter to the Exhibitors Co-Operative, and one of the organization's first official acts was to request governmental investigation of the chain theatre business in the Dominion. This is under way.

A branch has been opened in Quebec, with C. B. Howard of Sherhrooke, a member of Parliament, an exbibitor, and with an interest in an independent exchange, in charge. The Manitoba branch, headquartered at Winnipeg, is beaded by J. A. Wilson. Branches also have been established at Calgary, Alberta, and in the Maritime Provinces, with offices at St. John, N. B.

Woodhull Urges Exhibs To Keep Organization Intact

Cleveland.—Members of the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors Association were urged to keep their organization intact "if you expect to protect your brick and mortar investments," by R. F. Woodhull, while here to establish a local office of General Talking Pictures.

Two New Paris Theatres

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington.—Two new picture theatres are to be opened on the Champs Elysees in Paris, Trade Commissioner George R. Canty reports to the M. P. Division of the Dept. of Commerce. One has a seating capacity of 2,000 and now is under lease to the Societe Generale de Films. The other will have 1,000 seats.

Surprise Action Looked For AT MPTOA Memphis Meet

Surprise action is anticipated at the convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America in Memphis, Tenn, next week to prove the national membership strength of the organization, as an answer to criticism of opposition exhibitor groups that it is a purely local body, using the Tri-State forces as a nucleus, and dominated by producer-owned chains.

Allied Movement Spreads In South

Tampa, Fla.—The Allied States franchise is spreading through the Southeast. Sixteen Tiffany-Stahl franchise agreements were signed by as many exhibitors who attended the zone meeting of the Southeastern Theatre Owners Association here. The franchise plan was outlined by John W. Mangbam, Jr., manager of the Atlanta office.

Ohio May Be Added to the Allied Ranks

Columbus.—Another ally for Allied is expected to develop out of the forthcoming state convention of Ohio exhibitors. Ahram F. Myers, head of the Allied movement, in late November will address the state's exhibitors, many of whom are understood to favor joining the national organization.

Exhibitors Urged To Tie-Up On 'Book Week'

Through co-operation of the National Board of Review, exhibitors will be afforded special opportunities for exploitation drives in connection with Book Week, November 17 to 23. The annual event is sponsored by the National Book Publishers' Association.

The National Board of Review has prepared a list of selected films comprising 115 sound pictures providing tie-up opportunities for the theatre and local book dealers.

In addition, the committee in charge, through the official publication of the organization, is nrging libraries to work with

First Nat'l in 4 of 5 Publix Houses

Boston.—All Publix houses, with the single exception of the Fenway, last week presented First National productions. This has been the first time in the history of Publix in Boston that this has happened. The one exception to the complete invasion of Publix houses by First National releases, the Fenway, played a hold-over week of "Jealousy." The film followed the stage production by two weeks.

Carewe To Produce In South

New Orleans—Edwin Carewe is seeking locations for a new picture to be made in the Teche country.

"Fewer exhibitors, but more theatres represented than ever before," is the convention attendance prophecy voiced. This is regarded by representatives of the opposing groups as proof of their statements that the MPTOA is essentially a chain theatre organization, and not representative of the small and independent exhibitors, owning but one or two houses and not identified with any circuit.

It is known that officers of the MPTOA resent the charge of producer-exhibitor domination, with the claim that no exhibitor organization can be a representative one without both chain and independent exhibitor membership. Consequently those interested in the political aspects of the forthcoming assembly predict some action that will seek to establish the MPTOA as a representative national body.

300 To 500 Expected

Probable attendance is estimated at from three hundred to five hundred exhibitors. The program of activity for the three days is practically complete, and provides for the usual convention division of time between business sessions and social occasions.

One item on the program that looms importantly both for the nature of the subject and the person scheduled to discuss it, is an address by Sidney R. Kent, general manager of Paramount, who will speak on "The General Welfare of the Industry From the Distributors' Viewpoint." Many exchange managers and salesmen throughout the country are said to be eagerly awaiting Kent's statement as a key to the importance distribution will have in the future.

E. A. Eschmann will be present as the representative of J. E. Otterson, head of Electrical Research Products, Inc., and is named on the list of speakers. S. K. Wolff, manager of the Acoustic Department of "ERPI," will address the convention on "Reproduction in the Theatre."

"Small Exhibitors" Featured

M. A. Lightman, national president, announces that M. J. O'Toole, the national secretary, will present a plan for annulling the mnsic tax. A retort to critics of the MPTOA's chain theatre membership is seen in a portion of the statement issued by Lightman reading: "Small exhibitors, the most harassed by all the problems confronting the industry as a whole, will be given the primary consideration in all the business discussions of the association."

Further emphasis on the membership strength of the association among small and independent theatre owners is indicated in a speech by M. S. Comerford, head of the Comerford chain of 185 houses, with headquarters in Scranton, Pa., whose subject will be "The Independent Theatre's Fight for Independence."

The convention opens on Tuesday at the Peabody Hotel, with the enstomary registration of members and a short business session.

Exhibitor Trouble Looms As Musicians Attack Sound

Exhibitor conflict with musicians' locals is not ended.

Indications are that it is just beginning. Display advertising in the New York dailies is the latest effort by the American Federation of Musicians to arouse public sentiment in favor of its members, and against synchronized music in picture theatres. Victory for the organized musicians in the recent Philadelphia strike, ended when Victory for the organized musicians in they won pay increases, is believed in authoritative quarters to be encouragement to other locals to seek the same benefit by protest against the invasion of sound films.

It is believed that exhibitors may be forced to take newspaper space in their own defense if reports are true that the paid advertising used in New York papers is duplicated in other cities. "The New York Times" states editorially a fact which, in anticipation of such action, has excellent publicity value for every exhibitor who employs paid space to protect the prestige of his theatre with the public. The Times says, in part:

"They (the musicians) have not touched the center of their real trouble. The talkies, bringing with them their own synchronized music, are at the bottom of the various musicians' strikes.

A campaign fund of considerable size has been raised to present to the public through a series of newspaper advertisements the superior value of an orchestra of visible, flesh-and-blood musicians over the canned music that comes with the sound film.

They want to get the public behind them in a demand for first-hand music.

It is reasonable to suppose that the more discerning audience should be enlarged as some of the higher grade dramas are given wider circulation through mechanical reproduction. The recording of Beethoven's symphonies by the phonograph did not drive people away from the concert halls. While sound pictures are still new, the musicians may be temporarily distressed, but wider distribution of music should not in the end militate against its sustained popularity when fresh from the orchestra"

Goldstein Plans Plays

E. II. Goldstein, former general manager of Universal, resumes activities via stage productions he is planning for the coming season in New York, provided a hit is developed on Broadway to warrant filming his play or plays. Negotiations for a screen actress, not previously identified with the stage, to appear in the lead of "No Children Allowed," the first play, are still on, but nothing definite has developed.

Frisco Managers Forming Club

San Francisco.—About a dozen theatrical managers are organizing a social club to be operated somewhat on the lines of a service club and drawing its membership from the ranks of theatrical men of Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

Syracuse Second Runs And Local Union Still At Odds

Syracuse, N. Y.—Dispute between owners of second runs and the local union over the contention of the latter that at least one of their eraft should be employed in any theatre showing talkies, has reached no settlement though an international representative of the stage hands' union is in town to aid negotiations. The trouble started several months ago and culminated in August with the lockout of union men by 15 second run theatres after installation of sound. Recently the Central Trades and Labor Assembly, with which the unions affected by the Lookout are affiliated, has been trying to bring opposing sides together.

Report Fox After Still More In K. C. District

Kansas City—According to persistant reports here still more theatres in the Kansas City district are to be purchased by Fox to expand the company's present holdings acquired by purchase of the Midland Theatre & Realty Co., houses and forty theatres from Consolidated Amusement Co., of Wichita, the latter deal involving $3,500,000.

Object To Type Of Films Like "Cock-Eyed World"

Indianapolis,—Objections to the type of comedy featured in "The Cock Eyed World" will be voiced in a letter to go to Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, now with the Hays office in Hollywood, by the Indianapolis Indorsers of Photoplays. The picture committee of the organization refused to indorse the Fox picture, declaring "we do not want to indorse pictures with that sort of low comedy."

lowa Exhibitor To Test Town On Sunday Shows

Des Moines.—F. E. Robertson, new owner of the Toledo in Toledo, Ia. is about to test the sentiment of the town in regard to Sunday shows. He is undecided whether the Sabbath showing will be secured through the city conneil or whether the people will vote.

Myers on Honeymoon?

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News) Washington.—Abram F. Myers, president and general counsel of Allied States, is now en route to Hawaii for a brief yeaction and W. A. Steffes of Milwankee is acting as head of the organization during his absence. Myers is expected to return to the United States by November 10. It is understood Myers' trip is a honeymoon trip.

Opals For Luck And Hot Theatre Publicity

"Dear Opal: A date you'll have to keep. I'll see you in Hell, sweetheart. It's an old Spanish custom. BENNIE."

Bennie was an usher in the Worldin-Motion theatre in Kansas City. Opal

Midnight Shows In College Town Clean Up

Beloit, Wis .- Exhibitors in college towns may be missing an opportunity to increase their week-end receipts.

Two theatres in Beloit, the Majestic, a Fox Midwesco house, and the Rex, one of the Getz chain, have inaugurated "Owl Midnight Shows," starting at 11 o'clock on Saturday nights, as pre-showings of the main feature picture of the week that formerly opened on Sunday.

College students as a rule are reported to have but one real rest session a week, and that is on Saturday afternoons and evenings, with a chance for late breakfasts on Sunday. The management of the two houses conceived the idea that Saturday midnight showings of programs which the college contingent of the population might not be disposed to attend on Sundays because of studies, would perhaps increase the total of paid admissions over the week-end.

The first experiment was made last Saturday night. The Majestic opened at 11 o'clock with "The River of Romance," and the Rex with "Say It With Songs." Both theatres were packed to the doors.

Week Runs Now End On Wednesday In St. Louis

St. Louis.-Two more first run theatres this week joined the popular trend toward the policy of changing programs in midweek instead of on Saturday or Sunday.

Both the Ambassador and the Missouri now open their new programs on Thursday. The move is being watched with closest attention by local theatre and exchange representatives, especially to determine the result that the change will have on receipts for Saturdays and Sundays.

Edmund Goulding will write the story for the next Gloria Swanson all-talker to be produced by Joseph P. Kennedy for United Artists. Goulding is now in New York consulting with producer and star.

Talk Of Florida Studio

St. Augustine, Fla.-The Chamber of Commerce announced opening of a motion picture studio city shortly, by International Talking Pietures of New York, according to statements made by H. H. Burns, business and production manager of the company.

"Four Feathers" Tops $80,000; $128,422 For Rogers At Roxy

Interest on Broadway last week centered in the business done by the silent production "Four Feathers" playing its first New York engagement at popular prices at the Paramount and Will Rogers in "They Had To See Paris" at the Roxy. The former proved a real surprise by drawing $80,000 while the latter got $128,-422 and was held over for a second week,

'Hallelujah' Big in L. A.; $14,300 Gate

Los Angeles.—In spite of the year's hottest weather, "Hallelujah," playing twice daily in its first week at the Fox Palace, new long run here, proved a smash surprise. It got $14,300 (160%). other pictures which have been steadies for a month also got heavy money. They were "Cock-Eyed World" at the Chinese and "Gold Diggers of Broadway" at the Warners-Downtown, the former drawing $25,-087 (156%), and the latter $23,500

Two other extended run films, "They Had to See Paris," in its fifth week at the Carthay Circle, and "Say It With Songs," playing its second week at Warners' Hollyowod, also enjoyed good business, the former grossing $17,900 (143%) and the latter $19,892 (142%).

Other films over the normal trade mark were "The Saturday Night Kid," were "The Sathrady Night Kit," which attracted $27,000 (109%), at the Paramount; "The Girl From Woolworth's," which did $17,500 (109%) at the RKO, and "His Glorious Night," which realized a gate of $27,506 (102%) at Loew's State.

The $4,228 grossed by the Mayan with the last four days of "Marianne" just about made the nut for the house.

Under-the-weather pictures, in terms of box-office, were "Dance of Life," which took in $12,500 (93%) at the United Artists, and "The Great Gabbo," which played to only $8,900 (89%) for the week.

60 Theatres In Southern Illinois Show "U" Newsreel

St. Louis.-Sixty theatres in Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois are now showing regularly the St. Louis Post Dispatch-Universal Newsreel twice a week.

Newspapers are showing great interest in the stunt despite the apparent publicity advantageous to Universal.

"Crows" Off In Jacksonville

Jacksonville-"'Why Bring That Up?" with Moran and Mack, played an entire week at the Florida but didn't click so well with audiences, despite an intensive selling campaign by Al F. Weiss, Jr. The showing at the box-office didn't come up to "Cocoa-

Educ'l Passes Dividend

Educational Pictures, Inc., has passed its preferred dividend. The last payment was two per cent declared on Aug. 1.

"The Unholy Night" at the Capitol was weak with $71,149, while at the Strand 'Fast Life,' direct from the Central, drew $34,000. "Why Bring That Up?" with Moran and Mack at the Rialto came through the second week with $38,200, while "Three Live Ghosts" finished a weak three week run at the Rivoli with "Hold Your Man" at the Colony drew $12,972, and at the little Cameo "The Madonna of the Sleeping Cars" showed a skimpy $4,763.

"Disraeli" Holds Up

Of the pictures that are in for runs in the legitimate houses "Disraeli" at Warner's showed the greatest box-office strength getting $24,752,25 on the week, although the other Warner production "Gold Diggers of Broadway" in its seventh week at the Winter Garden showed $25,159.50. These two topped the runs.

"Rio Rita" at the Earl Carroll is showing strength, the only falling off being at the matinees. Last week's business was $19,-998, while "The Hollywood Revue" the Astor held up with $18,960. "Applause" at the Criterion showed surprising strength by getting $15,100 in its first week in the house, as against the falling off at the Gaiety where "Sunny Side Up? in the attraction. The business there at matinees is very bad although the nights find a good demand even in the ticket agencies. The showing last week was $11,-164.

At the Globe, "The Great Gabbo" dropped off, getting $9,872 while "Hallelujah'' in its final week at the Embassy turned in $6,752. "Flight," finishing this week at the Cohan to make room for "Broadway Scandals," last week played to $11,581.

The Embassy starts its news reel grind policy next week.

Interstate Not To Follow Publix On Friday Opening

Dallas,-Determination to stick to the policy of Saturday openings while the big Publix houses are going in for Friday changes is announced by the Interstate circuit. The Majestic and the other houses under the Hoblitzelle regime, now controlled by Fox, will continue to introduce new programs the last day of the week as heretofore.

Films vs. Football

Boston.-Though the football season has made inroads into Saturday matinee business, gross receipts at picture theatres here have more than made up for the one afternoon drop, greatly increased evening trade being done by all downtown houses.

Urges Exhibitors To Adopt Standard Aperture For Sound

Hollywood.—Coast studios are now composing all vital elements in sound-on-film pictures within an area of 0.632 by 0.835 inches although continuing to photograph the whole frame. This is in accordance with specifications recently recommended by the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences Technicians' Branch acting jointly with the Technical Bureau of the Ass'n of M. P. Producers, the American Society of Cinematographers, The Pacific Coast section of the Society of M. P. Engineers and the California Chapter of the American Projection Society.

Theatres which restore the full screen image from sound-on-film pictures have been notified that to secure the maximum image size in 3 by 4 proportion they should use projector apertures whose size would by 0.600 by 0.800 inches on the basis of projection on the level, the horizontal center of the aperture coinciding with the horizontal center of the S. M. P. E. stand-

The recommendations and action by the studios followed the revelation through a nation-wide survey that theatres are using a wide variety of aperture sizes in projecting sound-on-film pictures. It was also found that an increasing number of theatres are restoring the full screen proportion through the use of a smaller aperture, lenses of one-half inch shorter focal length, and various recentering devices. As only two studios were composing to allow for this the result was that in many theatres part of the heads and feet of characters were cut off in projection. The recommendations of the technical societies are designed to correct this condition and were chosen as the best means of the projector aperture sizes among a number of large chains.

Studios which are now marking the ground glasses of their cameras to conform to the recommended practice are: Paramount-Famous-Lasky, M-G-M, United Artists, Pathe, Universal, RKO, Tiffany-Stahl, Mack Sennett, Darmour, Educational; the Fox markings are the same width but allow .04 inches more height.

Committees representing the technical organizations in Hollywood are also studying the problems of standard release print practice and screen illumination under the sponsorship of the Academy.

Edward Auger has been appointed Assistant General Sales Manager of RCA Photophone, Inc. Mr. Auger has been associated with the picture industry for 23 years, in sales, exporting and importing activities with various companies.

A Mysterious $12,000,000

Hollywood. - Mysterious interests, vaguely disguised in mysterious whisperings, are reported to have made an offer, through mysterious channels, of $12,000,000 in unmysterious maney, for Universal. The followup is that for some mysterious reason Carl Laemmle refused it, without any mysterious language used in his one word speech of rejection.

Voice Frequencies Big Sound Factor

(Hollywood Bureou, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood .- It's all in the voice frequencies. Speech is made up of vibrations, often irregular, produced by the forced flow of air through the vocal cords and oral cavities and modified by the action of the tongue, the lips and the teeth. This is the way Dr. Vern O. Knudsen, professor of physics at the University of California explained the mystery of why some voices record well and others poorly in talking pictures to the students of the School in Fundamentals of Sound, sponsored by the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences.

Abstracts of his lecture, the second to be delivered, follow:

"The problem 'how we hear' has always intrigued philosophers and scientists, and, although much is now known about the problem, it is yet hewildering. However, most of the physical characteristics of hearing

Instructive

Attention of exhibitors is called to the series of lectures delivered before the School in Fundamentals of Sound Recording now being conducted by the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences in Hollywood and reprinted as a digest in Motion Picture News.

The lectures, while primarily designed for the studios, contain many pointers and considerable information of value to the theatre owner whose house is equipped for talkers.

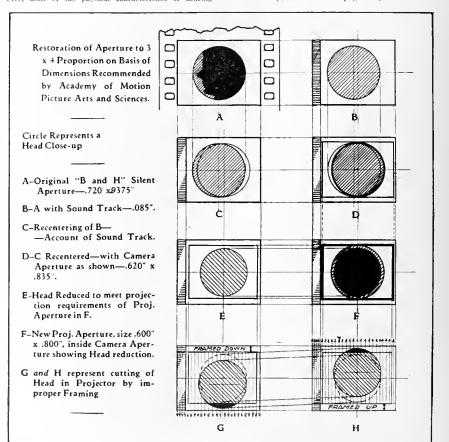

are accurately known, and these are at the very foundation of the recording and reproducing of speech and music. The ear is the seat of two important sense organs: the vestibular mechanism which is used for sensing motion and equilibrium; and the auditory mechanism which is used for sensing vibration. The auditory mechanism consists of three essential parts: the external ear which is a finnel for collecting and intensifying the sound vibrations which impinge upon the drum membrane; the middle ear which is a system of three hony levers which further intensify and communicate the vibrations to the cochlea; and the internal ear in which the vibrations are converted into nervous energy and then transmitted to the brain along the auditory nerves.

"The range of vibrations which can he heard is very extensive both in frequency and amplitude—extending in frequency from twenty to 20,000 vibrations per second; and in amplitude from one hillionth to one thousandth of an inch, as measured at the dum membrane. That is, the frequency range is ten octaves, and the amplitude range is one million fold. The loudest sounds we hear thus have an amplitude of one million times the amplitude of the feeblest sounds we hear thus have an amplitude of prequency and amplitude, a requirement which is almost impossible to realize.

"The loudness of sound, which is what we sense, is proportional to the logarithm of the intensity of the sound vibration. The loudness, in decihele, is defined by the following equation:

First Sound Census By Gov't Gets Under Way In December

Washington.—First figures regarding the production of sound pictures in the United States will be gathered next year by the U.S. Census Bureau in the course of its survey of activities in the film industry in 1929, it is disclosed by the questionnaire now being prepared in the bureau.

Detailed figures will be gathered regarding the production of sound, dialogue and silent pictures, which are expected to show just what part the first two classes are playing in the industry.

Decision to make this analytic survey of production was reached after conferences and correspondence with leaders in the industry, officials of the Department of Commerce and others interested in the subject. The schedule it is proposed to send to the producers was submitted to their leaders for approval, and in its final form will incorporate suggestions which have been made with a view to giving the industry the most valuable information.

Data regarding the production of negative films will be gathered by classes denominated, severally, theatrical, educational, news and advertising, and in each class producers will be asked to show, separately, sound, dialogue (in whole or in part) and silent pictures, giving the number, the cost of work done during the year and total eest of production.

Producers will also be asked to state the number of unfinished productions under way at the close of the year and the amount so far expended upon them, the cost of positive films, and receipts for laboratory work done for others.

Instructions which are to accompany the schedules ask producers to "report the total number of each specified class of negative films completed within the period covered by this report, with the total cost of work done on such negatives during the same period, and the total cost of producing them, whether begun within or prior to the heginning of the period covered. On line 'h' report the tetal cest of studie and laheratory work on your productions not finished within the year. On line 'c' report the cost, not including cost of producing negatives, of positive films made during the year. If you do laboratory work for others, report on line 'd' the total amount received and due for such work done during the year, hut do not report the number and value of the films developed or printed for others."

Schedules for the census are now nearing completion and will he sent to the Government printer within the next few weeks. In view of the fact that the Government Printing Office will have something like 160 different schedules to handle, with an aggregate printing of more than 1,000,000 cepies, it is not anticipated that the metion picture schedule will be ready for distribution before the middle of December.

Knox Is Appointed as 'Erpi' Head on Coast

H. G. Knox, recently elected a vice-president of Electrical Research Products, will extend company activities to Hollywood. He will be in charge of the Coast business formerly directed by Nathan Levinson, who resigned a few weeks ago. Kuex, who was European manager of "Erpi" has been with the company virtually since its inception. He was in charge of distribution and maintenance in Europe during early erganization days abroad and leaves New York soon for new headquarters at Holly-

Drift From Sound?

San Francisco.—With the nation practically "gone sound" to the exclusion of human orchestras in many de luxe houses, San Francisco is veering in the opposite direction. Jazz bands are becoming evident in increasing numbers. The latest is Laris De Pries' orchestra which has just started an engagement at the St. Francis. Audiences are going for the idea.

"Cock Eyed World" Scores As Biggest Draw In Dallas

Dallas. — The Cock-Eyed proved the greatest single box-office draw in local history. It played the Majestic to such crowds that an extra midnight show was given each day. Interest in pictures ran so high that other houses all down the amusement row played to excellent trade.

decibels (db) = 10 log 10

decibels (db) = 10 log 10 \frac{1}{I_0}.

"A decibel is the standard unit of loudness. In its technical definition it is based on logarithmic formulae. For a rough definition a decibel corresponds to the smallest sound that the normal ear can recognize. In the above equation (1) represents the intensity of the sound and I₀) the intensity of the sound and I₀) the intensity of the sound and I₀) the intensity of the sound may be a sound which can be just barely audible in quiet surroundings. Thus, a sound which has an energy content of one million times that of a sound which can be just barely heard has a loudness of about 120 db. The smallest change in loudness which the ear can detect is about one-half decibel, and under circumstances which exist in practice one decibel is about the smallest change which can be readily recognized by the forced flow of air through the vocal cords and oral cavities, and modified by the action of the tongue, lips, and teeth. The vowel sounds are characterized by a prolonged continuance of the same vocal sound. Vowel quality is largely determined by the resonant effects produced by two cavities in the mouth, one in front of the elevated portion of the tongue and the other bebind it. The vowels are made up of frequencies between 128 dv. and 4096 dv., with the most important frequencies around 1024 d.v., with the most important frequencies around 1024 d.v., with the most important frequencies around 1024 d.v. means one complete vibration, that is, one to and froexcursion for the vibrating object in space. excursion for the vibrating object in space. The usual soudness level of vowels in conversation is about 55 db.

"Many of the consonant sounds, called the voiced consonants, are produced in much the same way as are vowels. There are many other consonants which are unvoiced, as p, k, t, f, and s, which do not utilize the vocal cords. They are produced largely by frictional vibrations set up between the lips, between the tongue and teath, or between the tongue and teath, or between the tongue and teath or between the tongue and teath of the order of 25 db.

"The energy content of speech is very small. The average speaker in conversation generates only about ten microwatts. In large auditoriums the average is about fifty microwatts. Thus, it requires approximately 15,000,000 speakers talking continuously to generate a single horse power of acoustical energy.

"The fundamental pitch of a wonna's voice, therefore, contains a greater proportion of high frequency components than does a man's voice. This is the principal reason why, in general, a woman's voice is much more difficult to record and reproduce than a man's. When Moscow Laughs

(Amkino-Silent)

Film Lacks B. O. "It"

(Reviewed by Thomas C. Kennedy)

HEN Moscow Laughs" (also known as "The Girl With The Band Box") is a Russian comedy. It is tragic as far as American b. o. are concerned. The star is Anna Steun, nil when it comes to drawing power.

But the film has virtues, even if it is not box office. It tells a simple little story of how a Russian peasant girl met a homeless boy in the big city and brought him to the establishment where she worked so that he could have a place to sleep. She tells her employer that he is her husband. However, when the lottery bond, which she received as wages, wins 25,000 rubles, the boy and girl are able to marry.

Ann Stenn has a screen personality. But the comedy events rest mostly for their effect on P. Pol as the husband of Anna's employer who tries frantically to buy the bond hack again when he discovers it's a winner. Pol hack several scenes all to himself which are very effective.

A Program Action Western

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

BOB CUSTER is the star of this action western. It is an action western with a story along stereotyped lines. There are the usual rodeo stunts, a cross country chase, a couple of hand-to-hand battles, with the villains defeated and virtue triumphant and the hero minning the girl in the end. The picture, however, is somewhat better cast than the average run of this type of production. In the daily change houses this one will hold its own ou double feature programs and in some of the smaller towns it will be okay on the regular western days.

No one is credited with having written the story which is laid around a cattle stealing plot. An old time rancher is slowly being driven into bankruntey through systematic thefts of his stock. His daughter starts out to investigate. At the stock yards she is attacked and certain papers stolen. A young cowhand comes to her rescue and from a piece of torn paper gets her address after she has driven away. He follows with his partner and goes to work on her father's ranch, discovers who the thieves are, has them arrested and wins the girl.

Return Of Sherlock Holmes

(Paramount—All Dialogue)
Lacking In Thrills

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

HERLOCK HOLMES has returned to the screen via the person of Clive Brook who looks like the popular conception of the great scientific detective of fiction, but there the resemblance ends. There isn't a real thrill in the whole picture. It proves a slow draggy affair, possibly because in its direction the tempo was paced according to the featured player. There may be box-office value in the title, but there is nothing about the film that will cause word-of-mouth advertising or bring crowds to the box office.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is responsible for "The Return of Sherlock Holmes." The crime detector at the opening of the story refuses to aid Scotland Yard because he is going into retirement. But he is compelled to take part in the unraveling of the mystery when the daughter of his old pal, Dr. Watson, becomes involved on the eve of her wedding. The greater part of the action takes place on a trans-Atlantic liner, and there is one real moment of suspense just before the finish.

Barnum Was Right

(Universal-All Dialogue)

A Happy Program Picture

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

CLENN TRYON stars in another of his happy comedies for Universal. A gay affair, it will give most andiences an enjoyable hour. Tryon appears to advantage as a young fellow who hires an old hotel, revives a legend that buried treasure is hidden there and enjoys a prosperous business.

There is a load of humor with guests frantically diaging underneath floors, outside on hotel grounds and elsewhere. The picture ripples along merrily. Only the ultra-sophisticated will sit frigidly through its display of hilarity.

What treasure there is, is found by Tryon when the house is blown up in the treasure hunt. Incidentally, the blast creates a channel admitting the sea to the hotel premises thus insuring a rosy future for Glenn, the business man.

The picture offers some good exploitation possibilities in its Barnum title and treasure bunt theme.

Just Off Broadway

(Chesterfield-Silent)

Average Racketeer Drama

(Reviewed by Thomas C. Kennedy)

A BOY and a girl immersed in a racketeer feud are the roles enacted by Donald Meith and Ann Christy in this melodrama which sticks closely to the beaten track. It makes a conventional neighborhood-grind release.

His brother humped off by a rival racketeer, Keith jumps from school into the night club circles of Broadway in quest of his man. He finds him and also a girl dancer for whom he promptly falls. The racketeer, on the pretense of sending the boy and girl off together to his apartment on a friendly party, rounds up his gunmen to plug the youngster. But the latter is not dumb and the racketeer falls into the clutches of the law when the night club hostess whom he has thrown over spills his activities to the detectives. So the school boy and dancer parade to the altar.

The story keeps along Broadway, the director using many shots of corner lampposts to knit in the night club, racketeer and whoopee apartment scenes. The plot moves along without any hitch in action and acceptable characterizations are rendered by the leads and cast.

Produced and distributed by Chesterfield. Story by Fanny D'Morgal. Scenario by Arthur Hoeri. Titles by Lon Young. Directed by Frank O'Conner. Edited by James Sweeney. Photographed by M. A Anderson. Release date, March 15, 1929.

Behind The Makeup

(Paramount—All Dialogue)

Satisfactory Entertainment (Reviewed by Dan Ashbaugh)

FROM all the back stage pictures made since talkies came into their own, "Behind the Makeup" stands out because of its unusual plot and interesting characters. Neither a virtuous chorus girl nor an affectionate vandeville team is featured in this sorry; but an ordinary sort of actor who teams up with a famous Italian clown.

Flid Skelly and William Poweli in the two karing roles provide an interesting contrast, both winning sympathy for the characters they interpret. A weak spot in the production is Skelly's act in which he returns to his own place following the death of Gordoni (Powell).

Fay Wray is the girl in the case, whom Gordoni wins from the actor, as he wins everything else. She is particularly well photographed in the latter part of the picture and does her best work during the latter scenes. Kay Francis as the girl responsible for Gordoni's downfall is, as usual, smart and effective.

The play is unique in its lack of villains, Robert Milton as director managing to give the spectator a feeling that the characters are impelled by their own needs rather than any ill feeling against their fellow victims. An outstanding picture as entertainment for the more discriminating.

Produced and released by Paramount, From story "The Feeder" by Mildred Cram, Adapted by George Manker Watters and Howard Estabrook, Directed by Robert Milton, Photographed by Charles Lang.

Campus Knights

Chesterfield-Silent Fair College Film

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly)

A LTHOUGH considerable langhs are gathered in by this Lon Young production via the "twin brother" route, the picture is but a fair draw because of its lack of "star" pull. Raymond McKee and, to a lesser dgree, Shirley Palmer, are the only two names that offer any exploitation possibilities. The story's locale is a girl's seminary. Several whoone capers is a girl's seminary. Several whoopee capers are entwined around the theme of the twin brothers' escapades, the gag being that the girls mistake the jazz-mad brother for their meek professor.

With college capers showing the professor involved in several compromising situations with the girls, the picture offers considerable spice. The professor is in a constant state of embar-rassment, which McKee skilfully maintains throughout. His characterization undoubtedly will result in laugh echoes in theatres where this one is shown. That type of house will be the one is snown. That type of house will be the grind and neighborhood house, where "Campus Knights" will prove a fairly satisfying laugh dessert. The exhibitors' job is to pull them in with only McKee's name as bait.

No Appeal For American Fans

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly)

THIS Soviet importation doesn't mean a thing for American theatres. It is really a camera solo, there being no story, titles, settings or actors—a difficult fare for the average American audience to down. Surnamed "Living Russia," the picture will appeal only to those of Slavic extraction, to those who support the "arty" film theatre. Fan after fan will pass this one up in favor of more appealing Hollywood films. Looking at camera pyrotechnics for a solid hour is more than they're accustomed to and they won't consider it entertainment. to and they won't consider it entertainment. The film strikes one as being just a titleless newsreel embellished with trick photography. Of course, it exhibits discrimination and skill in the weaving of the continuity—done entirely by the camera, the only titles being five at the beginning where the film is mentioned as "an experiment in projecting visual phenomena purely by means of the camera . . . thus creating an international cinema language." This purpose is a worthy one, but the film cannot be said to have entirely succeeded in its high pur-suit of camera art. To make it anything of a box office venture, some sort of story should have been injected. As it is the average theatre-goer will be entirely justified in terming it hodge-podge.

The picture is composed of scenes taken by a cameraman in Russia, the shots opening with the dawn and closing after the day has gone. Into it are packed all sorts of shots showing modern Russian life at long and close range.

Producer, WUFKU. Distributor, Amkino. Directed by Daiga Vertoff. Cameraman, K. Kaufman. No cast, titles, nor story credited. Length, 6,000 feet. Running time, 1 hour, 15 minutes. Release date, Sept., 1929.

THERE'S nothing to push this one over the line. It is a silent overburdened with titles-which indicates that nearly all of the dialogue of the talker version has been injected into the silent version in the form of titles. Beyond this impediment, however, the picture has some speed in its melodramatic sequences

Good Yarn Of The Marines

(Reviewed by Thomos C. Kennedy)

E SSENTIALS that go toward the making of an entertaining and well-fashioned yarn are evident in this Monte Blue vehicle. It is a story with a strong masculine flavor.

Blue, as a ne'er-do-well, guides a party of marines into a rebel-ridden section to rescue a stranded party of Americans. They find the place a shambles and a dying woman and her baby the only ones left of the original party. The dying woman knows the ne'er-do-well as her benefactor and she lets it become known that he originally deserted from the marines so that people would believe that he was respon-sible for a theft committed by her husband. The marine's sacrifice becomes known to all and he is again recognized upon his return to cvilization.

The scenes in the jungle where the marines are beset by guerrillas, fever and fatigue are the meat of the picture. Cast, as well as tar,

The fan who is easily shocked into high indignation will perhaps, take offense, but the sophisticated fan will probably enjoy the spicy moments in this R-K-O offering. The story shows a devil-may-care pirate in the tropics enamored of an American dancer. The girl comes to the pirate's ship at night to plead for her lover, whom the pirate has captured. He tells her that if she will spend the night in his cabin the man will be set free. The lover, bound and helpless, sees the cabin door close after his girl and the pirate and he gives close after his girl and the pirate and he gives his imagination too free a rein so that when the girl emerges from the cabin, apparently having paid the price, his attitude shows that every-thing is off between them. He doesn't know that the pirate was a gentleman and that the girl is just testing him. Disgustedly, she turns to her pirate and sails away with him.

S POOKS, baffling mysteries, murders in the dark are the backbone of this production, a better-than-average release. It has thrills a plenty. The story holds up all the way even if it smacks of the serial. About the only objection that can be brought against is that it shapes up too much like a photographed stage play. Sweetie

(Paramount-All Dialogue)

A B. O. Surprise Package. (Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

PARAMOUNT has been promising a surprise package in "Sweetie." Audiences, we venture, will agree. This is called an original college musical comedy. It is certainly original. There's a football game in it, of course, And the hero wins the game for the girl-of course. But even this shopworn situation is saved by original comedy stuff in the capable hands of Helene Kane and Sidney Irwin, the college dummy.

As a picture of college life it is further from the truth than any of its predecessors. But it doesn't pretend to be realistic. It kids its own theme—and broadly. Imagine turning the Alma Mater song—always a dirge—into an Al

Jolson "Alma-Mammy."

Helen Kane is a hit in a custom-made "boopaboopa-doop" part. Nancy Carroll takes the lead and adds a sweet, singing voice to her always pleasing acting. Stanley Smith—borrowed from the Pathe lot—is sure-fire with the flappers. "Sweetie Man Sweet," the theme song, vies for first place as a hit with a number of other original and catchy ditties. Frank Tuttle, the director, deserves a lot of credit for this one.

Great War Comedy With Songs (Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

ERE is a Marion Davies who talks, who sings, who compels laughter and proves to be one of the really delightful stars of the screen in the first of her sound productions. The picture is sure fire. It has everything that one could wish. In a measure it is built along musical comedy lines, for there are certain liberties taken to get laughs that would only be legitimate in a musical comedy. They get over on the screen and pull any number of chuckles for the star. There is a well developed love interest.

The story concerns a French girl who has promised one of her countrymen to await his return from the war. But she falls in love with a young American doughboy. Just hefore the Americans leave her betrothed returns, but he is blinded and she decides to remain with him. Later he enters the priesthood and she is free to follow her sweetheart to America. Shimmers With Gold

(Reviewed by Red Kann)

RENE BORDONI, who barnstormed via vaudeville for many seasons all over America, is starred in "Paris," a talking-singing-dancing version of her stage play. But it is Louise Closser Hale, as the New England puritanical mother who goes to Paris, who brings on the laughs. The picture comes perilously close to being hers.

The story, fluff all the way, concerns the Paris trip of the scion of the New England Cabots, his meeting with Miss Bordoni, the visit of his mother to check up on their engagement and what happens to her. Miss Hale is extremely funny, Miss Bordoni effective prin-cipally in the color numbers and Jack Buchanan, pleasing as playboy for the down east mater. Production values are excellent; all through its length it is easy to see that First National unloosened the money bags on this one. In point of continuity much is lacking; likewise, insofar as acting is concerned. But the whole affair is a load of fun, interspersed generously with catchy music and good-looking girls. Mark it down for big money. This is in.

Good Andience Number

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly)

S ATISFYING entertainment in a large measure is found in this unusual story, of the Dr. Faustus type. So far, this species of yarn remains unbackneyed. As portrayed by Ricardo Cortez, the character of an ageing financial mogul who regained youth through medical science is felt throughout what could easily have been a preposterous tale.

Smitten by the charms of his youthful next-door neighbor (Claire Windsor), Cortez goes to Berlin and is there rejuvenated. Upon his return, the girl falls in love with him. While at a performance of "Faust" the girl unconsciously lets Cortez know of her distaste for any old man who would try to be young again. Cortez topples over, the youthful old man becomes old again and the girl walks out on him. However, his secretary who had always cared for him reveals her affection and then comes the clinch.

The story runs along smoothly until the pera episode, which drags terribly. The last opera episode, which drags terribly. reel, in dialogue, peps it up and finishes the picture with a bang. Dialogue certainly demonstrates its revivifying qualities in this instance.

A Most Immoral Lady

(First National-All Dialogue) Not As Bad As The Title Sounds (Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

THIS picture hasn't very much to offer and is not quite as had a set to offer and is not quite as bad as the title tries to make it. The story is built on the old badger game, only here it is a case of a society couple preying on its own set, and all because the wife, who is a good looking wench, turns down a millionaire. Box office value is questionable, because in the smaller communities the title may hurt and in the bigger ones the story wili disappoint.

The cast is fairly strong in name values. Leatrice Joy is featured, with Walter Pidgeon the juvenile lead, doing very well; Sydney Blackmer, the heavy, Josephine Dunn as a wild society flapper, and Montagu Love and Robert

Rasputin

(Brill-Silent)

Mediocre Russian War Story (Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

S OME old news reel shots and the title are the best thing about this picture. It is an effort on the part of a German producing organization to capitalize the reputation of the Russian monk, Rasputin, and the part he played in Russian history during the war. From a box office standpoint there is nothing to the picture except the title. The story itself is nil. The cast is fairly excellent, especially Gregor Chmara in the title role, who gives a corking character impersonation.

The tale concerns itself with presenting Rasputin in the light of a religious faker, one who while posing as a man of God was a libertine, a seducer of women and not above thievery. Into this, a slight love tale is worked involving a daughter of a Russian general and a captain in the Russian army. The captain is ordered to the front, is wounded and the girl visits him. Later he returns to St. Petersburg, slaps Rasputin because the latter has been trying to compel the czar to make a separate peace. In the end the two young aristocrats are shown living happily in Russia after the revolution and the death of Rasputin.

Shorts For Sport Fans, Kiddies In Review of Week's Releases

Pathe Audio Review No. 28

(Pathe-1 Reel) Immense for Ball Fans

THIS Review hunts into basehall's hall of fame for its subject matter. It opens with scenes of Cooperstown, N. Y., where the first game was played in 1839. Among the diamond's elite shown in following scenes are George W. Bradley, Sydney Farrar, Amos Rusie, J. Honus Wagner, Joseph Harris, Fred Tenney, Henry L. Gowdy, Joseph Tinker, John Evans, Tyrus Cobb, Mike Donlin and Babe Ruth. The reel is well conceived and edited. Cobb is introduced as having 'made more records than Victor.'
Donlin is seen as a Hollywood actor and Evans speaks a bit for the mike about the combination of Tinkers to Ever to Chance. A very good short subject for all lovers of haseball both large and small.

Amusing Golf Comedy

THE Gleasons-Jimmy and his wife, Lucille Webster-appear in a series of domestic squabbles in this comedy of golf and marriage. They are playing another couple in an exhibition match and the laughs commence to drip when Jimmy drives his ball into a barn and takes about fifteen strokes to get on the green. The gags lie in the bad holes in which the golfers occasionally find themselves. Those acquainted with golf will get the most kick out of it. For the others to whom the game is a mystery, it will be just an average comedy. Gleasons play their roles very well. Story was by Norman Sper and George Rogan. Direction by John Mescall and Robert Fellows.

Ranks Very High

STORIES 1 and 2 in this sound Review—
"Gothic" and "India"—are splendid. Which means a lot when the many excellent offerings of the Reviews are considered. The first is a camera study of the Cathedral of Notre Dame, with its gargoyles, massive buttresses and tow-ers. Accompanying the various shots is a religious chant and a series of titles in Latin. The second story is an Oriental dance done against an exotic setting, with the "Song of Indía" as the melody background. It is beautifully done in every detail. In "Thames," the Review concludes with a gala day on the river.

Fair Offering

YOU'VE seen him in vaudeville—the comedian with the black cigar, loud laugh and intimate conversational style. He pulls gags that arouse audience laughter and gets across as a fair sound short attraction. This act will do for the neighborhood house.

O. K. For Kids

m OBB1E}$ NELSON, kid actor, and Edmund Cobb are co-starred in this fair-to-average westernette. It has plenty of footage devoted to fast riding, fighting between the hero, a pony express rider, and two villains trying to rob him. Of course, Cobb defeats them in the end, the kid helping out with man-sized heroics. A subject of this type gets a good response from kid audiences and in rural localities where they crave wild-and-woolly stories caparisoned with all the usual western trimmings. For such audiences, this two-recler offers concentrated en-joyment. Jack Nelson directed.

"In And Out"

(Pathe Sound Comedy-2 Reels)

Real Audience Stuff

ONE of Hugh Wiley's Saturday Evening Post stories of colored folk is successfully converted into a screen comedy. Two colored boys, Ford Lee Washington and John Sublette, are the dusky pair who are jailed by mistake and sent before the judge. The boys hire a law-yer, but he's not much of a help and the judge sustains sentence when he hears the boys sing and dance. Washington has a pair of feet that pound out rhythm with seemingly no effort. Quite a lot of footage is devoted to his dancing, but it's worth it. The comedy contains plenty of humor and is sure to get response from any audience. Direction by Monte Brice.

Average

J OKES and songs contributed by this enter-tainer make a fair sound short. After cracking some jokes, he slides into a few songs giving some a dramatic interpretation. Average vaudeville material.

"Stimulation"

(Vitaphone No. 3636-1 Reel)

Good For Grown-Ups

A NOTHER example of comedy for poppa and momma to see, but not the kiddles. The main reason, however, is not the fact that it is risque, but rather that it will not be funny to children.

For adults there are a few titillating moments in the old "no pants" scenes. Johnny Arthur makes the most of the mirth provoking possibilities of his embarrassments. Beatrice Blinn, as the flaming flapper and Geneva Mitchell as Johnny's wife, round out the cast. For a filler this should get by chiefly because of Johnny Arthur.

Pathe Audio Review No. 27 (Pathe-2 Reels)

Excellent Short

THERE are three good audience bets in the current Review—"Babies," showing the health precautions which Japanese youngsters receive; "Derby," a dog race with intriguing shots of Scottish terriers and other favorites of dogland; "Venice," a visit to the famous canal city by the traveling mike with views of the gondolas and echoes of Italian serenades heard along the waters. Excellent magazine matter in camera and synchronization work.

"Orphan Of The Wagon Trails" "Pathe Audio Review No. 24"

(Pathe-1 Reel) Worthwhile

A MARIONETTE show ("Talkie De Luxe") with puppets playing the roles of Fairbanks, Menjou and Mix is a novel item on this Review's menu. Each of the puppets sings a song, then they offer some ensemble singing and dancing. Other stories in the Review Are "Goat," various shots of the animal; "Curacao," extra-fine photographic work in these scenes of the Caribbean city; and "Vision," showing some modern chorus babies stepping against a background of the old Chicago Fair. Well proportioned and interesting, this issue of the Audio Reviews a worthwhile offering.

"Pathe Review No. 40"

(Pathe-1 Reel)

Will Satisfy

FOUR subjects—"Frozen Mystery," "Nervous Flowers," "Belles Lettres" and "Fair and Foolish" are the table of contents. The first, being views of the ice caverns on the slope of Mt. Ranier; the second is a novel offering showing various flowers extremely delicate and sensitive to touch. In the third, the editor cleverly puts one over on the censors by inserting or puts one over on the censors by inserting in the shots dealing with the literature quays of Paris, several pictures of kittens. Evidently, then, moralists can't pounce on the scenes as encouraging pornographic literature. A girlish frolic makes a refreshing conclusion in the final number. Throughout there is ample humor in the titles. Okay for the general run of programs. Sept. 29 release.

"Dear Vivian"

(Christie-Paramount-Two Reels)

Carries Laughs

R AYMOND HATTON and Sam Hardy are the two principal players in this fairly amusing comedy built around a blackmailing situation. One of the two is being held-up by a "vamp" to whom he has written a number of two principal prin a "vamp" to whom he has written a number of incriminating letters. The partner in business poses as his wife and obtains the letters and the return of the check for $25,000 that had been paid for them, only to fall for the girl himself. Well played and quite a number of laughs. Running time, 20 minutes.

> "Satires" (Vitaphone No. 849-1 Recl)

Fairly Funny

JOHN T. MURRAY and Vivien Oakland are the stars. "Satires" is a hurlesque of the average mystery play of the stage and screen and is followed by a rendition of a duet as it would have been done in the early '80's. Fairly funny, especially the first half. Running time, seven minutes.

Educational Fare

SURE-TO-PLEASE screen material is embodied in this silent Review. Opening with views of sea birds off the Scandinavian coast ("Viking Poultry") in which the Pathechrome camera catches some interesting sights, the reel continues with "Pure Para," showing the process whereby rubber is obtained in the Amazon jungle. Pictures of the Arctic reindeer herds ("Reindeer") and scenes of Germany's capital ("Berlin By Night") wind up the shots to a favorable conclusion. An educational bit for AD TIPS—Gives Garbo every chance to be her own personality. Women flock to see how she tries to break an important convention of society and picture smacks of intensive love, with a bit of the South Seas thrown in for good measure. Audience appeal: Too deep for children—women eat it up.—B. F. Keith's, J. M. Franklin, Mgr., Ottawa, Ontario.

Smiling Irish Eyes (F. N.)

OTTAWA—Centre (1,200), 6 days, 15-50c. Fox News, "Ladies Choice." Weather, clear and cool. Opposition: "Why Bring That Up?" "The Single Standard." "Speedway," "Innocents of Paris," "Lucky Star." Rating, 90%.

AD TIPS—Mostly a better Colleen Moore—who sings and dances an Irish jig and wears her hair in curls for a change. Both Ol' Erin and America are depicted as settings and the story is Irish through and through. Colleen's voice is not strong nor impressive but it is sweet and many like her the better for it. "Hear Colleen Moore" is the peg for the advertising argument. Audience appeal: The ladies and every Irishman in town.—Centre, Don Stapleton, Mgr., Ottawa, Ontario.

Speedway (M-G-M)

OTTAWA—Imperial (1,220), 3 days, 15-50c, "There are Smiles," Metrotone News. Weather, clear and cool. Opposition: "Why Bring That Up?," "Lucky Star," "Innocents of Paris," "The Single Standard," "Smiling Irish Eyes." Rating, 95%.

AD TIPS—The entrancing speed of motors is brought to the sound screen in this picture which is built around the Indianapolis Speedway with William Haines as the smart alex hero. Some wish that Haines would not be so nutty but that is his character and he sticks to it. Excitement soars as the racing cars roar (that was a good line in the advertising). Anita Page adds loveliness. Don't forget Karl Dane as the dumb mechanic. Audience appeal: Young people.—Imperial, Ray Tubman, Mgr., Ottawa, Ontario.

Square Shoulders (Pathe)

BALTIMORE—Hippodrome (2,500), 6 days, 20c-55c, with Bert Smith Players in "The Patsy," with vaudeville acts and chorus, orchestra, organ, "Turkey For Two" (Pathe all talking comedy), Pathe sound news. Weather, clear, cool, showers one day. Opposition: "Fast Company," "Her Private Affair," "Hearts In Exile," "Frozen Justice," "Isle of Lost Ships," "Why Bring That Up," "The Hollywood Revue" and "Madame X." Rating, 70%.

AD TIPS—Call this a touching story of father love with Junior Coghlan and Louis Wolheim. Audience appeal: Fine acting by Wolheim and children in cast puts this over in great style. Has wide appeal for all parents. Was well liked here.—Hippodrome, Nat Keene, Mgr., Baltimore.

The 13th Chair (M-G-M)

Tied up with radio and phonographs. Audience appeal: All who enjoy good clean comedy. -Stillman, George Gilliam, Mgr., Cleveland.

There was an excellent opportunity to tie this up with the broadcast of Moran and Mack and with the phonograph records by this lam-ous pair. Exhibitors are advised to emphasize the title as well as the stars of this picture so that the public will not be confused when the mext Moran and Mack feature comes along with another title. We featured this one as "The Two Black Crows—Moran and Mack—Why Bring That Up?" Audience appeal:—Everybody.—Regent, T. A. Tubman, Mgr., Ottawa, Ontario.

They have made their first talking picture and a very excellent one. You see and hear new fun—a pantomime boxing match will con-vulse you. You know 'cm, "The Two Black Crows." Over radio and phonograph records they have convulsed America with their comedy. Audience appeal: All ages and classes.

—Criterion, Oklahoma City.

Get tie-ups with newspapers on records and radio sets for special advertising. In newspaper ads use as large cuts as possible of Moran and Mack and use these names playing up "The Two Black Crows" in "Why Bring That Up?" With Evelyn Brent and Harry Green. Tell them radio and record stars in a smash hit revue. Roars galore; girls by the score; laughs, tunes, dances and a comedy romance by Octavus Roy Cohen. Audience appeal: Wide general appeal due to popularity of Moran and Mack. Opinions on worth of picture divided.—Charles Raymond, genl. mgr.,

"Two Black Crows" is best catch line, for Moran and Mack are thus known on radio, record, and screen. Name of Octavus Roy Cohen and the "Saturday Evening Post" in connection, are good bets, and story may be played as containing "everything—laughs, glamour, pathos, and drama." Also used a line, "learn the real meaning of 'backstage'," which took well. Its appeal is to everybody, old and young.

The House Manager

HERE is coming into existence, especially among the chain theatres, a serious condition which we really believe they are making a great mistake in letting go any further.

It is the apparent desire to keep the identity of the house manager a deep and dark secret.

We care not a tinker's damn where the theatre may be located but take away from the manager his individuality and you are depriving the house of one of its greatest and most valuable assets.

Nobody wants to be a "hidden" factor in the success of whatever work they are doing and those supervisors who really know what it's all about will readily understand the psyhycology of our argument that they should see that the managers name is carried on every program.

This holds just as good for the big city neighborhood houses as it does in the smaller towns and cities and it is well to keep in mind that the better known a man is around his community and theatre, the warmer the feeling between patron and theatre.

Those of you who really understand conditions around the average town and city will agree that the theatre manager is one of the outstanding figures in community life.

As a matter of fact, in most places, the manager is second in importance only to the mayor. In larger cities he should be everybodies friend and active in whatever community life going on around him.

Hundreds of patrons get the greatest "kick" you ever imagined by just passing through the lobby and addressing the manager by

How they can do so without having his name brought to their attention is what a lot of those G. M.'s have forgotten to take into consideration when ordering the house manager's name off every bit of advertising and house programs.

On my trip through the middle west in the summer of 1928, I was delighted to find how much the local manager was permitted to get himself into local prominence and it clearly demonstrated how important a factor it was for the manager to keep himself in the limelight with the interest of his theatre constantly at heart.

Lord knows the lot of the average house man is not the best in these hectic days, but why make him feel like a "lost sheep" when it is far more valuable to play him up everything it is worth.

About the best way I can wedge this argument home is to ask those responsible for such a condition to put themselves in the place of the house manager and see how they would feel about it.

Dick Moss Likes His New Job And Will Plug For Club

It was not so long ago that the ROUND TABLE CLUB column extended its best wishes to Richard Moss who was leaving New York for a berth with the Fox-West Coast Circuit.

Now, we find that Mr. Moss is connected at the Colorado Theatre in Pasadena, Cal., as Assistant to Mr. R. T. Newton, and rapidly learning to like the new surroundings and the organization he is working for.

You are right, Dick, you have connected with a fine outfit and I can't think of a better one that you could be with.

We would certainly like to keep in touch with this new member and hope that he sends us one of his photographs with his first contribution.

Lots of luck to you, Moss, and be sure to let us hear from you regularly. Also regards to all our ROUND TABLE friends on the Coast.

Euering Starts Off New Season With Timely Exploitation

Lee J. Euering, the young but aggressive Manager of the Majestic Theatre in Springfield, Ohio, used very good judgment in the dressing of the front of his theatre when he played "The

We are showing below two views of the front of the Majestic, one taken from about fifty feet in front of the theatre, and the other a closeup showing the arrangement at the Box Office and unedr the marquee.

We have not published a front display on "The Barker" for some time, although quite a few out-of-town theatres are still playing, or still have to play, this feature. It is one of those features that lends itself to this type of dressing, and I believe all our members and readers will agree that Euering turned out a mighty fine job without spending too much money.

The activities this season of young Euering make mighty interesting reading for the ROUND TABLE CLUB pages, and we hope he is getting set for a busy time.

C. A. Clinch Put This One Over With Big Success

You all probably recall the "Free Piano Classes" stunt which we described but a short time ago on these pages.

Now we want you to see how the same stunt was worked at the Columbia Theatre in Brookville, Pa., under the direction of C. A. Clinch, the resident manager.

From the photograph which we are showing with this story, you must admit that it is a fine looking group (and a happy one at that) who are taking advantage of the Columbia Theatre's offer.

The classes are given instruction once a week for a one hour period, and on Saturday in the forenoon, the course which is under the direction of Miss Erma Bowdish, the theatre organist, covers the fundamentals of the theory of music and the playing of simple compositions in every key and is equivalent to the progress usually attained by private pupils in two years. Although, under this system they generally acquire the same knowledge in about three months.

Here's a stunt that's worth looking into, and in the event it did not attract your particular attention the first time we mentioned it, we suggest that you get in touch with Mr. Clinch direct, who we are sure would be glad to furnish samples of the materials used in publicizing this stunt and any other details which may assist you in putting it over. Or, you may write direct to the Chairman at Club headquarters, and he will secure the necessary information.

E. B. Davis Likes Our Slogan For His Organ Club

E. B. Davis, the organist at the Palace Theatre in Lockport, N. Y., writes to tell us that he enjoys reading the ROUND TABLE CLUB pages, and that while he is not a theatre manager, he gets many good ideas for his work.

He has requested permission from us to use our CLUB motto "ALL FOR ONE AND ONE FOR ALL," so as to make it read "All for Fun and Fun for All" in connection with his Organ Club.

We certainly have no objection to Mr. Davis using this slogan, and we are sure it adds a good twist to his already original organ club.

We number among our many members and readers some excellent showmen who are organists and we are always gratified to learn that they find our pages of interest even in their own particular field in which they specialize.

We should certainly like to hear more from Mr. Davis and his Organ Club at the Palace Theatre in Lockport.

ANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Paul Forster Appointed Ass't. Mgr. For Eckel Theatre

Many orchestra leaders and organists have achieved great success in the line of showmanship, according to past history in the theatrical business.

We can point to men like "Roxy" or Hugo Riesenfeld, who stepped from the con-ductor's box to the managerial chair; but now it gives the ROUND TABLE CLUB great pleasure in announcing that Paul H. Forster, for many years featured organist and founder of the Eckel Organ Club, has been appointed Assistant Manager of the Fox Eckel Theatre in Syracuse, Morris Shulman, who has been acting manager of the Eckel was officially appointed Managing Director of that theatre and Mr. Forster will work in conjunction with him.

Knowing both of these men as we do, prompts us to say that the Eckel Theatre is in for a marvelous season and

We took delight in publishing several articles dealing with Mr. Forster's activities at the organ, and we shall now take greater pleasure in telling something about his activities as Assistant Manager.

Best of luck to you, Paul, and be sure to let us hear from you regularly.

Street Ballyhoo A B.O. Bet For Abe Cohen At Massena

Faithful to his promise made a few weeks back, Abe Cohen, Manager of the Strand Theatre, Massena, N. Y., has forwarded a photograph showing how he ballyhooed "Singing Fool" at his theatre.

We can only call your particular attention to the mighty attractive truck which he had fixed up for a street ballyhoo and which cruised all around Mas-rounding towns. It is needless for us to add much to this photograph, because we have already said so much about Mr. Cohen, but this sena and the sur-

Thank you, Abe, and let's hear from you again.

Lew Levey Puts Over A "Merchants Jubilee" Tie-Up

Lew Levey, Manager of the Dyckman Theatre, uptown, New York City neighborhood theatre, has just completed plans for a gigantic theatre and merchants' tie-up.

Through this stunt, Mr. Levey has succeeded in creating a Merchants' Jubilee Month covering a radius of five busy business blocks, on one of which the theatre is located.

Through this tie-up the local Chamber of Commerce will decorate the streets and all sorts of great times are planned for the Jubilee Month. In addition, each of the merchants are donating gifts which will be incorporated in the tie-up and marvelous cooperation was the result of

"Different Advertising" Worked Out Good For Lawrence

Our good friend Sid Lawrence, Manager of the Palace Theatre, in Lockport, N. Y., has hit upon a new method of theatre advertising which is just different enough to command attention from all of the theatre goers in and around Lockport.

About the best information we can give on his new gag is the reproduction of several of the ads themselves, and we show you here exactly how he handled it.

We suggest, that if you want to try something a little different, either on or off theatre advertising page of your newspaper, try something along these lines. It is bound to be read, and if you word your copy right, it will be a business getting angle.

Thanks, Sid, and let's hear from you again soon.

"Staff Meetings" An Important Part Of Al. Weiss' Plan

There are few showmen better equipped than Alfred Weiss, Jr., to pass along some honest to goodness advice on the handling of house help and the operation of a theatre.

Mr. Weiss is the successful manager of the Florida Theatre, Jacksonville, Fla., Publix Circuit, and his activities have appeared on these pages so often that it seems superfluous to say much about him.

We are, however, very grateful to Mr. Weiss for his few lines, and we look forward to his making good his promise to keep us posted with photographs and details of his future activities.

With reference to suggestions and tips on theatre operation. We have our regular weekly meetings every Sunday morning with the entire personnel of our theatre, at which time we discuss all troubles and difficulties that may have been experienced during the past week in the operation of our theatre. At that time the employees are asked to give us any criticisms that they may have heard about our pictures or presentation and whether there were any angles that we did not use or could have been used to a better advantage in selling our weeks attractions. We also ask them for their suggestions on our shows for the coming two weeks and in this way we have every member of our staff on their toes giving us any help that they possibly can and making them feel that they are a part of our institution and that its success depends on

We have been fortunate in this way of having some very wonderful campaigns which have resulted in increased receipts and what we consider a perfect operation.

Newspaper Helped Name Theatre In Lust's Tie-Up

The accompanying reproduction clearly shows the marvelous front page publicity that Mr. Sidney Lust secured through co-operation of the "Laurel Democrat," in Laurel, Maryland.

The idea which is self-explanatory, by reading the newspaper story, was to find an appropriate and proper name for the new theatre which Mr. Lust is building in that City.

Aside from the interest it creates now, it is certain to react mighty favorably after the theatre is opened.

We should term this, not only laying the foundation for a new theatre, but the foundation for a whole lot of good will in months to follow after the theatre throws open its doors to the public.

We are certainly grateful to Mr. Lust for passing this one on to the many members and readers of these pages, and we trust that he will keep us posted, not only on the activities of the new Laurel Theatre, but his other theatres as well.

How about you boys who are handling those different houses? Surely you don't think for one minute that there is nothing new for you to learn about this show-business, is there? We hope not at any rate.

"Living Sign" Continues To Capture Fancy Everywhere

The increasing popularity of the Living Electric Sign continues to spread all over the country, and the latest evidence of its practical use is the accompanying photograph, showing the line-up

Further details of this stunt are lacking, but the picture is ample evidence that the crowd below thought it a great idea.

We would like to hear more about the living sign stunts and about how they are going over. We would welcome such information, and space on the ROUND TABLE CLUB pages will be reserved for their use. Come on through, you showmen, and let's know what you are doing with the living billboard.

M. Meriwether Uses Real Tact In Handling Staff

M. Meriwether, Manager of the Lexington Theatre, in Lexington, N. C., passes along some mighty interesting and valuable tips on the methods he uses with his employees to bring about a a perfect running organization in this theatre.

Among the points which he stresses is; that whenever taking over a new house, he always puts every employee on a two weeks' notice or try-out and at the end of that time he is in a position to judge just which ones he wants to keep, and those that he does not want he can let out

We Nominate For The

ARTHUR ABELES: general manager of the fast growing Century Circuit, located throughout Brooklyn and Long Island, because he is honestly taking the house managers welfare to heart.

In addition to issuing a strict order for a regular day off each week for every manager on the circuit, he has stimulated their interest in their work, and the organization that employs them, by offering a bonus each month to the manager putting over his shows to the best advantage. This plan gives every man in the outfit an equal opportunity to get a bonus regardless of the size house he is running.

The Managers' Round Table Club would welcome the opportunity of announcing the winner each month. They are deserving of such recognition.

"Chick"

without their saying that they received no notice.

He is a great believer in the weekly meeting idea between himself and all his employees, and many interesting points are thrashed out and suggestions discussed.

As a disciplinarian he is quite strict and believes that telling any employee to do a thing more than twice is a waste of time. His idea is that any one who must be told more than two times about some particular lapse in their duties is not worth having around, and in a great many respects we think he is right.

This might make you think that he is kind of hardboiled, but that is not the case, he is nice to them without becoming intimate, which as we all know from experience is bad practice. It never pays to get too intimate with any of your employees.

Another point he brings out is that he keeps in touch at all times with every house employee, and in this way manages to know what is going on all the time. He does not confine his inspection to any particular set time, but rather jumps at it whenever he has the opportunity and so keeps his employees on their toes continuously.

He is another progressive manager who believes in the saying that he would not ask an employee to do anything that he himself would not do, and he demonstrates the truth of this statement by digging in and helping them many times on some difficult task.

These few remarks are just the beginning of his contributions on the subject of relationship between manager and theatre employees and the ROUND TABLE CLUB would certainly welcome the opportunity to publish more of this manager's views.

We know from experience that Mr. Meriwether is a reliable member of the ROUND TABLE CLUB, and we feel sure that what he has to say on any subject is backed by honest experience.

Paul Binstock Promoted To City Supervisor For Fox

Paul Binstock, who has been managing the Broadway Theatre for the Fox Metropolitan Chain, has just been rewarded for his exceptionally fine work and services by being promoted to

The MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB takes particular delight in broadcasting Paul's promotion, because his activities have been set forth on the CLUB pages from time to time.

Matt Reilly's Exploitation Gets 'Em In Providence

Tying up a current attraction with the U. S. Marine Corps was no difficult achievement for Manager Reilly, of the Victory Theatre, in Providence, R. I. As a matter of fact, such tie-ups come natural to this great showman, and we offer in evidence (as they would say in court) a photograph showing the Marines and the ballyhoo for the Victory.

We like to get these stunts from Mr. Reilly because there is a certain tinge of "big time" about most of the stunts that he puts across. This one is no exception to the rule as far as Reilly is concerned.

Many of you other fellows who expect to play this or similar pictures should keep in mind that your local recruiting station for the Marine Corps will be delighted to work wth you if you handle it the right way.

Radio-Paper Tie-Up Proved Effective For Caroll Langue

Caroll S. Langue, Manager of the Metropolitan Theatre in Baltimore, Md., made a mighty fine tie-up recently which resulted in large advertising space for the theatre as well as the radio distributors of his city.

The tie-up was in connection with the Al Jolson picture, "Say It With Songs," and was arranged between the Baltimore Daily Post and the Metropolitan Theatre.

Many models of radios were displayed throughout the Lobby and Foyer of the Theatre, and could almost be called a Miniature Radio Exposition. However, aside from this angle, the co-operative tie-up was very profitable to all parties concerned, and Mr. Langue is deserving of great credit for the diplomatic and showmanlike way in which he handled it.

We would certainly like to tell our members and readers more about this progressive showman and would appreciate hearing from him more often and also receiving his photograph, so that we can show the "gang" what he looks like.

These Showmen Dug In For Town's Good-Will Favor with the following story.

Although the Carnival and Fair season is practically over, we could not pass up the opportunity of telling our members and readers about the angle which presents itself in connection

Many theatre owners and house managers, seem to lie awake during the Carnival and Fair Season worrying how much of their business will go to the Fair grounds instead of the box office of the theatre. Here is an incident where the circuit owner and the house manager, Mr. Tony Sudekum and Mr. H. L. Laurence, respectively, tied up and helped put the County Fair over with a "bang."

That they earned the everlasting gratitude and good will of their entire community is best expressed when we tell you that we have before us the editorial sheet of their local newspaper, wherein, the local editor gives them a marvelous writeup and ends by saying: "It has taken a lot of time and effort of Mr. Laurence to put the Fair across in the big way it was done; it has taken patronage from the theatre the four days the Fair was in operation. But a county fair is a necessity, and neither Mr. Sudekum nor Mr. Laurence feels that the sacrifice in theatre box office receipts is without avail. They are glad to have participated in this Fair, and the people are justly thankful for their efforts and appreciate what it has meant to the progress of Paris and Henry counties.

"The Fair is over and we will all go back to the Theatre for amusement and entertainment."

Which speaks volumes for their fine cooperative tactics. Both Mr. Sudekum and Mr. Laurence are deserving of a lot of credit for the showmanship and tact which they used in this community affair, and that it will mean more money to them in the long run rather than loss of receipts is taken for granted.

Many of our members and readers would do well to benefit by the example set by these gentlemen.

H. Santos Improves His Knowledge Via Club Pages

It is a mighty interesting thing for us here at CLUB headquarters to take note of different things as they occur from the mass of correspondence received here every day.

We recall when Henry Santos, the manager of the Tip Top Theatre in Lihue, Hawaii, first joined the CLUB and how we created his interest in the activities in his fellow managers all over the world.

At that time we even reproduced one of his programs showing how he was making up a house organ that would attract the attention of the interested theatre fans on his part of the Island.

We have since received his programs regularly and have taken a great delight in noting the improvements that have occurred from time to time, until now, it is as good a house organ as any theatre boasts of in the United States catering to the same number of people as Mr. Sanos.

We show here the latest program, that of the week of October the fifth, and the fine inside spread together with its layout. Those of you who recall his former program, can make a comparison and in this way feel the same as we do here, that this showman is making great strides and is keeping right abreast of the times.

Thanks, for keeping us on your mailing list, Henry, and be sure and let us know everything you are doing in the way of exploitation and publicity. Our other members are always delighted to hear something about it.

Fashion Show Goes Over Big For R. D. Hutchings' Theatre

R. D. Hutchings, manager of the Portage Theatre in Portage, Wis., has just completed one of the most successful fall fashion revues ever staged at any theatre in the middle west.

We are confident that Mr. Hutchings will take placeure in passing the details of how he engineered this revue to his brother members and showmen via the ROUND TABLE CLUB pages, and we have sent word to him making this request.

In the event that he sees this announcement, we trust that it will act as a reminder and that he forwards us the necessary newspaper clippings, photographs and details so that we in turn can let our other readers know how such a fine box office bet was handled.

Thank you in advance for this favor, Mr. Huhchings, we would sure appreciate your own photograph at the same time.

Some Good Advice From Harold S. Knudsen Of Madison

The following article, contributed by Harold S. Knudsen, the Assistant Manager and Treasurer of the New Orpheum Theatre, in Madison, Wisconsin, struck us as being particularly good. The many points he brings out in the article pertaining to cooperation between the manager and different department heads in the operation of the theatre are all well taken, and every employee of a theatre should be interested in what he has to say.

We are glad to pass on this little contribution from Mr. Knudsen, and hope that he gives us many more like it.

A THEATRE, to achieve the best results must aside from selling the kind of entertainment that pleases the class of people to which it caters, also have an efficient working organization.

The head of this organization, the manager, is responsible for the actions and conduct of the executives and employees under him. He should therefor choose his assistant and various department heads for their ability, intelligence, loyalty and organizational qualities.

The manager should outline and explain to each department head the duties that come within his supervision and see that these work together in harmony. This will save misunderstanding later and keep the heads from overstepping their authority. Next they should be given to understand that each plays an important part in the proper operation of the theatre. They should be informed that any suggestions they might offer regarding operation of theatre, their work, routine, etc., are welcomed and encouraged.

Some theatres have suggestion cards filled out by the service, with space for patrons' comments on the back. After the last performance is over on the night of a new show the comments made by patrons are listed here and help the management in getting the opinions of the patrons.

These "comment cards" are really very valuable and suggestions are turned in that would ordinarily be wasted.

Conferences should be held from time to time between the manager and his executives, where he should do his utmost to convince them that the best results are always obtained through cooperation and loyalty to the organization. And by bearing in mind that their success as well as the theatre's depended upon the way they and the employees working with them performed their duties.

A department head who has no ambition and no initiative has no business in that capacity and should be asked to change his ways or resign before he is discharged. Such an employee is no asset to any organization.

A manager who refuses to listen to suggestions from his staff and his assistant is not setting the right example for his organization and is not an able executive.

The manager and his assistant must work together in absolute harmony. The assistant always remembering that there are certain problems he has no authority to pass upon without first consulting the manager. At the same time the manager should welcome initiative upon the part of his assistant.

A properly trained assistant who is loyal to his organization should be able to step right in and handle the theatre whenever the manager is sick or away.

The assistant manager, who as a rule is also in charge of

Ralph Noble says:

"I have for the past few months been deeply interested in your Club, and used many of your suggestions to good advantage, and would like to become a member."

Advertising Manager, Arkansas Amnsement Corporation, Little Rock, Ark. the service with the chief usher at the helm should see that service meetings are held regularly at least once every other week at an appointed hour. He should be present at these meetings, if for no other reason then to show the staff that the management is concerned with the results of that department. Occasionally the manager should attend one of these meetings to inspire the men.

The service should be told that as they are first to greet patrons, the impression the patron receives of them reflects upon the management and the theatre.

When on entering a theatre where the doormen and ushers all are neat appearing, stand upright, and are alert to any questions which might be asked, as well as ready to serve the patrons the minute they enter, a person gets the impression the theatre is well managed.

Therefore, management cannot stress too often the importance of having an intelligent service department, that is a credit to the theatre and the organization.

A good chief usher must be an executive in every sense of the word. He must keep his men working quickly and quietly at all times and must see that every seat is kept filled at time of peak business. He must figure seats in dollars and cents and not think of them as just a few empty seats. He must maintain discipline according to the theatre's rules and see that his captains and directors carry out instructions to the letter. All this for the good of the organization.

Among some of his recent activities was the giving away of a talking, singing and playing doll as a special matinee inducement which is part of Tom's plan to build up matinee trade at the Sequoia. Did they do any business? Well, we will take Tom's word that it was about the biggest that Redwood City has ever seen.

Another recent stunt was the staging of a Majestic Radio Contest and the election of a Miss Majestic. Here again, Tom's initiative took the town by storm.

Last but not least of his activities was the staging of a fashion show on the stage and included the presentation of a group of station KTBA radio station and which is better to explain by the reproduction of the 9 x 14 in. circular and throw away used to good advantage for this stunt.

Somehow or other, Tom's contributions never grow stale on these pages, because there is always a novel or original twist to them. For that reason, our many members and readers find his contributions and suggestions of great value in their own towns and theatre.

Let's all hope that Tom keeps up the good work and that we hear from him regularly in the future as in the past.

So long, Tom, just for a little time.

Ray Brown's Activities Are Going Big In Akron

for another week.

This is a corking good ad Ray, and we would like to get a whole lot more like it, together with a lot of stuff that you have and which might prove interesting to our members and readers.

By the way, Ray, don't forget what I had to say about Dick a few weeks back, and maybe you can help get Dad Brown into the Club. We want the Brown family to be represented in the CLUB 100 per cent.

So long for the present. but don't keep silent too long, because we have enough of the Brown family to get one chasing after the other whenever they start to lag on their Club activities.

Hey, Hey; there's an idea. Enroll the whole family and then make one accountable for the others.

It may not bring much harmony, but think of all the fun we would have watching the battle of the Browns'. And how!

"Salesmanship" An Important Factor For Harry Browne

Harry Browne, manager of the New Stanford Theatre in Palo Alto, Cal., offers a contribution to the CLUB pages in the form of a full page tie-up on "Noah's Ark."

STATE OF THE STAT

It is not alone the tieup that we wish to call to our readers' attention as much as the fact that Harry handled this a little different than the general run of such advertising. By this we mean,—he first wrote up all the ads and laid out the space, then he took it to the advertisers, they all ahead by leaps and bounds.

O.K.'d the copy, and naturally the theatre got a good deal of benefit from this adver-

Another suggestion that Harry offers is, that due to the large number of "Brownes" in the CLUB, that they ought to form an auxiliary of the ROUND TABLE CLUB. Then he goes on to say that it is all Tommy Kane's fault because he proposed him for membership. However, everybody is happy, so why worry about a little thing like that.

"Different"

Every once in a while we run across a character in the show-world who is really "different." The story about Charlie Dutkin brings to light just such a character and we are sure our many readers will find his activities interesting reading. At any rate we got quite a "kick" out of his letters and enjoyed reading every line in them. Now it's your turn.

Community Good-Will Is Essential Even In Big Cities

The following article is in the nature of an answer to the many queries that have come to your Chairman, as to the personal angle in exploiting or selling a theatre. We have before us visible proof that Charles Dutkin, Manager of the Grand Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa., capitalized on his own popularity and personality in the neighborhood where his theatre was operating to put it on its feet after it had run down and was in the red.

It seems that Mr. Dutkin originally managed the Grand Theatre, and, when the house was sold, he was let out by the new company after which he connected with the Astor Theatre in the same city. He was there about three years, when the Grand Theatre was resold while deep in red and the new owners called upon him.

One of the first things that Mr. Dutkin started out to do was to pass around a little yellow card which we are reproducing which shows on the front a large question mark, and, when opened, you see him standing there just as it shows on the cut. Folks immediately knew that their good friend Charlie Dutkin was back at the Grand, and his many friends rushed there, not only to greet him, but to once more patronize the theatre.

> Smile and the world-Smiles with You!

What Mr. Dutkin is doing to put this house back on the proper side of the ledger, and the many novel methods of exploitation and advertising that he utilizes in his campaign, should make interesting reading matter for the members of the CLUB pages.

We do not want to pass up this opportunity of showing you a photograph which was taken way back in 1922 when Mr. Dutkin was managing the Grant Theatre, in Philadelphia, and shows the effective ballyhoo which he used on the old Universal Serial "Robinson Crusoe."

Incidentally, it was this exploitation that won the prize for the State of Pennsylvania offered by Universal at that time.

"Let's Get Down to Earth"

(Reprinted from a 1928 Issue)

WOULD venture to say that during the past six months I have interviewed several hundred theatre owners and exhibitors located in dozens of different states. As the exhibitor member on the staff of Motion Picture News they have accorded me every possible courtesy and talked a lot more freely than they would to anyone else. In these different conversations many important things were discussed but one particular point remained in my mind:

M-A-N-A-G-E-R-S.

Spell it out so you won't make a mistake about what we are saying. Why is it that when the average theatre owner, circuit supervisor, etc., engages a manager, he seems to expect that within a week or two after he starts to work, that the whole town will be painted red; that the theatre will be packing them out to the curb and that he must be a cross-eyed wonder? Answer some of those questions for me.

And tell me another: Why should they look for a lot of noise and excitement instead of a good sound executive in whose hands they are satisfied to place the operation of their theatre? Surely the most important part of a manager's job is to be a sound and steady man capable of handling the help, of seeing that the theatre is properly and cleanly conducted, to make the patrons comfortable and satisfied after they come in.

Every other business is conducted along such lines, why not the theatre game?

"Chick."

There are many other interesting details about the experiences of Mr. Dutkin, that will surprise our many readers, but we shall withhold them for future issues of the NEWS. Watch for the activities of Charlie Dutkin.

An African Opinion

Frank Sholomir, proprietor and manager of the Empire Bioscope in Benoni, Transvaal, South Africa, wrote to us a letter recently which is as follows:

"It affords me pleasure to acknowledge your Certificate of my admittance to mem-bership in the MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB, an association which, in my opinion, provides a universal bond of fellowship and reciprocity.

I sincerely hope for the prosperity and continued beneficial effects of our organization and shall do my best to advance its principles here in South Africa.

With deep personal regards and cordial greetiags to my fellow members, I am.

Faithfully yours,

FRANK SHOLOMIR

The MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB, of course, derives a tremendous amount of satisfaction when receiving letters of this kind, especially from such far off places as South Africa, and to know that our activities are of just as much interest there as they are here.

We certainly hope we hear from Mr. Sholomir regularly and that he acquaints us with his methods of exploitation and advertising.

Re-Issue Clicked At Box Office For Ed. "Ted" Stollery

A suggestion from Edward "Ted" Stollery, manager of the New San Mateo Theatre, San Mateo, Cal., comes to light in an old letter of his which we just happened to be reading through. However, better late than never, so here goes. Says "TED":

Perhaps some of our members are wondering whether a return engagement of "The Legion of the Condemned" would click. It might interest them to know that we played this picture for our Saturday show last week and we did the biggest Saturday business for the year.

Incidentally, about a year ago, the San Mateo played this picture when it was first released and did a terrific three days' business with it. At the return engagement, it evidently brought out people who had seen it once, with a desire to see it again.

This is a pretty good suggestion, and if it can be worked out through your local exchange, we suggest that you give it some consideration. This is one picture that the customers would be glad to come back and see, and we are sure that it is worth taking a crack at, anyway.

Thank you, "Ted," and don't mind our tardiness in getting this one into print, but sometimes a little bit can get away from us without our intending it.

The Trench display completely converted the front

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Ralph Noble Starts His Club Activity With Peppy Stunts

With so many showmen devoting their time almost entirely to the working out of theatre exploitation and advertising campaigns, we naturally try to enroll as many men in this particular line as we can possibly secure.

The latest one to join our ranks, is a man who just fits the description in the first paragraph, and happens to be Ralph Noble the advertising manager of the Arkansas Amusement Corporation in Little Rock, Ark., where they operate the Capitol, Palace, Royal, Rialto and Kempner Theatres.

As an example of what Ralph Noble is able to do in the way of selling a picture, we show you this one angle from among his many campaigns.

You will note on the photograph reproduced with this story, how they celebrated Anniversary Week in the Capitol and Royal Theatres out there in Little Rock, and how attractively the front of the theatres were decorated for the occasion.

We also want you to see the marvelous birth-day cake which was on display in the lobby, and certainly under the proper lighting must have attracted plenty of attention from the patrons entering the theatre.

We also have before us the copy of the Arkansas Democrat showing the many fine testimonial ads which were run by the various merchants in Little Rock congratulating the Capitol and Royal Theatres as well as Mr. Ed Rawley, who is the man at the helm of these houses, on their anniversary celebration.

The ROUND TABLE CLUB pages would certainly welcome the opportunity of telling about Mr. Noble's activities in these theatres, and we trust that we shall hear from him very soon again.

Don't forget to enclose your own photograph with your next letter, Ralph. Thanks, anyway, in advance.

Tom McDonald's "Fashion Revue" A Birthday Feature

Tom McDonald of the Fox Westlake Theatre in Los Angeles, Cal., has set forth to air his latest complaint. Not that Tom is a crabby member. Far be it from us to even insinuate such a thing, but, after all, we don't blame him, becausue we have kept addressing him as Tom S. McDonald, when, in reality, his middle initial is F., and since he is proud of

Underbaked Or Overbaked

I picked up the following some time ago but cannot recall who wrote it: "It is just as harmful to take the loaf of bread out of the oven half baked as it is to let it stay in too long and be overdone."

So before you can up and ask me what bread has to do with theatres I'll hustle to tell you why I've started this little story with that quotation.

How many times have you started a great exploitation and advertising campaign and then let up on it too soon, or curtailed the entire campaign before it was completed? Then again, how often have you started on advertising some great big picture and kept at it until you had actually overdone it? One is just as bad as the other if viewed from the angle of good showmanship.

In planning an advertising campaign of any kind, every possible point should be carefully watched and covered but with the thought always in mind that you must be careful to go through with it and at the same time not to plug it until it becomes tiresome. Take any average town or city which boasts of one or two good newspapers and you will most generally find that a short (week to ten days) but snappy, well-thought out plan will stir up all the interest that you require to put over a picture. Trying to work up such interest by a scries of teaser ads two or three weeks ahead, then the actual campaign following is apt to dull the interest that you have created in what you are selling.

that F (which stands for Francis) we don't blame him a bit.

At any rate, he drops us his usual little letter to let us know he was still on the map and looking through the ROUND TABLE CLUB pages the same as usual.

He has been kept kind of busy out his way, and what with breaking in a new secretary and not getting home to dinner and handling an Anniversary for the theatre, he has had his hands pretty well filled.

We want you to see part of the publicity which he grabbed off for the Westlake in the form of a clipping from a neighborhood newspaper with a circulation of well over 20,000, which means that it was worth getting and then some.

As you will note from the story on the clipping, he has been doing some great things out there to celebrate the Anniversary Week, and we are sure that the results more than compensated him for his efforts.

Tom, is now at work on preparing a stage wedding and we are sure that he will make good his promise to send us all the dope, as well as photographs, when this event goes over. And if there is anything that will boost business at the box office, it is a legitimate stage wedding with a local couple participating.

Thanks, Tom, for the letter, and remember we are always glad to hear from or about you.

WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

Some More Newcomers!

HOWARD WAUGH manages the Fox-Poli Palace theatre in Waterbury, Conn., and only recently was the subject of a story about a corking Radio Show tie-up which he successfully engineered for his theatre. Many more interesting stories ahout this peppy showman will be featured on our Club pages in early issues. We would certainly like to show Howard's own photo with our next story about him. How about it?

-Il'ear Your Club Pin!!!--

J. L. STANSON manages the Marble Hill theatre in the upper New York City section and from all information we received, he is doing a mighty fine job too. His exploitation is right up-to-the-minute and smacks of real showmanship. Therefore we would like to number him among the regular active contributors of these pages. His own photo should also be included in the first regular story we run about him. O. K. "J. L.?"

-Wear Your Club Pin!!!-

JOSEPH G. SEYBOLDT operates the Gem theatre in Erie, Pa., and while this is but a small house he nevertheless has been putting over some big campaigns in the way of exploitation and publicity. Just how he accomplishes these campaigns is what we all want to find out and so we are depending upon Joe to keep us posted in the future as all good members should do. How about it, Joe?

KNOX LAMB is connected with the Pines theatre in Lufkin, Texas, and handling a house of close to a thousand seats should provide him with ample opportunities to pass on some darned good tips to his brother managers and readers of these pages. We would welcome the opportunity of introducing him more intimately with one of his own photos. Oak?

-Wear Your Club Pin!!!--

B. D. INGERSOLL manages the Durant theatre in Flint, Mich., with a sound picture policy. What we other Round Tablers would like to know is: how "B. D." is putting across his pictures and getting the cash customers up to the BO. And if we can start him off on the right track we know that he will become a marvelously active memher.

---- Wear Your Club Pin!!!--

L. P. HAGEMANN is the managing director of the Prince theatre in Ambridge, Pa., a modern 1,300 seat theatre showing the finest in entertainment. We would appreciate receiving this new member's photo and a few lines about his experiences in the show business so that we can make him better known to our many other members and readers of these pages. How about it, "L. P.?"

--- Wear Your Club Pin!!!-

ELBERT W. SMITH manages the Strand and Capitol theatres for the Fox Metropolitan Chain and with his knowledge of showmanship, Oswego, N. Y., must certainly know that his theatres are right up to tap. Listen Elbert: how about something by return mail telling what you are doing up there and including your own picture? That's the spirit. Let's go.

A. JOHNNY MACK is the managing director of the Hawthorne theatre in Newark, N. J., and stepping into a house like the Hawthorne should provide Johnny with plenty of angles to go out and work on. Just how he is "packing" 'em in and what methods he uses will be the topic of some early stories about this new member on the Club pages. (And don't forget we want your own photo, too.)

Blumenthal's Stage Wedding A Complete B. O. Success

No doubt the majority of you fellows recall the story reprinted on these pages a short time back about Harold Blumenthal's plan for a legitimate stage wedding.

Well, whether you recall it or not, we now pass on the second part of the episode in the form of a peach of a newspaper story with the picture of the bride and groom as well as the theatre played up quite prominently. As you will note from the line under the heading, this story is

Theatre Packed as Couple Go on Stage for Their Wedding

This angle has always been productive of big results, and any manager who has not already worked it is missing out on a marvelous gag. If you have worked it, there is no reason why you a continuation from the front of the newspaper and the headline on the front page read "THEA-TRE PACKED FOR

WEDDING ON CAPI-

can't repeat it with a few new trimmings to embellish it and bring it more up-to-date.

There were many interesting side lights in the newspaper story, all of which went a great way toward explaining the entire affair and the tremendous success that it achieved. For this reason, we will gladly send copies of the entire newspaper story to all interested showmen who have an idea they would like to work the same stunt.

Thank you, Harold, for once again keeping us posted and keeping your promise to send us this information. Let us hope that you continue your fine CLUB spirit and activities, and I am sure that our many other members and readers appreciate your co-operation.

Tie-Ups Brought Extra Business For Fred Pickrel

Fred Pickrel, manager of the Poncan Theatre in Ponca City, Okla., tied up with his local newspaper to put over a most successful campaign for a stenographers' contest.

Special pictures appeared in the Sunday Rotogravure section and fashion display photos were also planted in the society column.

In addition to this, a Yo-Yo Contest given by a local candy company offered tickets and prizes as part of another corking angle to his exploitation campaign.

Fred has been engineering some marvelous advertising and exploitation out there in Ponca City, and we will have to get after him more often to keep the rest of the boys posted on his activities via these pages. How about this, Fred, and why not send us one of your own photographs so that the boys can see what you look like? Try it, it won't do you any harm.

Ray S. Averill Knows The Show Game Thoroughly This will serve as a sort of introduction to our many members and readers of Ray S. Averill, formerly connected with the New Family Theatre, Batavia, New York, as well as other theatres in that section of the country, and a man of an

"What Is Projection?"

A picture fan once asked me this question because he frankly admitted that he knew nothing about it. Brothers, friends, and others in this most interesting business of ours, I could be truthful and say without fear of much contradiction that a lot of exhibitors could well ask that same question. And they could truthfully add that they, too, know nothing about it.

WHY ???????

First off, we will grant that every theatre manager does not have to be an expert projectionist because he is a manager. BUT he most certainly should know some of the fundamental principles concerning this most important part of his business.

Projection I told the "fan", is the means employed to throw the picture upon the screen of the theatre. And that expresses what most managers know about projection. Don't get mad boys if the truth hits home. Come now, admit that you know very little about it. And the funny part is that you can learn plenty about it if you only would care to learn. Visit your booth often. Watch the operator. Look over your generator or generators. Get in some morning and make a close inspection of your screen.

And before long you will start to find out that you can save money and cut the overhead in this important department. Are carbons being burned as far as possible? Is your operator conserving the "juice" whenever possible? Would the installation of the newer equipment cut down your booth expense? We can think of no topic more interesting or more important than projection. Try learning something about it and see if you don't like the education.

Also remember that your projection equipment is the "heart" of your theatre and you can't point out a single successful theatre where poor projection prevails. It's your chief stock in trade. Watch it.

"Chick"

unusually wide experience.

Ray has conceived and executed many original stunts in the line of publicity, advertising and exploitation, and is a decided asset to any theatre with which he is connected.

Although he is not connected at this writing, we are confident that it won't be long and he will have his nose to the grind stone again, and his activities will be requested on the pages of the ROUND TABLE CLUB.

Here's hoping we hear from you again real soon, Ray, and let us know if we can do anything for you.

NEW BEAUTY for the SOUND

SCREEN

Eastman sonochrome embraces the widest range of tinted positive films that has ever been available for the screen. And—what is all-important in this new age—the sixteen delicate Sonochrome tints are so adjusted as not to interfere with the faithful reproduction of sound....Successors to the tints of the silent era, these Eastman films bring new color moods—new beauty—to the sound screen.

STARTLING-NEW

A RADICAL DEPARTURE IN EXPONENTIAL HORN AND ELECTRO-DYNAMIC UNIT CONSTRUCTION THAT DEFIES THE INNUMERABLE RACON IMITATORS

A Departure in Horn and Unit Construction That Will Increase Your Efficiency Over 30%—Give Perfect Voice and Musical Reproduction Long Sought by Theatre Owners But Unobtainable Till This NEW RACON PRODUCT Was Released.

The new Racon Horn and Unit will outplay and outperform both in quality and volume anything that has been produced heretofore.

Those rich, full tones distinguished by clearness and distinctiveness, as produced by Racon Horns and Units, are the joy of theatre owners and the despair of the pirates who have always tried to imitate everything Racon has produced.

Theatre prosperity these days depends upon the latest and best in vocal and instrumental reproductions. Audiences flock where they are to be found.

Why not INSURE yourself with Racon superiority—the revolutionary Racon Horn and Unit which we guarantee to increase efficiency at least 30%?

HAROLD LLOYD N. Y. NEWSPAPER CAMPAIGN

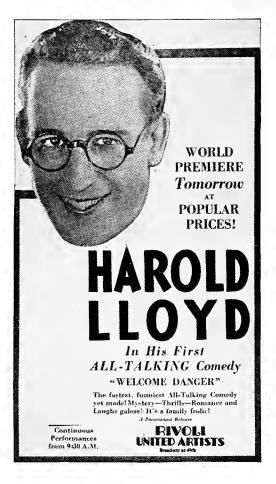

Advance Ads

Ads are very simple. Harold Lloyd, alltalking, name of picture, name of theatre and time are practically the only ingredients.

Opening Day

HEN you've got a fine attraction—advertise it! Don't be content with the regular crowds. Reach out and grab the plus attendance that means record grosses.

THAT was the theory upon which the Rivoli Theatre lannehed into the New York newspapers with one of the biggest ad campaigns the Main Stem has ever seen. Results more than justified the expenditure!

OTE also that the Rivoli did not shoot the works on the advance campaign and let the follow-up slide. They maintained their advertising pace after "Welcome Danger" opened. They advertised for S.R.O. at EVERY performance—and are getting it.

HAROLD LLOYD in "Welcome Danger"

N. Y. BILLBOARDS YELL "WELCOME DANGER"?

Newspaper Ads After Picture Opened

ALL NEW YORK WAS PLASTERED

with billboards advertising Harold Lloyd in "Welcome Danger." The display above is made from actual photographs on several prominent locations. The posters used were the regular Paramount 24-sheets, 6-sheets and 3-sheets. Available at your Paramount exchange. They are unusually effective.

INSIDE THE RIVOLI THEATRE

OVER THE BOX OFFICE this enlarged cut-out of Harold Lloyd was mounted a week ahead of opening and attracted attention.

ON THE MAIN STAIRWAY this cutout figure of Harold was an advance ballyhoo for "Welcome Danger." It got plenty of laughs.

ALSO ON THE STAIRS. All of these eut-outs were made from the regular stills on "Welcome Danger." Available at exchanges if you want to use the stunt.

CONSTANCE BENNETT

WO great box affice names are linked in this camedy-drama based on the play by Edwin Burke that made an instantaneous hit when produced at the Maxine Elliott Theatre in New York.

Edmund Lowe and Constance Bennett are outstanding stars with a tremendous following. Mr. Lowe brings to his role in this picture a characterization as colorful and distinctive as any he has ever essayed.

Miss Bennett, the most exquisitely dressed young woman in pictures, —beautiful, blande, petite and vivacious—revealed herself as an alluring and seductive artist when she scored a triumph in "Cytherea" and later in "Sally, Irene and Mary." Her return to the screen is a real event.

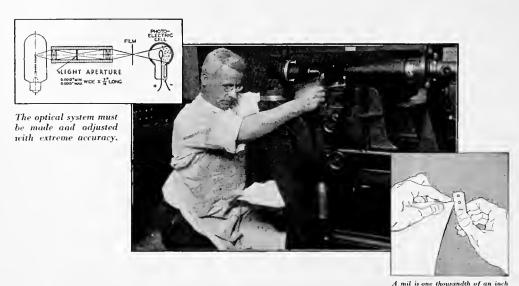

Two brilliant stars in two great roles, in a screen play of sure-fire material with a new and startling angle on love and married life that will intrigue men and women alike—drama, romance, with a sparkling dash of comedy that seasons it to the public taste. They will came back again to see this picture; they'll talk about it and bring others back with them. It's that kind of a picture.

THE precision with which the "light aperture" is made is typical of the eare devoted to every part of the Western Electric Sound System.

In the sound-on-film system of reproduction, voice and music are transmitted as a beam of light. This light beam passes through a knife-edge slit fifteen ten-thousandths (.0015) of an inch wide. To check such minute magnitudes a microscope which magnifies 100 times is used! The light beam as an image one thousandth (.001) inch wide must be focused on the film—if it varies more than two ten-thousandths (.0002) of an inch, quality reproduction is lost.

More than 50 years' experience in making voice transmission equipment has taught Western Electric how to maintain these narrow limits which alone make quality sound reproduction possible. The public, without knowing the reason behind it, appreciates quality in sound—as is proved by the constantly mounting receipts of Western Electric equipped theatres.

The Industry Returns to Work

N EW YORK and Hollywood are twin sisters of gloom. The stock market has gone completely haywire and with it the funds and the aspirations of many of the celluloid mighty.

Unfortunate, of course, and more tragic than you perhaps know. Yet, certainly the debacle was not unexpected. Those who did homage to the stock tape more religiously than to their jobs should have enough sense to admit that the storm signals read warning for many months. Over speculation, inflation, issues selling out of all proportion to their earning power—these factors and others had long since written the concluding chapter. Now it has come and yet the line at the wailing wall raises its howls clear into the heavens. Strange, but true.

House Cleaning and Pictures

IT seems to us that the crash in matters financial will result in much that is good for this industry. The knowledge has been available to all who would learn that many executives whose official responsibilities concerned motion pictures and not stocks have been diverting the major portion of their time to speculation. Their businesses may not have suffered thereby, but certain it is that in many directions the full-time attention which the exigencies of this industry demand have not been turned to the job at hand. Now Wall Street has crashed and the picture business returns to work. Some of the effete will find it irksome, but there appears little else to do.

The immediate future will find coats off and sleeves rolled up. That, we take it, is a splendid thing for the industry although it does entail curtailment of the excitement of gambling.

Prepare Now, Not Later

ELSEWHERE in this edition, you will find a cross-sectional opinion of what the industry at large thinks about the results of the market break. We believe the full effect cannot be determined at this time. If banks, for obvious reasons, cut off loans to manufacturers, the income of the wage earner will be curtailed. In that event, attendance at picture theatres may be expected to suffer. Such an eventuality has not yet come to light, but may easily for it is well within the bounds of reason. Some slight preparation for a general business reversal would, therefore, appear logical. If it isn't necessary, the preparedness measures can be shunted off the main line with nothing lost but the effort necessary to mobilize them.

A Suggestion to Showmen

I NSOFAR as the exhibitors of the nation are concerned, the sanest bit of advice that this forum can advance is this:

Watch your bookings. Get ready now for what may come by lightening your programs. If we were operating a theatre, we would shy clear of heavy, moribund pictures and go completely bullish on the light and the frothy. You must remember that the nerves of a nation are on edge. The weeks to come will constitute a test period for deductive showmanship. The smart operator will come through the foray without a scratch if he keeps his brains clear and his judgment keen. The other fellow deserves no serious consideration.

KANN

An Insider's Outlook

PROBLEM as knotty as any which has so far struck this sprawling industry is forging to the front. It was almost two years ago that close observers reached the conclusion that protection and the many ramifications which this trade practice involves would embroil the business in a tangle the skeins of which would be anything but easy to unravel. That day has arrived.

The responsible factors of the industry have been foregathering behind closed doors on many matters of moment in recent weeks. In order, the discussions have revolved around wide films and protection. Nobody today knows where the former is heading. The worries over protection are almost equally as great.

The arguments which proponents of the system advance are simple:

The first run theatre, by virtue of investment, admission prices and rentals for films, is entitled to protection over subsequent runs. No argument there.

What is not explained is why one theatre in a city like Atlanta, for instance, should tie up product for ninety days in all territory within a radius of twenty-five or thirty miles. Or why an impregnable circuit like Balaban and Katz should be granted extended protection over all competitors as far away from Chicago as Springfield.

De luxe operations are naturally interested in safeguarding their business investments. No one argues that any other condition should prevail. Complaints are lodged, however, over the unreasonable protection which chain operators, swaggering on the thrones of the mighty, demand and secure.

In this day of producer-owned theatres the onus cannot be fastened upon the circuit. The producer is equally culpable with the chain operator and both are consequently answerable. Exactly what the solution will be rests pretty much in the lap of the future.

It is a fact that Washington is fully aware of what is transpiring. The scrutiny from official quarters is intense. Which may explain the activity directed toward an attempted solution of this very vexatious and, from many angles, decidedly unfair industry practice. Remedial measures or an adjustment bearing in mind the rights of the minority will have to be worked out. How, remains to be seen.

The First 1,000

T took plenty of hard work. No child's play, the enrollment of the first thonsand in the Tiffany franchise drive.

The significance of the accomplishment revolves largely around the realization that exhibitors are tough hombres to sell on a yearly basis, not alone five which is the life of the Tiffany agreement. The effort embraced barnstorming, one night stands, and a terrific selling impetus. If you are interested in learning where the

Salute

ET out your pad. There's a rip - snorting comedy en route. It's important for you not to be looking the other way when you're spoken to about it. Name? "A Hollywood Star," directed by Mack Sennett and built up around the Hollywood preview gag and the vagaries of sound equipment. Those on the inside of the business will carry away a load of laughs. The public won't be far behind. A lucky star comedy, this one.

The week brought to light another of Walt Disney's extremely elever cartoons. "Springtime," member of the Silly Symphony series, is one of those rare entertainment affairs properly described as a panic. It is vastly diverting and deserves a spot on any showman's bill.

laurel wreath belongs, you should know that it properly rests on Oscar Hanson's brow.

Assurances of thousands of play dates are naturally gratifying to Tiffany. Why not? But, sifting through further, it does appear that in this national movement there are evidences of an exceedingly important development.

This industry is rapidly veering toward a group of two or three companies, each one self-contained. Each will make enough pictures to show in its own houses and dependence on outside theatre outlets will be unnecessary. This may be an entirely rational scheme of operation for the major units, but leaves entirely open the problem of the small- and mediumsized theatre. Some measure of protection, an assurance that sufficient product will be available to permit operations is necessary. Here Tiffany may be said to be performing an industry service. This franchise, as do others, carries to the exhibitor a guarantee of product for at least five years. It bulwarks the theatre man's business foundation with a substantial and reassuring plank and at least gives to him an opportunity to figure out in what direction he is headed.

The Musical Orgy

VERTUNING is rapidly outdistancing the industry's pet nemesis: the theme song. Producers, never having had music to play with until sound hit the scene, may properly have an excuse. But it is two years or so by the calendar since talking and musical pictures have been striding the boards. It would seem that a more intelligent application of the entertainment ingredients at hand should have developed long since.

Not content with introducing musical numbers whether they play a role or not in the logical development of the story, it is now an old Hollywood custom to pile on the warbling until the point of sanity is reached and passed. A recent picture had nine songs spotted in its footage. Nine, no less. One performer, it happens, played the banjo and so the producer made him sing. Not once, but four times. Or three times too much.

An outstanding case of overtuning, the result you might gather. All of the songs suffered for the burden was too much for the onlooker to carry. The theory was wrong and the application worse.

The persistent use of music is leading producers into the byways of extremely mediocre material. Certainly, in the good old silent days, enough sausage was turned out of Hollywood to keep all Germany happy. Today the vogue for musicals carries little provision for story conception and something slightly less than that for story development.

The flimsiest of yarns, as a consequence, are regularly wending their way screen-ward, tied in the middle with a couple of songs, played against a night club or a back stage background.

Producers may think the mixture is adroit enough, and perhaps it is in this early day of musical orgies, but six months from now the story will be appreciably different.

Theatres Untouched in Stock Crash; "Business as Usual" in Most Keys

Pessimism Exists In N. Y. Circles

A definite reaction at the box-office as a result of the Wall Street stock reversal is predicted in some quarters. Several large theatre operators feel that it is almost certain to show within the next few weeks. In commercial and manufacturing circles investigation reveals that there is certain to be a curtailment of activity and this naturally will reflect itself in films.

Chain operators, however, teel they will be far better off than the legitimate theatre with its higher prices. Low prices of admission are expected to appeal to those who will be compelled to economize.

One operator in the New York area stated that the neighborhood houses showed a decided dropping off in business on Monday and Tuesday nights. Neighborhood houses in the more congested residential parts of the city were not so badly affected. The larger Broadway houses all experienced drops at the box office on those two nights that were far beyond the normal of the usual weeks.

Looks for B. O. Drop

An executive of a national chain stated that returns from around the country had not as yet revealed that the box-office had been affected visibly by stock market condition, but that it was expected there would be a dropping off in the next week or teadays with a gradual return to a normal within a month's time.

A most pessimistic view is taken by an executive of one of the largest mercantile jobbers in New York. He stated his organization had during the last three months placed a large number of orders with manufacturers on behalf of department stores for Christmas business. He believes department stores will be among the first to show the affect of the market's smash and that a great many orders will never he filled. If true, this will react (Continued on page 32)

Cities In Upper N. Y. Hit Badly By Drop

Upper New York State cities report via Albony business has been hard hit by the stock market slump. Theatre attendance is off all through the district.

Albany.—Motion picture theatres in Albany, Troy and Schenectady, are feeling the effects of this week's stock market crash. In some instances, attendance slumped nearly twenty per cent, particularly on Monday and Tuesday nights, the worst two days of the week. Receipts at one theatre dropped from $4,100 to $2,700 on Tuesday, the manager ascribing the fact to the terrific losses that had been sus-

Grosses Maintain Level With Occasional Flurry, But No Slump In Attendance Is Anticipated

Stock market conditions which nearly reached a state of panic in New York appear to be viewed with but small alarm in many sections of the country and reflect the stability of the industry, according to a survey of key cities conducted by MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

A note of pessimism is sounded here and there to the effect that the box-office will

M. P. T. O. A. Leaders Expect No Break

Memphis—The tobogganing of stocks on the New York exchange will have little influence on the theatre business of the nation as a whole, least of all the independent exhibitors in smaller cities, it seemed the consosus of those prominent in the M.P.T.O.A.

Vice-President Charles Picquet and

Vice-President Charles Picquet and R. R. Biechle said they could see little effect it might have. M. E. Comerford of Penosylvaoia spoke jokingly of losing a hit personally, but doubted if it would have much effect on the industry.

Willard Patterson, Publix district manager of Atlanta, likewise expressed himself as coofident theatres would go on without any serious reaction, as did his wife, Mrs. Anna Aiken Patterson, publisher of the Weekly Film Review.

"Only where personal interests cause losses will the masses of exhibitors feel serious results," seemed the notiform thought.

N. Y. Executives See Fortunes Disappear

They're singing the Wall Street Blues all over the industry. As a matter of fact there was very little work done in the majority of the home offices of the industry since the stock market started on its wild rampage a week ago. No matter where one went the sole topic of discussion was the market and the losses this one or that had sustained.

Two executives alone in New York are said to have dropped almost $7,000,000 between them. On the Coast reports are to the effect that most players and production executives were hard hit. In several company offices in New York even stenographers and the crrand boys were "in the market," and took the wallop.

One of the largest losers in New York is an attorney who has devoted himself to the film industry exclusively for the past ten years. His losses are said to have totaled $4,000,000, which he managed to accumulate via the market in the last three years. It is about three years ago that he came a cropper in "the Street," and since that time had not only recouped his previous losses but was a couple of million ahead.

Another executive was said to have had 98,000 shares of Paramount which stood there to the effect that the box-office will suffer as a result of the many losses through hysterical selling of gilt-edged securities but on the whole this country's amnsement industry, outside of the metropolitan area, adopts the nonchalant attitude that business is going on as usual and that the matter is more local than national.

In those cities where a recent depression has been felt the fall in attendance is attributed to other causes than stock losses.

Dive In Stocks Stuns Hollywood

Hollywood.—A literal earthquake hit the Hollywood film colony with the market erash, hundreds of picture people being wiped ont with savings invested in margin accounts. Big fellows suffered with smaller ones. Many who scraped all available eash and securities to hang on during previous shunps, saw everything go without being able to protect themselves further.

It is impossible to estimate the film colony's losses, aside from the fact that it will reach at least several millions.

Many stars, producers, executives and others are either wiped out or have suffered staggering losses. There are wild rumors on losses, but it is known that many were hit for amounts over $100,000.

Thesday, a local broker catering to film people, sold out accounts in wholesale lots, only immediate additional scenrities saving those who were under the required margin percentage.

The production mills didn't grind so well this week. Most of Hollywood had other matters to think about and those matters had no direct hearing on shooting schednles.

The Wall Street Blues

Get yourself a complete roster of theatrical and cineona producers and stars and you will have the names of the folks who dropped huckets of shekels in the current Wailin' Wall and Broad flop. What may interest them as well as you, however, is that all brokers who closed out accounts without giving dne warning are subject to lawsuits for the full amount involved.—Louis Sobol in the New York Evening Graphic.

If true, there's a margin of comfort in that for the victims.

Stock Crash Fails To Disturb Coast

Both Portland, Ore., and San Francisco report business conditions, insofar as theatre attendance is concerned, are excellent. In Los Angeles, where thousands were affected by the market crash, there is no indication that there is any drop in theatre attendance. A natural slump in the Southern California city is reported because of counter attractions to the theatres.

Los Angeles .-- Although thousands in Southern California were hard hit by the stock market crash, it is unlikely that the ensuing financial depression will leave any mark on theatre business, either now or when the market stabilizes itself.

It is true there has been a slump in business this week, but this is described by local authorities as a natural condition brought on by certain long run pictures which are about to close their runs plus the fact that this is the football season.

Thirty thousand people traveled North for the University of California-Stanford game the other day; 25,000 attended the Walker-Hudkins fight Tuesday night and for the U. S. C.-California game Saturday a complete sell-out is reported. That means npwards of 75,000 will attend.

Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theatres, said to a reporter for Motion Picture News:

"The great mass of Americans—the theatre goers-are not stock market gamblers and they will not be influenced by conditions in Wall Street. American industry today is just as strong as it was six months ago and the working man and woman is not affected by the market. For Fox West Coast Theatres, let me advise it is business as usual.' "

Max Shagnin, Pacific Coast general manager for Warner Bros. said:

"Our theatres are still doing excellent husiness and there are no indications that picture patronage will be affected by the market break.''

Portland, Ore.—Theatre managers and exchangemen report an increase in theatre patronage, rather than a decline. They attribute this to the excellence of current attractions. The unanimous opinion here is that reductions in stock values have shown no effect on hox-offices to date. It is estimated that only one per cent of the local population plays the market, but the belief is freely expressed that the flurry will tend to slow up sales of picture stocks to the public. This may prove unfortunate from an industry angle, but managers fail to see how such a reaction can affect their box-offices.

San Francisco.—Managers of picture theatres here see no effect on their business as a result of the stock market depression. A city survey conducted by a reporter for Motion Picture News revealed that all houses are enjoying excellent business. No kickbacks are expected.

New England Blames Election And Stocks

Boston.-The decline which all the theatres in the territory are experiencing this week at the box offices is attributed to both the municipal elections and the stock market slump. It is about a fifty-fifty break between the two. In this city, theatres are reporting that business is off anywhere from ten to fifteen per cent. The suburban houses strangely enough are showing larger losses than those in the city proper.
On Wednesday night, after the market had recovered somewhat, a canvass of fourteen theatres made in the city showed that there was an improvement in attendance over the first two nights of the week. This improvement was enhanced Thursday night.

St. Louis District Bullish On Optimism

Although omusement stocks on the St. Louis Stock Exchange hit o new low record, Skouras and Bros. Enterprises dropped to a level where ten shares sold for ten dollars a share, a note of optimism prevails in that city's industrial circles. All industries ore ohead of the same period in 1928.

Except for a slightly pessimistic note in the Kansas City district, that future business may be affected by many heavy losses, no great change in conditions has been observed.

St. Louis.-This is perhaps the one bright spot on the country's industrial map and, while hundreds of persons here have lost in the stock market break, the general opinion of local theatre owners and exchange men is that theatre attendance will not be seriously affected by the drop.

Employment is on the increase in the St. Louis district and with few exceptions al! industries are ahead of the same period in 1928 and with sufficient orders on hand to assure good business the balance of this The prospects for next year are vear.

Baltimore And Philly Report Normal Trade

Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Baltimore are oll in accord in reporting conditions normal at box-offices following the stock market collapse this week. Conservatism on the part of the Baltimore public is said to have made impossible any great financial losses there by individuals. Pittsburgh looks for increased business.

Philadelphia.—Business here this week has shown an upward trend and local exhibitors have felt no box-office reaction from the stock market crash. With one or two exceptions, theatre operators here figure only 1,000,000 persons throughout (Continued on page 34)

Mid-West Off, But Not From Stocks

Bad weather, rather than the Wall St. crash, is held responsible for any recent fall in theatre trade in the Middle West. There has been a slight reaction in Minneapolis and it is thought in Denver that it may affect trade there. On the other hand, Omaha looks forward to a banner season. Except for the newspapers, Milwankee exhibitors say they would not have known a stock crash had taken place.

Minneapolis.-A slight reaction, in proportion to that felt by other lines of business, has been felt in Minneapolis, says Edward Smith, district manager for Publix. He believes it is but a temporary de-pression. There has been a fluctuation of attendance in this city, but bad weather is given as the cause. Edward Furni, manager of the Hennepin-Orpheum, states that he has noticed no difference in receipts and the Pantages management is of the same opinion.

Denver.-Poor business here the past week is attributed to inclement weather, rather than the stock market break. Theatre managers think that the larger cities may be affected in view of the many sufferers in the erash, but do not believe that smaller communities will see any fall in Omaha.—This territory looks for the best theatre business in years because of erop prospects. The Chamber of Commerce estimates the gross income for Nebraska farmers to be in excess of $459,000,000. Publix headquarters here are extremely optimistic. One film man remarked this city doesn't even know there was a crash. The head of a local suburban chain struck the only pessimistic note when he said that he expected box-office depression would follow.

Des Moines.-The public here, as a general procedure, does not pay much attention to the stock market and, therefore, local trade is practically unaffected, states a well known broker. According to this spokesman, there are but a half dozen or so theatremen interested in the market and their investments are very conservative.

Exchangemen are waiting to see if stocks take an upward trend before expressing alarm over the situation. A number of exchange employees have suffered

Southern Houses Not Affected By Crash

Reports from two southern cities indicate that there has been no visible box office fulling off in that part of the country. The cities are New Orleans, with the report from that center covering the entire state of Louisiana. Houston's reaction embraces Texas.

M.P.T.O.A. Sees Future of Ind'p'ts Unshaken by Industry Merger Trend

A Pro-Hays Slate

Memphis.—The new M. P. T. O. A. regime, headed by M. A. Lightman, is predominantly in sympathy with the aims of the Hays organization. Vice-presidents and directors, elected Thursday, are either employed by circuits owned by producers affiliated with Hays or known to look with favor on the general policies of the M. P. Producers and Distributors of America.

Exhibitors Worry About Wide Film

Memphis.—Wide film and its potential danger as a disturbing factor nuless standardization is reached featured many of the private conferences held here by representatives of producer-affiliated chains attending the M. P. T. O. A. national convention. Fred Desberg, ex-chairman of the board of directors, struck the keynote when, reading from his report, he urged exhibitors to focus attention on the impending innovation.

"We ought to take action in this direction to prevent the confusion that resulted with the interchangeability problem in sound apparatus," he said. "It is coming and we've got to face it."

Colonel E. P. Hawkins of RCA Photophone, in his address on Wednesday, warned exhibitors to watch ont for wide film and television, as well. "But so far as RCA is concerned," he promised, "you may depend upon it that the independent theatres will have the benefit of television as soon as anybody in America. That will be true of other manufacturers as well as of RCA."

Tells Exhibitors To Expect Better Sound

Memphis.—Amplification is now virtually perfect and improvements from now on must come in recording and reproducing, Dr. Lee De Forest, a pioneer in the development of sound-on-film and now attached to General Talking Pictures, told the M. P. T. O. A. convention here.

"Improvements must come in microphones and loud speakers and they will," he promised the assembled exhibitors.

De Forest dwelt at some length on the possibilities of sound in educational work, in news recording and in the cementing of international relations. "I am now convinced as I was in 1923," he said, "that the combination of the effect of stage and silent screen in the talking picture will always be far more successful with the public than either of its components."

De Forest believes the days of sound-ondisc recording are limited.

Tightening Field Still Has Place For Real Showman, Is General Memphis Observation

Memphis—With harmony and a uniform desire to conciliate all differences with producers and other exhibitors organizations as the dominant note, the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America closed their tenth annual convention here Thursday with a high degree of optimism placed on the future of the independent theatre operator.

Lightman Again Heads M.P.T.O.A.

Memphis.—M. A. Lightman of El Dorado, Ark., was unanimously re-elected president as the annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America closed Thursday.

His short term which began a few months ago when R. F. Woodhull resigned to join General Talking Pictures will now be rounded out by a full year in the president's seat. His election created no surprise, and had been expected.

Willard C. Patterson of Atlanta and a division manager for Publix in the Southeast, was elected a vice-president as was Frank C. Walker, general counsel for the Comerford theatres in Pennsylvania. These appointments are new. Charles Picquet, president of the Theatre Owners' Association of North Carolina and R. R. Biechele, president of the M.P.T.O. of Kansas and Missouri, were re-elected vice presidents.

E. M. Fay of Providence succeeds Fred Desherg of Cleveland as chairman of the board of directors, but the latter, together with most of the former directors, was returned to serve another year.

The new hoard embraces Major L. E. Thompson, of Radio-Keith-Orpheum, New York; Moe Silver of the Stanley Company, Philadelphia; Willard C. Patterson, Atlanta; William Benton; M. E. Comerford, Scranton; Sam Dembow, vice-president of Publix, New York; Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theatres, Los Angeles; Jack Miller, of the Chicago Exhibitors' Ass'n and a partner in one or more theatres with Publix there and Fred Wehrenberg, president of the M.P.T.O. of Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois.

Says Pettijohn

Memphis. — "Chain theatres with the collective buying power they have, have no right to use it to obtain more than independent theatres of the same size and rank in the business," so Charles C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the Hays association, declared before the M.P.T.O.A.

Optimistic forecasts as to the future of the independent exhibitor characterized nearly every speaker on the floor, as well as the written message of Sidney R. Kent, Paramount sales manager, who was prevented from attending but sent his report on adjustment.

M. A. Lightman, of Memphis, president since Sept. 12, first voiced the sentiment of peacemaking as the convention opened Tuesday, to be echoed by M. E. Comerford, Pennsylvania independent; R. F. "Pete" Woodhull, past president and executive vice-president of General Talking Pictures; Col. E. P. Hawkins, manager of RCA Photophone, and others. Lightman in his opening address Tuesday pleaded for unity in the ranks and for "showing our faith in the men responsible for production." Tracing progress of the industry from early days when respect was hard to command, he said it had "overcome a mighty obstacle, and obtained the confidence of thinking people." Exhibitors, he said, however, could claim little of the credit.

"A New Business Day"

Woodhull followed with a similar note, speaking of a "new day in the business, that we can make even better if we sit tight."

Comerford reiterated Woodhull's optimism on the future of independents, saying the well managed independent theatre would "always be with us," since "we must always have a wide variety of entertainment to meet the ever changing desires of our public." Comerford paid tribute to the "unchallenged supremacy of the American picture," urging exhibitors to remember that 90 per cent of all pictures are American-made.

Urges Management Check

Sidney R. Kent, in his report on adjustments, warned independents to watch their methods of management.

"We will always have a place for the live independent exhibitor who runs his business well. But he'll lose if he doesn't keep pace," he warned. "There is a certain percentage of exhibitors who would fail if you gave them film rental outright."

The big novelty of the convention came at the banquet Wednesday night when Governor Henry Horton, of Tennessee, who was to have welcomed the convention in person, spoke via Fox Movietone in a special reel made the previous week.

President Lightman went to Nashville to make the reel, which shows him asking the Governor to welcome the convention on the screen, and includes the address.

$1,300,000 in Adjustments So Far Says Kent; $200,000 More on Way

M. P. T. O. A. Delegates Hail With Enthusiasm Details Of Relief Program As Aid To Small Exhibitor

Memphis.—With 3,800 adjustments in sound contracts representing $1,300,000. made in ten months, it is anticipated that, for the fiscal year which ended with the close of the tenth annual M. P. T. O. A. convention here, the number will increase to 4,300 and the amount to $1,500,000, M. A. Lightman, newly-elected president of the organization, made the forecast.

One of the highlights of the convention was a long letter from Sidney R. Kent, general manager of Paramount, which was read to the assembled exhibitors by Lightman. Kent outlined what had been done in adjustments to date, his facts and figures creating considerable enthusiasm.

The 3,800 adjustments officially recorded when the ten month period had expired were made on bona fide contracts on which there was no compulsory need for any producer to "retreat one dime," Kent's letter

"We have not stated that every exhibitor got what he wanted in adjustments," Kent said at one point, "but we have undoubtedly saved from failure many small independents." He blamed top-heavy contracts on "inexperience on both sides, neither one of which knew exactly what the product they were dealing with would be worth. He stressed the point that where exhibitors were tied for a year on contract, producerhad committed themselves for 15, with at least five years that had to be paid even if sound was discovered to be a losing

Kent Talks Frankly

"I believe that this is the time to talk frankly. My experience, much of it outside of the motion picture industry, taught me long ago that the problems within this business, the same as in any other, cannot be solved without common sense cooperation on the part of all branches of the in-"The fact that producers are on one side and distributors on the other means just this: that although we are on different sides of the fence, when it comes to our commercial negotiations for film, we still have this much in common—that it means a livelihood for both of us and for us to stand like opposing armies, sniping at each other, resorting to poison gas and every other method of attack, is as silly as one army divided against itself, one side fighting the other.

"I have yet to see any reform in this business secured by coercion or legal procedure, while on the other hand, those steps that have been taken in common sense.

Market Dope

"What are you buying these days?" A well known executive—you know him well—thinks of last week's financial nose dive and replies: "National Casket."

cooperation have come through a group of men sitting openly around a table and discussing their mutual problems.

"We are all in the motion picture business. It is a business in which we are making our living and out of which we are supporting our families. We have a joint obligation of maintaining its supremacy as a moderate-priced amusement for the American people and we should take joy from that thought by standing together, shoulder to shoulder, in keeping it supreme throughout the world.

Deplores Trade Bitterness

"Too many discussions in the past have been marked by unnecessary bitterness—a biting bitterness such as is found only in combats and which has no part in dealings between business men.

"If any fair-minded man is not willing to admit today that the time has gone by for these old-fashioned, old-time methods, then I think all of the constructive work that has been done is indeed futile. But I cannot believe this to be the case. Each side must recognize the problems of the other or there can never be any fair basis on which minds can meet. With all of the sabotage and tearing down that has existed within the industry, without any constructive remedy being offered, what has it all brought? Show me one single gain that has come through anything other than common sense cooperation.

"I was chairman of the Distributors' Committee with you and your committee in New York for almost two weeks' time. This practical cooperation brought relief to hundreds of small exhibitors throughout the country. While the figures are from four to six weeks in arrears, we have records of approximately 3,800 adjustments having been made, with figures of two of the companies still missing. These adjustments run up to about $1,300,000.

Cites Results From Co-operation

"While we do not state that every exlubitor who deserved it received an adjustment, we do believe in this way many have been able to tide themselves over and stay in business through our joint cooperation-a result that could never have been accomplished by threatening, cocreion or sabotaging methods.

"We want to see this cooperation continue; and I want you to know that my contact with the other producers and distributors has shown me that they are fully

Tackling Music Tax

Memphis.-Directors of the M.P.T.O. A. were instructed in the closing session to attack the music tax problem immediately in New York, with officials of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers.

Secretary M. J. O'Toole read a report, recommending such action, "Since most music publishers are now controlled by producers and should be willing to annul or adjust the music tax."

Talkers Causing Censor Qualms

Memphis.—Risque dialogue in pictures is a serious menace to censorless communities, is the consensus of opinion among promiment exhibitors who attended the M.P.T.O. A. convention. Most towns, they agree, include a section of the population which ardently desires censorship. Theatremen stated that they did not want to take any chances of arousing the ire of this ele-

"It's all right for the big towns," they say, "but when you get it in the smaller communities, we aren't educated to it. Only cosmopolitan audiences will appreciate it, so thinks Ed Kuykendall of Columbus, Miss., prominent Tri-State leader; Mrs. Anna Aiken Patterson, of Atlanta, and many others.

"The sooner indecent dialogue is eliminated by the producers, the better it will be for the business. We are not only insur-ring danger of censorship," he said. "We are driving away small town patronage. If kept up it will bring the screen to the same stage of disrepute in this respect the stage has, a status we have long boasted we are above. It'll be good business to cut it

Another point was made, the danger of copies of outstanding pictures being made, inferior in technique but boasting of the same smut that was only a piece of realism in the greater picture. Mediocre smutty pictures will follow great ones. And they will be terrible, they say.

A Two-Ply Example

Limiting of "The Cock-Eyed World" to one week after an announced run of indefinite length in Birmingham is eited. On the other hand, Little Rock brought the film back to a first-run house within a month after it had broken a record there.

M. E. Comerford, veteran independent, doesn't fear it. There isn't much smut after all, he believes, and things are steadily improving. Nothing to get excited about, is his reaction.

Conciliation, Watchword at Memphis; Dangle Olive Branch Before Allied

Television Again

Memphis.—Indicating to many attending the M. P. T. O. A. convention here that television may be closer to practical application than has been intimated until now were remarks made by Colonel E. P. Hawkins of RCA Photophone who addressed the assembled exhibitors on Wednesday. He declared that when television is ready for the market, it will be introduced to directly benefit theatres. New York stage productions, he said, will at that time be shown simultaneously to houses in all sections of the coun-

RCA, Hawkins concluded, is strongly in favor of sustaining the independent exhibitor "because the more theatres that operate, the bigger will be the market for our product."

Can't Stop Mergers Woodhull Says

Memphis.-- "Mass financing and merged exhibition and production is the order of the day. We are not able to combat any such advance as it is distinctly an American business practice now generally accepted in all other lines of effort," R. F. Woodhull, former president of the M. P. T. O. A. said in an address before the tenth annual convention of the organiza-

Woodhull expressed his belief that in the business there will be "substantial in-dependent interests." Admitting that mergers may precipitate changes in personnel and "in many other ways," he is certain the independent phase will always remain. Only he didn't explain to the delegates why he thought so, beyond this:

"It is very difficult to harness an idea and keep it in a given spot when dozens of other ideas may come along to serve kindred purposes. After all, our business is based on making the idea take tangible shape in story, sound and talk in the theatres."

Then, continuing, he said;

Then, continuing, ne said:

"The many changes in theatre ownerships and the rapid expansion of the chain system have created new problems and to some extent set aside others. It is the new day in the business. If we move right we can make it the better day. Mass financing and merged exhibition and production is the order of the day. We are not able to combat any such advance as it is distinctly an American business practice mov generally accepted in all other lines of effort. But we can make our advances coincide with the new order, change where it may be necessary and try to have situations meet up with justice and equity to all concerned.

to all concerned. "Irealize that these statements are general. But the process outlined can be made workable in its application and every effort should be exerted to that end."

Lightman's Feelings Toward Myers Group "The Kindest" -Willing To Sit Down And Talk Matters Over

Memphis—A uniform and studious silence to the progress of the Allied States Association prevailed among all the leaders of the M. P. T. O. A., with not a single mention of the rival group reported on the floor of the convention during its three-day sessions and scarcely a mention of the numerous private conferences that were held. Conciliation rather than fight was the watchword of the meeting.

Get Organized, Urges Pettijohn

Memphis.-Charles C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the Hays organization, has declared for a strong national exhibitor body, saying that to unite would be for theatre owners' own welfare and the good of the industry.

"There ought to be a strong exhibitor organization in every one of the 32 zones of distribution in the country," he told the M. P. T. O. A. delegates. "Every independent ought to belong to them, and work together to build an organization that is a credit to the industry. Leave out cheap petty polities and work together," he told them, tracing, optimistically, the rapid recovery of the industry from "the beating it was taking two and a half years ago.

"Radios came in, with their original appeal to the ear. People left our theatres. Things weren't at all good until someone combined this ear entertainment with the eye entertainment we had in the silent-

Fewer Chances For Adverse Legislation On Tap For '30

Memphis.—A respite from adverse legislation is indicated for next year by the legislative committee of the M. P. T. O. A. which, in reviewing its year's work for the annual exhibitor convention, pointed out only ten state legislatures are to meet in 1930. They are Kentucky, Massachusetts, Mississiepi, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Virginia, Louisiana and Georgia. All other states have no regular sessions until January, 1931.

This year law-making bodies in 43 states were active.

Several hundred adverse legislative measures were introduced, but most of them were successfully warded off, Motion PICTURE NEWS learns.

Canada Not Represented At M.P.T.O.A. Convention

Toronto,-Canada was not represented at the annual convention of the M. P. T. O. at Memphis. Regrets that it had been found impossible to send representatives to the meeting were conveyed in a letter by Harry Alexander, president of the Ontario Division of the M. P. T. O.

This developed in the face of a substantially shrunken exhibitor attendance, the number present searcely topping 250, although the report of the credentials committee, read on Wednesday by Secretary M. J. O'Toole indicated a larger theatre representation than at any previous convention of the organization. More than 6,000 theatres and a larger invested capital than had attended any exhibitor confab were represented, according to his report.

Ready to Meet Allied

M. A. Lightman, M. P. T. O. A. president. when interviewed on the question of the Allied by a representative of Motion Pic-TURE News, stated that he had nothing "but the kindest feelings" for Allied, and expressed a willingness to "sit down with them and discuss our common problems on the top of the table." But he added:

"We don't need any cross-continent arguments, and I am not going to pick any bones with Allied in that way.

.. We will go more than half way at any time in meeting Allied to talk our problemover, either by individual delegates, by committees, or in open conference," he said. "After all, most of our problems ought to be the same."

President Lightman had previously uttered the same sentiment in his keynote speech, but maintained that "the M. P. T. O. A. is the one organization that is striving to live up to these ideals."

Anxious to End Politics

"The M. P. T. O. A. would like to see all political controversies in our ranks put in the diseard, and work in unison and harmony with all departments of the industry," he said. "We can settle all our differences peacefully if we so elect."

Willard C. Patterson, of Atlanta formerly one of the most active among independent exhibitors and now southern district manager for Publix, was present and in his speech took occasion to congratulate Lightman on his pacific atterances. It was the first time, he said, that any president of the M. P. T. O. A. came into office without wanting to start a fight.

According to Mike O'Toole and M. E. Comerford there have been "no inroads" made by Allied as the organization of the M. P. T. O. A. O'Toole referred to the Allied group as "all good fellows just thinking differently from us.

Washington.—Allied States Association now claims 30 of the 48 states in the Union and its drive for additional members is not yet over, it is learned here.

Small Town Showmen, If Aggressive, Will Stay in Business, Kent States

The Yardstick

"I believe the test of the good faith of the entire industry will be its treatment of the small town exhibitor in the years to come and I also believe that the treatment accorded this type of exhibitor will be the measure of greatness and wisdom accorded the leaders of the big companies of our industry in the future"—Sidney R. Kent, in a letter to M. A. Lightman and read by the letter at Al-Management by the latter at the M.P.T.O.A. convention in Memphis.

"However, it is well at this point to diseuss where we are going with the changing conditions we now face. What is the future of the small, independent exhibitor? When I say independent, I mean that type of exhibitor standing alone, making his living out of the operation of bis theatre, with no open or under-cover affiliations upon whom he ean draw for support.

"Today, one must be a student of economies in order to realize what is going on in the world of business. Influences outside of our own industry help to shape the course of our own business. This is a day of widespread chain operation in every branch of organized industry. Even the banks, the last to sneeumb, have finally gone in for chain banking throughout the states. Banking is being done today on the chain basis, and only a few years ago everyone thought it was impossible. However, this doesn't necessarily mean that all the independent banks in the country are going out of business. The live, upto-date, alert banker will maintain his place in the community, and in my opinion, will have an advantage over the chain bank.

The Ind'p't Can Get By

"Just the same, as I believe, the alive, independent exhibitor who operates his theatre properly, who sells his personality to his own community will always have a large following in his theatre.

"If you will refer to the recent report of Dr. Klein of the United States Department of Commerce, you will find that in a survey made of the independent operators in many lines of business throughout the country, that are actively in competition with chain stores, he made the statement that sixty per cent of the failures were due to the fact that the men themselves were not fitted for the business in which they were engaged and would have failed in any event in time.

"As a matter of fact, the fiereeness of chain operation and competition doesn't exist in our industry, to anywhere near the degree that it does in other kinds of merchandising.

"Many of the small-town exhibitors are at a tremendous disadvantage in operating their theatres due to the fact that they havn't been able to purchase sound equipment, either at a price satisfactory to them, or to get the quality machines they desire at a price they can pay. This condition, in my opinion, is only temporary and will be remedied within the next few months.

"However, even with the installation of sound equipment, the exhibitor must recognize that there is a basic public demand for entertainment presented in a different way, and I will illustrate what I mean: You all remember the story of the Ford ear. The best car for the money was put out by Ford, and yet, he was forced to change his model to please more than the sense of value.

Public Must Be Served

"It is no different with your theatre patron today. They are not satisfied with many of the old shooting-galleries, improperly kept and improperly run that answered the purpose a few years ago. Today, not only must you give the public entertainment. You must give it to them in comfortable seats, among clean and beautiful surroundings and in an up-to-date manner. This doesn't mean that the smalltown operator must build a theatre entirely town operator must build a theatre entirely out of proportion to the possibilities of his town; but it does mean that no matter how small his theatre may be, he must operate it in such a manner and so conduct it that it pleases as many of the senses of enjoyment of his public as they demand.

"With good roads and the automobile, with a natural tendency away from the small town to the big centers of population, it becomes all the more vital and necessary that the small town exhibitor be alert and be a modern merchandiser in every sense of the word in an intimately operated theatre, in order to offset the natural disadvantages inherent in small town operation today.

natural disadvantages innerent in some control to day.

"These are not impossible situations to meet, as attested to by the fact that many independent exhibitors are doing better today than ever before especially where sound has been installed.

"If the large operators, who today control big circuits, did not build them, someone else would have built them. The general tendency in business has heen in this direction since the war and no matter what the ambition of anyone in the industry mught have been, this business could not have remained in a status that is considered almost old-fashioned today in operating a nation-wide industry. operating a nation-wide industry.

operating a nation-wide industry.

"These are conditions that you may not like; but that neither you nor I can stop. How far they will go depends upon the brains and wisdom with which they are handled. If the chain operation of small theatres is not conducted on a very careful and wise basis, these theatres will pass back into the hands of independents without any question of doubt.

"There has been a great misunderstanding amount all these theatres will pass back into the hands of independents without any question of doubt.

"There has been a great misunderstanding among all of us with regard to sound. What the industry went through in all its branches needs some analysis. First, a change was necessary and the old silent film was dying—and no one now can refuse to admit this fact, so that it was vital to the producer and exhibitor as well, that this new form of entertainment he generally admitted. Exhibitors rushed in, in the beginning and signed contracts way beyond their ability to pay. These were not contracts fraudilently forced on the exhibitor by the distributor. Many of the impossible prices that were taken came out of this new situation through the inexperience of both sides not knowing what its real possibilities were. These are becoming more and more adjusted down to a common sense level. While the exhibitor has committed himself to a block or year's supply of pictures, in many cases at impossible prices, the producers in this midustry jointly made an investment running into hindreds of millions of dollars. They have commitment that run for fifteen years, not just for one year, and the producers must pay for at least five years of that term whether profutable or not. You must realize the gamble was not taken by just one side. It has been a gamble, and a hig investment spread over all branches of the industry.

"I have heard practically every difficulty in our husiness laid at the door of almost every one of our trade practices. These practices, however, do not con trol the above fundamentals affecting the economics of our industry.

"There is no use to deny the fact that the larger towns and the larger theatres are, to some extent, sucking the business away from the smaller towns and the smaller theatres. It is my opinion that this will continue in spite of all that can be done.

"However, there is a definite obligation that this industry owes to the small, independent exhibitor. We may not, beyond a point, be able to help the plight of those who find themselves in difficulties after having done everything within their power,—and if a percentage of these small operators are to go out of obusiness, I say that they should go out under the most humane condition possible. As I said before, there are many who, in my opinion, cannot succedif they get product for nothing but ou the other hand, you and I have seen many on both sides of the industry sit back in their seats and collect easy and fat profits. open discussion of the problem in all of its phases and by common sense cooperation. It will never be brought about by the old-fashioned, old-time methods of shotgun attack.

"I have heard it said that there are certain greedy The nave near of t said that there are certain greedy and grasping individuals on our side of the picture. Our recent meetings in New York showed a very fair disposition to recognize the problems of the small man; but if in your mind, there is any doubt as to the attitude of any one among the producers and distributors, certainly the quickest way to find that out is in a round table discussion where the facts are laid before exercise. before everyone.

"A man may sit in his office and plan most auy-thing he likes; but get him in the open, in the pres-ence of several fair-minded men, and it is pretty hard for him to take an unfair position, and if any one does, at least you will know who he is.

Hopes Co-operation Continues

"I hope the work of cooperation that has been started will carry on. I still hope to see some agency set up where the small town man can come with any type of complaint that imposes an unfair burden upon his business, for a hearing where justice will be rendered him.

"Every man in this industry started at least with an equal opportunity. Every man or corporation that ever owned a chain of theatres started with the first one. Many men, hy choice, have not expanded and in not expanding have lost their opportunity. Marcus Loew started as humbly as anybody in this business. All have had the opportunity of adding to their holdings in years gone by, who worked towards that end and were deserving of it.

mgs in years gone by, who worked towards that end and were deserving of it.

"There is no way today in any business, that I work of the hird the hig operator down to the basis of the small operators. The difference in buying power existing today between the small theatre owner and the chain operator presents the same disadvantage that the retail grocer faces when he husy against the chain grocer; but I repeat, the industry does owe this type of operator the most humane and just consideration that can be given him.

"Our business can be played two ways. One is by getting the best out of the industry—by working out, in a friendly manner, the problems that are constantly concerning us, and the other way is to make it a political game. One is sure to have some benefits to both sides (as nearly as anything can be sure) but the without constructive possibilities and greater trouble for all."

Sunday Movies Okay But Citizens Won't Oust Mayor

Westwood, N. J.—Voters express their sentiment in favor of Sunday shows by a vote of 1,200 to 700 but when former Mayor Harry Goodwin circulated a petition asking that the village government be entrusted to three commissioners instead of the present mayor and council, he only received 712 signatures out of a total of 2,400. Westwood believed Sunday shows will come without the aid of commissioners.

losses, but this is expected to have little effect on the general situation. The auto trade appears hardest hit.

Milwaukee.-Managers here say that were it not for newspapers they would not have known anything about the Wall St. situation, no change having occurred in theatre trade which could be attributed to present stock market conditions.

John Devangh, assistant general manager of Fox-Midweseo theatres and Henry Staab, secretary of the Wisconsin M. P. T. O., both expressed this opinion. Fred Meyer, of the Milwaukee Theatre Circuit, stated that there is somewhat of a slump in business around Milwaukee but thought bad weather was the cause.

Washington Too Busy To Worry About Brookhart's New Measure

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington.—Close observers of the legislative situation in Washington believe there is little chance of any action being taken by Congress upon the bill introduced by Senator Brookhart of Iowa, providing for the creation of an industrial arts commission to serve as mentor for the amusement industries.

Iowa Committed

Des Moines-The Iowa exhibitor unit is expected to swing into line in favor of Senator Brookhart's new Federal bill for creation of an Arts Industrial Commission which would be empowered to probe motion pictures and other amusement industries at will. At Iowa's last convention, the association voted to stand squarely behind Brookhart in whatever legislation campaigns he sponsored.

$75,000 Is Sought For "Commission"

(Washington Bureou, Motion Picture News)

Washington.-Senator Brookbart whose latest legislative foible is creation of an Industrial Arts Commission, vested with widespread powers to investigate motion pictures and all other forms of amusements, is seeking $75,000 from Congress to finance operations of his commissions.

His proposed measure, Senate 1944, has been read twice and referred to the Committee on Interstate Commerce where it will probably rest in complete repose. The text follows:

Will probably rest in complete repose. The text follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That a commission is hereby created and established to be known as the Industrial Arts Commission, which shall be composed of five commissioners, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The commissioners first appointed under this Act shall continue in office for the term of three years from the 1st day of January, anno Domini, 1930, and their successors shall be appointed only for the unexpired time of three years, except that any person chosen to fill a vacancy shall be appointed only for the unexpired time of the commissioner whom he shall succeed. Any commissioner may be removed by the President for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office. Not more than three of the commissioners shall be appointed from the same political party. No vacancy in the commission shall impair the right of the remaining commission shall impair the right of the remaining commissioners to exercise all the powers of the commission. This Act shall apply to the arts that have hecome a part of the industrial life of the Nation, such as the production of motion pictures, talking pictures, and all forms of theatrical entertainment and amusement and their allied arts and industries. The purpose, scope, and plan of this commission is to promote the general good and welfare of the said arts and industries and to make such recommendations to Congress for action as from time to time shall be deemed most beneficial to and make for the protection of the general public and the said arts and industries. Sec. 2. That the commission hereby created shall have authority to inquire into the progress of the of the general public and the said arts and industries. Sec. 2. That the commission hereby created shall have authority to inquire into the progress of the different arts and business conducted in connection with the same, subject to the provisions of this Act, and shall keep itself informed as to the manner and method in which the same are conducted, and shall have the right to obtain from persons and corporations engaged therein full and complete information necessary to enable the commission to perform the duties and carry out the objects for which it was created. Sec. 3. The commission shall have nower to require

Sec. 3. The commission shall have power to require, by subpoena, the attendance and testimony of witnesses

As a matter of fact, it is not believed that Brookhart himself will push the measure very strenuously. He admittedly did not write it, but introduced it at the request of C. S. Barrett of Union City, Ga. He has another bill pending, prohibiting block and blind booking and compulsory arbitration, in which he is confessedly highly interested and which he has said he will seek to have enacted at the earliest opportunity.

Present indications are that the Senate, if not the House, will have little time during the regular session which begins December 2 for consideration of other than major matters. At the present rate, the first session of the 70th Congress will go down in history as the producer of the greatest number of investigations ever ordered in one session. Lobby, Shearer, Shipping Board, radio, communications generally, cottonseed and a number of other subjects are to be investigated; the tariff bill bids fair to run over into the regular session, and the annual appropriations for the Government departments and bureaus must be provided. These matters will keep the Senate very busy and there is not much likelihood that it will spend a great deal of time on matters of less than major im-

Secret Move Under Way To Revamp Protection Clauses

Possibilities of a reduction or a revision in the extended protection now extended to big theatre circuits with massed buying power by practically every distributor in the business are seen in a series of meetings which are being held in the offices of the Havs association.

Two conferences have been held so fa sales managers of all producing and distributing companies were present and at the second, the heads of large theatre chains A third, understood to be held shortly, will again bring together the chain executives in an effort to arrive at a solution of the problem, the serious nature of which is gaining more and more recognition.

From Washington, it is learned a number of complaints have been filed with Government officials. It is probably a knowledge of these that has spurred the industry into action. The situation is particularly interesting because the advocates of extended and widespread protection are the heads of chains which are either owned or affiliated with the large producing interests.

With the construction of 4,000 and 5,000 seat theatres and the concentration of buying power in the hands of large exhibition interests, distributors have been called upon to guarantee far-flung protection.

B. & K. Favored

The Balaban and Katz circuit, for instance, insists that the pictures played in its Chicago ''loop'' houses cannot be shown prior to its own playdates as in cities as far removed from Chicago as Springfield. Entire counties are embraced in agreement which distributors are asked for and usually sign. Theatres in Chicago charging a top of ten cents now wait fifty-two or fifty-three weeks after ''loop'' engagements before pictures are made available.

In California, Fox West Coast Theatres, with its extensive holdings, embrace the major regions of the state of California in its protection clauses. Instances of first run protection in a territory with a radius of twenty-five to sixty miles in all directions are common.

Copyright Battle On Music Impends

A strong hattle on copyright confronts the music end of the industry when Congress meets in regular session this winter, according to Sol M. Bloom, New York congressman who so informed the Music Publishers' Association gathered at a dinner this week to welcome John G. Paine to the association and at the same time to signalize the retirement of E. C. Mills from affairs of the organization.

Bloom informed the publishers that interests opposed to their own were going to make a fight on the law as it now stands and that the publishers and their associated interests would have to he prepared to battle to retain what they have achieved in the way of protection.

He also advocated that the United States join the Berne Convention and stated that he would move toward that end at the coming legislative session.

The dinner served the double purpose of speeding, the parting and welcoming the incoming executive head of the publishers' association. E. C. Mills, who has been active for ten years at the head of the combined publishers, is severing his connection to become identified with the RCA interests, while his successor John G. Paine, formerly in charge of copyright matters for Warner Bros. Other speakers were Nathan Burkan, Louis Bernstein, Gene Buck, and Donald S. Pratt. Executives of "Erpi" and RCA were present as guests.

Earlier in the week, Paine was the guest of honor at a dinner tendered by his former associates at Warner Bros. Morris Ebenstein, who has been in the legal department of Warner Bros. for the past five years will assume the duties formerly handled by Paine.

Kansas Determined To Probe Censorship Situation Fully

Kansas City, Mo.—With Kansas newspapers divided in their opinions regarding the action of Governor Clyde Reed in demanding an investigation of the censorship situation in Kansas, William Smith, attorney-general, has taken no steps in that direction. One reason for this is that Smith has received no official instructions to proceed, the attorney-general told MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Famous Canadian May Go To Zukor

Toronto.—Paramount, Fox and British Gaumont are active hidders for control of Famous Players Canadian, the Dominion's most formidable string of theatres. Thursday night, the issue was still clouded in doubt with a shade or two in favor of the Zukor organization.

Famous Players Canadian's internal situation almost daily grows more complicated. N. L. Nathanson, managing director and Sir Herbert Holt and the Honorable W. D. Ross have resigned from the directorate and stockholders, hundreds of them in all parts of Canada, are restlessly awaiting the outcome.

Nathanson quit when the board declined to accept his advice on the sale of control to British Gaumont at $75 a share. Ten days prior to this move, Famous Players was selling at 52 in Toronto and Montreal, but when the report of a pending sale at 75 spread, the stock advanced 20 points.

When a majority of the board declined the offer, the stock sagged back to 50. Meantime Holt, who is president of the Royal Bank of Canada and the wealthiest man in the Dominion resigned without explanation and a week later William Donald Ross, Governor of Ontario, also left the board without reason.

Zukor the Big Mogul

This leaves Adolph Zukor and Paramount as big mogul of the Canadian corporation yet he has not been inside one of its theatres or offices since last January.

The Gaumont offer has not been withdrawn and Fox has come into the tield with what is said to have been a better offer. Neither has been accepted and shareholders are beginning to ask why.

Zukor can snpply the answer. As a permanent outlet for Paramount pictures the Canadian chain is in a class by itself, but Zukor has seen no reason why he should pay $75 for a stock which is selling on the exchange for $50. At the same time, shareholders see no reason why they should accept a $50 price when $75 has already been offered and when the shares are earning over $7.

The question then develops into this. What will Zukor pay? Officers of the company here decline information even to their own shareholders.

They take the outward position that the company will remain as it is; that is, controlled by Zukor but operated by native Canadians for the benefit of Canadian shareholders.

Picture men, on the other hand, are confident that the Canadian corporation must tie up with a producing unit.

The controversy arose over a seene in a two-reel comedy which the governor witnessed in Parsons, Kans. The pieture was "Beneath the Law," a Clark and McCullough short. A hula-hula dance aronsed the governor's agitation and he put in a call to Emma Viets, chairman of the Kansas board of review in Kansas City, Kans., asking her if she had allowed the seene to pass. Miss Viets replied that the scene had not been included in the print she had reviewed. The governor then announced he would start an investigation to determine if deletions were made in the prints sent to the eensor board and if the deletions were re-inserted in the picture when released for general distribution.

However, a general investigation will be made, the attorney-general said, but no steps have been taken as yet. He believed that the distributors were not guilty of the deletion charges.

Under the Kansas law, if a picture is distributed before having been censored, the penalty is a fine of $25 to $100 for the first offense, and a fine of $500 for the second offense. The same penalty is applied to deleting scenes before sending the pictures to the censor board. However the fine is not assessed against the distributors, but against the exhibitor showing the picture in his theatres.

Hollywood.—An even dozen units are now producing talking pictures with the Western Electric system at Metropolitan Complete dialoguing of Howard Hughes'

"Hell's Angels" is in work on the latest sound stage, plans are being made for active production of Fine Arts Pictures, headed by Sam Rork, and Sono-Art is not only busy with Eddie Dowling's "Blaze O' Glory," but is planning to start a Ruth Roland picture.

Two new organizations are producing novelty pictures, one of them Gillian and Reid with the "Doodle Bug Series," and Major Hammond, who is synchronizing a series of travel pictures.

Passes Out

The lowly pass has gone highbrow.

It's a "reservation" now.

Members of the Warner-First National-Stanley Club have been instructed through their "Club News" to inquire for their reservations hereafter when applying to the dignitary in the box office. The reason, as given by the editor, is that "when persons purchasing tickets heard people ask for passes much confusion had taken place." That's hard to figure ont—but let it pass.

Dreiser Denies He Will Write Novel Based On Film Industry

Theodore-C. Dreiser has made an emphatic denial of the report that he is to write a novel of the film industry with Will H. Hays as one of the central characters in a semi-fictional recitation of the motion picture's inception and development.

The report, originally printed in MOTION PICTURE NEWS, came from a source regarded as reliable, but since it appeared Mr. Dreiser has requested that a denial be made, stating that he has no intention of writing a book of that nature.

Students of the industry have long contended that its development has been marked by a wealth of human interest material so extraordinary in nature that it would provide more than enough in background, color and amazing incident for a novel of "best seller" calibre.

Mr. Dreiser's repudiation of the report that he was contemplating such a work eliminates from the field of contemporary writers one of the best qualified of the very few who would be capable, by virtue of experience with other subjects of almost equal magnitude and possibilities, of undertaking the task.

Pessimism Heard In N. Y. Circles

On Broadway, theatre ticket brokerage houses reported business was off for more than ten days or since the first flurry occurred in the market. The demand for tickets on Monday and Tuesday nights of this week was almost nil. A pall hung over the Metropolitan Opera House on its opening Monday night as a result of the hectic day that the market had passed through.

the house is located.

Scheneetady was particularly hard hit. Its residents having been heavily loaded with General Electric stock and its associate, Electric Bond and Share, After months of advance, these stocks were held by thousands on heavy margins and the crash shook the city and caused an almost instantaneous hedging in every day expenses, including pictures.

Business took a slump at Albany theatres with one or two exceptions. Managers lame the stock market erash as the cause. In Troy, there were some theatres that reported from ten to eighteen per cent drop in attendance as patrons forgot entertainment and scrambled in an effort to secure additional funds to meet margin

Inquiry into small villages showed that there was no drop in attendance.

Florida Ditches Sabbath "Blues"

Tampa.-Practically every large city in Florida now operates pieture shows on Sunday. Many smaller towns are joining the movement with the result that the "blue Sabhaths" have turned completely pink, insofar as exhibitors are concerned.

Areadia, near here, is the latest to seek freedom from "blue noses." A petition A petition to qualified voters for the repealing of the Sunday show ordinance there brought a -harp protest from ministers and resulted in a mass meeting which passed resolutions opposing the plan.

Providence Police Reject Censor Plan

Providence, R. I.-A plan to establish an unofficial board of censorship has been rejected by the police board. While the move was directed toward the legitimate stage, had the request of a group of theatre patrons gone through, it is thought that decisions of the proposed board would have heen applied to talking pictures.

The situation was brought to a head by the local amusement inspector's refusal to allow "Strange Interlude" to play the city. The protesting group called at the commissioner's office to suggest that a board be formed to aid the inspector in his duties. The commissioner's answer was that the eity was alone responsible, and that all decisions would be determined by the amusement inspector's department.

Syracuse First Run Fight Seen; Salina Gets Empire

Syracuse, N. Y .- A lively fight for downtown patronage is forecast with the recent acquisition of the Empire by the Salina Theatre Corp. Dark since the collapse of a stock company the honse will be reopened as a de luxe first run with "Flight," under supervision of Walter McDowell, former managing director of the Strand.

According to Frank Sanding, the Empire will show pictures in conjunction with the Brighton and Syracuse, and will then be switched to second runs. Sandino has appointed William Brown assistant general manager of the eircuit.

Columnist Praises News-Reel Theatre

Newsreel fans may hope for brighter days thinks Idwal Jones, who has a columned by-line in the "New York American." Writing about the Embassy in New York going exclusively newsreel, Jones says:

"Just when you are getting interested in Snowden's or McDonald's face and talk, or watching Hoover going down the Ohio feeling very wet and uncomfortable, then falls the cutter's knife like an axe on your soul and you have to glare at some beauty parade, etc.

"The point need not be labored that the height of cinematic art hitherto has been reached only in the newsreel. . . . It has movement, therefore drama."

Broadway Theatre Goes Newsreel Policy Today

The long discussed plan of opening a short subject theatre on Broadway will materialize today when the Embassy will change its extended run feature policy to exclusive showing of sound newsreels, Fox-Movietone News and Hearst Metrotone News will be used. Every important news event in New York territory will be seen and heard, and programs will be changed from day to day as spot news develops. The house will be known as the Newsreel The-

Argument Over Baltimore Theatre Lease Brings Suit

Baltimore.-A suit has been filed in the Court of Common Pleas by the James L. Kernan Co., Inc., against Morris A. Mechanie, proprietor of the New Theatre, for $50,000 damages.

That Mechanic broke an agreement to lease the Auditorium for a period of time up to July, 1930, is claimed.

There is a misunderstanding about the matter, according to Mechanic. He had an option on the theatre which he did not care to take up, he says,

Southern Houses Not Affected By Crash

Due to the fact that all the houses in New Orleans are owned and operated by the big companies, the financial acrobatics of the shares of the holding companies are not registered here.

One manager stated that the crash was doing good for pieture houses because more people atended the shows to see the newsreel shots of the excitement in New York and Wall Street.

Houston.-Only a few individuals here have felt the market upheaval and business in the theatres is normal in view of the unusually dry summer. In the opinion of the local exhibitors the financial crash, which has not affected business to date, will not cause any falling off in receipts in the future,

One Way To Operate In Face Of Sunday Law

Kansas City-The feat of operating a theatre where "hlue laws" are in force has been accomplished by W. S. Wilkinson, owner of the Royal at Hoisington, Kans., a house which had been closed for several years on the Sab-

Wilkinson has two sons who are Seventh Day Adventists and according to their religious belief, Saturday, not Sunday, is a day of rest. Therefore, Wilkinson leases his house to his sons on Sunday and they operate within the law. Their assistant is A. B. Krause, another Adventist.

This plan has also been successfully used by Sam Blair who operates in Clyde, Kans., and other points in this state.

him an average of 57. This represented $5,586,000. He had 40 per cent of this posted as margin. That was $2,234,000. Tuesday morning when the stock hit 30 the 27 points that it was off from his average price totaled $3,546,000. This executive is said to have drawn his salary for the coming year in advance to cover himself.

One production executive in the East is said to have dropped more than $380,000 in the first flurry. Immediately afterward he remarked that from this time on he would again take the production of motion pictures seriously.

Stenos Caught in the Squeeze

In one office, the entire clerical staff was aboard its own company's stock. The office boys, typists, the bookkeepers, having from one to ten shares each, and the executives were loaded for all they could carry, and there was a general wailing when the stock started sliding. However, these shares recovered somewhat on Wednesday, and there was general rejoicing.

From the Coast the reports are to the effect that Jesse L. Lasky, Irving Thalberg, Harry Rand, Colleen Moore and John Me-Cormick, Joseph M. Schenck and Norma Talmadge were all hard hit. Among the Coast group who are now abroad, who were also reported sustaining losses, are B. P. Schulberg, Darryl Zanuck, Winnie Sheehan, Allan Dwan and others.

During the near panic, efforts were made to reach Adolph Zukor on the Continent by telephone to obtain his advice and instructions regarding Paramount stock, but failure to reach him until some time after the collapse had become general, made it impossible for those on the ground to "proteet" the stock of the corporation.

Loew Holds Cleveland Lease

Cleveland .- Last minute complications have arisen by which Mark Greenbaum and his son Jack will not lease the Albambra at Euclid avenue and East 105 street, as previously announced. The Loew lease will be continued but it is not stated whether the house will be opened or not.

Michigan Dodges Millions In Taxes

Detroit.-The M. P. T. O. of Michigan has saved exhibitors of the state $6,000,-000 this year through legislative efforts that warded off measures calling for various levies in the guise of direct taxation, eensorship, arbitration and an impost on theatre advertising, delegates were told at. the two-day annual convention which closed here on Wednesday.

It was declared that, had these laws been exacted 100 houses would have been forced out of business. Charles R. Porter, as president, made these statements public to the tune of a rousing cheer from those assembled.

Johnson, New President

Allen Johnson of Grand Rapids now succeeds Porter, having been elected president by unanimous vote. Abraham Eisman of Flint is vice-president; H. T. Hall of Detroit, secretary and John E. Nibes, also of Detroit, treasurer. The latter retains his post from last year, but the others are new incumbents.

The final business meeting was addressed by Harry L. Reichenbach who discussed the value of properly exploiting pictures and highlighted by an attack launched on Will Hays and Charles C. Pettijohn by W. A. Steffes.

Alternate expressions of optimism and pessimism on the business outlook were heard at the sessions. Approximately 200 exhibitors and their wives from all parts of the state, together with a number of important exhibitor leaders from other sections of the country, were on hand when the convention opened.

The opening addresses from the floor sounded the necessity for meeting new developments in the trade with the application of sound business sense. Charles R. Porter, as retiring president, called upon the small town theatre owner who has not yet provided his house with sound equipment, to do so rather than permit his competitor a few miles of good road away to draw his clientele away.

Exhibitor Leaders Present

Fred Herrington, manager of the M. P. T. O. of Western Pennsylvania; William James, president and P. J. Wood, manager of the M.P.T.O. of Ohio; Oscar Hansen, sales manager of Tiffany and R. L. Lindahl, acoustical engineer of the Celotex Company, were among the visitong speakers heard at the first session. The address of welcome on behalf of the city was delivered by Harvey Campbell, secretary of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

The report of the treasurer, John E. Niebes, indicated the association was in a flourishing condition, with total quick assets of $56,000 on hand. Expenses for the past year were higher than ordinarily, it was pointed out, but income more than kept pace with the departing funds.

The 1930 convention will be held in Grand Rapids.

"Trespasser" Opens In N. Y.

Gloria Swanson's first all-talking picture, "The Trespasser." held its New York premiere at the Kialto Friday.

'Marianne And Holmes' Near Tie; Rogers Leads For Second Week

Marion Davies, in her first singing and talking feature, "Marianne" at the Capitol and "The Return of Sherlock Holmes" at the Paramount almost ran a tie in the matter of Broadway receipts last week. The former got $73,175 and the latter $72,300. Will Rogers, however, in his second week at the Roxy in "They Had to See Paris" topped the street by drawing $109,273 on the week.

Harold Lloyd, who made his bow a week ago in "Welcome Danger," jammed them at the Rivoli and finished with $53,700, while at the Rialto, Moran and Mack in "Why Bring That Up?" got $26,700 for their third week at the house. They finished on Thursday night, making way for Gloria Swanson in "The Trespasser."

The Strand could stand but one week of Al Jolson in "Say It With Songs." Jolson for only a week at popular prices and then only drawing around $29,000 is just too bad. At the Colony "Sailor's Holiday" drew $13,322 on the week there and the Cameo, which held "Rasputin," played to $6,794.

Embassy for Shorts

The new policy of an "all newsreel" bill was inaugurated at the Embassy Friday night. The official opening for the public will come today. The house has been dark for a week since the withdrawal of "Hallelujah." An hour's show at a two bit admission and running about fourteen shows a day, should get a great drop-in play for the little theatre.

With the closing of the Embassy, there are nine houses on Broadway playing extended runs. The outstanding hit in them is "Disrach" at the Warner's, where the Arliss film in its fourth week drew $23,954.50, which topped all of the run receipts. Next in money is "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," at the Winter Garden, where $23,760 was the take.

"Rio Rita" at the Earl Carroll is holding up nicely and do a great night business. Last week, its third, resulted in $18,764. "The Hollywood Revue" at the Astor has been dropping off and now in its tenth week the picture drew $17,978, which is still on the profit side, however.

Two Run Films Drop

"Sunny Side Up" at the Gaiety is not getting the play that was expected, its fourth week being down to $10,972, while "Applause" at the Criterion is not holding to the pace that it set for itself during its first two weeks, dropping to $9,900 last week. "Young Nowheres" at the Central is finishing its final week to make room for the Irene Bordoni film, "Paris," which has made a corking hook-up with the Hearst papers for the Christmas Fund. Last week for Barthelmess $9,594.50.

Both "Flight" and "The Great Gabbo" passed along last week. The former did $9,879 in its final week, being replaced by "Broadway Scandals" at the Cohan, while "Jazz Heaven" came into the Globe. That house did $9,437 for the final "Gabbo" week.

7 Coast Theatres Go Over The Mark

Los Angeles.—Enjoying perfect weather all theatres along the rialto, with the exception of three, prospered last week. And this in the face of the large decline in attendance on Saturday because of the intense interest of the public in the football clash between Stanford and University of So. California at Palo Alto, many thousands of local fans making the trip north and listening over the radio.

The Chinese, playing "The Cock-Eyed World" for its fifth week, headed the list with a $30,100 gross (188%). Next was the Fox Palace, showing "Hallelujah," the intake being $14,600 (162%). The five others over the normal business mark were: the Warners Downtown, with the fifth week of "Gold Diggers of Broadway," $21,800 (145%); Warners Hollywood with "The Sap," $20,100 (144%); the United Artists with "Evangeline," $18,500 (137%); the Carthay Circle with the sixth week of "They Had To See Paris," $16,300 (130%); the RKO with "The Forward Pass," $17,500 (109%).

Those below quota were the State with "Frozen Justice," $24,500 (94%); the Criterion with "Married in Hollywood," $9,100 (91%); and the Paramount with "Return of Sherlock Holmes," $21,000 (84%).

C. T. Lynch, president of the St. Louis Film Board of Trade, told Motion Picture News that so far the market collapse had had no effect on local film sales and he anticipated none. Skouras "A" stock reached a record low on the St. Louis exchange Oct. 29, when ten shares sold for $10 a share, a drop of $15 a share for the day. Twenty-five dollars was asked at the close. St. Louis Anusement "A" was inactive at $10 bid. This year's high marks for these stocks were Skouras "A" $51.25 and St. Louis Amusement "A" $20.12½.

Kansas City.—Stock Market conditions have not seriously affected theatre business in the Kansas City territory, according to several exchange managers and exhibitors. It is believed that the effect may be noticeable in the near future, however. Changing weather, football, Hallowe'en parties have taken business away from the theatres to a slight degree, but theatre men do not attribute the slump to the Stock Market draw.

Static For "Station S-E-X"

"I am sick of all this quest for sex

That's what Elinor Glyn, author of "Three Weeks," "One Hour," and other famous sex opnses, told Robert Welles Ritchie, staff correspondent for Universal Service, according to a special article signed by him in the "New York American."

About all that now remains as worthy of publicity is for President Hoover to renounce the Republican party.

Fairport Case May End Sunday Shows

Fairport, N. Y.—A possible solution of the Sunday show question is seen in the result of a special poll of Fairport voters conducted and financed by the Schine theatre interests whereby citizens with a vote of 680 to 420 expressed themselves in favor of an open Sunday for motion pictures. The owners see at least a 60 per eent increase in gross for the Temple and Clinton C. Young, local manager, states that the house will be immediately wired for talking films.

Basing their move on a recent victory won in Penn Yan, N. Y., where two local exhibitors seeured legalized Sunday pietures by financing a special election, and with the theory that political factions in towns are often embarrassed when the Sunday law is tested out, the Schines offered to pay the entire cost of the poll. The ballot was in the form of a mandate to the village board which is now expected to frame an ordinance legalizing Sunday performances. The cost did not exceed $300.

the country were actually affected by the crash and that, therefore, theatre attendance will not be materially hurt. The rank and file of the theatre-going public here were not in the market. A few operators believe that an unfavorable blacklash will assert itself within a few weeks due to a general business depression that may follow in the wake of the market. Others say that the exhibitors will benefit because heavy and small losers will seek distraction and forgetfulness at the theatres.

Pittsburgh.—Theatre business here continues on a normal plane. Managers are of the opinion that the stock crash will loosen money and increase attendance for the houses.

Baltimore.—The Loew Theatres here have not felt any reaction from the stock market depression. The general public of Baltimore, according to Charles Raymond, general manager for Loew here, is too conservative to have been affected to any great degree.

Every business will reflect the effect of the stock erash to a certain extent is the opinion of J. Lawrence Schanberger.

Westerns Coming Back Strong

Hollywood.—Exhibitors have been troubled a good deal by the problem of sound pictures and children. There are a good many reports that children are not so keen about them; and the usual warnings have been sounded about the necessity now and for the future of pleasing the youth of the land.

The answer, of course, is to make sound pictures that will please the young. A lot of excellent sound comedies are doing that already. And it is also apparent that Hollywood already has the important idea clearly to mind in connection with its forthcoming longer pictures.

If I were a boy, for instance, I would not want to miss "The Virginian." The hanging and killing scenes are pretty stiff fodder: but while they raise the hair they drive home underneath the virile lesson of Owen Wister's excellent and sound story. And the flappers are not going to yawn over "Sweetie," that's certain.

I am mentioning in this connection the first two pictures I have seen in Holly-

Reverting to "The Virginian," it seems to me in the very beginning of sound pictures that westerns would lend themselves most readily to sound treatment. This, because in the western type of picture there are possibilities for sound effects that in dramatic appeal should put dialogue and songs in a minor key. We had them "In Old Arizona" and no more. Instead there came courtroom dramas, backstage plays and musical revues—one after another.

Now that "The Virginian" is here—and, to my mind, it is here with a wallop, there will be many westerns.

There is excellent dialogue in "The Virginian." The speech by the rugged ranch woman is the most moving I have heard thus far in sound pictures. By the way, I did not know, as I saw the picture screened, who took the part. But I knew well enough that here was an actress of no ordinary ability.

"Who is she?" I asked. And the answer was: "Helen Ware." Of course, Helen Ware, an old Broadway favorite! That's the kind of talent the talkers are bringing in for character parts.

Imagine the street of a western town, alive with life and then suddenly silent as death itself as the word flies around of the approaching duel. Infinite stillness; just the swift picture sequences as only the silent picture can tell a story. Stillness; and then suddenly the slam of a door and down the board sidewalk the crunch, crunch, crunch—steady, slow, sure—of a man with death in his gun. The sound of the heels stop with the soft flap of a saloon door across the street. Stealthy footsteps over there, with a soft jingling of spurs. Stillness again—a split second. And then, the spit, spit of the bullets. Can you beat that kind of sound? Let's have more westerns.

WILLIAM A. JOHNSTON

Prospects Gloomy As English Production Strikes Low Ebb

London.—Production in England is at a low ebb, with lack of financial resources the main difficulty facing British companies equipped to make talkies.

At present there is little production and that little is being done on a cheap scale, chiefly because no British concern can afford too expensive producers, since it is becoming apparent to them that no encouragement is to be expected from the American market.

"Blackmail," it seems, provided the last straw. It had been hoped that this picture, which is regarded there at least as the equal of many of the big American talkers, would get an American release. However, distribution facilities through the bigger companies are closed to it, and the picture must struggle along in the United States as best it can on the independent distribution basis.

As a result of this experience, especially bitter to the British film interests, the feeling here is that if they are to get anywhere in the American market it will be up to them to distribute the product themselves.

Blumenstock Promoted

Mort Blumenstock, former scenarist and title writer for Paramount, has been made a director at the Long Island studio. His first assignment is "Where Boobs Come From," initial Schwab and Mandel two-reel talker.

You Can't Book This!

Hollywood.—Eddie Quillan, Pathe's Scotch comic, called his dad on the telephone recently.

"Hell, dad," said Eddie. "Go out and get a half dozen copies of the Journal. There's something in it about me."

"All right," replied dad.

"No," interrupted Eddie. "Wait until five o'clock and we'll get the baseball scores."

'Frisco Still Clinging to Stage Presentation Policy

San Francisco.—That elaborate stage shows are not yet dead is seen in announcement by A. M. Bowles that the recently acquired Fox-West Coast El Capitan would operate under a presentation policy supplemented by a master of ceremonies and a jazz band.

Lasky Predicts Western Revival

A vogue for westerns in sound, first forecast by Motion Picture News some weeks ago, is on the way, according to Jesse L. Lasky, who says this type of picture simply passed out of sight temporarily through the lack of equipment to film them in dialogue and sound.

Paramount, as noted, is to make a series with Gary Cooper. Universal has Hoot Gibson and Ken Meynard in its schedule. Various independent units in Hollywood are making plans for sound westerns as well.

Plans Next "Hollywood Revue" On Roadshow Scale (Hollywood Bureou, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—The "Hollywood Revue" for 1930 is being planned to surpass all productions of its type and measure up to roadshow caliber, according to plans of M-G-M. The picture, now being prepared, is understood to be budgeted at $1,000,000. Harry Rapf is in charge, with Chuck Reisner scheduled to direct. Old-time musical comedy headliners and past boxing champions are to be included among the novelties.

Fox Manager Develops New Preview Advertising Idea (Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—Speed Borst, manager of the Fox-Belmont, has developed a new advertising idea for feature previews. He secured permission from the Government to install a red Neon-lighted airplane beacon atop his theatre roof, and when a preview is on he turns on the beacon at 6 P. M. If not, the light goes on again at 10 P. M., and burns all night to guide planes on their northern trips.

Syracuse Midnight Show Policy Lands With Bang

Syraeuse, N. Y.—Midnight performances are making a hit in Syraeuse, continuing to grow in popularity each week. This inaugurated the second week of "Gold Diggers of Broadway," with a midnight show at the Strand. "They Had to See Paris" has made its bow at the Fox-Eckel at midnight and the "Hollywood Revue," at the Syraeuse and Brighton, preparatory to a full week's run at both houses.

Columbia, New York, Goes To RKO In Nine Months

RKO will begin operation of the Columbia, New York, as a first run in about nine months. The house will be renovated from cellar to roof and will serve as a permanent home for Radio Pictures in New York. The policy will be a grind, but pictures will be held two weeks or more as business warrants.

"Revue" In Boston 6 Weeks

Boston.—The only roadshow in Boston during the period, "Hollywood Revue" played six weeks at the Tremont.

Cleveland Wars Against Vandals

Cleveland .-- A reward of $500 is posted by the American Plan Association, in a half page ad in local newspapers, for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of vandalism consisting of twenty attacks on local theatres within eighteen days, causing damages estimated in excess of $10,000. An additional $500 is offered for the capture of anyone caught in the act of placing a stench bomb in any Cleveland house theatre or in the act of throwing a stench bomb into the lobby of or against the entrance.

Since the first of October, twelve prominent suburban theatres have been victims of such vandalism as stench bombs and fires, believed to be of incendiary origin.

This campaign is credited in some circles to be the outcome of a local labor dispute between theatre owners and stage hands, in which the former were granted an injunction which restrained operators from going on strike in sympathy with stage hands, whose contract with the theatre owners was not renewed. This injunction prevails during the period of the operators' contract with theatre owners, and expires with the expiration of that contract on Sept. 1, 1930.

"U" Gets New First Run in Downtown Los Angeles

Los Angeles,-Universal will have first run representation in downtown Los Angeles at Lazarus' Million Dollar. "Broadway" is the first to play following a two-a-day run at the Biltmore. First runs on Universal were previously handled by the Pantages prior to sale of this house to Warners. Lazarus has been running on a second run downtown for over a year but feels he can build business with a first run policy. The Million Dollar was leased by Publix to Lazarus about 18 months ago.

Switches To Midnight Show

Cleveland.-The Stillman went to a mid might show at regular prices to introduce "The Taming of the Shrew" here.

Los Angeles.—Big time vaudeville will pass out in both Los Angeles and San Francisco and the Orpheum in both cities switched to big feature pictures on a run policy.

The new Orpheum, Los Angeles, has staged somewhat of a comeback from the box-office angle in recent months, but is obtaining most of its headline acts from

Gilbert Moons Five Hours And Starts Divorce Rumor

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.--"It's all wet," declared John Gilbert. The star was not referring to the Atlantic or to the bar of the Mauretania, but to the report that he and Ina Claire had separated while vacationing on the Riviera.

"All a gross distortion," explained Gilbert. "What actually occurred is this: We were at a more than lively party when, exhausted and fatigued, I slipped silently out into the moonlight for a brisk spin along the ocean road. The moon and nature threw a magic cloak about me, benumbing my senses. I became completely unconscious of my surroundings, suddenly my mood changed. I missed Ina. The spell was broken. I realized I had heen gone five hours and raced back to the party. It had broken up hours before. That's . .

Judge Lindsey Would Use Talking Film For Courts

Detroit.-While attending the Edison jubilee Judge Ben B. Lindsey stated that he believed the use of talkies in court procedure will eventually revolutionize all jurisprudence. "Of course, I do not helieve all court procedure will be taken on sound film immediately." he said, "but the addition to the statute of wills, I propose at least will be the first step in the right direction."

Hot Stuff From Rudy

Rudy Vallee, palpitator of feminine hearts, returning to New York from Hollywood, proceeded to get in Dutch with the fair ones out West. Said Rudy:

"New York has more beautiful women to every block than one could see in a month on the boutevards of llollywood."

Rudy gushed further:
"I might have fallen in love with Sally Blaine, but I wouldn't let myself. She was in love with someone else when she came to play opposite me in the picture I have just finished. I am at heart-perhaps-the vagabond lover I played in my film."

Selling F. And M. Acts Via The House Manager

Los Angeles.—A publicity and exploitation service direct to the house manager is the keynote policy of a new department organized here by Fanchon and Marco, headed by Eddy Eckles and supervised by Frank Whitbeck of Fox West Coast Theatres which controls the F, and M, stage units units.

Information will be sent to the house managers of the Fox West Coast circuit which will enable them to herald the approach of an act and fully capitalize on advance advertis-ing. The move will be extended to ing. The move will be extended to all houses operating in conjunction with F&M.

The direct appeal to the house manager has long been a special service maintained by Motion Picture News through its Managers' Round Table Department which stands alone in the field as a Merchandising clearing house for the theatre operator. ing house for the theatre operator.

Move Awaited In Fox Educ'l Plan

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington. — Educational throughout the country have received with a great deal of interest the report that William Fox contemplates the expenditure of vast sums of money to instal visual education in the schools. So far as ean be learned, however, these agencies have not yet been informed as to just how the plan is to be worked, and officials are reluctant to comment until such information has become available.

Officials of the Bureau of Education, a branch of the Dep't of the Interior, are highly interested in the project and believe that it offers possibilities. The use of pictures for educational purposes, it is pointed out, has been considered important for several years. In Washington, for instance, children are taken frequently to theatres where special pictures are exhibited, and the plan has been found to have considerable value.

The use of films, it was asserted, would he in direct line with the efforts which have been made during the past few years to frame school studies in such a way as to induce the children to learn because they are interested rather than because they must. To this end, in the lower grades, particularly, every effort is being made to . "humanize" study.

Officials of the National Education Association are interested in the project, it was declared by J. W. Crabtree, secretary, but have not yet had an opportunity to study it. It was pointed out, however, that while the association might favor the plan it could not enter actively into its development if there was any commercial aspect, since the work of the body is largely confined to the formation of policies.

Nifty Remodeling Job

Syracuse, N. Y .- Warners are continuing to remodel the Strand without interruption to business. Every night, Raymond Skidmore, Warner construction superintendent, goes ahead with work after the show and each morning seaffolding is taken down before the performance starts. Estimated cost of the job is $115,000. The present marquee and electric signs will also be replaced.

Birmingham Show Trade A Puzzle To Exhibitors

Birmingham .- With all its vast industrial plants and their big payrolls indicative of excellent business, this city has proven an enigma to theatremen and a source of grief to nearly all of them. The week was marked by the closing of two small uptown houses, the Odeon and Marion on account of poor business. In the downtown district the Ritz, after running several weeks on an exclusive picture policy, is now trying RKO vaudeville as a hox-office stimulant.

See Train Talkers As Regular Feature

Regular performances of talkers on limited trains throughout the country loom as a result of an initial experiment held this week by Paramount, Electrical Research Products, Inc., and the Union Pacific, when a sound newsreel and feature were exhibited on a Chicago-Los Angeles train.

Paramount is considering the extension of the innovation into a regular service.
"Erpi," which supplied portable Western Electric apparatus for the experiment, states: "The results were very encouraging, and while we are not at liberty at present to reveal the process incorporated, we hope to be able to make it public in the near future.'

Ontario Censors Banning Pictures a la Wholesale

Toronto.-The Ontario censor board is getting increasingly stringent. After exhibitors were all set for "The Cock-Eyed World," it was recalled because it had been approved during the absence of Chairman J. C. Boylon. One after another, features have been condemned, including "The Godless Girl," "Dynamite" and "The Thunderbolt," the latter because the effectiveness of the law has been belittled. "The Cock-Eyed World" has been passed in the Province of Quebec.

Publix Gets Long Lease On East St. Louis House

St. Louis.-The Publix Enterprise Corp., an operating branch of Paramount, has closed a 20-year lease on Harry Redmond's Majestie in East St. Louis. It is understood the yearly rental is $70,000. The Majestic is the largest picture theatre in East St.

Fox Opening In San Diego San Diego, Calif.—The new Fox Theatre will open Nov. 10. Fauchon and Marco have booked in "Jazz Temple" as the first stage unit.

In Hollywoodland

Hollywood.-Big press agent in from the East. His first visit. But he learned the Hollywood system rapidly. Knew he had to make the studio think he was hot. What to do? So he framed a yarn to make the front page. A lot of business about a dance school for chorines. Specially for pictures, and so on. It worked.

The second chapter. Late that night at the Brown Derby. This effete Easterner grabs said newspaper, lamps the story, turns the sheet over to the boss -he's one of Hollywood's head men. Latter turns at once to the regulation picture column inside and passes up page one. P. A. says: "Take a look at the headlines. Stocks went blooey again."

Big executive does. Finally spots the yarn. It seeps through. Then:

"Can you imagine that? They put a swell yarn in the wrong place. If that isn't dumb!"

Studio Politics Teaches Newcomer a Lesson

A course in stadio politics has just been completed by a well known song and dance lead doing his first picture in Hollywood. His director is distinctly of the younger generation—having generated through adroit political socializing from the status of gag man to a once famous star. The Broadway importation has several excellent comedy routines which he has used with greatest success in musical plays.

Watching his young-looking director re-success in musical plays.

Watching his young-looking director rehearse a scene, an idea occured to him for getting a higger laugh out of the action and dialogue. In normal tones he suggested it to the megaphone holder.

"None, we'll stick to the script," he was told, coldly.

Two or three more efforts to be helpful.

"None, we'll stick to the script, he was cold, coldly.

Two or three more efforts to he helpful met with the same result. Finally, a veteran of two pictures by the same director whispered in the Broadwayite's ear.

A little later, after a scene rehearsal, the song and dance man waited until the director stepped off the set. Approaching him, he took his arm and whispered a suggestion so softly that even the director had trouble hearing it. Without a look to indicate that it had registered the director walked back to the set, and in a load voice said:

"Let's try it again, folks. I've just figured out a piece of business that will clock a much higger punch."

And he gave them the routine whispered into his ear a moment before by the political novice from Broadway.

Publix Opposition To Fox In No. Cal.

San Francisco.-Publix is on the eve of a large expansion program in Northern California to offset recent theatre aequisitions by Fox in this territory. Theatres will be both built and acquired, so Herman Wobber, Paramount's general representative in this district, is reported declaring.
Architects' drawings have already been made for a San Francisco theatre-hotel project which will probably be thirty stories high and occupy the present site of the St. Francis theatre as direct opposition to the newly built Fox. Another house is also planned for Oakland and it is more than probable that others will be built at points where Fox has recently become strongly intrenched.

Toronto.-The Canadian Government Motion Picture Studio at Ottawa, now has 2,779 prints of official releases in eirculation in many countries, according to the report of the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce, a 75 per cent increase over the previous year.

Goldberg Drive Extended

Instead of closing the Joe Goldberg sales drive on November 2, as originally planned, Columbia continues it until November 27. At the present time Ben Rosenberg's Eastern division is still in the lead, with a rating of 71.46 per cent. Rube Jackter in the Middle West is second, and Hal Hodes in the Southwest is third.

Exhibitor Fails Wife in Sad Marital Crises

Exhibitor resourcefnlness took a Wall Street drop in the opinion of a leading Southern woman when W. C. Patterson, in charge of Publix operations in Atlanta and Birmingham, treated himself to a pair of orchestra seats at the recent Yale-Georgia football game.

Patterson asked his wife, better known to filmdom as publisher of the "Weekly Film Review," to accompany him. Scarcely Film Review," to accompany him. Scarcely were they seated in the immense throng when she craved a drink of water. Pat was deaf to several comments about thirst, his eyes glued to the players. Finally he listened, and with something far from a smilling expression started through the crowd for a refreshment

Minutes later, battered, batless, collar torn, Minutes later, nattered, natiess, coular torn, tie gone, his coat without huttons after struggling through close-packed, objecting humanity, he turned back, clutching a bottle of ice-cold pop. Half-way down the stadium he heard a tremendous roar of voices and someone yelled that Georgia had scored.

Still more minutes later he reached Mrs. Patterson's side, breathless from stumbling, pushing, shoving and theing pushed and showed in return. Dry-lipped and craving liquid relief, she looked up expectantly. Pat's hands were empty. In his excitement over the touchdown he had hurled the bottle outo the field.

Rotsky Wins Canadian Famous Players Contest

Montreal.-With 78 theatres of the Famous Players Canadian string participating George Rotsky, manager of the Palace, heads the list in the annual drive which wound up this week. Second is the standing of Class "A" was Thomas Daley, of the Tivoli, Toronto, which was Canada's second talking theatre.

Winners in other classes were as follows: Class "B," Leon Osier, manager of the Regent, Oshawa, Ont.; Manager McMordie, Capitol, Prince Rupert, B. C.; Class "C," H. G. Copley, of the Broadway, Vancouver, B. C.; Arthur Young, Fraser, also Vanconver.

Theatre, is the newest palatile playholds in the cut operated by Lock's Theatres, Inc. Its location in the very center of Journal Square, the busiest section of the fast-growing town across the Hudson from Manhattan, brings it into direct competition with the big Stanley Theatre. The seating capacity of the newer house is 3,300. C. W. and Geo. L. Rapp were the architects. Above is a sketch showing the imposing facade.

WITHIN the period of a month, Loew's Theatres, Inc., added to the imposing array of luxurious theatres that circuit operates three elaborate picture playhouses, all of the Broadway type, but all located in sections of the well outside the district known as Broadway. These are the Kings, in Brooklyn, the Paradise, in the Bronx, and the Jersey City. All three are outstanding examples of modern theatre architecture and construction.

The Jersey City, occupying a site in the very center of Journal Square, the heart of the town across the river from Manhattan, has a most imposing exterior, and a very luxurious interior. Like the Kings, in Brooklyn, the Jersey City was designed by C. W. and Geo, L. Rapp. Architects.

The interior is of formal design, executed in the Italian baroque style. The auditorium construction is orchestra and one balcony, the forward portion of the balcony being set off as a loge section. Total seating capacity of the auditorium is 3.300 persons.

A wide entrance and a spacious outer lobby conform to the plan which has proved so successful in the prevention of a congested condition, often responsible for driving much potential patronage from the theatre when specially appealing attractions draw great crowds. The outer entrance doors are of bruze, handsomely wrought. These open on a rotunda lobby, three stories high, and with an observation gallery on the mezzanine floor completely girdling the oval circumference.

The domed ceiling is elaborately decorated, with detail picked out with colors in gray, gold, pale blue and rose,

THE NEW PARAMOUNT THEATRE IN SPRINGFIELD

Palatial Picture Playhouse is Largest in Western Massachusetts

PUBLIX has invaded Springfield, Mass., with a new theatre of a capacity and style which hitherto was known to local picture patrons only as the kind of playhouse that flourished in other cities than their own. It is a luxurious and pretentious theatre scaled to the palatial proportions which characterize the modern cinema.

The Paramount Springfield has a seating capacity of 3,200 and ranks as largest in western Massachusetts. The construction cost a n d appointments are estimated to have cost a million and a quarter dollars.

Entrance to the theatre is through a spacious lobby done in rouge jaspered leavonto marble. The auditorium is entirely screened from the foyer by a wall three feet thick, thus eliminating the possibility of the audience being disturbed by incoming patrons. The general architectural plan of the construction follows the Spanish design, with modernistic touches supplied by the Swift studios of South Bend, Ind.

The lighting system is complete and effective in every particular. The dome and walls of the auditorium are flooded with varying tones of color through the operation of a machine that can change the entire aspect of the interior of the house, as one tone blend follows another. Seats in the balcony are fully as advantageous and desirable as those on the floor. Not a post obstructs the view. The front of the balcon y projects far over the main floor.

An automatic seat register, visible to ushers and patrons and situated in ear the doorman's post facilitates seating problems. The children's room has complete nursery equipment. Desides a commodious playroom there are smaller rooms.

SALVAGING AN EIGHTEEN YEAR OLD THEATRE

Deterioration and Obsolescence in Style and Equipment of the Old Peoples Theatre, Portland, Ore., Built in 1911, Are Wiped Out by Remodelling

A VERITABLE re-incarnation was accomplished by the theatrical architects Bennes & Herzog, when they converted the old Peoples Theatre, one of the chain of J. J. Parker's theatres, in Portland, Ore., into the New Alder, a modern in every respect.

The building was erected in 1011—in the infancy of the motion picture theatre business—by the Peoples Amusement Company, and was one of the finest motion picture houses on the Coast in its day.

Reopened now, it reassumes its position well up in front of the procession.

Drastic changes were made by the architects. No longer present are the five columns which obstructed the view in the old house. The entrance was removed from the center to the corner of Park and Alder Streets and here was erected a most attractive and well-lighted marquee, and in addition Neon tubing is used extensively in outlining the building. A huge sign stretches diagonally across the street, at once marking a new and growing business district.

High ceilings are seen in the foyer, which is in Italian style, reminiscent of an old-world cathedral. The wall hangings are hand-painted tapestry and topped with regal crowns. The auditorium of the theatre is simplicity personified. The arrangement of aisles and seats, has given patrons just the comfort and attractiveness they desire. Above all, in all parts of the house the acoustics are exceptionally good, the house having installed sound equipment.

In addition to the theatre proper over the entrance and on the second floor adjacent to the balcony is found a spacious lounge room, which carries a distinctive atmosphere of comfort. The furniture is of the George Washington period, several groups of the old quaint barrel chairs being conveniently placed and upholstered elaborate yellows and old reds and equipped with skirts—long ones. Hooked rugs carry out the colonial idea, oblong and egg shaped; and table lamps in mica and parchment, further enhance the setting. Mayfair vanity dressing tables provide a further enchanting colonial spirit, set off by two large size mirrors, a favorite spot for the ladies.

The house seats 950 persons, and yet with a capacity house will never appear over-crowded on account of its adequate housing accommodations. J. J. Parker, in reconstructing the theatre, has expended $150,000 and incorporated from basement to projection room the very lastest furnishing and equipment.

Along the Alder street side are rooms for several stores, which will make further financial returns from the investment,

Charles E. Couche is manager of the Consolidated Theatres of Portland, of which the New Alder is the third house, and he has appointed George J. McMurphy as house manager,

The company operating the Alder, Portland Consolidated Theatres, Inc., now is affiliated with the Fox West Coast chain, though operation of the house remains in charge of the local organization. The rennovation work has made the old Peoples one of the city's finest examples of the moderate capacity de luxe theatres.

Its location, in the center of Portland's shopping district, makes it a popular resort of the matinee crowds, and special appeal to the feminine patronage is a distinguishing characteristic of the decorative scheme which has been carried out in this house on which a major operation for rejuvenation was performed so successfully.

Manufactured Weather in Winter

Leading Exhibitors Now Sell Their Patrons Air Conditioning in Winter
As Well As in Summer

THE passes Summer and THE passing of approach of the Winter season, with its promise of competition keener than ever before, brings to the showman of sound business judgment a new realization that patronage depends largely upon conditions of healthful comfort within the theatre.

Showmen, therefore, would do well to look to their air conditioning equipment as a very definite and important medium for increasing patronage and box office receipts.

Manufactured Weather a Boon to Patronage

The theatre-going public is recognizing and patronizing those theatres which make adequate provision for their health and comfort, and is avoiding, whenever possible, the un-conditioned theatre. Patronage once lost is extremely difficult, perhaps impossible, to regain.

Create a Consciousness of Comfort

Owners of Carrier Conditioned Theatres have complete and properly installed air conditioning systems, capable of maintaining ideally comfortable and healthful conditions throughout the house every day in the year, regardless of outside weather conditions. It is up to those owners, therefore, if they would make the most of their opportunities, not only to provide for their patrons the most healthfully comfortable conditions possible, but to see that their Carrier Systems are exploited to the fullest extent.

Check Your System Now

To owners of Carrier Conditioned Theatres we recommend an examination of the Autumn and Winter conditions maintained in your theatres. Are you operating properly the equipment in which you have invested? What is the temperature? What is the humidity? And, above all, are your patrons comfortable?

Tell Your Patrons

Out front ballyhoo as an advertising medium, if properly handled, is not a passing whim. It already has proved its worth in many of the Carrier Conditioned Theatres throughout the country. Signs, but not of the sideshow variety, displayed out front, in lobby or foyer, may be used to announce to your patrons that you have provided Manufactured Weather for their health and comfort. The beautifully executed bronze tablet shown in the accompanying illustration will serve as a permanent announcement to your patrons and will be presented, upon request, to the owner of any Carrier Conditioned Theatre.

Trailers may be run occasionally, calling attention to the scientifically conditioned air within the theatre. Dignified announcements on the back of your program also may be used to good advantage. If your claims are true the audience will be led into a consciousness of comfort and will remember it.

Comfort Is Important in Winter As in Summer

The air conditioning problem in Winter, when the theatre is well filled, is still one of providing comfort rather than of merely heating. This is evidenced by the fact that in most un-conditioned houses during the Winter it is invariably too hot, too stuffy. This nearly always means an ill-smelling, enervating, dangerously contaminated atmosphere. The correctly air conditioned house, however, can provide for its patrons the ideal combination of temperature, humidity and air movement which is conducive to the maximum state of comfort for the average person. See that your engineer is instructed not to overheat the housethen watch the saving in fuel.

Through long research it has been found that a temperature of approximately 72 degrees F. with a relative humidity of from 35 to 40 per cent. is most practicable and comfortable. The air should be clean and washed or filtered to protect the health of patrons and to preserve the beauty of the decorations and draperies. The proper quantity of conditioned air should be carried to and distributed uniformly throughout every part of the building, without drafts.

Correct air conditioning, producing these results, can be obtained only from a correct installation of equipment which has been designed and installed to meet the individual needs of each theatre, and which is properly operated by your engineer.

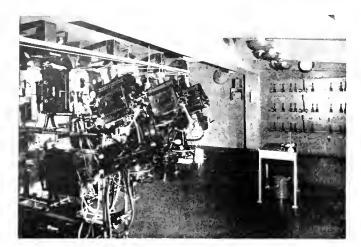

If your theatre is NOT Carrier Conditioned, or if you are contemplating the construction of a new house, it will pay you to have our Engineers call and present to you the essential facts underlying the successful application of Air Conditioning to the Theatre. Ask, too, for the Book "Theatre Cooling and Conditioning."

4-Machine Installations Seen as New Projection Requirement

¶ Provision for full-stage projection is advisable on the part of owners building new houses or remodelling older ones, according to well informed equipment men in touch with the situation regarding wide film and other developments.

POUR projectors to a booth will be commonplace rather than the exception in the very near future, according to equipment manufacturers whose business it is to know what is taking place in the experimental work shops and factories of concerns specializing in projection apparatus, and who, presumably, are in close touch with the situation regarding wide film and other developments.

According to these authorities developments which now are reaching a form that makes certain the commercial application of projection principles on a scale that will create a wide public following for newer ideas in pictures, make it advisable for builders of new theatres and owners remodelling older houses to provide projection facilities that will result in economies in the near future.

Such provisions are for space allowances to permit of the installation of a minimum of four projectors, two of the standard type, and two for wide film projection. Motor generators and other electrical equipment and installation also should be up to a capacity that will make it available for the extra load that may be required in the near future.

The idea most generally advanced as good practice in anticipation of future requirements, insofar as projection room design is concerned, is to allow for space over and above the immediate needs for at least two large projection units with generous port openings.

This point is one which must be considered well in advance and in detail by the architect, to prevent repetition of a now classic instance in which a projection room in a large theatre was so fenced in by an architectural effect that a sizeable sum had to be expended by the owner to make changes to accommodate necessary extra equipment. It was irritating rather than consoling to the owner to know that there was ample room for a large projection room at the rear of the house. However, the architect, for an extra flourish of decoration, added a false wall with decorative archways. This was placed about five feet in front of the projection room wall proper. The projectors initially installed were set to shoot their light beams through the regular port openings and then through the arches in the false wall, so that this arrangement resulted in grouping the projectors by pairs, one pair to an opening. The addition of new projectors entailed the job of cutting portholes in each of the two walls, because the columns between arches naturally coincided with the blank portions of the main wall of the projection room.

In equipment circles the opinion seems to prevail that an extensive use of bigger screen pictures, by means of magnification, will bridge the gap between present standards and the eventual wide scope film. The Paramount "Magnascope" and the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer "Transitone" screen, is to be put into more general use during the coming season. Should road show demonstrations of wide scope films, of the Grandeur or Spoor Natural Vision type succeed in creating a big public interest in larger pictures, these systems for magnifying certain sequences of features or newsreel shots will be used to capitalize the interest at box offices of the regular run theatres of the larger circuits. Such an eventuality, equipment men and projection chiefs argue, will have the effect of building up a ballyhoo for bigger screens that will have to be heeded at houses big and small.

Affect Booth First

It is generally conceded that the influences of newly appearing devices affecting in a major way the character of the picture house program, first made themselves felt in the projection room, since this space, with the equipment it houses constitutes the heart of the entire theatre. The sound development proved a case in point. It may be argued that sound was so abrupt as to application that exhibitors at large had but little warning of the impending change. But there has been going on now for several years a number of changes so gradual as to be imperceptible to all but the most alert.

With regard to the layout of projection rooms, it is pointed out that experience over a period of several years indicates that there is but a limited number of ways in which the equipment can be placed to insure all-around satisfactory results.

Where seven or eight projectors, including stereopticons, spotlamps and effect projectors are used, it is commonly the practice to place the motion picture projectors—now usually three in number—in the center of the room, with relation to the front wall, so that the middle projector—in a three machine installation—will be in line with the centerline of the screen.

With the picture projectors so located, the spotlamps, placed in a single group, may then be located either to the right or left of the projectors, whichever position is deemed best by the projectionist. The dissolving stereopticon lantern and the effect machine, forming the third group, are then placed on the remaining open side of the picture machines.

Grouping Of Units

NDER this arrangement the three distinct groups of projectors are kept separated and yet close enough together so that needless cross paths are avoided as the projectionist successively performs his various duties.

An entirely new book of rules for the layout and design of projection rooms has been written in the past few years, and the older ideas are the things the theatre builder must guard against when plans are drawn, projection specialists point out. The newer needs call for even greater care than that which was necessary before full stage screens, either by means of magnification of 35 mm. film or wide scope film, loomed up as a development regarded as certain to arrive soon as a general practice.

It will be some time before wide film productions and wide film projection apparatus is available to theatres generally. The system of magnification to obtain a larger picture, however, at the present time is restricted to houses of the big circuits. No stock equipment is as yet available, but there are indications that before long the market will afford the necessary apparatus. An extra projector is required, this heing used to show the reel selected for presentation on the big screen. A wide angle lens increases the area of the projected image. In order to get sufficient illumination, however, high intensity lamps using searchlight arcs are used, and provision must be made to reduce the heat energy passing through the aperture.

Newer projector models, soon to be introduced, will include a feature specially designed to overcome this difficulty. Screens, automatically adjustable to full stage or smaller proportions, are another new equipment feature soon to be brought on the market.

The Theatre Building Business Map Shows—

$9,687,000 Total Expenditure for New Projects Announced

¶ In point of the number of new projects announced, the September 15 to October 15 period marked a low mark in theatre building. Indications point to an end of the retrenchment ascribed to high money and mergers. Equipment sales continued at a good volume and attendence averages were high during the period on which this report is based.

Nour October report of new theatre projects, the statistics of that survey indicated that theatre building was in a fair way returning to the basis of its former heavy schedule. In fact, for the last three months our reports have shown a steady increase in new theatre building. Under these conditions it is somewhat difficult to state the conditions which caused the decline in new theatre projects as announced in our present report covering the period of September 15th to October 15th. The activity of these thirty days very nearly reaches the low mark in theatre building for the past three years.

Architects and builders have attributed the retrenchment in theatre building, over the past nine months, to three factors: First in importance has been excessive cost of money in financing building. This cost has been due to the speculative market which has been in full swing until last week. Second in importance is the emphasis which has been placed on mergers in this industry. These mergers have caused an uncertainty in the plans of the small theatre operator and have made demands on the time of the executives of the big theatre operating companies to the extent that little attenion has been paid to expansion programs through additional building.

Talking pictures also are included in the causes for light building. Theatre owners have grasped the opportunity of cashing in on the sudden popularity of talkies and have been busily engaged in promoting the success of the theatres which they have already in operation. They are waiting to determine the future of talking pictures before deciding on adding more sears.

The first of the conditions affecting building programs of theatres seems to be clearing up through the deflation in the stock market. This should make available easier money for investments in buildings. Merging also is becoming a matter of routine with the large theatre companies. As to the permanency and success of talking pictures there remains no doubt. Under these conditions it can be predicted that theatre building will continue to gain, even in the face of an occasional month of little activity such as reported in the thirty-day building survey.

The total building for the United States and Canada for the period of September 15th to October 15th is $9,687,000 covering the investment required for 22 new theatres, seating 34,700. In this group, four theatres will cost over a million dollars each and three between $500,000 and a million. The averages per theatre are: cost, $440,000, seats 1.577 and cost per seat $270.

Five territorial divisions of the country report building activities that are normal while two show a lack of any building activity.

The West Coast States lead in a total investment and number of projects. In this territory eight theatres will be built costing in the aggregate $4,605,000 and seating 13,000. Two of these theatres will cost over a million dollars each and one between one-half and a million dollars. The averages for the theatres in this territory are $575,600 required for the building of a theatre of 1,625 seats, giving the average cost per seat of $354.

The North Atlantic States continue their building program with $3,530,000 to be invested in four houses seating 10,300. Two of these houses will cost over a million dollars and one between $500,000 and a million. The averages for this territory are exceptionally high, where $882,500 covers the cost of building a theatre seating 2,575 with a cost per seat of $343.

New England is also active with $810,000 to be spent for the construction of two theatres with a total seating capacity of 3,000. One of these houses will cost more than one-half million dollars. These figures give averages of $405,000 as the cost per house seating 1,500 with each seat representing an investment of $270.

The Southwestern division calls for two new theatres which together cost $310,000 and seat 2,750. $155,000 is the average cost per house seating 1,375 with a cost per seat of $113.

In the Western States four houses are to be built at a total cost of $220,000 with seating capacity of 4,000. The theatre of this territory calls for only a modest investment of $55,000 to cover the cost of 1,000 seats and a cost per seat of $55.

The territory which is mainly responsible for the drop in building activities is the Middle States. This territory usually is first or second in total amount of building while for this month only one small theatre which will seat 450 and cost $12,000 is reported.

Also, in the Southeastern States no new theatres are reported. Canada announces one theatre to cost $200,000 and seat ,200.

The five states reporting the heaviest building activities show Pennsylvania in the lead with two theatres which in the aggregate will cost $3,000,000 and seat 8,000.

Washington is second with an investment of $2,400,000 for three theatres seating 5,200.

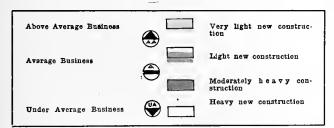

California is third in volume but first in number of projects where five houses costing in the aggregate $2,205,000 will seat 7,800.

Connecticut reports one theatre of 2,000 seating capacity and costing $750,000.

New Jersey also reports one large theatre will be built seating 1,500 and costing $500,000.

The sale of theatre equipment continues at a very satisfactory volume. While April and March of this year showed the peak of equipment sales, yet each month since that period has recorded a volume in excess of the best thirty-day report of 1928. With the exception of one or two types of equipment the general line is enjoying heavy sales. Sound equipment, projectors, sound screens, acoustical materials, chairs, draperies, are among the leaders. There are no factors entering in the sale of equipment that tend to indicate a decrease for sales for the rest of the year.

The map of the United States shown here is divided into seven territories, with colored shading indicating the division of new proposed theatre building as represented for the period from Sept. 15th to Oct 15th. This new construction is represented in valuation of dollars and cents rather than number of projects.

The shading is in four densities; solid, which represents the greatest value of proposed theatres; heavy stipple, which is second in valuation of new construction; medium, which areas represent conservative building; and the very light areas, where the investment in new theatre projects is very light. The information used in compiling the statistics visualized by the map was obtained through several reliable sources, and the map is to be considered as very nearly accurate in representing comparative theatre building activities in various sections of the country.

The circles shown on the map are located in key cities and illustrate averages of theatre attendance during the period from Sept. 15th to Oct. 15th, 1929. The diagrams indicate the relative attendance at the first-run theatres in these cities during the period covered. These are given by "averages," with symbols to indicate "Above Average" and "Under Average" box office returns. The term "average" as applied in this survey indicates satisfactory box office returns, based upon theatre expectancies, which, in turn, are governed by past earnings under similar or nearly similar conditions.

These attendance statistics were compiled from an analysis of the Box Office Check-up, published weekly by Motion Picture News, and other sources of information gathered by this publication.

THEATRES continued to play to excellent grosses throughout the period with which this report is concerned. Some let-down from the heavy business done by the bigger first runs through the summer season logically might have been expected to develop during this period, from September 15 to October 15, owing to the fact that it marked the turn of the season, an event ever likely to show at theatre box offices as a result of the readjustment of social habits of families and individuals. However, there was nothing to indicate that the theatres were effected in this wise.

The attendance indicators on the map, showing box office conditions based on the averages for weeks coming within the period reported on, tell the story of how widespread is the prosperity which the talking pictures now enjoy. In the total of 20 key cities thus reported on, there is not one ranking below average, while seven of the 20 are rated at Above Average. New York. Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Albany and Oklahoma City are the towns where trade exceeded the high box office averages which figure as par in these days of increased business due to the tremendous popular following established by the talkies.

During the current year theatre men have invested huge sums in newer equipment, replacements being an important factor in addition to the requirements of sound, which has introduced into general use many accessory devices not hitherto extensively used in the picture houses.

There never will be a time, however, when the individual attraction can be considered in any other light than an object of the greatest importance in connection with business done at the theatre—regardless of how far the architect, the engineer, the technicians and the showman go in making the playhouse an institution of many and varied appeals to the average person in search of relaxation and change from routine environment.

The features current at the first runs during the period of this report struck a high average, with many especially strong attractions prominent in the line-up. Based on reports from the key cities, the following are the ten features which scored the largest number of Above Average returns for houses in all sections of the country.

1. "The Cock-Eved World." 2, "Gold Diggers of Broadway." 3. "Street Girl." 4. "Why Bring That Up?". 5. "The Trespasser." 6. "Three Live Ghosts." 7. "Illusion." 8. "They Had To See Paris." 9. "The Dance of Life." 10. "Fast Life."

New and Improved Equipment

A Review of the Latest Developments in Theatre Engineering

Sound-Head Attachment for Elec-Tro-Fone Reproducer

THE Elec-Tro-Fone reproducing system is to be elaborated to include sound-on-film reproduction, according to announcement by the manufacturers. The disc system was brought on the market some time ago and is in operation at a large number of theatres.

Features of the disc reproducer which are pointed out by the company sponsoring the device include the following, among which are many which are exclusive with this sound system.

The pick-up is of "straight line" design, the line of travel of the reproducing needle being the same as the path of the cutting needle in recording. The pick-up travels on four roller bearings, which in turn slide on an adjustable guide rod suspended from the turn-table spindle to the tone arm bracket. "One man operation" is claimed owing to the convenient location of the fader on the turn-table column, enabling the operator to handle the change-over and fader with the greatest ease. The Pos-Tiv Drive employs gears that are made up in pairs of steel and fiber and always are running in oil. The isolation of the motor from the drive shafts and turn-table through the use of an exclusively designed spring and leather couplings, eliminates one of the greatest sources of vibration. Constant speed motors drive the projector from the turntable, which is of compact unit construction. When silent pictures are projected the sliding connection disengages turntable and turntable motor, and through the projector motor and the variable speed Horton pulley, a speed range of from 75 to 125 feet per minute can be attained. This design makes it possible to drive the turntable by the projector motor in an emergency,

Elec-Tro-Fone disc equipment

The Elec-Tro-Fone is available in two models, the Junior for smaller houses, and the Senior model. The installation includes double-channel amplification with two 6-tube 3-stage amplifiers using the "250" power tubes in Push-Pull, for the Senior models; and two 5-tube 3-stage amplifiers using the "245" power tubes in Push-Pull, for the Junior installation. Amplifiers operate from regular current supply.

The speaker is a specially designed horn to give "floodlight projection" of sound. This is a combination horn and baffle made of heavy hardwood, mounted on steel and iron pedestals, which can be adjusted for height. The ro-inch Wright-DeCoster, and the concert Rola Dynamic speaker units are used in connection with these horns.

The company is now marketing a beaded sound screen, which is sold separate from the reproducer.

Re-Synchronizer a Feature of Ora-Tone Reproducer

R E-SYNCHRONIZING control, direct non-gear drive, and double utility turntables on which either synchronous or non-synchronous disc recordings may be played, are among the special features of the Ora-Tone sound system.

The installation provides for two turntables, with double-channel amplifier, two speakers and monitor fader, with extension rack and panel combination. The Ora-Tone turntables are furnished equipped with counter-balanced pick-up arms and pick-ups. Their driving mechanism is enclosed and protected from dust. The drive shaft connects directly with the projector, and all working parts are mounted on ball-bearings—it being claimed for the design that there is no strain on the projector, as only one and one-half ounces are required to start the shaft rotating. The re-synchronizing device consists of an arrangement providing for speeding up the disc by pushing a button to bring back synchrony when, due to patched films or other causes, the film gets ahead of the disc. The button is depressed until re-synchronization effected and then released by the operator. When the film falls behind the disc a lever mounted on the turntable raises the disc and thus slows down the record until it is brought into step with the film. Conversion to non-synchronous reproduction is done by sliding the driving wheel toward the center of the disc and fixing a specially provided clamp over the shaft.

The amplifiers are contained in a rack panel, with the monitor mounted in this cabinet. It operates on the regular current supply. The fader box is placed between and toward the front of the two projectors, and an extension shaft is furnished so the fader may be controlled at either of the two machines.

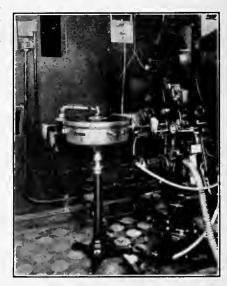

Pre-Set Lens Mount Is New GoldE Projection Aid

A N important invention in the form of a pre-set lens mount which embodies features of far reaching effect on projection room efficiency has been completed in Chicago by M. H. Goldberg, projection engineer and head of the GoldE Manufacturing Company.

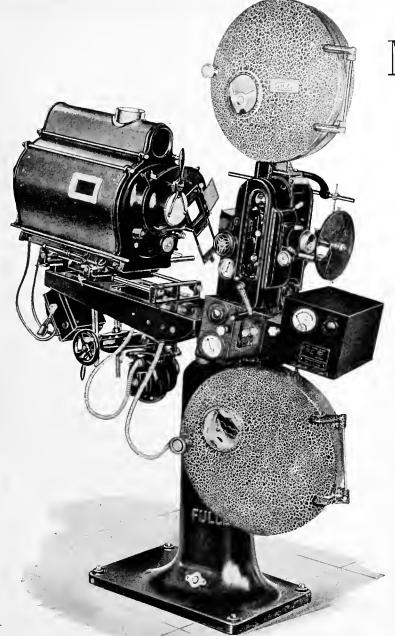

Not only may the same size screened picture for Vitaphone and Movietone be obtained without stopping the projector, but by a rapid change of the lens while the machine is still going the use of the new lens mount will give a wide film effect, according to Mr. Goldberg.

The foregoing results, says the inventor, are made possible by a design which makes the lens mount absolutely pre-set. In other words, once the installation is made the lenses remain in exact focus for every change and requirement. There are no adjustments to make and it cannot go out of position. The design, further, keeps it free from the effects of any vibration.

Operadio Adds New Fader and Speakers to Line

THREE new products introducing improved design in air-column speakers, public address speakers, and faders, have been added to the line of products now marketed by the Operadio Manufacturing Company, of St. Charles, Ill.

The combination electro-dynamic air column theatre speaker is specially designed for theatres having a long, narrow auditorium, in which great acoustical difficulties generally are encountered due to reverberations between the walls. This speaker is rather directional, and projects sound within a narrow "beam." The design allows the high frequencies to radiate from one side of the cone, while the low frequencies transverse the air column, being radiated from the other side of the cone. The direct high plus the directional lows is said to give the speaker excellent carrying characteristics. speaker is actuated with the standard Operadio 10-inch Electro-dynamic cone, and is sold mounted on a platform with ball-bearing, rubber-tired casters. combination Electro-dynamic-Air Column speaker is made in three sizes.

The new fader is of the 12-contact point type, with each contact a definite wire-wound resistance to insure a constant and positive increase or decrease of the amplifier input voltage. The resistances are protected against temperature and weather changes. Each side is arranged with steps graduated so that when a switch-over is made from left to right, there is no "click" or rush of sound. It it adapted for high impedance lines, being particularly designed for fading between pick-ups of 2,000-3,000 olums impedance. The fader is mounted in a steel box, with conduit wiring run directly into the box. It incorporates a change-over switch which makes it available for use on either disc or sound-on-film equipment.

The public address speaker is of bowl design of the reflecting type, which gives it ability to deliver sound at right angles to the speaker itself. It is uni-directional and is for use as a single, unit even in houses of very wide design.

New Bell and Howell 16 mm. Camera Introduced

A NEW 16 mm. camera, known as the "Filmo Model 70-D," has been presented to the amateur field by Bell & Howell. This camera is of the spring motor type, and has a capacity of one hundred feet of film. Each winding of the motor permits to uninterruptedly expose twenty-five feet of film.

The camera is equipped with an integral turret head, capable of holding three lenses of different focal lengths, and a newly designed viewfinder, for rapid change of masks determining the field of view covered by any one of six lenses of focal lengths varrying from 1 in, to 6 ins. A governor permits operation at speeds varying from a minimum of eight to a maximum of sixty-four pictures per second, including all intermediate speeds. Another device together with the governor, insures a positive start of the mechanism at any desired speed and an equally positive stop at all speeds, without sacrificing the feature of the camera stopping with the shutter in its position of occultation, and without acceleration or deceleration being visible on the exposed film.

Radio Receptor Introduces New Mikes and Amplifier

The Radio Receptor Company, New York, announces a new line of microphones for public address and sound reproduction purposes, and a new style microphone amplifier for portable or stationary public address systems.

The amplifier is being produced in two types, one for A.C. operation, and the other for battery operation. The battery type employs two tubes, and has an output of approximately .35 watts. The A.C. amplifier employs two -27 tubes and a -80 rectifier, with an output of approximately .45 watts. The amplifier is built as a single, independent unit, but is so constructed as to permit of rack mounting, if so desired.

There are three types of micropliones in the new line, a 3½-inch, a 6-inch and a hand microphone for portable use. The hand microphone is enclosed in a bronze case with bakelite handle. The microphones have been developed especially for public address purposes, and incorporate a number of features that make them particularly desirable in this field.

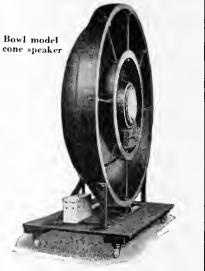

The construction includes a special alloy diaphragm that has no fundamental period of its own. There is also a special composition carbon button that cannot "pack."

Sight Replaces Cue System in New Lighting Control

Selsyn Adapted to Light Regulation—Dimming and Changes Controlled From Board Located in Front of Curtain—Pre-Setting Feature

A NEW system of lighting control developed by the General Electric Company mainly with a view to its application in the theatre, enables the lighting director—usually the stage electrician—to leave his post back-stage for a more advantageous position "out front," where he may observe the action on the stage and effect the desired changes there as well as in the auditorium by sight rather than by cues.

From a position in the orchestra pit, the operator may control stage as well as auditorium, working with his color medium much as the orchestra conductor now directs his music. The instruments by which he controls the lighting are dials, knobs, tumbler switches, indicating lights, etc., arranged in front and at each side of the operator. By the manipulation of a single knob all the complexities of stage lighting can be controlled, lights of various colors fading and brightening at various points and at the proper moment.

The first installation of the new system now is nearing completion in the Chicago Civic Opera House, which will be opened this month.

The system which makes this new method possible involves principally the use of three important devices: the self-synchronous motor, the low-vacuum rectifying tube marketed under the trade name of "Thyratron," and a new type of saturated core reactor.

The self-synchronous motor, or selsyn as it is called, resembles an ordinary electric motor in appearance and general construction. Contrary to the operation of a motor, however, the rotating element does not revolve at a high rate of speed, but moves—slowly—rarely more than a complete revolution. When two selsyns are interconnected electrically, the movement of the rotating element of one produces a corresponding movement of the other rotating element in the same direction and by exactly the same amount. It is by the use of these devices that the operation of the Panama Canal locks is controlled, and they are also used in this country for various purposes including the opening and closing of bridges, operation of elevators, etc.

One side of the voltage supply to each light or group of lights passes through one winding of a saturated core reactor. The other winding of this reactor is fed by direct current in varying amounts from a pair of thyratrons. The amount of rectified current supplied by these thyratrons depends on the electrical relationship between the elements of each tube, and this is determined by the control devices governed by the lighting operator. As the amount of direct current fed by the thyratrons to the reactor varies, the resistance of the reactor to the lighting supply load varies from a point where the lights are extinguished, to full brilliancy.

The immediate determination of the relationship of the elements of the thyratrons is through the agency of devices called phase modulators. There are two of these for every individual lighting circuit, one for use during the present scene and the other for the purpose of "setting up" the next scene.

By manipulating the knobs on the individual modulators, the lighting operator could control the lights, but it would involve the operation of a possible 141 knobs in the case of the Chicago Civic Opera House, as there are that many lighting circuits on the stage. By the use of the selsyns, however, it is possible to govern all the lighting circuits through one knob. This is done in the following manner:

The grand master knob controlling all the lights on the stage electrically controls the movement of the rotating element of a grand master selsyn. selsyn is electrically connected with selsyn covering not only the major and minor groups of lights, but also the individual modulators for single lighting circuits. Movement of the grand master selsyn's control knob causes all the selsyns operating the modulators to move in conformity with it, and the modulators, preset in accordance with the requirements of the scene, operate to control the lights. When individual control of any major or minor group or individual lighting circuit is desired, the knob in question is turned and the resulting movement does not interiere with any of the other cir-

SOUND MOVIES VITAPHONE

there are many . . . all have their good points . . . but there are difference nevertheless . . . selection involves deliberation . . . proper operation depends on a thorough knowledge of them . . .

I T is a difficult matter to estimate the number of amplifiers in use today. If we could line each and every one side by side they would present a very interesting picture. Recognizing that we have these amplifiers and ignoring the conventional tabloid statements about marvelous, sensational and astounding reproduction, just what is the difference between these amplifiers. As a matter of fact, what is the difference between a number of amplifiers of different manufacture? A general summary would include the physical as well as the mechanical, as for example:

1. Construction (physical shape and appearance). 2. Method of wiring. 3. Number of tubes. 4. Types of tubes used (power output). 5. Type of interstage coupling. 6. Frequency response characteristic of coupling units. 7. Arrangement of amplifying stages. 8. Distribution of amplification in complete unit. 9. Types of power supply. 10. Volume control. 11. Service maintenance. 12. Cost.

An even dozen in all. Now that we have this tabulation, just what does it mean. It cannot help but be of interest to the man who is allied with the operation of such installations; to the man who is confronted with the problem of operating three or four or more types of reproducing installations each year.

We have before us as we type these pages, wiring diagrams and photographs of a large number of such talkie amplifiers, produced by the representative manufacturers. Quite a good deal of the data relates to electrical constants, manufacturers type numbers, etc. We cannot print these drawings hence resort to the next best arrangement, description.

With respect to physical shape, the majority are built along similar lines, switchboard panel type. The front panels are fastened onto steel supports, the panels themselves being of Bakelite or Aluminum. With respect to the panel arrangement, the upright switchboard method lends itself best to unit construction and versatility of interconnection.

Some of these panels are arranged with the tubes protruding in front and others to the rear of the panel. The tubes in front are more easily accessible. They are visible to the eye and visual observation much easier. However, the majority of tubes protruding through the panel are mounted upon a horizontal plane. Tubes arranged to the rear of the panel are held in upright position, conducive to longer life and constancy of characteristics. However, they are not as accessible as the tubes which protrude through the panel, hence the advantages of one arrangement are offset by disadvantages.

The methods employed when wiring the amplifier are of greater interest. All are not wired in like fashion. Color coding, that is the use of different colors for the different circuits is common practice, but the methods of arranging the wires is not universal. Some are ar-ranged along lines developed for telephone practice, namely bunching and strapping of wires. This method is to be preferred, since it provides more stable operation, and can be subjected to greater mechanical shock without injury. Other units are wired in no particular fashion. wires being carried hither and thither. Being stretched taut at the time of manufacture, injury during transit is more likely than in the cabled systems. It is necessary, however, to give the devil his due. The cost (to the manufacturer) of ordinary wiring is less than cabled wiring, and where the latter is employed, the customer pays the difference.

Number of Tubes Used

With respect to the number of tubes employed, we find a rather confusing situation. It is necessary to consider several factors. One of the important items allied with an amplifier, exclusive of its calibre of reproduction, is its power output. Assuming any one type of speaker. with a known factor of electricity to sound conversion, the greater the power output of the amplifier, the greater the volume of sound. However, one cannot judge power output by the number of tubes used. First because tubes form an integral part of the power supply systems employed to provide the operating potentials to the various amplifying tubes.

One amplifier of say unit power output may be designed to employ four tubes in the power supply system, whereas another of like power output may be designed to employ only two tubes in the power supply system.

Second, the individual power rating of the tubes used is of importance. All tubes are not of like amplifying power or power output rating. Accordingly it is possible to employ seven tubes in an installation with a total power output in excess of another installation employing eight or nine tubes.

Third, the method of arranging the tubes in the system with respect to certain forms of interstage linking or coupling governs the actual number of tubes employed in an installation. This factor involves the type of tubes employed in the various stages preceding the output or power amplifier stage.

Recognizing that the paramount requisite is a certain amount of power to fill a certain volume of space, amplifiers should be considered according to the rated power output, consistent with design and integrity of the manufacturer, rather than by the number of tubes in the installation.

It is true however, that liberality of design in the effort to secure stability of operation involves the use of a greater number of tubes. It is also logical that low powered installations need not employ as many tubes as are required for a house scating five to ten times the number of listeners, and requiring much greater output. Recognizing that seating capacity and volume of space are allied, the difference between the various amplifiers designed for use in houses of varying capacity is one of power output, invariably represented by the type of power tubes employed in the output stage.

In some instances the amplification rating of the intermediate amplifiers is likewise reduced. For example, one popular type of amplifier employs six tubes in its complete amplifier design for moderately large houses and only three tubes in its amplifier designed for moderately small houses. The power output rating of the former is approximately 15 watts, whereas that of the latter is only about 5 watts. As is natural, the magnitude of the power supply system is likewise different in the two amplifiers. The former employs three tubes, whereas the latter utilizes but one tube.

In this article an expert lines them up, turns them inside out and tells you all about them for your information and guidance

It is difficult to draw a line of demarkation between amplifier manufacturers and the best way that we can distinguish between RCA and ERPI and the remainder is to call the first two named the Big 2 and the rest independents. Relative to the above statements about tubes in amplifiers, most independents have amplifiers of like design, that is, of similar character relative to tube arrangements. The conventional system calls for a first stage of amplification employing either one tube or two tubes. The second stage invariably employs two tubes and the third stage likewise employs two tubes. In one or two cases, the output stage consists of 2 two-tube units arranged in parallel. In other installations, two threestage channels are arranged for parallel operation in the event that a high power level is desired.

The conventional medium ERPI installation is of somewhat different character, in that it employs five stages of amplification, exclusive of the photo-electric cell amplifier. This unit is a two-stage resistance coupled affair, which shall be referred to later.

Types of Tubes

With respect to the types of tubes employed in the independent installations, they are of like character, in fact so much so that the amplifiers seem to be patterned from the same model, at least as far as the tubes and tube arrangement are concerned. Generally speaking, the power output of the independent installations designed for like utility are practically identical. This is quite natural since the amplifiers employ similar type tubes.

We have before us as we write, four diagrams with exact similarity relative to tube requirements for these amplifiers. All of these manufacturers are in the East. Supplement these with the western manufacturers who employ products manufactured by other major organizations likewise involved in the power amplifier field, and you can readily realize the reason for the similarity, as far as tubes go, between amplifiers of different independent origin.

Types of Interstage Coupling

There is very little to say about the existing differences in the types of interstage coupling employed in independent amplifiers. The most popular method is the transformers. Amplifiers big and small make use of the transformer as the surest method of coupling amplifying tubes. A few deviate from the regular routine. This group employs a stage of resistance coupling, between the first and second stage amplifying tubes. Another distinction found in some of the systems is resonating of the primary circuit of one of the transformers, usually the stage preceding the first pushpull stage. This arrangement provides better operation because of certain advantages which accrue, due to the elimination of direct current from the transformer primary and the improved characteristics of the transformer. In certain cases, the resonating circuit, if we may call it that instead of parallel plate supply, is used simply to eliminate the flow of direct current through the transformer primary.

One manufacturer in particular employs a special interstage coupling arrangement which does possess certain advantages, but it nevertheless conforms with the general systems.

Coupling Units

What makes an amplifier "sensational and marvelous" in reproduction? . . . Generally speaking nothing more than the frequency characteristic, that being the facility with which the amplifier proper amplifies frequencies fed into its input system. According to general opinion, the ideal amplifier is one with the ideal characteristic, namely a "flat" characteristic extending over the normal which is the equivalent of saying the amplifier will amplify to an equal extent all frequencies from 30 to at least 6,000 cycles.

If we judge by advertising, practically all amplifiers possess this ideal characteristic. For example "... amplifiers possess a flat frequency characteristic"... "the frequency characteristic is uniformly flat."... If such be the case and both amplifiers are rated at 15 watts output and employ similar tubes, what should be the difference between these amplifiers?... Practically nothing, yet there is a distinct difference between the performance of amplifiers.

It is strange considering that more than one amplifier of different origin and birthplace in the United States employs the products of one manufacturer, yet the amplifiers do not sound alike. Appreciating that identical units are employed in two different amplifiers, engineering layout and construction will alter the operating characteristic. Here we find the greatest difference between am-Of great importance is the speaker, but irrespective of the speaker or speakers employed, there is a distinct difference between reproduction. This is due to the electrical factor representing the unknown condition and influence which manifests itself when an amplifier is constructed, and is absent when the individual units are individually tested external of a completed amplifier.

It might be well to mention here that the least of the independent manufacturers accords due deliberation to that tremendous influence upon reproduction, theatre acoustics. They ask the reader, if he has solved his acoustic problems, and they offer the service of their engineering department. This act can well be followed without shame by many other amplifier manufacturers who are selling amplifiers instead of articulate speech.

Design of Amplifying Stages

The arrangement of the amplifying stages is a matter of importance, insofar as the actual performance of the amplifier is concerned. The first element of importance in an amplifier is flexibility. The amplifier must be capable of operation at low or high level with equal facility and with local or remote control of input or output circuits. Consequently, the individual panel type of unit, wherein the amplifying stages are divided and of two charmed systems, subdivided, is of far greater convenience than the amplifier wherein the entire unit is encased or housed in one container.

The individual panel construction is of tremendous importance when shooting trouble. Albeit the fact that one seldom thinks of the trials and tribulation of trouble shooting when an amplifier performs in normal manner, the ease of accessibility is worth a great deal of money when something is wrong.

Experience has proved the increased advantage of the subdivided panel type of installation instead of the complete boxed system. Subdivision provides for better control of undesired internal influences, resulting in better stability and minimized hum.

The systems available at the present time include both subdivided and complete amplifiers. The subdivided systems are arranged with separate power packs for the various sections of the amplifier, whereas the complete unit, incorporates an entire amplifier consisting of the amplifying as well as the power supply tubes in one unit. While repair of defective devices is possible, the latter arrangement does not lend itself to very simple service.

Where the amplifier is subdivided, the intermediate stages consisting of the input amplifier complete external of the output tube are usually arranged on one panel and a power supply device is arranged for this part of the complete amplifier. The power amplifier (the output stage) is usually allotted a panel of its own and has its own power supply system. In the ERPI, 41A, 42A and 43A installation, each of these amplifiers has its own subpanel, the entire group being mounted upon one switchboard panel. The 42A and the 43A have individual power supply units, the former supplying the voltage requirements for the 41A input voltage amplifier, a combination three

Meeting Grandeur and Other Innovation Requirements

Requirements

Dear Mr. Rigaumont:

We have a theatre scating about 1,800 in a town which has a population of ahout 10,000 and do a very good husiness. The theatre was built 25 years ago and is of good construction but, in view of the many changes which are coming about in the moving picture world such as talking and Grandeur pictures, it will be necessary for us to either make some vary radical alterations to our present theatre, or build an entirely new one.

What we would like to know is which conrse would he more economic to follow: to build a new house, or just make the necessary alterations to the present one. We do not want to spend any more money then we have to, and yet want to give our patrons the hest up-to-date pictures and entertainment obtainable and cannot do this in our present house.

R. C.

Answering R. C.:

It would be necessary to make a survey of your present theatre, in order to give you a fair and satisfactory answer to your question. If the construction of the present building is good and the layout is such that a few inexpensive alterations can take care of the new requirements which are coming up, it would be, of course, much cheaper to do this than to construct a new building. It all depends on the amount of work which would be involved, and the best way to determine this is to have a Theatre Architect who is well acquainted with all the latest equipment and requiremets, make a survey of the conditions and submit an approximate estimate showing what would be involved in making the necessary alterations, and also what would be involved in constructing an altogether new building.

There is another thing which must be taken into consideration and that is: "Is this the only theatre in the town, or have you another theatre besides this one. Also, has another management any house or houses in the town. You may have to close down the house for quite a while to make the alterations. On the other hand, it may be possible to take care of the changes by working at night and when the theatre is unoccupied. If you do not have another theatre in which to carry on the business and if it is necessary to close the house for any length of time to make the alterations which, of course, would mean that it would involve a good deal of expense-not only in the cost of alterations but also in the loss of business during that time-it would be much more practical to look for another site and build a new theatre. Then, if it is not possible for you to use the old theatre after the new one is opened, you can convert it into some other kind of building.

The most practical and satisfactory way to determine which is the best course for you to follow is to engage a Theatre Architeet, who is well acquainted with all the latest equipment and requirements, because it would be well worth the time and money which such services would involve.

Estimating Costs and Income for Arranging Finances

Dear Mr. Rigaumont:

I am contemplating the construction of a first class theatre seating about 3,300 persons. What I would like is a theatre which is not too elaborate, but dignified and beautiful in appearance. As it is necessary for me to arrange the financing of this project, I would like to know if it is poseible to obtain information as to the probable cost of the building, and also the probable income which can be derived therefrom? I want to be able to place this data before my hankers and arrange for the financing of the auturnities. of the enterprise.

Answering P. A. R.:

Your problem can be taken care of very nicely by preparing a set of preliminary sketches showing your various require ments, also an approximate estimate as to the cost of construction and the cost of the equipment entering into the building. Then, another estimate can be prepared showing the approximate income which may be derived from the theatre and its dependencies, also the approximate expenditures which would be involved.

With this information in hand, you would be in a position to talk intelligently to your bankers and show them just what you intend to construct, the approximate cost of such construction, the approximate income and expenditures that would be involved in such a project.

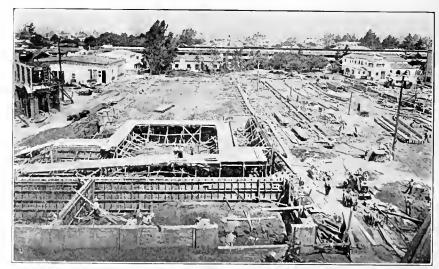

If you would like to have such information prepared for you, it can be done by your Theatre Architect at a nominal charge, which charge will be credited to the contract fee in case the project goes ahead.

Giving Old Opera House New Life
Dear Mr. Rigaumont:

I happen to be the operator of a good old opera house in our town. The people are accustmed to it and don't want anything fancy, but I guess they are getting tired of coming to see the old stiff that was done thirty years ago. What we'd like to do is to give the thearten new life. However, we haven't much money to spend on it. We have a good location, a good trade, but rumore have heen going around that the people coming back from the large cities kind of miss the nice things they have seen there and we'd like to give them what they like—at least to some degree.

C. R. S.

If your seats are good seats there is no reason why you should make any physical alterations to your theatre. You would be surprised what a few chandeliers, soft lights, draperies, new carpets, new seats, and a brand new set of rest rooms for the men and women, as well as furniture in the lounges, would do to give new life to your theatre. I suppose the theatre is like a great many old opera houses and, if there is lots of room for furniture, do refurnish it, but do not make it look like a furniture

Notes, Reports and Ideas That Keep You Posted on the Trend of the Trade from Month to Month

The spotlight of public interest was foeussed on pictures with some added intensity through the announcement made by William Fox in connection with the celebration of his 25th year in what is now the film industry. His announcement that a quarter of his personal fortune would be placed by him in support of a program to develop talking pictures as an educational force had the effect of making movies the topic of discussions in places and among people not customarily concerned with serious consideration of the films, while the newspaper comment and recitals of the romantic career of the head of one of America's most extensive organizations stirred the interest of the general public.

Based on the amount of business done at the theatres where talkies are shown, the films now are in what is the most favorable position any business ever has found itself for the capitalization of new developments which promise to come along rapidly from the laboratory and the studio. That which was new but a short time since may become quite old suddenly if plans for which their sponsors consider there is good reason to regard optimistically, come to successful issue.

Enlarged Picture Frames

THE subject given the most attention at the meeting of the S.M.P.E. at Toronto last month was the wide-scope picture, as it is called. The engineers views reflected the majority opinion that wider pictures are a certainty of the near future. It will be some time, however, before theatres in any great numbers will present wide-scope films. But so much interest has been ereated, that the bigger houses will not await the development of wide film to give patrons the thrills afforded by enlargement of the screen to much greater proportions than have steadfastly obtained in the past. So, the step from the present standard to the eventual wide-scope film on screens that will be twice as wide as they are high, will be made via "magnascope," the picture enlarged by a projector fitted with a wideangle lense to magnify the 35 mm film so that it fills a screen about double the size of the old standards. All of the newer houses built by Loew's are equipped with what is called the Transitone screen, and an extra projector for magnified projection of certain sequences. Publix houses are fast being equipped with the Magna-scope system developed by engineers of Paramount and exhibited first in connection with the showing of "Old Ironsides."

Electrical Entertainment

WHEN the electrical companies first took up pictures in what might be called a serious way, their representatives referred to the new developments as steps forward in the refinement of "electrical entertainment." That was not taken too seriously by many within the industry, but the engineers, it now appears, were not far from the mark when they put the word "electrical" in front of the commodity with which show business is concerned. Whatever qualms were felt for the dangers of films becoming too mechanical are fast disappearing as improvements not much thought of before the advent of talkies now come along to make the theatre a better and more efficient work-shop for the creative artist, to say nothing of what the production branch of the industry has done.

Styles in Advertising

IN his address over the radio on new ideas in international advertising, Dr. Julius Klein. Assistant Secretary of Commerce, offered some interesting comment on the "bizarre" and "ultra-modernistic" devices which are being used extensively in Germany.

"It undeniably compels attention—apparently because of these unbridled incursions of the subconscious imagination," he said. "And the observer is suddenly struck by the idea that perhaps the Freudian psychology, with all its monstrous mechanism of 'complexes' and dream interpretation, is being called into play as a sales weapon by some continental advertisers.

"Conversely, others, on reflection, will argue that because of the exotic art the (Continued on page 70)

CONVENTION DISCUSSIONS REFLECT INFLUENCE OF TALKIES ON AIR CONDITIONING

Discussion of new developments for application to air conditioning systems in picture studios and theatres to meet demands for silent operation created by the talking films was a prominent feature of the Carrier Engineering Corporation's annual engineering and sales convention held at the company plant in Newark, N. J. Photo above shows engineers from all of the offices of the organization who were called to Newark for the convention, conducted under the direction of E. T. Murphy, vice-president in charge of sales.

"I may be dumb, but I know when the lights goes out!"

"Say, listen Leona, if you haven't sow Rovani Bologni in the 'Occasional Bride' down at the Gaiety, you simply gotta see that show, It's one of the swellest pitchers I ever seen! That's where I went yesterday, only I started to see it the day before yesterday, like I was going ta tell you, but something broke down and they couldn't go on with the show. And mebbe I wasn't mad! It was right where things begin to get exciting, if you know what I mean, when it broke. Well, mebbe things like that used to hoppen when grandpa was a flaming youth, but I always say there ain't no excuse for it nowadays, so I walked right out. I should poy to get in and then stay there without seeing anything! And onyway, someone got up and said they was sorry but the show couldn't go an, and wauldn't we get tickets at the door and everything would be all right again next afternoon. Imagine onything as crazy as that! So when I gat in the labby there was the fella that runs the joint passing out the rain checks and I walks up to him and soys, 'Listen, what do you think this is, 1885 or something? I came here to see a pitcher not to sit in the dark!'
I am sorry, madam,' he says to me, 'but the accident was unavoidable, accidents will happen sometimes." 'O, yeh?' I says to him, 'Well, listen, I may be o home girl, but I have been around enough to know that moving pitcher shows ought not to bust down like 1001 flivvers! Oh, did I lay him to the daisies! So he says, But, madam, you dan't understand!' 'Oh, I dan't?' I come back at him, 'Well, listen, Wisdom Tooth, I may be dumb, but I know when the lights goes out!' With that, I walks out an him cold and anly leave him a dirty look to remember me by. But 1 took the rain check anyhow, dearie, because I always say it's all right to be proud as lang as you don't carry it too far. So I went back yesterday and everything was fixed up all right again. And believe me, kid, if it hadn't a been that jaint wouldn't never have got no more of my shekels!

"But mebbe that isn't a swell pitcherl—where Ravani Bologni—that's her sweetie, see,—comes in and finds her alone with her husband, mebbe he don't DO things! Gash, I think he's simply gargeaus, sa listen, kid, you simply gotto see that pitcher!"

HERE are two practical ways of taking out insurance against an interrupted or a completely stopped show: the purchase of good equipment and the use of reliable maintenance service. Today the National Rebuilding and Repair Division is a vital and strongly forged link in the chain of complete theatre service. From coast to coast National Repair Shops are completely equipped to take care of any job—from supplying an emergency mechanism on a moment's notice, to the thorough rebuilding of projector or generator. These shops are staffed by expert machinists and electricians schooled in modern factory methods. Throughout every phase of their craft none but genuine repair parts are used. If overhauling is needed in your booth, don't wait until an emergency! When you get an estimate on the job from your nearest National Branch you'll know why expert maintenance service is one form of insurance you can't afford to be without.

And if an emergency does arise—if a generator gaes dead or a mechanism "freezes," there's no greater mental relief for an Exhibitor than the knowledge that a phone call to his neorest Notional bronch will get those needed repairs as ropidly as is humanly possible to make them... for National Repair Experts and their Exhibitor friends work under the same slogon—
"The Show Must Go On."

Self-Advertising Screens More Popular with Talk Added

Use of Talking Trailers Increases as Exploiteers Rely More of "Samples" to Sell Attractions

SCREEN advertising by means of advance trailers long has been the mainstay of exploitation at the picture theatres, and in this era of audible screens, the exhibitors and exploiters are relying even more upon the advance "samples" of coming attractions than ever in the past, a fact evidenced by the large increase in the demand for sound trailer prints reported by leading companies furnishing this advertising service.

As an example of the increased use of trailer advertising, there were fifteen "Hollywood Revue" trailers shown in as many different theatres in Philadelphia to exploit the M-G-M attraction at the Aldine Theatre. The campaign was handled by William Ferguson, head of the M-G-M exploitation department.

Roger Ferri of the Fox exploitation department used seven prints of the talking trailer on "The Cock Eyed World" when it played the Strand in Milwaukee the trailers being shown concurrently in other Fox Midwesco houses.

It is estimated that the seven prints shown in the Midwesco houses made a direct advertising appeal to approximately 300,000 theatregoers in behalf of "The Čock Eyed World" showing at the Strand. On this basis fifteen "Hollywood Revue" trailers which were shown in Philadelphia reached nearly a million patrons of the screen.

Production Problems

The introduction of talkies has given producers and distributors of synchronized and talking trailers, practically the same problems and obstacles to overcome as were experienced by photoplay producers.

Like the producers whose pictures were first made in silent form and then synchronized later with sound, the trailers had to be treated in the same manner. That is, the practice was to give sound and music accompaniment to the former silent trailers.

The transition to follow paralleled studio production. First, pictures with sound and effects, then sound pictures with music accompaniment and later a few talking sequences, and finally all talking pictures.

Revolution in Styles

During these rapid changes in sychronized film entertainment the trailers had to be revolutionized as well.

Trailer producers tackled this problem with vigor, and are now meeting the heavy demand resulting from increased use of trailers.

In order to meet a growing demand for announcement trailers, special openings and closings, and other kinds of advance announcements, the National Screen Service formed a "special service department."

Meet New Conditions

In this department changes have developed to meet new conditions. At first special announcements were printed on cards and then photographed. But the demand for beauty and artistry stepped rapidly forward with the result that the treatment for announcement trailers received the same thought and care as did its more lusty trailer brothers. Special art work was used together with fancy art borders, descriptive of the general appeal message of the trailer itself. Then followed special animated announcements, and later the moving art background.

Technically, trailers are receiving the same attention that is given feature productions they advertise. Some years ago it was just a matter of words on the screen, but times have changed. Exhibitors and the public as well, are demanding that their advertising dishes be presented to them with the same beauty and art touches as presented in regular film entertainment. As a result of this, titles are now dissolved one into another, the fade in and fade out is used, and special tinting and toning is added in order to give the trailer an artistic touch of color. This same process is done with the trailer of 35 feet the same as the larger ones and is, in a small degree, similar in treatment given to the feature length productions now appearing on the theatre screen.

In order to facilitate distribution of talking trailers, National Screen Service maintains branch offices in Chicago and Los Angeles. The Chicago office is managed by Hal Young and the Los Angeles office managed by Jack Fier. The foreign office which handles all Continental divisions is in charge of Paul Kimberley.

Special service departments are maintained in each branch. The Los Angeles office has an added duty to perform inasmuch as it is the contact office for the West Coast studios. It is their duty to keep in touch with studio operation and see that trailer material is sent to New York as soon as available.

Theatre Ad Campaigns to Stress "Healthy Air Year 'round"

NSTITUTIONAL campaigns featuring "year round air conditioning" are to be conducted on a scale more extensive and intensive this winter season than ever in the past, according to plans now nearing completion by exploitation departments of a large number of leading theatres.

The power of the advertising used last winter to offset the effects on attendance of flu epidemics have not been forgotten, and with the added stimulus of demonstrations last summer, when air conditioning plants enabled theatres to run up new high box office records for hotweather periods, plans for capitalizing the "perfect weather" angle of modernly equipped houses are far more elaborate than in past seasons, even at theatres where the year 'round campaigning has been a notable feature of institutional selling.

Due to the stress which has been placed on "refrigeration" as a summer-time slogan, many theatre patrons consider ventilation primarily as a method for cooling the theatre in summer. Advertising will be used to educate the public to the fact that "refrigeration" or "cooling" for summer is supplanted by heating in the operation of the theatre air conditioning plant in winter, and that the atmosphere created by means of the modern conditioning plants is as important a health factor in winter as summer.

According to present indications the time is not far distant when "healthier inside" will be used as extensively as a winter season slogan as the familiar "cooler inside" line is now used during the hot weather seasons.

In connection with the advertising, of course, it is important that the air conditioning plants be run in a manner to produce the results patrons will be promised, and managers of the houses to be exploited are being instructed to have their systems checked and to operate them so as to maintain a constant temperature of 70 degrees F. with a relative humidity of from 35 to 40 per cent, which constitutes the so-called "comfort zone."

The recommended relative atmosphere to be maintained in winter is as follows: when outside temperature—dry bulb-registers 30 F. or below; inside dry bulb should register 70-72; inside wet bulb 15 to 16 degrees below dry bulh; humidity inside should be 40 to 50 per cent; and dew point should be 38 M to 50 degrees. Outside temperatures of above 30 degrees F., call for an inside temperature of 72 degrees; with similar conditions quoted above for the wet bulb, humidity and dew point readings.

Portable Sound Film Projectors for Non-Theatrical Field

ANUFACTURERS of sound reproducing equipment are ready with apparatus of the type required for the application of talkies to educational work as well as industrial and sales promotional efforts.

Announcement by William Fox on the 25th anniversary of his association with the industry, that he would devote his personal funds and his production and organization experience to the development of educational pictures, emphasized more forceably than perhaps anything in the past has, the rich field for talkies in education and the great promise which they offer as a new vital source of information and knowledge, accurately revealed in the unmistakable terms of actual pictures described and explained by competent authorities.

Both Western Electric and RCA Photophone have now in production portable sound reproducing projectors for the showing of standard 35 mm. sound films. And both companies are working on elaborate plans for the development of talking pictures in the industrial and educational fields.

The RCA portable packs into four trunks—one containing the amplifier, another the projector, another for the horn and a fourth for the screen. The projector is designed to operate from a power source of 110 volts, 60 cycle alternating current, and has a standard sound film speed of 90 feet a minute. A picture 6 by 8 feet can be projected at a distance of 50 feet; pictures of other dimensions are possible with different lenses. In all its connections, the new equipment is foolproof with non-interchangeable plugs preventing error in connections.

THE amplifying system is alternating current-operated, adaptable to direct current. Equipment similar in every detail to RCA Photophone apparatus supplied for sound-on-film operation in the world's largest theatres is furnished, including a new improved volume control allowing adjustment from zero to maximum in steps of 2 TU. Rectifiers furnish the necessary direct currents.

One of the exclusive elements of the equipment is accommodation in the amplifier for a second projector. This arrangement also provides a sound change-over switch, as in regular theatre installations, for changing from one projector to the other.

THE loudspeaker is of an improved design capable of giving excellent speech intelligibility in any room or hall where a person speaking can be understood. Provision is made for mounting the speaker behind the picture screen.

The entire projector and sound head are built of unit design, being designed at the General Electric laboratories.

The Western Electric apparatus also packs into four trunks. The amplifier is battery-operated, and the entire system follows, insofar as miniature design will permit, the features of the standard systems for permanent installation in theatres and auditoriums.

The projector is built in a case which is set up on a table or stand. A DeVry projector mechanism is used, with the sound-head mounted in the case with the projector. The apparatus is capable of projecting pictures of sufficient size and giving sound volume sufficient to be used for the exhibition of talkies in auditoriums large enough to accommodate about 800 persons.

The Western Electric Portable Equipment. The apparatus consists of a reproducer or sound picture projector about the size of the average suit case; an amplifier, horn with receiver and a screen. The entire equipment is transported in four specially prepared tranks and can be easily handled and moved. The projector is capable of a throw of about 60 feet, and the amplifier is sufficient to fill the average auditorium designed to accommodate about 800 persons.

In contrast to this, he said, an exhibit at the recent convention of the International Advertising Association at Berlin, seemed just a bit old-fashioned. Some of the German window displays he said were "so beantiful in their colorful simplicity that they seem like Reinhardt stage settings," adding "One seldom sees in American stores such extraordinary window art."

In testimony to what effective lighting can do to stimulate trade, Dr. Klein cited two experiments made hy the Paeific Coast Electrical Association. Modern lighting equipment was installed in two shops, a jewelry store and a confectionery and lunch room, which formerly were poorly lighted, a close check on the business done was made before and after the change.

"Under the old lighting," Dr. Klein continued, "less than 17 per cent of the passers-by stopped to look into the jewelry store window, but with good modern lighting the percentage jumped to 70. For the lunch room, the increase in the advertising value of the brighter windows was from 21 to 52 per cent, by actual count." The jeweler who is now spending $30 more per month for electricity, is getting four times as much advertising value from his wiudows, and his actual business has increased 27 per cent.

Selling by Radio

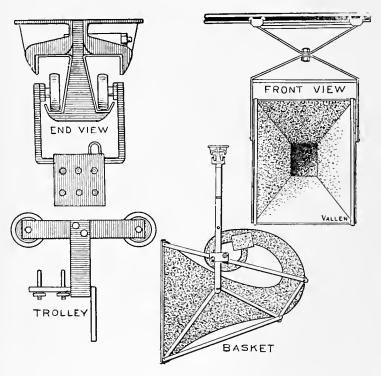

SHOWMEN were provided a rather strik-ing example of the value of radio broadeasts as stimulators of trade when President Hoover suddenly decided he would like to see the fourth World's Series game in Philadelphia, because, it was said, he had listened in to the broadcast of the preceding day's game and experienced a sudden revival of enthusiasm for the sport. That event served to remind how unfounded were the fears that were expressed by all lines of amusement leaders when radio first became popular. Picture showmen were among those who viewed with alarm, but they learned that they had a new and powerful ally to accrte new patrons for their shows through the samples they sent out over the air. The picture showman who pioneered in the radio field, Roxy, is the one who, when home-television was first talked about said he looked forward to its perfection, because "we will have another avenue of approach to the attention of the masses of people. Now for publicity that will tell people how our actors and our scenes appear we are dependent upon stilllife reproductions in newspapers. Bringing people into our theatres for a brief visit hy means of sending pictures of it into their homes is going to make more patrons for us than ever we have been able to reach with present facilities." Home television will be with us some day, according to engineers long before the device will be available for theatre uses, but the fears of many showmen that they can go out of husiness when it does come are as unfounded as were the apprehensions of many

JUST as it is possible to distribute water flowing in a main into various channels by employing pipes of different diameters, so as to admit varying quantities of water with respect to time, it is possible to distribute voltage available from one source according to whatever ratio may be desired. This is equally true of A.C. and D.C. potentials. And the unit employed to accomplish this end, discloses itself by its name, by the work it is called upon to do. This unit is the voltage divider. Since resistances are most frequently employed, we shall consern ourselves with the resistance type of voltage divider.

Picture a source of voltage E, connected across a resistance R. Where we have voltage and resistance, we must have current, hence a certain amount of current is naturally flowing through the resistance. In turn where we have resistance and current, we must have voltage. In a pure resistance cireuit, Ohm's law for current, voltage and resistance as applied to D. C. is wholly applicable to A. C. If we have current I flowing through R, the product of IR will be equal to E. The resistance element R, as shown is a single unit and since the voltage is applied across the resistance, whatever value of current may be due to E divided by R, is present in every part of the resistance, or in any section of the resistance. Since E is equal to IR, and I is constant through out the resistance, we can take any definite portion of the total resistance R and have a voltage present across this section. Since I is constant, the voltage across this section, let us call it R1, will vary with respect to the total voltage across R as R1/R. If we call this fractional voltage E1, then E1 will be equal to E x (R1/R), or if you so desire as IR1. If E is 100 volts and R is 100 volts, the current in R will be 1 ampere. Now if we wish to use just a part of the voltage available across R, we tap a certain section of R, say the section designated as R1 and assume that it is 10 ohms. We know that the current flow through R, hence its part R1, is 1 ampere, therefore IRI will be 1 x 10 or 10 volts. In turn, the relation R1/R represents a certain ratio of resistances, in this case 10/100 or .1. That is, the section R1 is .1 of the total R. If the total voltage across R is 100 volts, the voltage across R1 will be .1 of the voltage across R or 10 volts. In turn E x R1/R is 100 x (10/100) or 10 volts.

It is therefore evident that by adjusting the slider upon the resistance R, we can secure any value of voltage between 0 and 100 volts or any value of voltage between 0 and the maximum across R, in the event that the voltage across R is greater than the value cited in the example.

TELEPHONE JACK

Q UITE a few talkie panels are equipped with telephone jacks and cords, the former being located in various power circuits and the latter being records. various power circuits and the latter being connected to indicating instruments, the two being so arranged that when the cable plug is inserted into a jack, the indicating instrument or meter is inserted into the plate circuit and shows the potential across certain points in that circuit, such as filament, plate and grid voltage or the meter is in series with the system and shows, filament, grid or plate current.

The jack is nothing more than a number of contacts so arranged that certain circuits connected to these contacts are either closed or open at normal seiting. The jack elements are so shaped that a plug may be inserted between the elements, to make contact with the elements, thus becoming a part of the circuit connected to the elements.

The types of jacks used differ according to the requirements. When the circuit is to remain closed without the meter being in the circuit, a closed circuit jack is employed. The closed contacts are momentarily opened when the meter plug is inserted but upon insertion the circuit is again closed. In certain systems, when it is not very satisfactory to suddenly open a power circuit and thus remove the load from some device, such closed circuit jacks are operated in conjunction with a resistance connected across the closed terminals.

For voltage measurements an open circuit jack is employed, with open elements without the meter being plugged in. When the meter plug is inserted, the plug contacts make connection with the jack elements and the meter is connected across what ever two points are to be measured.

In certain cases, multiplied resistances are connected in series with one of jack elements, so that when the meter is plugged into the circuit, the resistance functions as a series multiplier. This arrangement permits the use of one range voltmeter to be used for the measurement of all values of voltage. The use of the series multiplier automatically increases the range of the measuring device as it is plugged into the respective jacks.

Physical contact with jacks located on panels should be avoided particularly if they are voltage jacks, because one is apt to secure a very had and disagreeable shock. Frequent reference to voltage and current readings can never do harm and constitutes one of the best methods of keeping tab upon the operating voltages and the condition of the devices which supply the operating potentials. . . Nothing can be taken for granted in an electrical circuit.

POWER TRANSFORMERS

A LARGE number of sound installations secure operating potentials required for the vacuum tubes by A rectifying A.C. into D.C. (See item 600.3). The initial power is secured from the regular lighting and power mains in the building. This energy is then fed into a device known as a transformer, in this case a power transformer, the function of which is to transfer power from one voltage to another. (For elementary principles, see item 800.41.)

This device consists of a number of windings, a primary into which is fed the power from the lighting mains, and a number of secondary windings designed to afford power at various voltages. In other words, to afford definite voltages at prescribed current values. While the primary winding is usually singular in number, the secondary windings are usually from 1 to six, depending upon the number of separate circuits which are to be supplied with power. It is customary to provide a separate circuit or winding for each voltage requirement.

When operated under normal conditions, the voltage available from the various output windings vary according to the relation between the number of turns in the individual output windings and the number of turns in the primary winding. That is to say, between each separate winding and the primary. If the turns in one of the ontput windings is less than the number of turns in the primary or input winding, the voltage from that output winding will be less than the input voltage to the transformer. In other words the voltage will he "stepped down." In turn if one of the windings (output) has more turns than the primary winding, the voltage from the output winding will be greater than the input voltage. In this case the voltage is "stepped up." Hence a transformer may be a "step-up" transformer or a "step-down" transformer, depending upon the turns in the respective windings, or a combination "stepup and step-down'' transformer, as is the case in the majority of power transformers in use in talkic power units.

The magnitude of the output voltage is governed as was mentioned, by the turns in the primary winding and the separate secondary or output windings, to be exact as the ratio between the turns in the output winding and the turns in the primary winding. If we assume a transformer with a primary P or 100 turns, and three secondaries S1, S2 and S3 of 5, 20 and 1,000 turns respectively, and an input voltage (into the primary) of 110 volts, the voltage output from S1 will be N_s1/N_p multiplied by the input voltage of 5/100 x 110 or 5.5 volts. From S2, 20/100 x 110 or 22 volts. From S3, 1,000/100 x 100 or 1,100 volts. In all of the above N designates the number of turns.

 Excessive A.C. hum or ripple in the output
- Dead eliminator
 Poor design and voltage regulation

It is logical that each of the above general faults has a number of contributory causes, for example: No. 1 may be due to

- Low line voltage Defective rectifier tube or element Excessive voltage drop in filter system
 - No. 2 may be due to
- Low line voltage Defective rectifier or element Shorted filter choke
- - No. 3 may be due to
- No line voltage Defective transformer Defective rectifier
- - No. 4 may be due to
- a. Incorrect transformer-rectifier combination
 b. Wrong rectifier
 c. Incorrect filter unit constants

- Insufficient voltage input to eliminator or rectifier Excessive load upon eliminator
- 45 . 3 Ble a
- d. Open input filter condenser or defective filter condenser
- Lack of proper bypass condenser in voltage divider
- Open filter choke or circuit Shorted filter condenser
- Lack of bypass condensers Poor contacts

If we analyse each of the above mentioned possible troubles, we find that each in turn has many associated possible points of defect and contributory reasons for the defect. While troubles in an amplifier are usually singular in number, the association of equipment allied with a B eliminator is such that one defect in the amplifier or a defect in one part of the eliminator may cause the advent of trouble in another part of the eliminator.

A very frequent defect is rupture of the output filter condenser, the one serving as the tank condenser to supply energy for the plate current variations of the audio tubes.

"Canned Music" in Church

FAR from becoming a bane of people, "canned music" seems to be gaining new adherents. An Associated Press despatch from Berlin tells that phonograph records are replacing regular church music in a suburban church there. The full-toned volume of organ music is obtained by having two records playing simultaneously on synchronated machines, their sound being magnified by loud speakers built into the former organ loft, according to the despatch, which continues: Enthusiasts for the system declare that with this enlargement of the sound, its mechanical characteristics are no longer noticeable, and experts are making records of the entire liturgical music of the service.

Roxy's Elaborate Stage Shows

THAT both the canned music and the natural article can flourish under the same roof is heing evidenced in practically all of the leading theatres around the country. Theatres with established reputations for good musical presentations continue to stress these attractions, and many are putting even greater emphasis on them. At Roxy's for example, the stage shows, mainly musical, are more elaborate than ever they have been in the past. Two weeks ago the offering was a very elaborate presentation of Rimsky-Korsakoff's Scheherazade," the ballet heing augmented by a chorus and the most lavish settings, costumery and lighting. For this bill, the bishop of Broadway's Cathedral of the Motion Picture, as Roxy has been called, wrote a personal message over his signature to advertise the show in the New York papers. A portion of his description of the ballet is interesting, since it reveals his own appraisal of the work, and gives a very good description of just what this fine production offered patrons of the Roxy was. Here it is:

"It will be mounted in six scenes and will be the most complete presentation of this famous work ever given in the world. We helieve it to be not only the crowning artistic achievement of this huge institution, but an epoch-making contribution to the American theatre.

"These two features together constitute a performance so remarkable that no one can afford to miss it. In spite of the huge expense and great effort, we have decided not to raise our prices. In the early or late afternoon and early evening you will be most likely to gain quick admission and a desirable seat. Midnight performances every evening conveniently begin after the regular theatre hour."

New Musical Novelties

TWO musical devices of recent development may find application in picture theatres as novelty presentations. These are the Theremin, an electrical instrument so sensitive to movement that the mere waving of hands in its immediate presence brings forth musical notes, and the so-called Projection Osiso, which enables one to see as well as hear tones.

The Theremin is in commercial production by RCA. It is the machine that looks like a radio receiver and is made to play tunes by an operator who merely waves the hands over the hox, and according to its inventor, Professor Theremin, it can be played by anyone after a short period of training. The instrument gives forth tones similar to those of a 'cello.

The Projection Osiso visualizes by means of lines on a screen the result of tone waves on the air. A microphone is set up near the player of whatever instrument is used, and the sound is then visualized in light projected on the screen.

New Projectors

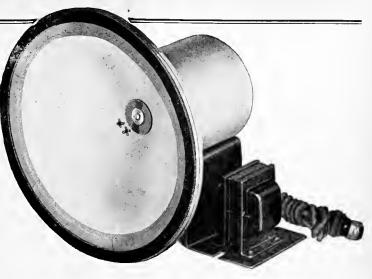

THE devices used by Loew's and Publix in connection with their enlarged pietures are exclusive to their organizations. Each has developed their own method for handling the film under the conditions required. One of the main difficulties eneountered years ago when magnified projection was attempted-Griffith wanted to do it in connection with the showing of his "Intolerance" in Los Angeles, and others made efforts toward the result that is obtained today even earlier it is said-this chief problem was the lack of a light source sufficient to give the necessary illumination to cover the enlarged screen. The light used now is a high-intensity searchlight arc. This, of course, generates a great amount of heat, and a device must be used to prevent burning of the film. This factor it is said will result in a change of position of the shutter to a place between the light and the film in all makes of projectors.

stage transformer input, resistance intermediate and transformer output coupled affair. The 42A is a stage of transformer coupled push-pull amplification and employs two tubes in its power supply. The 43A is of like design but employs 50 watt tubes as amplifiers and twosimilar tubes as rectifiers and its source of operating potential.

With perhaps one or two exceptions, if that many, all of the independent reproducer installations employ A.C. as the original source of potential and provide D.C. for the grid and plate circuits by rectifying the A.C. with conventional rectifier tubes. Once again there is very little to choose between systems on this score, although mention must be made once more that there appears to be a variance in the usual load tolerance values allied with such rectifier systems. It seems as if some of the manufacturers feel inclined to increase the number of tubes in the system in the effort to secure greater stability of operation by employing separate rectifier arrangements. for the various amplifiers. For example, Amertran employs a separate single tube full wave rectifier as the power supply for the input and the intermediate amplifier and another two tube rectifier system as the power supply for the output stage. This practice is likewise common among other manufacturers.

On the other hand, some manufacturers operate as many as six tubes from a two-tube rectifier arrangement.

It seems strange to even write that some power amplifiers in use at the present time are not equipped with volume controls, but depend for sound control upon the fader. However, the majority of amplifiers equipped with volume control devices located at a point considered to be very favorable; namely, the gridfilament circuit of the first amplifying tube. The control devices assumes the role of a voltage divider connected across the transformer secondary with the moving contact connected to the grid.

Filters are quite common in grid and plate circuits of the various amplifiers in use today, and very little can be said on that score. A few systems make more abundant use of capacity-resistance filters than others, but, g e n erally speaking, the performance attributed to the use of such filters is equalled in other installations which employ other methods. Generally speaking, all systems seem sufficiently free from "hum" annoyance. .

Light and Lighting Control is Fundamental

The theatre has always been a place of contrasting lights and shades and light draws the crowds-brings them back. You can not overlook light in support of the rest of your program and if you agree on this you should consider the Major System as the proven leader of the field by hundreds of successful installations over all other types.

We believe in the ultimate success of theatres whose management thinks wisely along these lines.

NATURALNESS! UNI-DIRECTIONAL!

BOWL MODEL: Electrodynamic 10" Cone Speaker, Stonite Bowl. 6 feet in diameter, 18" deep, weight 575 pounds net. LIST PRICE $490.00.

UNI-DIRECTIONAL BOWL SPEAKER

DOWL SPEARER

Oesigned primarily for theatres which are approximately square. Because of its tremendously large size, the "wave front" which it produces makes it possible for the volume to carry to the very back of the bouse with sufficient clearness, yet suithout objectionable loudness for those in the front seats. Because of its reflecting type design, music and voice may be clearly and distinctly understood through an arc of 160° in front of the speaker. Reproduces both high and low frequencies faithfully which eliminates the harrelihe tone found in so many speakers. Makes the talking part of the movies a pleasure to listen to.

A 12 contact point type Fader. Each contact represents a definite wire wound resistance insuring at all times a con-stant and positive increase or decrease of amplifier input voltage. Can he used with either disc or sound-on-film equipment. List price, single Fader No. 341, $76.50. List price, Fader No. 341-D (with dummy), $125.00.

N entirely new conception in theatre speakers has been developed by our Engineering Department. This new UNI-DIRECTIONAL design embodies all of the desirable features which have been recognized in either the Air-Column or the Dynamic type of speaker, without the contingent disadvantages which are present when each is used separately.

All of the sound from the speaker is emitted from the front, thereby absolutely eliminating the troublesome back-stage acoustics.

ELECTRODYNAMIC AIR COLUMN Electrodynamic 10" Cone Small Size, MODEL S, list$300.00 Medium Size, MODEL M, list 440.00

UNI-DIRECTIONAL ELECTRODYNAMIC AIR COLUMN SPEAKER

Designed primarily for theatre work where a long narrow house presents acoustical difficulties by reason of reverberations between the walls. The design permits the higher frequencies to be radiated direct from the front of the cone itself, while the lower frequencies which come off the rare side of the cone tracerse the air-column. The combination of these two in the mouth of the speaker gives this speaker excellent carrying characteristics. Bass notes are not over-emphasized.

OPERADIO MFG.COMPANY ST. CHARLES, ILL.

Save Money on Tuning

When you permit the temperature of your pipe organ loft to become cold, it throws the pipes out of tune. Makes it impossible to bring out the exquisite tone qualities. Prevents you from doing justice to your work. And it adds far more to your tuning expense in one season than to maintain pipes at the temperature they were tuned.

PROMETHEUS Organ Loft Heater

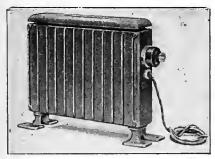

keeps the loft at the desired temperature, without danger of overheating or chilling, without waste of electricity, hy means of an automatic thermostat.

As it does not heat to a red temperature, there is no danger of fire. Does not dry out glue and open up joints in the wood-work.

Made of east-iron with aluminum finish. Nothing to get out of order. Sets directly on floor and occupies but little space.

Electric "Midnight Sun" Is New Display Device

A N electric "midnight sun" is a newly designed attractor which has been developed by the Flashtric-Neon Sign Works of Chicago. This device produces a sensational effect for night advertising. It is illuminated by red Neon tubes which are fastened vertically to a hollow metal ball. The ball is mounted on a steel structure and is revolved by an electric motor at 60 revolutions per minute. The effect produced is that of a blood-red setting sun, which from both distance and near to viewpoints has exceptional attraction value.

A time-clock allows for automatic operation of the attractor during the hours desired. The device is expected to find special popularity in the motion picture theatre field, as in both design and effect it is especially adaptable to the type of architecture and display now in vogue.

Blaze Proves Efficiency of Booth's Fireproof Design

Steel, fireproof projection rooms required in all Indiana theatres again demonstrated its efficiency when heavy loss to the Moon theatre, at Vincinnes, Ind., was averted after a film became ignited in the projection booth. All the steel shutters and the steel doors were closed by Walter Young, operator, when he was driven from the room. The loss was confined to the destruction of 2,000 feet of film and much damage to the amplifier. The operator was in another section of the room repairing a needle to a talking machine attachment and was unable to reach the projection machine until the fire was beyond control. There was nothing even resembling a panic in the audience.

Mobile Public Address Unit in Radio Receptor Line

A mobile public address annlifying unit built for mounting on a model A Ford truck, or car of similar size, is the newest contribution to the advertiser's tool box. The unit has been put on the market by the Radio Receptor Company, makers of amplifiers, microphones, and other radio devices, and is available for local representatives for use in connection with advertising by theatres and merchants.

The unit provides a complete power plant, consisting of batteries and generator, is included, as well as all incidental equipment. The amplifying system comprises a microphone mixing panel with a microphone amplifier underneath; a switching panel for radio, phonograph or nicrophone; a sound control panel for plus or minus gain; and a powerizer power amplifier. Several dynamic speakers complete the assembly.

Time to Debunk Sound Recording Business of Mystery He Says

A CCORDING to Terry Ramsaye, editor-in-chief for Pathe, the time has arrived to "debunk the sound recording business and take the mystery out of its processes." Ramsaye revealed his views regarding practices now in vogue in connection with the making of sound films at the recent meeting of the S. M. P. E. at Toronto, in a paper he presented under the title "The Human Equation in Sound Picture Production." "In its present status of development," he said "sound recording devices appear to need rather frequent attention and a considerable array of routine tests, but it is not unfair to say that its operation requires hardly more attention from the recordist than is necessary for the intelligent tuning of a fairly sensitive radio set. Yet, there is observable, a continual effort to camouflage the work with a great atmosphere of complexity and strange obscurities.

"Recently one of the companies with whose activities I am sometimes concerned had a simple task in re-recording a dramatic sound strip for the elimination of some minor faults of the negative,

"It is hardly necessary for this audience for me to interpose the statement that the best sound re-recording is now done by direct connection of the recorder with the amplifier serving the sound head, making the operation entirely an electrical operation without audible sound.

"Now the alleged technicians on this job insisted on delaying the work for two days and transporting and installing a ponderous belt-driven film phonograph, despite the fact that two perfect sound projecting machines were already available in the plant. I had the boldness to protest against the unnecessary delay and expense.

*But, the experts screamed at me, we have to keep away from the noise of the projector gears when we re-record.

"The situation is, however, no more serious in the field of sound than it once was in simple motion picture photography.

"As late as 1916, I found laboratory experts running around with mysterious little black books in their pockets, with secret formulae for making various tones on film. These secrets they so carefully guarded as their capital of skill had been published to the world for years by George Eastman. They were well known to any interested person who could read.

"In one of my annoyed hours the other day, I found that in producing Pathe Sound News with the excellent but ponderous camions made by the General Electric Company, we used 44.63 tone miles per second of edited screen time. Operating a big fleet of these big trucks makes newsreel production closely resemble the railroad business in terms of mileage and tonnage. We may recall that Mr. 4Thomas A. Edison's first motion picture camera was larger than a doghouse, and weighed about half a ton. It had less capacity for the same work than a five-pound automatic camera of today.

Kooler-Aire Completes New Installations on Coast

Bowen, coast division manager of Kooler-Aire Engineering Corp., has completed installation of Kooler-Aire systems in the sound test laboratories of ERPT: Young's California Theatre, Glendale, and the Alhambra Theatre, Los Angeles, operated by Lazarus-Vinnicoff circuit. How Cinephor Lenses help build your business Today, leading theatre owners recognize that the projection lens plays an important part in building good box office returns. Clear, realistic pictures and freedom from eye-strain help nearly as much as the feature film in winning and holding a profitable, night-after-night patronage.

To insure the best projection results, many projection experts insist on Cinephor lenses. Repeated tests have shown that Cinephors are unexcelled in definition, flatness of field, illumination, sharp focus and contrast between black and white.

These Acoustical Problems

2 Specialists Tell Difficulties That Must Be Overcome to Make the Talkies Satisfy Patrons and Pay Profits

Buying Acoustical Correction Results nitely demonby W. B. KING King Studios, Inc.

Since it has been so defistrated that theatres with good acoustics are the ones that are profiting by the sale of talking pictures, it is most difficult to understand the reason why the same exhibitors who would be quick with an answer defining some tangible reason why they add this equipment or that to improve their plant, are prone to appear puzzled and even panicky when advancing arguments why they should or should not have their theatres treated for acoustical defects. The very word acoustics seems to throw many exhibitors into a state of utter confusion.

The whole proposition becomes more amazing when we realize that those éxhibitors who are ignoring glaring acoustical faults in their theatres are among some of the leading showmen of the picture industry. There is no one in a better position to realize this than the people who are advancing the proposition of good acoustics.

Surely the expense involved in eliminating echoes, reverberation, and other sound troubles by means of modern methods cannot be the cause of the apparent indifference of exhibitors, for the greater number of them would readily purchase anything else pertaining to improving the general appointment of their theatres.

To exhibitors who are thinking of buying acoustical materials or treatment, I can only say, "If you are in doubt about the final outcome, visit some theatre that has been properly corrected of acoustical defects and analyze the situation from all angles, not forgetting the box office angle.

Radio Plus Movies picture Plus Acoustics

by DR. JOHN MINTON Consulting Engineer

The talking presents the film industry with a more difficult task than the radio industry has faced in the past. In the first place the talking picture engineers and research workers must utilize substantially everything the radio engineers have contributed in their branch of science.

In the next place, the movie engineers must utilize the knowledge acquired by the phonograph recording laboratories. The recording of records, be they the usual disc type or of the film type, requires exacting knowledge of numerous scientific methods and analyses, extending into the fields of radio, dynamics, acoustics, optics, and chemistry.

In the next place, the talking movie engineers must utilize to the fullest extent the knowledge of acoustic engineers. This extends into the field of space acoustics as involved in reproduction in theatres and auditoriums as well as those encountered in the making of the synchronized records. It encompasses a full knowledge of the transmission, reflection and absorption of acoustic energy.

A tremendous improvement, I maintain, can be made in reproduction. I do not wish to criticize but it seems to me that in the great majority of movie houses the loud speakers themselves give strikingly poor quality. I am inclined to believe that this in large part is due to the practice of using radio receiver loud speakers instead of speakers especially designed for talking motion picture use.

In this connection there is one point to which I wish to refer. In an empty house the speakers are worked easily, hence less distortion.

In the talking movies perfection and fidelity of reproduction must be more nearly approached than is necessary in radio, because of the simultaneous existence of both sight and hearing. At the present time, radio is superior to the talking movies.

The energy involved in the control of any of the individual lighting circuits is approximately one-tenth that consumed hy a pocket flash light. The energy controlled, however, runs as high as 30,000 watts in a given circuit.

In actual operation, the lighting operator will preset the individual modulators to create the desired lighting effect in the first scene and, when the performance starts, the modulators will be connected in the circuit by means of a master tumbler switch. Varying the intensity of the lights will then be merely a matter of turning the grand master knob, or other knobs as desired. During the first scene and in the interval between it and the following scene, the lighting effects for the subsequent scene will be preset at the modulators by the lighting operator and, when the change occurs, the first group of modulators will be disconnected from the circuit and the second connected in the circuit simply by a flick of the master tumbler switch.

Netoco Egyptian Adapts Ancient Designs to Modern Theatricals

NEW ENGLAND THEATRES Operating Corporation added to a rapidly expanding chain of de luxe picture houses one of the most luxurious and colorful theatres in the New England section with the opening on October 19th of the Netoco Egyptian in Brighton Center, a suburb of Boston.

The design was suggested by the Temple of Karnak, one of the world's show places, on the upper Nile. It provides the utmost in comfort to the theatre patron. Although very brilliantly colored as to decoration, the effect of the interior is impressive rather than sensational, indirect lighting from columns, canopies and friezes producing a harmonious ensemble.

Four lobbies including the outside vestibule lead into the main auditorium. The marquee is constructed to represent an ancient tent canopy. Two iron spears springing from sphinx heads support this canopy. The whole is illuminated by flood lights.

The stepped ceiling of the outside vestibule is supported by corbels and decorated in brilliantly colored Egyptian designs. The approach to the theatre proper is a gradually increasing kaleidoscope of color emerging into the magnificent panorama of an atmospheric auditorium.

In the outer lobby, the dado or wainscoting is of stone treated with the lotus bud pattern. Hugh stone blocks comprise the wall up to the ceiling. From the outer lobby, one passes into the Grand royer.

A series of heavy beams supports the ceiling. Along either wall are colonnades, making use of the favorite Egyptian method of engaging a doorway between two pillars. Soft indirect lighting adds an atmosphere of mystery to the effect. The scarab or solar disk is worked into the decorative scheme. The room resembles the interior of a temple with lighted braziers and tall palms. Hieroglyphics are arranged in decorative patterns about the pillars and walls.

The promenade is shaped in the sector of a circle, with stepped ceiling, and hieroglyphic decorations 'dominating.

Entering the auditorium, one is immediately struck by the magnitude and splendor of the architectural scheme. The forecourt of an Egyptian temple is represented; overhead fleecy clouds and twinkling stars are set in an azure sky. To the rear of the auditorium, this sky merges gradually into a decorated ceiling over the stadium. Against each wall, huge columns in series of three are capped with the favorite campaniform cap. At the organ grille, figures holding the solar disk are projected. The exits are hung with black velvet draperies richly figured. The proscenium arch is framed along the top by a winged scarab 20 feet long, and on either side by two pilasters surmounted by sphinx heads.

DON'T BE MISLED

IGHTING engineers are unanimous in their opinion that oxidized aluminum has an exceptionally high factor of light reflection.

Laboratory research proves that oxidized aluminum averages at least 71% absorptive power, while Chromium plated metal averages 64%. Therefore, Oxidized Aluminum finish is recommended where effects of vivid white light intensities are desired.

Hub-O-Lite White Gold Finish Reflectors have passed every laboratory test. Expert operators of theatre lights use White Gold Finish Reflectors because of the following evidences of their superiority:

They produce lighting effects 50% more brilliant than reflectors of any other finish.

They intensify the diffusion of light.

Their finish will not wear off because they are not plated.

They last longer than any other light reflectors.

It will be a pleasure to demonstrate to you the advantages of aluminum finished reflectors, and of other desirable theatre ighting effects, in our completely equipped miniature laborlatory-theatre maintained at our factory.

EVENHEETERS Keep Your Pipe Organ in Perfect Condition always

F your pipe organ "goes flat" with the coming of cold weather, it needs Evenheeters. Cold and dampness can be driven out of your organ chambers, ot surprisingly law cost, by the installation of these widely used and popular units... Prepare your pipe organ for the coming busy season. Give your organist new incentive to exercise his skill on an organ always in tune. Evenheeters will remove the couse of flot, off pitch tones and "sticky" staps by maintaining the proper temperature in your organ chambers.

Ask your maintenance mon about them. Our engineering staff will be pleased to recommend the proper wattage for your equipment. Just send us a blue print or sketch giving full dimensions of the chambers and outside wall exposure and we will immediately send you our recommendations. Do it today.

BURT REPRODUCER ON POWERS PROJECTOR

Features

SYNCHRONOUS MOTOR DRIVE (110 or 220 volts, 50 or 60 cycles). Prevents variation in speed from variation in line voltage, or projection load.

THE SUPER CELLS used require only two stages in head amplifier, hence less distortion. EASE OF THREADING. When running disk or silent, the Sound-on-Film unit is not threaded. Sound-on-Film threads as easily as through a Powers gate.

TURN TABLE IS ACCESSIBLE, being up high at the side of the machine.

EASY TO INSTALL. Installation can be made by the ordinary operator, and wire man. PROJECTOR HEAD is driven by its main drive gear and is not required to drive any part of the sound equipment.

ONLY THREE SHAFTS: (1) Motor Drive Shaft, (2) Sound Film Shaft, (3) Disk Table Shaft.

VARIABLE Speed can he used for making schedule by driving the head off the Powers Motor, when running silent. Change from synchronous drive to variable speed drive requires about ten seconds.

No Universals—No flexible couplings, flexible shafts, or long unsupported shafts are used, as these produce tremolo.

FIRE HAZARD IS DECREASED by use of this equipment. Failure of take-up does not cause film to pile up in light.

Carrier Engineering Opens Offices in Dallas

The Carrier Engineering Corporation has opened a permanent engineering and sales office and shop at 2706 Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas.

For some years the company has been engaged in a succession of extensive air conditioning installations in public and industrial buildings in the Southwest. The Palace Theatre, in Dallas, was one of the very first theatres of the country to have a complete air conditioning system, including provisions for cooling and de-humidifying during the Summer.

Thos. M. Cunningham, who has supervised many of the installations made in Texas, is manager of the new office. William Moler will be associated with Mr. Cunningham.

Start Campaign to Educate Public on Projection

William E. Canavan, International President of the I. A. T. S. E. & M. P. M. O., will address the Trade and Public Press at a luncheon to be held by the Projection Advisory Council, at the Hotel Astor, New York, November 14th. It is believed that it is the first attempt of this nature to secure recognition of the responsibilities of the projectionist and the importance of projection.

For many years projectionists and others interested in projection have realized that there was urgent need that the Press should be better informed regarding the technical side of the motion picture industry. After Mr. Canavan's talk, an open forum will be held and the Press invited to ask questions,

PROGRESSIVELY ENGINEERED:

WURDACK

STAGE SWITCHBOARD

In constructing a stage switch-board, the all important thing is engineering. Meticulous care in the selection of materials, skill in workmanship and rigid inspection, all have their place, but unless co-related by sound, progressive engineering, they lose their value.

The creative thinking that makes the Wurdack Stage Switchboard such a satisfactory piece of equipment is the product of an engineering staff whose minds are free from the shackles of obsolete traditions and whose talents are given free reign to re-design and reconstructevery detail where research, experiment and practical use show the possibility of improvement.

That the product of such a group of men, keenly sensitive to the switchboard requirements of the modern theatre, school or auditorium, is daily winning an increasing success, is only to be expected. The switchboard illustrated above, recently built for the Colfax Theatre in South Bend, Ind., is indicative of the advanced design, neat workmanship and thoroughbred quality construction of the Wurdack Stage Switchboard.

Carewe To Produce Talkers In England

Edwin Carewe for several years a producer for United Artists shortly leaves for England to assume the post as general manager of Wembley National Film Studios, Ltd., which plans to produce dialogue features for distribution in both England and the United States. The former exposition buildings at Wembley are now being reconstructed so that the company will have a total of eight, sound stages.

Carewe is already gathering a production staff in Hollywood to take ahroad with him in December. It is reported that he has approached several first-line directors now working in Hollywood with contracts calling for series of two to five productions. In addition to directors, Carewe is negotiating with enough cameramen, cutters, editors, and writers, to organize five units.

Wembley National Film Studios are reported to have the backing of Lord Beaver-brook.

First National Building $300,000 Recording Unit

The First National studios at Burbank will be augmented by a $300,000 recording plant, the ground for which was broken this week. It will supplement the recording laboratories already in use and will provide for recording 20 productions simultaneously from ten stages and ten location units. The new hullding, 150 by 75 feet, will be two stories in height and will include two projection rooms, several monitor rooms and rooms for electrical apparatus.

The Road Show

(M-G-M—All Dialogue)
Looks Big

(Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

PRODUCED as the successor of "Broadway Melody," "The Road Show" looks better than the latter. The production will be music to the theatre box offices, and big time musical entertainment to audiences throughout the country—provided the market is not surfeited with this type of picture.

Bessie Love and Charles King are in the featured spots, with an excellent supporting cast. The inimitable Marie Dressler, with two comedy song numbers and several comedy sequences with Polly Morau, stops the show several times. Bessie Love is outstanding in the lead. Jack Benny is a natural as the show manager, while Charles King gets over nicely.

The story, nicely developed and handled, details the experiences of a musical comedy road show touring the one night stands. Story development and various musical numbers are interwoven cleverly and smoothly.

Produced and released by M-G-M. Story and continuity by Bess Meredyth. Adapted by Wells Root. Dialogue by Charles Reisner, Rohert Hopkins, and Kenyon Nicholson. Music and lyrics by Milton Ager and Jack Yellen, with interpolations by Fred Fisher, Louis Alter, Joe Goodwin, George Ward, Regie Mont gomery. Directed by Charles Reisner. Photographed by Ira Morgan. Length, about 8,100 ft. Running time about 1 hour 30 minutes. Release date, undetermined.

"Little Johnny Jones"

(First National-All Dialogue)

Strong Programmer (Reviewed by Red Kann)

EDDIE BUZZELL, fresh from musical comely, comes through with a couple of colors flying bravely in the breeze. He is a surprise the pleasant kind.

The picture is hased on George M. Cohan's famous stage play of the same name. It concerns a jockey, played by Buzzell, who is accused unjustly of throwing the race and who goes to England where he regains both his reputation and the love of the daughter of Yankee Doodle's owner. Not a weighty yarn, but very well handled by Mervyn Le Roy. His treatment carries a warmth and a naturalness that do much to make the picture the entertainment affair that it is. The cast is very good. Buzzell photographs well, acts apparently without restraint and warbles a couple of songs pleasantly. Alice Day does nice work in a so-so part, but Edna Murphy playing a blonde vamp part is pretty terrible.

You won't remember "Little Johnny Jones" after leaving the theatre, but undouhtedly the votes of popular favor will declare it in.

Produced and distributed by First National. Story based on stage comedy by George V. Cohan. Scenario and dialoque by Adelaide Heilbron. Directed by Mervyn Le Roy. Edited by Frank Ware. Photographed by Faxon Deaut. Length, 6,621 feet. Running time, 1 hour, 13 minutes. Release date, Nov. 17, 1929.

Marriage Playground

(Paramount—All Dialogue
An Excellent Picture
(Reviewed by Al Meyers)

DON'T be fooled by the title. It is distinctly not sexy run-of-the-mill, triangle stuff. Here is one you can sell to everyone.

Here is one you can sell to everyone.

"The Marriage Playground" is from Edith Wharton's novel "The Children." We are concerned with the vagaries of existence for the six young children of super-stimulated, pleasuremad parents. The kiddies are forced to look for mothering to their oldest sister, Judy. Her battle to keep them together and the solution of her problem through her romance with Martin make up the story.

This is by no means an instantaneous wow, But it is a sure huild-up. Word-of-mouth recommendations will give it plenty of momentum. You can go the limit on Mary Brian, who gives the best performance in her career. Frederic March is accollent.

the best performance in the Community of the March, is excellent.

Produced and distributed by Paramount, From the novel "The Children" by Edith Wharton. Adaptation and dialogue by Doris Anderson. Screen play by J. Walter Ruben. Directed by Lothar Mendes. Photographed by Victor Milner. Length, about 8,100 feet. Running time, 1 hour and thirty minutes. Release date, Dec. 21, 1929.

Agreeable, Average Picture

(Reviewed by Tom C. Kennedy)

A ND still they come! Another romance of the stage and, like the others, the same stereotyped story, moving along in the usual, accepted manner. "Broadway Scandals" makes agreeable entertainment. Nothing to cheer about particularly, but nevertheless fashioned in the rounder mould."

Jack Egan falls in love with Sally O'Neil. They do a turn together in vaudeville where Carmel Mvers, playing the heavy, sees the boy and takes him away from Sally as her partner. They part only to meet later and everything turns jake. A very, very slight yarn, but the action, mild as it is, is interspersed with a song by Miss Myers, an impersonation which is clever by Miss O'Neil, and several songs by Egan, a recruit from the vaudeville stage. He has a pleasant voice and an ingratiating personality. Looks like a coming bet in talkers.

Imperfect Ladies

Musical Story Scores
(Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

THE Duncan Sisters bring forth many of their stage tricks and routines in their initial talking filmusical—and score. Although the two girls appeared in a silent production a few years ago, "Imperfect Ladies" demonstrates that what they need for film success is a musical production with a "mike" in front of them. "Imperfect Ladies," which may reach the market as "Cottons and Silks," shows off the "Imperfect Ladies," which may reach the market as "Cottons and Silks," shows off the Duncans to advantage—in fact, they are the entire show—and carry it along without any difficulty. There is a well developed story with romance, plenty of musical numbers, and sure-fire comedy dialogue, giving the pair plenty of opportunity to "do their stuff."

The girls are first presented as department store clerks, and jump from there into small time vaudeville. Babe falls in love with their piano player, is married, and the sisters split. The two girls are brought together again at the finish, with everything ending satisfactory—but the act still remains on the small time.

Sam Wood did an excellent job as director, getting plenty of story into a difficult spot, and putting over the comedy and musical numbers in fine style. Lawrence Gray, Jed Prouty, and Benny Ruhin are satisfactory.

Produced and released by M.G.M. Story by Byron Morgan and Alfred Block. Treatment and comedy dialogue by Al Boasberg. Dialogue by Willard Mack. Directed by Sam Wood. Photographed by Peverell Marley. Song lyries by Ballard Macdonald. Music by Dave Dreyer. Length, about 7,200 feet. Running time, 1 hour, 20 minutes. Release date, Nov. 30, 1929.

Jazz Heaven

(RKO-All Dialogue)

Fluff Entertainment

(Reviewed by Red Kann)

I NNOCUOUS, pleasant and frothy, "Jazz Heaven" won't leave any impression hecause it is such lightweight material. Merely the faintest of story threads courses through this latest Radio effort. Rather is the story, such as it is, used as an excuse to huild up episodic laugh situations. And it does.

Johnny Mack Brown, gentleman from the South, is a song writer struggling to pick the last notes of his opus out of the ether. Sally O'Neil, his nextdoor room mate, comes to the rescue. There springs up a friendship. Brown's piano is accidentally and humorously smashed, whereupon the couple repair to a piano factory and unwittingly happen into a hroadcasting room, where the piece is heard over the air. It proves a sensation and the means to a fortune for them. Joseph Cawthorn is introduced as a German music publisher. He is splendid, and together with Clyde Cook, who appears principally in the earlier part of picture, is responsible for the bulk of the entertainment.

The Painted Angel

(First National-All Dialogue)

So-So, That's All

(Reviewed by Red Kann)

A TALKER version revolving around the life of Texas Guinan, "The Painted Angel" starts off left-footed because the producer attempted to make the principal character so lily pure. Handicapped as it is, however, the picture comes through as an average program release. Not so cold, and certainly far from being hot.

Rodeo West, night club owner, is presented to you with a colorful, but always spotless background. She leads her men on, but apparently knows where and when to drop them. story thread is pretty slim, most of the footage revolving around dance and song numbers in Rodeo's night club, all of which have nothing to do with the case at hand.

Millionaire Oldfield loves Rodeo. Brood, played by Edmund Lowe, and incidentally far and away the best enacted part in the picture. Rodeo doesn't know it, but after plenty of reels discovers the flutterings in her heart and decides love is worth far more than millions. Exit story. Also picture.

The Flying Marine

Fair To Middling

(Reviewed by Tom C. Kennedy)

BROTHER yarn with the inevitable third angle in the presence of the girl. It makes merely satisfactory entertainment highlighted by unusually effective aeroplane stuff.

Many of the scenes shot at night are well nigh breath-taking in their effectiveness. Cameras aloft and from the ground obtained many interesting angles. From a production view point, these sequences are easily the highlight of the entire production and rank among the best air stuff filmed to date.

Ben Lyon is the marine flyer who returns home to annex part of his brother's commercial flying business as well as the love of Shirley Mason. That is, presumably so. They become engaged, but Lyon proves he is not the boy the girls thinks he is. Crashing while performing a stunt for a picture troupe, the worthwhile brother, Jason Robards, determines to pick up where Lyon left off in order to secure enough money to pay for an operation that will restore the latter's hearing. But Lyon's hearing returns to him suddenly, learns the others in the case are in love, clambers into the stunt plane and succeeds in saving the older brother as the machine smashes carrying Lyon to his death.

Scandal

Amateurish Russian Film

(Reviewed by Freddie Shader)

T HIS one has little in store for the box-office even in "arty" theatres. For the regular run of houses, except in such neighborhoods where there is an overwhelming Russian population, or a decided element of Soviet converts, there is nothing here that will appeal. There is nothing in the production that will elevate, and surely it cannot be looked upon as propaganda for the Soviet, as it shows the most sordid side of the life of the working class.

A railroad engineer and his daughter, who acts as a motorwoman on a trolley, live in single rooms in a squalid suburban lodging house. The girl wants her own room, although the old women living in the building object. But the girl gets the room and out of this a "scandal" grows.

The girl loves a young postman, but he hears the old women talking one morning when he is leaving the girl's apartment after having spent the night there. They say that she has a man in her apartment every night. It isn't true, but he believes it and they are parted, only to be reconciled after the girl is injured.

Typical English-Made Feature

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

THIS English-made feature is a screen adaptation of the famous Dartmoor novel of the same title by Eden Phillipotts. To the followers of English literature it may have some appeal, but to the rank and file of American audiences, even those that attend the little "arty" house, there is little that will cause a box-office stampede. As a part of a double feature bill in the houses where they are still serving silent entertainment it will get by, but that is all.

In the cast there is one old favorite of the screen in this country. Wyndham Standing. It is doubtful, however, if the fans of today will recall him.

The story, in brief, is that of an English squire with a grown daughter. He has let his lands and estate go to pot. His holdings are mortgaged to the hilt and his creditors are about the serve down on him. There is a wealthy to come down on him. There is a wealthy widow who would either marry him or help him financially, but he will have none of her assistance. His daughter is in love with one of the estate hands and the two are married. They then plot with the widow to find a fortune in the old stables of the estate. This is accomplished, after they have planted the treasure beforehand. The squire, after having cleared his debts, proposes to the widow.

The Love Racket

(First National-All Dialogue)

Tiresome And Dull

(Reviewed by Red Kann)

I T wasn't the yarn, despite the fact that the tale turned pretty wild. "The Love Racket" proves to be dull entertainment because of treatment—story and directional—and because the dialogue rates somewhere considerably below the average.

Dorothy Mackaill plays the sweetheart of a bounder who promises to marry her but doesn't. Continuing his affairs of the heart said bounder played by Eddie Burns, ruins another feminine life and gets himself killed for so doing. Dorothe and gets nimself killed for so doing. Doto-thy becomes one of the jurors while the second woman is tried for murder. The panel stands eleven to one for conviction and it is only through making a clean breast of the whole affair in the jury's quarters that the accused woman goes free. A lot of cheap sentimentalities have been thrown in for effect, but they hurt. The director was way off on his courtroom procedure, but he skidded on other angles winsome charm into its scenes. It brings on the chortles with its clever acting and lines, and will go over well with all types of audiences. The Nugents—J. C. and Elliott—should really make more screen appearances. They do so well here. The elder Nugent gives a lovable and finely drawn portrait of the crabby family head into whose family Elliott marries. And the into whose family Elliott marries. And the Nugent proficiency in acting is seen again in Elliott's performance. The story is a screening of their "Kempy," and don't they click in it! Roland Young contributes some splendid work, and the same quality performances are had in Marion Schilling and Norma Lee.

The story—a festival of laughter—concerns the hasty marriage of Elliott—a plumber—into J. C.'s home, his marital spats with his wife and the subsequent dissolution of their marriage and his wooing of the younger sister of the house.

Dulcy

(M-G-M-All Dialogue)
Cast Miles Ahead Of Story
(Reviewed by Al Meyers)

THE passing years have not been kind to "Dulcy." No improvement can be attributed to the story as screen fare. True, sound has added its material assistance to the fripperies of the 1923 Talmadge opus. But more than sound is needed before this theme can be lifted above the ordinary.

In the current version Dulcy and Gordon are engaged to be wed. The wedding, however, is contingent on the successful culmination of Gordon's business plans. Dulcy endeavors to expedite matters through the medium of a house party for all concerned in the plans and a few who are not. What follows is strictly routine house-party stuff. The comedy is necessarily extensively padded. The usually deft King Vidor is impotent to lend movement and tempo to the action. To the role of the wide-eyed to the action. To the role of the wide-eyed vacuous, dumb-but-willing Dulcy Miss Davies has added nothing but her pep, personality and charm, which help in no small manner.

The Drake Case

(Universal-Silent)

A Weak Sister

(Reviewed by Tom C. Kennedy)

J UST a manufactured product with no real spark to vitalize its movement and acting. It's quite mute when it comes to creating an emotional response. Has several drawbacks, the chief one being that practically all of the action takes place in a courtroom with no speed discernible in its footage. A slow tempo through-out, matter-of-fact performances from the cast (except in the case of Gladys Brockwell), a mass of titles—it is all readily summed up with the words: "weak sister."

In this day of the talkie, this silent film appears very much out of date. Live direction would, perhaps, have improved it by snapping up its scenes. The late Miss Brockwell's performance dominates the others contributed by the large cast.

The Racketeer

(Pathe—All Dialogue)
Program Talking Drama (Reviewed by Don, Ashbaugh)

EXCEPT for an unsatisfactory ending, "The Racketeer," featuring Robert Armstrong, Racketeet, leating Robert Arnstrong, is better than an ordinary program picture. The producers missed a bet, however, when they cast Armstrong in this hackneyed plot where his appeal and gift of humor displayed in earlier pictures are entirely lost.

The story concerns the powerful racketeer with the heart of gold, and a lovely lady with a purple but unexplained past who loves a temperamental violinist. Armstrong wins the girl who then finds the musician loves her, as she does him. Armstrong is obligingly shot. It leaves a rather bad taste.

Kit Guard, as Armstrong's henchman, provides the comedy and outstanding characterizations are given by Al llHi as Armstrong's chauffeur and Paul Hurst as a policeman. Carol Lombard is striking as the girl, while Jeannette Loff appears briefly in a small role.

One Hysterical Night

Program Funfilm

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly)

A NIGHT in a madhouse is the theme of this Reginald Denny talkie which at times turns quite hilarious. The star conceived as well as wrote the dialogue for this story in which some amusing situations develop. It cannot be termed strong box-office material, but passes muster as a fairly attractive program

Thinking he is to attend a costume ball, Denny accompanies his scheming relatives to a sani-tarium dressed as Napoleon. The doctors have been previously informed of his Napoleonic complex and refuse to turn him loose once he is inside. Among the feeble-minded Denny finds a girl dressed as the Empress Josephine, but she is really a nurse sent to humor him. Escaping finally from the bughouse with the entire crew of immates in his wake, Denny arrives at his relatives' home in time to expose them to his lawyer. Assured of the nurse's sanity he offers her both his heart and fortune. Pretty wild.

YOUNG college bloods, songs, dances, whoopee—these make a good combination and a musical program attraction. It is another of those youth-pep-jazz films in which the Foxites specialize. In this case several good songs and dancing routines help considerably. Pretty girls in the chorus and dance are smaller. Pretty girls in the chorus and dance ensembles supply the eye appeal.

So this one, while not an excitement creator, should prove okay for program purposes espe-cially in neighborhoods. It can be sold from many angles: tie-ups with music stores, radio stations, etc.

David Percy is worthwhile as her male support and renders several solos very well; Helen Twelvetrees is excellent as the tattletale villainess, while some capable comedy is contrib-uted by Frank Albertson; Tom Patricola does hot dance number in one scene.

His Lucky Day

(Universal-Silent)

An Average Comedy

(Reviewed by Raymond Gauly)

THERE'S a shortage of real laughs in this comedy and consequently it is just an average effort in which Reginald Denny exhibits a poorly stocked bag of tricks. He is a young realtor who gets on the outs with his girl when he does his best to save her father's property from a gang of crooks. As it is just the silent version of one of the star's talkie efforts, it is quite apparent that it didn't receive concentrated attention.

In turn, Denny is suave, bewildered, nonchalant, flustered, etc., demonstrating his various talents as a farceur. But he doesn't get very far with the line of gags and story props and so it all turns out to be quite a feathery affair.

The star has the support of Otis Harlan and the two of them put over the best bits of the picture. Harlan is the crook whose invasion of his girl's home Denny is trying to stop. The father, believing implicitly in the guileless Mr. Harlan, misunderstands Reginald's efforts and the girl's confidence is also shaken when the crooks maneuver Reginald into embarrassing spots. But Reggie unbares their plots and all things become serene. Just a fair bet for unwired houses; it doesn't boost Denny's stock

(Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

''N AVY BLUES" presents William Haines in his usual role as a wise-cracking smart alec—only with a navy background. After introducing various bits of comedy business aboard ship, the story moves ashore and ness aboard ship, the story moves ashore and continues with further comedy sequences until it climaxes in a rather dramatic finish.

Haines does his usual stunts of wisecracking and clowning for several reels, then completely reverses himself with a sympathetic performance that calls for dramatic ability. In many early sequences, Haines carried his characteristics to the entire where its message in the state of the second sec zation to the point where it was ridiculous rather than funny.

Haines, on shore leave, meets Anita Page and immediately starts on the make. The girl falls in love with the gob, who does not take things too seriously. Then the girl's parents object and she leaves home. This staggers Haines, who takes her to a hotel and then runs for his ship when shore leave expires. After a cruise, Haines returns and seeks out the girl.

After necessary cutting for final release, "Navy Blues" will rate as a good comedy and will do fine business in the weekly change houses and the neighborhoods. Clarence Brown surprises with his direction of a comedy moulded on broad lines.

The Love Trap

(Universal—Part Dialogue)
Adult Comedy Sometimes Risque

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly) HIS comedy of youthful hearts develops at a medium pace until the last few reels when the story suddenly goes Boccaccio. Perhaps the producers figured that it wasn't getting very far and that the introduction of a "naughty but nice" theme was necessary. The final reels where the action is concentrated in a background overree with the introduction. in a bedroom do spruce up the picture, but it makes the heroine's actions seem illogical as heretofore she has jealonsly guarded her virtue and then suddenly deliberately places herself in a compromising situation thinking that by such strategy friend husband will see his suspicions entirely unjustified. And friend husband does see things in that light and everything pans out happily for the newlyweds.

The undressing, bedroom scenes and the like give it a Parisian touch and restrict its showing to adult audiences. It is very apparent, how-ever, that a film of this type gives schoolmarms, religious leaders and censors a chance to attack films. Average

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly)
THIS is one of the earliest films made by George Jessel. Which explains why George doesn't click so well. It is a slow performance he gives as an honest man, a modern George Washington whose love for truth almost disrupts a home. So slow, in fact, is the film that at this date it rates no more than average.

His love for truth gets him in many a jam. Obtaining a job as secretary to a wealthy man and with prospects of a successful wooing of his boss' fair ward, it looks as if George will keep out of trouble for awhile. He becomes aware, however, of an affair between his boss' wife and partner and when the boss boasts about his beautiful wife Georgie blurts out the truth.

The boss sues for divorce and George is called to the witness stand. However, his girl convinces Georgie that sometimes it is proper to lie like a gentleman. Publicly declaring his testimony false, Georgie willingly takes a sentence for perjury just to insure the happiness of his boss' family.

Sea Fever

Pretty Sick Stuff

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

THERE is an attempt made to gloss over the utter wretchedness of this offering through a lengthy foreword on the screen to the effect that this picture is the work of a group of Parisian radicals in film production who seek to give the screen a form of expression that will be entirely its own. That the picture is purely an attempt to picturize psychological reactions is another contention made for it. Summed up, the picture and the foreword combined is just a lot of wasted footage. There is nothing in it that will appeal at the box office and if shown in even the cheapest neighborhood houses will send out dissatisfied audiences.

After sitting through an hour and five minutes of the film one wonders what it was all about. There is no start and no finish, although there is a slight attempt at something of a story about a boy who wants to go to sea. That angle was undoubtedly worked out by the American adaptors. The picture is nothing more or less than a series of hadly photographed shots showing a very sordid side of the water front life in a French sea port with a suggestion that a slovenly waitress in a sailor's restaurant is prey of all of the low characters that frequent the

There is little about it that will attract at the box office other than the title and the name of the star. Surely there is nothing about the picture that is going to encourage word of mouth advertising and bring repeats.

Schildkrant plays the role of a river cardsharper who works with two confederates, a woman and a man. An old Southerner comes aboard the boat with his daughter. The sharper aboard the boat with his daughter. The shaper falls in love with her at sight, and then turns and fleeces her father at cards. She obtains the return of money, saves her father from suicide and in the end when she discovers that the gambler let her win, decides that she loves him despite his profession. Schildkraut and Joan Bennett give neat performances, but Alec B. Francis is terribly miscast, playing a Southern planter with an English dialect.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Authors, Karl Brown and Leonard Fields. Adapted by Edward T. Lowe, Jr. Dialogue by Winnifred Reeve and II. H. Van Loan. Director, Reginald Barkers. Photographed by Gilbert Warrenton. Length: silent, 5,025 feet; sound, 5,432 feet. Running time, 57 minutes. Release date, Nov. 3, 1929.

2 Sennett Comedies, Oswald and Disney Cartoons Top Shorts List

"A Hollywood Star"

(Educ'l Sennett-2 Reels)

A Wow Laugh-Inducer

THEY don't come often enough like this one. Mack Sennett took the Hollywood vogue for previews and diverted the idea into a small town house showing its first talking picture at which its star is also present. You get it all, right down to the introduction of the local yokels over the radio.

The gag will tickle any audience and the theatres that show this will incidentally hand their managers a kick.

The sound apparatus is home-made. You can figure for yourself what happens. The film goes out of synchronization, stops all together and then passes through every known accident in sound reproduction. Very broad, but unquestionably very funny. Harry Gribbon plays the star and Andy Clyde, the theatre owner. Grab this one.

"After The Show"

(Pathe Musicol-2 Reels)

Tuneful And Light

THIS new type of screen musical, vastly different from the old comedies, is a combination of dancing chorines, songs, instrumental solos, jokes and what have you. A hodge-podge or musical crazy-quilt, it is light entertainment. Jack Pepper, Morgan Farley, Paul Garner and Jack Wolf are featured, a dozen or more girls supplying the necessary background of pulchritude. Pepper sings a song in the Ukelele Ike pattern and then he and two "nut" comedians skip into rendition of "Mississippi Mud." The girls execute their routine and sing "Here We Are" and "Jig-A-Boo-Jig," assisted by a male quartet. The slight story deals with a party given the girls by a frankfurter king. The censors will probably lop off a fairy egg at the beginning of the piece. For the most part this is easy on the eyes and ears. Harry Delmar wrote, produced and directed, Philip Tannura supervising.

"Hunting The Hunter"

(Educ'l-White-2 Reels)

Fair Slapstick

R AYMOND McKEE and Harold Goodwin, off on a hunting trip, hit the lodge where they find three women comfortably reposing. The boys' wives are on the trail by way of check-up and, of course, the husbands have to hide the evidence, despite their innocence. The action is pretty wild and nonsensical to a degree. Liberties are permissible, of course, in slapstick, but merely to make comedy as dizzy as possible doesn't necessarily make it funny. Directed by Stephen Roberts.

"Clancy At The Bat"

(Educt'l Sennett-2 Reels)

A Corker

A NOTHER funny comedy from the Sennett plant. Around the situation of two hick baseball teams playing it out on the diamond, Earle Rodney, who directed, has been successful in building in many laughs. Harry Gribbon as the self-centered pitcher is merely the foil here for Andy Clyde, antiquated manager of the home town team. The laughs are Clyde's all the way and there are plenty. Recommended.

"Snow Use"

(Universal Oswold Cartoon—1 Reel)
A Generous Laugh Spread

SWALD and his bear friend put on an amusing bit of nonsense in this cartoon carrying sufficient mirth to please both old and young. The bunny and the bear are located in a Klondike dancehall and a fight starts when the bear steals Oswald's girl, but the rabbit's cunning triumphs over Mr. Bear, who enjoys the pleasant fate of falling over a cliff with a huge stone tied around his neck. Shots of a dance between the rabbit and his girl a la Apache and the battle with the bear provide some real fun.

"Fuzzy Knight" (M-G-M Movietone Act—1 Reel) Doubtful Appeal

HE'S a most peculiar comedian with a crazy line of songs and patter. His offerings consist of "hot" songs delivered in deep jazz "blue" fashion. Straying fingers touching the sides of the piano as a sort of pantomimic accompaniment to the songs accentuate the goofy quality of the act. This nut type of delivery will amuse fans who like loud, raucous singing. That's the impression you get after seeing and hearing "Fuzzy Knight," a composite of Ukelele lke, swiss yodeler, clown, crooner, jazz pianist.

"Pathe Review No. 43"

(Pathe Review-Silent-1 Reel)

Good Magazine Fare

Wartet of subjects: "My Word!", a new idea in motorcycle tents; "Odds and Ends" some beautiful scenic sketches; 'Duck De Luxe," one of the foremost restaurant specialties in the French capital; "Afield for Fun in the Desert," scenes of the gypsum beds of New Mexico, this Review includes interesting program material and is excellent for program-building purposes.

"Keller Sisters And Lynch" (M-G-M Movietone Act—1 Reel)

Fair Singing Short

THEY'VE been seen and heard in night clubs, vaudeville and on the radio by thousands, yet their act here won't cause new admirers to flock to their banner. Just a long close-up of the three and a long stretch of warbling. Such songs as "Ka-a-razy About You" are harmonized at great length. Lacks punch and seems tedious at times.

"Walking Fish"

(Educ'l—"Our World Today"—Silent—1 Reel)
Interesting Screen Magazine

THERE are some interesting and varied dishes in this "Our World Today." Fish that walk when taken from their natural element are a fact, however odd it may sound. The fish are shown running an improvised steeplechase and then flopping into the water. Another camera story shows the activities of the steel smelteries, the molten metal like liquid gold pouring from the huge vats to cool in the moulds. This issue is the last of "Our World Today" series.

"His Lucky Day" (M-G-M Movietone Act—1 Reel) Not Much Kick

MAN and wife comedy, with the husband a talkative chap and the wife a stay-at-home. There's a lot of chatter between the two of them with the introductory flash of a breakfast scene where hubby promises to take wifie to a world series game. When he gets to his office, however, he loses the tickets in a poker game hut wifie isn't peeved. It winds up in vaudeville style, hubby and wife chanting of the thrill and punch in baseball. The act is worked hard but doesn't click well. Lean and Mayfield do their stuff in regular vaudeville fashion. Directorial supervision was in the hands of Nick Grinde.

"Time To Expire"

(Educ'l-Cameo-Silent-1Reel)

Average, That's All

C ENE STONE gets away to a fair bundle of laughs in this Cameo 1-reeler. The fun is not very weighty, but the tempo is speedy. All of the action takes place in the home of the distracted Stone, an author, working on a story to the accompaniment of a growling storm. He is interrupted by a vampirish dame who proceeds to charm him and then more action is introduced with the arrival of the vamp's husband. The author is torn betwixt and between the two until they appropriately vanish with the arrival of his wife.

"Sunday Morning"

(Universoy Sound Comedy-2 Reels)

Lots Of Gags For Golfers

THE comedy team of Lou Archer and Vernon Dent is clicking in their series of short talkies for Universal. In this particular instance, a well-filled laugh platter is handed out with slapstick sauce and garnishings of verbal humor. It makes an appetizing offering for the fan, especially one whose weakness is golf. The gags are strewn along a golf course where on an early Sunday morning Vernon and his boss are poking the boss in great style, but his pesty friend, Lou, spoils all his efforts and sends the boss off in a rage.

"Body Building"

(Pathe Sound Sportlight-1 Reel)

Extra Fine Featurette

I S there such a thing as a poor Grantland Rice Sportlight? There doesn't seem to be. This release strengthens further the contention that the Sportslights make one of the finest featurete offerings on the market. This one deals with youth—American youth in military training at the Summer Naval School, Culver, Ind. The boys are seen drilling, racing in longboats, playing pushball, hiking, boxing and indulging in other athletics. The reel has a youthful exuberance that imparts itself to the spectator. Dandy entertainment. Produced by Jack Eaton and Earnest Cortz with a fine musical synchronization by Gene Rodemich and orchestra.

"Springtime"

(Columbia-Silly Symphony Series-1 Reel)

A NOTHER contribution to the entertainment of the nation. Walt Disney has been hitting an extremely high average with his various cartoon series. This one is well worth whatever praise this reporter may bestow upon it. The basis of the amusing antics is the line which runninates about springtime, love and levity. Everything turns terpsichore: flowers, spiders, cranes, frogs. The routines they pass through are guaranteed to make any audience

In Figuring Percentage Rating On Pictures, The Normal Or Average Business Of The Theatre Is Taken As 100%

Big Time (Fox)

BALTIMORE.-Keith's (3,016), 6 days, 35c-BALTIMORE.—Keith's (3,016), 6 days, 35c-65c, International, Universal and Fox Movietone News, with "Hello, Everybody" presentation act headed by Raynor Lehr, with acts and chorus, orchestra, organ. Weather, clear, cool, heavy rain one day. Opposition: "Her Private Life." "Woman Trap," "Gold Diggers of Broadway," "The Cock-Eyed World," "Flight," "Trespasser," "Hollywood Revue," "Speedway." Rating, 70%.

AD TIPS-Exploit leading characters, Lee Tracy as star of "Broadway," and "Front Page." Stepin Fetchit as hit of "Fox Follies," and Mae Clark, Josephine Dunn and Daphne Pollard. Used head cut of Tracy, also two showing him in vaudeville act and love scene. Use bottom border cut of dancing girls. Big appeal for all, young and old.—J. Lawrence Schanberger, Mgr., Keith's Baltimore.

Christina (Fox)

OTTAWA-Imperial (1,200), 15-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: "Who Killed the Cat?", George Lyons, "The Singing Harpist." Weather, bright and cool. Opposition: "Say It George Lyon, The Singing Traipist. Wather, bright and cool. Opposition: "Say It With Songs," "The Flying Fool," "Father and Son," "Conquest," "Weary River." Rating,

7 days. Other attractions: Richard Dix in "The Love Doctor" (Paramount), Movietone
News. Weather, pleasant. Opposition: "His Glorious Night," "Hard to Get," "Lucky
Star," Rating, 85% (double featured).

AD TIPS-If you like Janet Gaynor, you will like this feature which deals with homeloving rural residents of Holland, the settings and costumes being highly picturesque. This cannot be called an all-talking picture because the dialogue occurs for only 15 minutes or so. The story is not particularly original, but affords Gaynor an opportunity to give more of her quaint characterization. Gaynor fans will follow "Christina" eagerly but the picture is not a world-beater.—Imperial, Ray Tubman, is not a world-beater.—Imperial, Ray Tubman, Mgr., Ottawa.

Coek-Eyed World, The (Fox)

BALTIMORE—New (1,600), 6 days, 25c-50c, Fox Movietone News. Weather, clear, cool, heavy rain one day. Opposition: ""Her Private Liie." "Woman Trap. "Big Time," "Gold Diggers of Broadway," "Flight," "Trespasser," "Hollywood Revue," "Speedway." Rating, Rating, 188% (5th week) (5th week).

KANSAS CITY-Midland (4,000), 25-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Special presentation number with orchestra "Stop Thief," developing idea that many current popular songs have drawn upon classical music for their airs; orawn upon classical music for their airs; Newsreel. Weather, cold. Opposition: "Pleasure Crazed," "Isle of Lost Ships," "Why Bring That Up," "Saturday Night Kid." Rating, 120%.

PORTLAND—Fox Alder (933), 25c-60c, Paramount Sound News. Weather, pleasant. Opposition: "Young Nowheres," "Flight," "Broadway," "Forward Pass," "Hollywood Re-Rating, 110%.

AD TIPS-Used large black ball with white lines, indicating it is the world, with white letters reading. "The Cock-Eyed World," with o's fixed like cock-eyes. Use large cnt of McLag-len, Damita and Lowe, and another cut showing two men fighting over a woman. Good line to use is, "There may be a better picture in heaven but this is the best on earth." The line used for it was, "Tell the cock-eyed world you were first to see "The Cock-Eyed World. Marvelons appeal for all ages and all classes.—Mortia A Wesharia engagister. Naw, Estimates ris A. Conquest (W.B.)

OTTAWA—Avalon (990), 15-35c, 3 days. Other attractions: "Mind Your Business," Screen Snapshots." Weather, bright and cool. Opposition: "Say It With Songs," "Father and Son," "Christina." "The Flying Fool," "Weary River." Rating, 90%.

AD TIPS—Air pictures haven't been so common of late, compared with six months ago, and we talked this one up as an all-talking production in which there is sensational action, Patrons feel they are right in the big airplane with Monte Blue and H. B. Warner, "Conquest" has other favorites as well in Lois Wilson, Tully Marshall and Edmund Breese, who can talk as well as act. Ottawa has seen many big airplanes during the past month and the gigantic machine in this picture is timely. Old and young will want to see this feature.—Avalon, P. J. Nolan, Mgr., Ottawa.

Dark Streets (F.N.)

PROVIDENCE—Strand (2,200), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Hard to Get" (F. N.), Pictorial News. Weather, pleasant. Opposition: "His Glorious Night," "Christina," "Lucky Star." Rating, 75% (double feature).

Other attractions: Everett Horton in "Prince Gabby," Screen Snapshots, Fox News. Weather the American Cool. Opposition: "Say It Gabby Street Shapinos, Tox Moss, Walsh ther, bright and cool. Opposition: "Say It With Songs," "The Flying Fool," "The Gamblers," "Conquest," "The Squall:," "Christina." Rating, 75%.

AD TIPS-Recommended this feature to "every father, every mother and every son" and called it a domestic drama in which a household is wrecked by a beautiful woman. Jack Holt is featured as star, of course, and is splendid in a talking role while Mickey Mc Ban deserves recognition as a boy wonder of the screen. Other names to make a play with include Dorothy Rivier and Helen Chadwick. Appeal to fathers and mothers and sons.—Centre, Don Stapleton, Mgr., Ottawa.

Flight (Col.)

BALTIMORE—Rivoli (1,981), 6 days, 25c-50c, Pathe Sound News, "The Salesman" (Geo. LeMaire talking comedy). Weather, clear and cool with heavy rain one day. Opposition: "Her Private Life," "Woman Trap," "Big Time," "Gold Diggers of Broadway," "Cock-Eyed World," "Trespasser," "Hollywood Revue," "Speedway." Rating, 125%.

BOSTON-B. F. Keith's Memorial (2,900). BOSTON—B. F. Ketth's Memorial (2,900), 30-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: Organ specialties, Pathe News, comedy. Weather, pleasant. Opposition: "Trespasser," "His Glorious Night," "Side Street," "Saturday Night Kid." Rating, 160%.

AD TIPS-Great for airplane exploitation. Used special film made here of manager taking first print of picture from Columbia representative arriving in airplane. Showed shots of airplane in air over Baltimore. Had several Curtiss planes over city with loud speakers during run dropping circulars. Many window displays were arranged, one with wax figures of characters. Exploit it as first all-talking romantic drama of the air, with Lee, Graves and Holt and feature woman angle. Appeal is very strong for all, particularly men.—Frank Price, Jr., Mgr., Rivoli, Baltimore.

AD TIPS—Exploited with airplane over Poston day and night illuminated after deals.

Boston day and night, illuminated after dark and spells out word "Flight" in various ways. Model airplanes for lobby display.-Keith Memorial, Bart Grady, Mgr., Boston.

Flying Fool The (Pathe)

OTTAWA—B. F. Keith's (2,596), 15-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: 5 RKO Vaudeville acts, overture, Charlie Chase in "Crazy Feet" and Pathe Sound News. Weather, bright and cool. Opposition: "Say it With Songs," "Gamblers," "Father and Son," "The Squall," "Conquest," "Christina." Rating, 90%

AD TIPS—The town had recently had a visit by the Ford Reliability Air Tour and was talking about air exploits. Therefore, this was most timely, particularly as William Boyd is riding high as a popular star. Emphasized the fact that every word and every propeller would be distinctly heard in this "epic of the air" and announced that this was the first appearance of Marie Prevost as a talking star. Picture appeals to all ages and all classes and has a love-for-brother theme that is inspiring. -B. F. Keith's, J. M. Franklin, Mgr., Ottawa.

Opposition: "Saturday Night Kid," "River," "Delightful Rogue," "13th Chair." Rating, 100%. 100%.

AD TIPS-Title is one of the best draws of picture. Cast is unusually strong and should be exploited with Powell and Arlen getting most prominent mention, but Wray, Brook and Noah Beery should receive due mention. Copy Noah Beery should receive due mention. Copy used: "Spectacle, Romance. Here's a Striking Never to Be Forgotten Romance That Will Thrill You—Captivate You—And Make You Live a Thousand Times. It's Amazing Adventure." Audience appeal, general.—Victor B. Lowrey, Mgr., Melba, Dallas.

tone News. Weather, bright and cool. Opposition: "Say It With Songs," "Flying Fool," "Father and Son," "The Squall," "The Black Watch." Rating, 85%.

AD TIPS-Feature broke with the collapse of the New York stock market and the subject of speculation and losses was on everybody's mouth. Used the line "How's the market today" in special advertising as a tie-up. There are excellent names in the cast and these were stressed, including H. B. Warner, Lois Wilson, George Fawcett and Pauline Garon. Fawcett is well-known in Canadian cities while Garon is a former Montreal girl. "Gamblers" appeals to all market players, which means practically all adults.—Imperial, Ray Tubman, Mgr., Ot-

"Why Bring That Up," "They Had to See Paris," and "Young Nowheres." Weather, mild and pleasant. Rating, 125%.

AD TIPS-We billed this as the greatest and most gorgeous screen revue ever made, and hook-up with the Atwater Kent radio dealers in a lobby radio show all during the picture. Advertising sold to these firms filled eight pages of one daily paper, and corresponding space in other two. We billed "25 stars and a chorus of 250 screen and stage celebrities," and flashed the trailer of the principals during every show. Appeal is for old and young and every class.—Loew's State, Houston.

AD TIPS—Everything was done that is possible to put this across with nothing very striking in the picture to exploit and Clara Bow considered a star on the wane. Picture showed Miss Bow in a comeback, for the picture did much better than was expected against unusual picture and theatrical competition. Started off well and continued with good average. Liked by all.—Des Moines, Emmett Lockard, Asst. Mgr., Des Moines.

Name of star with the promise of a peppy picture was enough in this case.—Newman, George Baker, Mgr., Kansas City.

AD TIPS—Used the star's name conspicuously in all ads, and stated type of picture, with flashy cuts to attract attention. Also ran a contest in which the public was asked to say in a specified number of words, whether they like Clara Bow better in long skirts or short skirts. Appeal to the young folks primarily.—Isadore Lidman, Mgr., Allen, Cleveland.

Be sure to play up the great "It" girl in this latest romance picture.—Vincent P. McFaul, Mor. The Buffalo, Buffalo.

Mgr., The Buffalo, Buffalo.

"It" girl Clara Bow will bring in most of business and should get most of publicity. Play up title as fitting to Miss Bow. Let public know it is all talking picture and mention James Hall and Jean Arthur. Copy used: "Kid 'em along, Says Me. I'm the Original Saturday Night Baby. I Find 'em—Fool 'em—and Forget 'em." Andience appeal, general, especially younger set.—Greater Palace, Holden Swiger, Mgr., Dallas.

AD TIPS—Used full page newspaper space to announce this feature, emphasizing the name of Jolson and Little Davey Lee, and boosted the idea that this was Jolson's crowning achievement, better even than "The Singing Fool." People are inclined to think that it is the same old Jolson and the critics said so. Had tie-up with music stores on Jolson records and music, of course mentioned fact that the "mammy" songster has several new songs to offer. This picture has general appeal.—T. S. Tubman, Mgr., Regent, Ottawa.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Chairman and Editor

A National Association of Showmen Meeting in MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Every Week-for Mutual Benefit and Progress

-CONDUCTED BY AN EXHIBITOR FOR EXHIBITORS -

Mind Your Business!

T is only natural with all these mergers, consolidations and other things going on in the business that we should get to thinking too much about them and not enough about our jobs.

Whether the theatre you are working for is about to become part of a chain or about to take over some other houses, the one important factor, so far as you are concerned, is the proper managing of your house.

Talking, sleeping, crying or plain bellyaching won't do you a darn bit of good if you are letting up on your work and neglecting your job.

As a common sense point of view, we would venture the thought that you would be more apt to gain promotion through such mergers, etc., if the "powers that be" find you are sticking close to your theatre and doing everything in your power to keep business up to tap or increase it.

I know what I'm talking about when I say that out of eight managers visited last week, seven insisted on only talking about the present trend of chain domination.

What the hell can they do about it anyway?

Why not work along the theory that if you can make an excellent showing for your theatre you will possibly find yourself in a better position and earning more money than you are getting now!

There is one point about these mergers and consolidations that you may of lost track of in your mental panic; and that is the number of better positions which are the direct result of such activity.

District managers, city managers, division supervisors, division exploitation and publicity men. All jobs paying lots more money than just house managing and all of the type that every Round Table member can step right into because they are best qualified for those important posts.

Moping around and worrying that every knock on the door will bring your job to a finish will mean just that because you can't keep your mind on your work if you are going to let silly notions about other things occupy valuable time which belongs to your theatre.

As a more direct example of what I'm talking about, let me say that one of the men whom I visited last week was in to see me just a few minutes ago to tell me that he was "let out" on Sunday night.

Was I surprised? I WAS NOT.

He was one of the men whose theatre and advertising showed the results of the "merger strain" which he had talked himself into.

If you are going to let a lot of talk crowd out more important things from your mind, then resign now before you get fired and leave with a black mark against your name.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CL

Charninsky Ought To Be Called "The added Attraction"

Louie Charninsky, the up and at 'em manager of the Pantages Theatre in Kansas City, Mo., has been known to wear all sorts of trick costumes to tie in with the current attractions at the Pantages Theatre, but it is not an easy matter to get a camera to focus on Louie long enough to take his picture.

We are indebted to Mr. C. E. Hilgers the Branch Manager for the Fox Exchange in Kansas City for the photo which we are reproducing with this story. For those who have not already learned of Louie's interesting activities, we want you to know that he makes it a point of dressing himself, and in most cases, his ushers in atmospheric costume according to the picture they are running. In this case, Mr. Charninsky was dressed for the production 'The Black Watch" and he had all the

the Majestic Theatre in Circuit, has been promoted to the position of general manager of the State The-ushers and house help dressed the same way.

Let's hear some more about you, Louie, and a photograph now and then won't do any harm to set off the story to better advantage.

Lee J. Euering Is Promoted To Greenville State

atre at Greenville, Ohio.

We are certain that in his new surroundings and with so beautiful a theatre as the State to work with, Lee is going to accomplish greater things than ever before, and we know that he has engineered some marvelous showmanship while at the State in Springfield.

There is one portion of his letter that we would take keen delight in publishing, but we are afraid it would be a violation of his confidence, and although he does not tell us we couldn't publsh it, we nevertheless are going to keep it "under our hat" for the present time. Just this much we would say about the letter, and that is that we are delighted that his membership in the CLUB has meant so much to

As soon as Lee gets his feet on the ground, we shall expect to receive some mighty fine contributions from this youngster, who has set out to make a mark for himself in the show business, and we are sure he will succeed. Lot's of luck, Lee, and best regards to Mr. Chakeras and the rest of the boys out there in Ohio.

E. E. Bair Continues To Cash In On Club Activities

Once again E. E. Bair, manager of the State and American Theatres in East Liverpool, Ohio, shows his fine sense of showmanship by availing himself of another ROUND TABLE

CLUB idea which appeared on our pages a few months back.

we leave it to your own imagination as to what attention this three column by 10 inch ad attracted in his local papers.

It makes no difference what picture you want to use this on, as long as it is the type of attraction that is packing them in and you can get away from the humdrum existence of monotonous advertising by injecting some new thought in your paper and creating added interest in the theatre and the attraction.

We rather like receiving these contributions from Mr. Bair, because in almost every instance, it gives us another slant on his fine ability to handle the theatre for which he is responsible. No doubt there are many who can benefit a great deal by what he is doing and the way he is doing it.

F. A. Kelly Says:

"It is damn seldom that I have opportunity to write, because I am so busy following the excellent suggestions confined to the pages of MOTION PICTURE NEWS MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB. With kindest regards and let the good work keep on."

NACERS' ROUND TA

Mickey's Showmanship Keeps Orpheum another one of his everyday Humming With Pep

Mickey Gross of the RKO Orpheum Theatre in Sioux City, Iowa, just passed along activities, but this time he shows us a dog, who was appearing on the stage of the Orpheum with a Boy Scout tie-up.

'Snoozer," as this performing dog is known, is the official mascot of a Scout Troup to which he belongs. Members of the Sioux City came down the stage to greet his fellow Boy Scouts with the regulation Scout salute. Later, Mickey had the boys pose in front of City Hall with the dog, and we have before us a two-column newspaper clipping showing that the picture found its way into the local paper and thereby

Troup attended the show in a body and "Snoozer" publicity for the theatre. Another interesting angle for Mickey was the use brought about some extra of the postcard which we are reproducing with this story, and which was sent to a large mailing list in and around Sioux City.

The wording of the card and the script longhand writing attracted plenty of attention, and we are sure that the reaction was very good. If you haven't pulled this type of mailing list stunt before or recently, it would pay to give it a little thought, as it gets away from the monotonous routine of receiving programs and printed matter through the mail so often.

We suggest that you give this idea a trial and see if the results and reaction are not better than the general run of mailing list material.

Here is part of the parade staged by Mr. Gross to inaugurate the opening of seven-day vaudeville at the RKO Orpheum Theatre in Sioux City, Ia.

As far as this photograph goes, there were still more new automobiles in the line-up, each one carrying effective business - getting signs, and it is small wonder that vaudeville was inaugurated so successfully at the Orpheum.

This is just typical of Mickey Gross' way of doing things, and we rather expect every time we receive a letter from him to find something interesting.

"LOBBY LAUGHS"

By Dick Kirschbaum

Now Read What Kirschbaum Has To Say:

Dear Fellow Custodians of the keys to the Cup Machine:

Far be it from me to bawl you lads out, but you've sure given the Club and yours truly an awful runaround on these Lobby Laffs. When I told Charley Lewis that I'd draw this series for him, (and incidentally, for you all) he told me you were a bunch of regular guys who would kick in and send in anything that sounded to you like a laugh. That was the bunque. I'm so desperate now that I'll accept a giggle, titter. snicker or what have you.

You don't have to tell me that laughs are few and far between in this alleged business; but from so many a few funny gags must trickle through. Just a few of you that I know personally, particularly Jake Flex, who is hibernating in Indianapolis, ought to squeeze a chortle out of the job. Jake and I yanked plenty out of a certain theatre I could mention some years ago. And if the Sid Lawrence I see mentioned once in a while is the same lad who steered one Jack X. Lewis in a blue shirted hero stock company in Newark once, I know he's got a few good belly laughs stored in the bottom of the script trunk.

But all kidding in the corner . . . unbutton that grouch and try to dig up something fanny. . . the things that seem sad as a two-reel comedy today may hand you and the rest of us a good sized wow tomorrow.

Don't get sore at this lacing, pals, but kick in. Unless you don't want any more Lobby Laffs and that won't make me sore either. Especially if I have to do the laffin' and drawing

Okay. Yours till the programs are delivered on time. DICK KIRSCHBAUM.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

This Bears Reprinting!

If you can see any value in the following as a "Monager's Message To His Patrons," then by all means use it in your house organ when the proper opportunity presents itself. Which means when you are running a corking good attraction. But regardless of whether you think you can use it or not, we suggest you look it over.

"Bitter And Sweet"

Like most other businesses, the theatre also has its ups and its downs.

Today we are delighted with the fact that the producer has made for us a winning picture, we are happy that our whole program blends in showmanship fashion and we are glad that it is just the kind of a bill that the patronage of our house enjoys most. This is our sweet day. It is one of those days that we are sitting up and taking notice.

But to our disappointment there comes the day when the big picture did not turn out as big as we expected, the program does not knit together as we planned and the whole show is out of focus and do what we will our patrons do not enjoy themselves. This is our bitter day, we are down in the mouth.

But we must take the bitter with the sweet and like it. But what about you, our patrons?

Here is the answer.

When we have a bitter day we are going to ask you to bear with us. We won't have many because we are pretty careful in our selections. And when we have a sweet day we are going to rejoice with you in the fact.

No matter how great the picture may be we are going to fight to keep it at popular prices, because at some time or other you have paid the price for something not so good, and it is unfair to tax you more when you are lucky enough to have picked a winner.

Just keep in mind that the theatre manager feels just as badly as you do when things are not up to the grade, and just as delighted when everything is rosy.

Our aim is: Sweet Days—Everything on the Up and Up and All's Rosy.

and this Rosy.

Ouimette Switches To The American In N. Fairhayen

George Ouimette, formerly connected with the Princess Theatre, Fairhaven, Mass., is now at the American Theatre at North Fairhaven.

We would like to hear some more about this member's activities, and would be glad to publish any story of his showmanship that he can find time to send in to us. How about this, George, we haven't heard from you in a long time.

Notice to Members

Please be sure to notify the chairman of any change of address.

-THANK YOU.

Nicholas Torelli Is Sure To Become An Active Member

We are very gratified to hear from Nicholas Torelli, a new member who manages the Clementon Theatre, Clementon, N. J.

Mr. Torelli was very enthusiastic about his membership in the CLUB and tells us that he feels that it is an organization that every manager should belong to. He, himself has been a regular reader of the CLUB section in the NEWS for many months, and has always found the pages both interesting and profitable.

Although he makes no special contribution at this time, he promises that we will hear from him in the very near future, therefore, we are looking forward to making you acquainted with the methods that this enteprising showman uses to sell the community theatre in Clementon.

One thought we would like to emphasize, not only to this new member, but to everyone of you other Round Tablers is just this: In order that we, here at Club headquarters, can get a better idea of the members as individuals and showmen, we would like to see as much of your work as you can possibly send us. By this we mean; house programs, newspaper ads, photos of exploitation or lobby displays and in fact any other evidence of your activities.

Famous Plane Is Centre Of Interest At Toledo-Para.

The Paramount Theatre in Toledo, Ohio cashed in on the popularity of that City's entry in the recent aerial tour of the Ohio Cities in the National Air races at Cleveland.

They made arrangements whereby the "Toledo Robin" was dismantled and reconstructed in the Lobby of the Theatre. House Manager Sidney Dannenberg and Publicity Manager McWilliams of the theatre deserve a lot of commendation for the marvelous manner in which they put this stunt across.

A tremendous amount of interest was created in this plane, which received rare publicity in all the Toledo papers and built up a desire on the part of everyone in Toledo to see this famous plane even before they got to the Theatre.

This is the type of high-powered showmanship that is typical of many of the aggressive showmen today and is distinctly a feather in the caps of Mr. Dannenberg and Mr. McWilliams.

We would certainly like to hear a whole lot more about their activities, and would welcome the opportunity of passing along their experiences to their many brother managers throughout the country via these pages.

ANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Here's One We Are Running Again By Insistent Demand

By request, we are reprinting the "For your Personal Information" stunt which was originally introduced on the CLUB pages by Mr. E. E. Bair of East Liverpool, Ohio and copied by hundreds of showmen throughout the country.

This is a marvelous form of house advertising, and wherever it has been used, has worked wonders in the reaction and comment from patrons.

The particular card we are reproducing was turned out from Mr. Bair's idea by Mr. William G. Smeltzer, manager of the Riviera Theatre in San Francisco, Cal.

A manager wishing to keep himself posted on everything new in the show business need only watch the pages of the ROUND TABLE CLUB, and he will never fall behind in his ideas or activities. This has been proven time and again by the way these ideas have been used by our many members and readers, besides others who we cannot find the time to enumerate.

H. W. Ficken Is A Real Showman In All His Activities

H. W. Ficken, who manages the Garden Theatre in Southampton, L. I., has been the subject of much conversation around CLUB headquarters, because we have heard so many agreeable things about the gentleman.

Therefore, this story might be taken in the nature of what might be best termed a "canvass" in that we are after "H. W." to contribute some of his activities to these pages. How about it, Ficken, we are waiting and watching?

Al. Weiss Pulls A Fast One For Business & Laughs

What do you think of this one walking around the streets of your town?

Well, if you think as much of it as we did when we selected it ahead of a lot of other material for publication, then you will agree with us that Alfred Weiss, Jr., was on his toes once more when it came time to add another angle to his usual wideawake showmanship in publicizing the Florida Theatre for Publix down in lacksonville, Fla. This is one that you can afford to keep track of and make use of very soon, because it is suited to any unusually good comedy. Don't fall asleep boys, there are plenty of ideas crammed into these pages every week, and if you are not taking advantage of them, we can't help it. It is entirely up to yourself.

IVE GHO/T/

Thanks, Al, we are presenting this rather briefly, but we didn't want to hold it up for its turn, because we thought it was worthy of immediate publication.

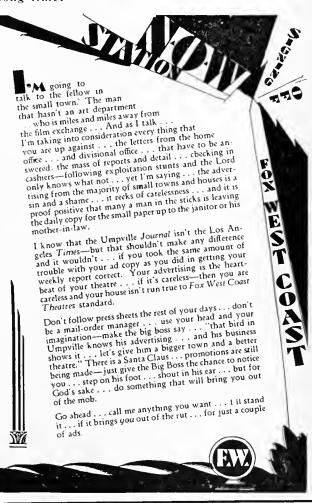

"Right You Are!"

We have taken the liberty of reproducing the entire back page from one of the issues of "Now"; the official organ of the Fox West Coast Theatre Circuit.

The point that Frank Whitbeck conveys in his regular broadcast through this house organ, comes at a very appropriate time when the subject of theatre advertising is uppermost in in our mind.

What Frank says here goes for any manager in any town without necessarily restricting it to the Fox West Coast Theatres.

It won't do any of you the slightest bit of harm to read this over, not once, but a couple of times and digest it, because it is the very essence of what we have been trying to drive home for a long time.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Geo. W. Sullivan Puts Over A Real Newspaper Tie-Up

George W. Sullivan, manager of the Cathaum Theatre in State College, Pa., writes to tell us about the marvelous tie-up made with two county papers to inaugurate talking pictures in that theatre last March.

Although a little tardy in receiving these items, the ROUND TABLE CLUB nevertheless appreciates Mr. Sullivan's thoughtfulness in passing this contribution along to us.

Credit for the idea really belongs to Mr. Maurice Baum, who is the owner and Managing Director for the Nittany Theatre Company which owns and operates the theatre at State College, and was the guiding factor in the entire

Mr. Sullivan, however, wrote all of the copy and the make-up for the paper. Their opening was Monday and they arranged to have the special edition delivered the preceding Saturday so that they could be read over the week-end. In addition to their regular mailing list, they had copies of the special edition sent to all the residents of State College and all the surrounding towns, taking the names from the telephone directory.

This brings to light once again the tremendous value of a powerful mailing list for any town, regardless of where it is located.

Mr. Baum, incidentally, has been in the show business a great many years and is considered one of the smartest men in the game, having been the creator of many ideas which have since grown stale, and the Cathaum Theatre should send us many interesting contributions from both Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Baum to appear in future issues of MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

It Pays To Watch Your "Sound" Says Robert Elliano

Recognizing the need to correct one of the great evils of sound presentation, Robert Elliano, who supervises Charlie O'Reilly's Theatres in New York City, has given strict instructions to his operator never to leave a machine or turn-table during the showing of a sound picture, and to be prepared for any sort of trouble, particularly when the picture gets out of synchronization.

He has found that by practice, an operator who is alive to his job and knows his business, can set the pick-up, and place the needle in the proper track. This may not sound so simple at first, but according to Bob a little practice will perfect the idea and eliminate a lot of serious kicks from

C. A. Clinch says:

"Many thanks for my membership certificate in the MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB, it has been given a place of honor on the wall in my office.

For it is something to be proud of. Receipt is also acknowledged for the pin which was received, and in passing, advise that it more than pleases."

Stanley-Davis-Clarke Corporation Resident Manager, Columbia Theatre Brookville, Pa. the patrons. As a matter of fact, according to his own statement since he has used this method, he hasn't received a single complaint, and many patrons have inquired how they correct a picture that is out of synchronization, because they have seen other theatres stop the reel and start all over again.

There are so many "kinks" and "angles" to the proper showing of sound pictures, that you can never know when some idea just fits the trouble you may be encountering yourself, and it is, therefore, desirable that every one of our members and readers try to keep in mind that if they uncover some method whereby sound pictures are better projected, they will be conferring a favor, not only upon their brother members, but every other reader of these pages if they tell us about it.

We would appreciate receiving some comments, and will pledge all the space necessary to carry the message of our various readers to the Industry at large on this vital subject.

Arthur Campbell, Jr. Worked Displays Into 47 Windows

Window tie-ups for the sale of music and records on some of the current big talkie and singing hits are by no means new, but when they take the form of a 16-ft. window dressed as attractively as the one we picture here, then it is certainly worthy of more than passing attention.

This effective tie-up was engineered through the sole efforts of Arthur Campbell, Jr., manager of Loew's State Theatre, in Memphis, Tenn.

And the window display was left standing for almost two weeks, and, in addition, they had 46 other window tie-ups on the main street.

This is a remarkable campaign, and when you stop to consider 47 window tie-ups on the main street of a city, you can readily understand the marvelous play and publicity that was worked out on a single attraction.

We should certainly like to hear more about Arthur's activities, and we promise to give him all the necessary space on our pages that his material warrants. How about it, Arthur, it's all up to you?

Chas. P. Carroll Hudson Div. Chief Joins The M.R.T.C.

It gives us great pleasure to announce that Charles P. Carroll, Director of Publicity for the Hudson Division of the Stanley Warner Chain with headquarters at the Stanley Theatre, in Jersey City, N. J., has filed his application for membership in the MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB.

In an early issue we shall set forth some of Mr. Carroll's recent activities and we look to him to become a real active member.

We hope to be able to get the gentleman's photograph in time to use with the next story we publish. How about it, Charlie, will you accommodate?

A Good Ad Suggestion From Wallace Allen

Here is something that comes from Wally Allan's publicity bulletin down in Florida.

The suggestion is for an All Type Ad that can be used on any one of the box office successes that have made their appearance with this new season.

The ad would read with a heading as follows:

HOW WOULD YOU WRITE THIS AD?

..IF, LIKE US YOU HAD THE GREATEST PICTURE IN YEARS, PLAYING FROM COAST TO COAST HOLDING ALL WORLD RECORDS FOR ATTENDANCE AND RECEIPTS, HAILED BY THE CRITICS AS THE FASTEST, FUNNIEST, SENSATIONAL HIT OF THE AGE.

(Note, change copy to suit picture)
AND, BECAUSE OF THE TERRIFIC DEMAND TO SEE THIS SUCCESS, YOU WISHED TO URGE PEOPLE TO COME EARLY OR BETWEEN FIVE AND SEVEN P. M. TO SAVE THEMSELVES WAITING IN LINE.

WHAT WOULD YOU SAY?

Then follow with the name of the picture, cast, etc.

Here's a suggestion that's worthy of your consideration, because you have many big pictures coming along that have made box office records, and your community has probably heard of them from their key city or big city runs. Take advantage of this suggestion and work it out as an All Type Ad (off the theatre page if necessary) to attract additional attention.

Any members using this suggestion, should send a copy of the newspaper ad to the ROUND TABLE CLUB, so that we may show on these pages how these suggestions are being followed.

Thank you Wallace, for this one and we'll be watching your Bulletin, just as religiously as you are watching the ROUND TABLE CLUB pages.

Johnny Green Puts This One Over To Good B. O. Returns

"Interesting Exploit ation" is an appropriate title that should be associated in describing the activities of Johnny Green, manager of the Pastime Theatre in Union City, N. J., when he exploited and successfully put across "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

A carefully worded telegram was sent to every lawyer and members of the Grand Jury Panel, judges and prosecuting attorneys throughout the city. This telegram was so made up as to create a lot of interest in the attraction and, needless to say, these gentlemen of the legal profession must have spoken about it both in a business way and socially to their many acquaintances.

Another angle of Mr. Green's campaign was the handling of 1500 fake summonses which were sent through the mail, and 3500 distributed by hand throughout the city. Besides the above 2500 colored auto traffic tags were printed and hung on automobile steering wheels.

Although this constituted but a small part of Mr. Green's campaign, it nevertheless shows how completely he covers a production when he goes out to sell it to the public.

The ROUND TABLE CLUB pages would certainly like to hear a whole lot more about his activities and would even be glad of the opportunity of publishing his picture in conjunction with the next story we get from him. How about it, Johnny, be a regular guy, and come on through?

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Co-Operative Paper A Good Break For C. W. Botsford

Any theatre manager who can boast of being able to work with a local newspaper, who shows real cooperation, is to be congratulated on his good fortune. Not that the majority of local papers won't work with the theatre, but many of them would not go out of their way to help the manager turn out an attractive and business getting ad.

C. W. Botsford, manager of the Grand Theatre in Sudbury, Ontario, Canada, a town located way up in the north of Ontario, and generally spoken of as the jumping off place for the Arctic, is indeed fortunate in having a paper like the Sudbury Star to work with.

This newspaper provides any amount of cooperation, giving mat services, and Mr. Botsford finds among their files plenty of decorative boxes and borders which set a display off to greater advantage than if he had to depend on straight lines or plain block type.

He is particularly interested that the other members of the CLUB see his display in the issue of October 5th in which he makes a full page announcement and one that would be a credit to any theatre in towns even larger than Sudbury.

We cannot state at this writing just how much space costs in "C. W.'s" local paper, but at any rate, we feel that he is not spending a lot of money without giving it a whole lot of thought. This type of advertising, even when it is expensive, is productive of marvelous results when used at certain intervals if the occasion or attraction warrants it.

In connection with the "Now For A Real Old Time" week, which he conducted from October 7th to 12th, he reports that the amount of business far exceeded his fondest hopes, and they packed the house and played to capacity each and every performance. Therefore, he is justified in claiming that the old adage, "It Pays To Advertise," stands out strongly in his case, and as a business getter, his idea materialized perfectly.

He is now laying plans for another big "shot" under the title of "Revival Week" which he will stage around Christmas when money is rather tight. And we are confident it will end up profitably all around.

Thank you for your good wishes, Mr. Botsford, and we would appreciate getting one of your own photographs the next time you write to the CLUB.

Shake Hands With Jimmy Chakeres Of Springfield, O.

The MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB is delighted to welcome to our organization, James Chakeres, the eighteen year old manager of the Majestic Theatre in Springfield, Ohio, where he took the place of Lee Euering when that gentleman was promoted to the position of managing director of the State Theatre in Greenville, Ohio.

Although Jim is a nephew of Phil Chakeres, the general manager of the Regent-State Corporation, he is nevertheless succeeding on his own hook and a credit to his uncle and the organization he is plugging for.

We would like to tell our many members and readers something about this young man's activities in the way of exploitation and showmanship, and would welcome any contributions which he can find time to send us. How about this, Jim, and don't forget to include your own photograph with the next letter you write.

Did You Order Your Club Pin?

Inexpensive Yet Attractive Says H. L. Davidson

An inexpensive yet unusually attractive marquee display can be achieved by following the example set by H. L. Davidson, manager of the Publix Palace Theatre in Canton, Ohio.

The accompanying photograph will show you how he cut out beaver board letters and musical notes mounted upon a wooden musical scale, which in turn was suspended from the outer edge of the marquee.

As a means of getting away from the monotonous cloth banners or large poster cutouts we can think of no better medium to sell a picture, and since there are so many productions with which music is identified, you would do well to keep this in mind and use it at the first opportunity that presents itself.

Thank you "H. L." and we would like to tell the boys about some more of your activities. How about it?

George H. Christoffers says:

".... For many months I have read the articles devoted to theatre activities presented by MOTION PICTURE NEWS in the ROUND TABLE CLUB, and have indeed enjoyed reading the efforts of the Managers' throughout the United States. Permit me to compliment you on the very great work that you. . . are doing for the exhibitors. . .

With every good wish I am,"

Manager, Fox West Coast Colorado Theatre, Pasadena, California.

F. A. Kelly Has A Perfect "Gang" Up In Jamestown

From Jamestown, N. Y. we again receive word from two interested members whose letters always give us a great deal of satisfaction, both from the standpoint of personal contact, and, of course, what they have to say is always of great interest to our other members and readers.

This is just by way of leading up to the fact that Mr. F. A. Kelly the Resident Manager of the Palace and Wintergarden in Jamestown, N. Y., has taken time out of his ordinarily, very busy existence to tell us a few lines about their activities out there.

It was with a great deal of pleasure that your Chairman met Mr. Kelly and young Tom Roberts on his midwestern excursion in the summer of 1928, and we still carry with us many happy memories of the showman and regular guys we met at the Gus Son convention up at Sandusky.

Among the activities of Mr. Kelly and his two theatres was their exploitation and propaganda on the production "Broadway" which he used with the headline "Change Main Street to Broadway." This, Mr. Kelly tells us, he originally picked up from one of Larry Jacobs many suggestions.

On "The Dance of Life" they built a miniature proscenium on the marquee at the WinterGarden Theatre, and started in to use two ballet dancers. Unfortunately, "Old John Law" came along and that ended that. At any rate, they replaced the dancers with a couple of life size cut-outs and the ballyhoo was still very attractive.

On "Hollywood Revue" they just finished a most effective campaign which they believe was responsible for the record business that that picture was doing at the time they wrote the letter. In addition to 400 full sheet street car cards with large type "Hollywood Revue" printed on them, they arranged an unusual display of four foot beaver board letters spelling the words of the attraction, and lined them up on the extreme top of the building, with two girls in military dress at each end. From each figure and letter, they hung various colored bunting and ran it to a central point of the marquee, with 25 beaver board cut-out stars entirely surrounding the marquee. Of course, these stars were used for the purpose of conveying the names of the various motion picture stars appearing in the production.

We hope that "F. A." finds the time to send us the photographs of the front, as it must have been a mighty effective piece of showmanship. He also engineered a masked players contest in the evening papers, with a full page ticup. Of course, this cost the theatre nothing, they merely supplying the 50 pairs of tickets to the newspaper conducting the contest.

They also advertised that fifteen young girls would appear on the human billhoard on top of the WinterGarden

Theatre. This also was used by the newspaper in the form of a news item crashing right into the front page, but it had to be called off because the Mayor was afraid that the safety of the girls was involved. Although, the police stopped this free attraction it was successful in crashing once more into the front page which of course gave it excellent publicity.

This represents but a small portion of the information conveved to us in Mr. Kelly's letter, but we hasten to make this use of its contents so as to show our keen appreciation for his keeping us in mind and taking the time required to write us a lengthy letter.

The second portion of information coming from the Palace and WinterGarden Theatres of Jamestown, N. Y., was conveyed in a mighty interesting letter from young Tom Roberts, whom we met, together with his dad, out in Mansfield some time ago, but this we shall tell you in another article separate from this one.

Thank you once more, "F. A." and I may try to arrange to run up to Jamestown when I am in Pittsburgh to attend Larry Jacobs' "get-together of managers." So don't be surprised if I walk in on you. Best regards to all the folks

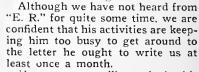

I know, and let's hear from you again real soon.

C. R. Medd Was One Of Our Early Active Members

Here is a club member who has been in the ROUND TABLE CLUB for well over a year and one whom we consider in the Charter Member class.

Step up, gentlemen, and make the acquaintance of Mr. C. R. Medd, who manages the Marion Theatre, Clarksdale, Miss., for the Sacnger Circuit,

However, we will overlook this if Mr. Medd will let us know that he is still alive and kicking, and also where he is hanging his hat.

Not that it is strange for us to find that his hat is reposing elsewhere than the Marion Theatre, but after all in these days of switchingor what have you—it's just possible that when we do not hear from a member for several months, he might be located in some other house or town. Therefore: Medd, better let us know if you are still where we have you plastered. Oak?

H. L. Richardson An Expert On All Fashion Revues

With the ever increasing popularity of the Fashion Shows, many theatres are cashing in twice a year or oftener on this sure fire Box Office bet.

There have been many things said upon this subject, and the more we can find out the better we like it.

ardson, live - wire manager of the Smalley Theatre in Ft. Plain, N. Y., has been unusually successful in some of the Fashion Shows which he has staged, and no little of the credit belongs to the attractive way that he sets his stage.

With "talkies" having supplanted having supplanted vaudeville in many theatres, there is no reason why the numerous props and settings should go to waste when they could be utilized to work in with these local fashion shows and one that will drum up plenty of trade for the theatre, besides good - will cooperation and from the various merchants in the business section of the town.

son has dressed his stage from house scenery and props we show you in the accompanying illustration. This shows three separate dressings for fashion shows and all of them carry a distinct punch. There is no question but that they lend dignity to every fashion show that he ever staged.

The upper photograph is neat and shows one of the models emerging from the frame from which she makes her entrance. The middle one is likewise an attractive setting and provdes a conspicuous entrance for all of the models or mannikens who display the frocks and dresses that they have in the show. On the lower photograph, he shows still another idea which is exceptionally good for a spring or fall fashion show.

On Wednesday, October the ninth, Harold staged his eighth annual Fashion Show, and backed up with the many years' experience that he has had, we are willing to give odds that it was a box office smash all the way through. As he himself puts it, "This is the time of the year for the Fall Fashion Show and I am sure that any manager that has the will and desire to put a show of this character over right, he will find it more than an extra box office attraction."

In looking over the photographs for these settings, we want to call your attention to the fact that Mr. Richardson did not expend more than $15 for the necessities needed on the stage, all of the balance of the props were stuff found getting stunt.

Although this story was intended a solely as a means of conveying in goinformation about Mr. Richardson's activities on fashion shows, we do not want to pass up the opportunity of showing tunity of showing the Smalley Theatre stage laid out for one of his regular country stores. Particular attention is called to the type of merchandise which he has incorporated in this busness-getting stunt.

We all know the reacton to country stores, but there is no question, as any live-wire manager will agree, that if handled right and the items which are to be distributed mean anything at all, this is bound to be a gold mine for the Box Office.

We are now going to wait for Mr. Richardson to make good his promise to send us the photograph of his Eighth Annual Fashion Show, and it will give us a great deal of pleasure to show the many new angles which he has incorporated into this annual event of his.

Thank you, Harold, and please keep us posted further.

Binstock & Najdek Form Perfect Team For Fox Astoria We are rather pleased in presenting a harmonious team of showmen who are really accomplishing great things for the theatre and organization which employs them.

We want you to step up and meet Paul Binstock (right)

Newspaper Advertising

We are showing on this page, a group of assorted newspaper ads which may contain some pointers that you can convert and use in your own local advertising.

The assortment includes theatres from all size towns and theatres and is worth the little time required to study it. and John Najdek, Manager and Assistant Manager, respectively, of the Fox Broadway Theatre in Astoria, L. I.

Paul, as you will recall from a recent announcement a few weeks ago, has just been made supervisor for the three Fox theatres in Astoria and we look to see him mount still higher in this ever-growing organization.

You may recall that not long ago we predicted that Paul would receive some more recognition from the Fox organization, and it seems that we had him figured out pretty near right. We will, however, look forward to reading still more about his numerous activities in early issues of the NEWS.

Hutcheon Uses An Ancient Auto For Good Ballyhoo

Here is a part of the exploitation stuff used for 'Cock Eyed World" by Manager Hutcheon of the Strand Theatre in Amsterdam, N. Y.

It brings this point to the fore:

Wouldn't this old 1904 Emerson model automobile attract attention on any other picture beside "Cock Eyed World"?

You're darn tootin' it would, and, therefore, the story of this stunt is but a repeated contention that none of the stunts are married to the picture on which they are used. You can take an old fashioned automobile, providing it is old enough to attract plenty of attention, and ballyhoo any picture on the map.

On "The Black Watch" you can have a couple of Scotch dressed gentlemen instead of the doughboys, and if it were a picture about girls, you can have a couple of girls in bathing suits hanging on to the car.

All of this, brothers, does not detract from this clever stunt as handled by Mr. Hutcheon and we want him to know that we were delighted to receive the photo, and would like to hear more about his activities, so that we can publish them on these pages.

Front Flashes Are Good B.O. Booster's For Walter Morris

Chalk up another one for Wally Allan, the aggressive State Chairman for the ROUND TABLE CLUB in Florida.

This time he has lined up up Walter Morris, that go-getting manager of the Stanley and Arcade Theatre in that city

Mr. Morris in his first letter has told us several interesting things and flattered us in many ways, but we won't repeat the nice things he said, we rather like to keep them to ourselves and it gives us a greater kick than you could ever imagine.

Here we show you how the front of the Stanley Theatre was fixed up by Mr. Morris for the showing of "Salute" and also an original cutout and two Pennant cutouts at the back of the automobile. This was only a small portion of his campaign, and as soon as the CLUB receives Mr. Morris' photo, we will endeavor to tell you a whole lot

"Sad But True"

In reading a copy of the British trade paper, "The Bioscope," we came across the following paragraph: "It is easier to talk with the American President than with the managers of some New York cinemas.

And, brothers, that sentence is sad but all too true. Why this condition should exist is to me a mystery and I think I have been running theatres long enough to know whether my job entailed so much work that I could not take the time to see and meet people who might want to see me. I could (unfortunately) quote a list of theatre managers of just this type. Men who have sold themselves the ridiculous idea that because they are managing large theatres they should make themselves inaccessible to visitors.

Take a "regular" manager, a man who really does find himself crowded with plenty to do and perhaps not enough assistance, he will always find the few moments to say hello to any visitor regardless of whether that visitor is a patron or a pest. It's worth thinking over, boys, and give it a lot of thought. You are not so important or big, but that someone else is more important and perhaps bigger. Right?

Thank you, Mr. Morris, for your very kind letter, and let us hope that we hear from you by return mail, enclosing you own photograph.

Welcome to the greatest organization in the world.

Bill Kerrigan Can Still Show 'Em Some Real Stunts

This is the way Bill Kerrigan, the manager of the Albee Theatre in Brooklyn, N. Y., exploited "The Very Idea" in that Borough of New York.

You will note a part of the crowd that assembled when the two ballyhoo people were parading around the business section of Brooklyn. Inasmuch as the Albee Theatre is located in the downtown part of the Borough, and right in the midst of all business activities, there are thousands and thousands passing the place every day, and it is no s m a l l wonder that this type of ballyhoo, which is very unusual for the Albee, should attract so much attention.

We have known

Bill Kerrigan for a great many years, and know he is capable of doing as much livewire exploitation and publicity as any other showman in the business, so it gives us great pleasure to pass along this little contribution, and hope that he sends us a whole lot more. How about it, Bill, for old time's sake anyway?

"Kirschbaum's 'News'"

For originality, you have to hand it to Dick Kirschbaum. Manager of the Lincoln Theatre, Arlington, N. J. (for the Bratter & Pollack Circuit) and also official CLUB cartoonist for these pages.

He has turned out a weekly bulletin which is the kind of intimate sheet that every patron of the Lincoln Theatre will look forward to and welcome with open arms.

The reproduction is clear enough to give you a general idea, not only of its appearance, which measured a bout 8½ x 11 inches, but also how he words it.

If you want to try something a little different, and you possess the necessary artistic qualifications (?) then we recommend this

Lew Levey's Local Carnival Stunt Is Clicking For B. O.

This is a followup on the article which we published about Lew Levey and the Dyckman Theatre tieup for a neighborhood Carnival month.

You will recall in that story some of the details of how he was lining up the merchants, all of whom were donating various merchandise. And in the accompanying photograph we show one of the attractive tables which he dressed in the Lobby of the Dyckman Theatre with a small portion of the merchants' donations placed about, all with appropriate credit cards.

We hope to be able to show our members a photograph of the street decorations which we are sure

Thank you, Lew, for keeping us posted on your continued activities, and here's hoping that the Carnival Month goes over with a bang. You deserve to see it click.

It Costs You Nothing to Belong to the MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

And see what marvellous benefits you derive from this organization!

A great many showmen (we know) have been just on the verge of joining the Managers' Round Table Club, but have neglected to do so largely through oversight.

We suggest that YOU get full information about this great army of showmen and then decide once and for all whether you want to join.

The mere fact that so many live-wire showmen already belong to the organization—that they represent the cream of the show-world—every branch of theatre management—that not a single one was induced by a salesman or any other sort of solicitation other than through the actual activities of the Club and the word-of-mouth praise that has spread from one end of the world to the other—but joined after simply reading the facts about what the Club does for it's members—all these are indications that it is worth your while at least to get these facts as quickly as possible, and then (if you want to) join and get the benefits that such association with fellow showmen is bound to bring.

IT HAS ALMOST REACHED THE POINT WHERE IT IS NOT A QUESTION OF WHO BELONGS TO THE CLUB—BUT, WHO DOESN'T BELONG TO IT!

Remember, we are now and forever:

J. H. Stodel Adds Some New Angles To An Old Idea

The Country Store Idea has penetrated even into the far remote part of the world known as South Africa. From our friend, J. H. Stodel, supervisor of the African Theatres, Ltd., we learn that they successfully engineered this idea under the name of "Treasure Hunt," although the idea is not restricted to evening performances, and can also be called treasure matinees to boost the sick, or otherwise weak afternoons or evenings at the theatre.

Fashioned very much along the line of the Country Store, the merchants cooperation working pretty much the same way, but we rather like the way "J. H." and his boys are handling it, because he works with a thoroughness that spells 100% success for the stunt before it is even pulled off.

In selecting the winners, it is done as follows: At the time the "Treasure Hunt" takes place, the manager takes the platform with a small hand mirror, the house lights are turned off, and the operator turns a spot on the manager, who in turn reflects the mirror, singling out certain parties in the audience. The head usher who is following the reflection of the mirror then notfies the patron who has the mirror spot on him that he will be presented with a present. You can well imagine the humor and fun that an audience would derive out of this stunt. Keep it in mind, fellows, because it adds a new slant on old fashioned ideas that work pretty much the same way.

We also show here a scene at the Bijou Theatre in Johannesburg, South Africa, when Mr. Stodel launched the film "Wings" with a special invitation performance, during which the Mayoress of Johannesburg, Mrs. W. Fearnhead, smashed a bottle of champagne, shown in the photo here, over the film boxes to successfully launch the run of the picture.

This, as well as everything else engineered by Mr. Stodel and his various house managers, has been accomplished with a certain thoroughness that is showmanship, regardless of what language you say it in.

Thank you, "J. H.," for once more taking the trouble to keep us posted on what is going on in South Africa, and please keep up the fine work.

E. J. Harvey Connects With W-B In Derby, Conn.

E. J. Harvey, formerly connected with E. M. Loew's Theatres in Boston is now manager of the Com-modore Hull Theatre, Derby, Conn. for Warner New England Chain.

An example of Mr. Harvey's recent exploitation activities was published on these pages recently, and we are sure that his activities as manager of this theatre will make a lot of interesting reading on our future pales.

The ROUND TABLE CLUB wishes Mr. Harvey all the success he so well deserves and we trust that he will continue his active membership in the CLUB.

"Little Things"

Many managers of today believe that if they put over some "big" stunt, or if they erect an impressive out-door display, or if they do any other "big" thing around their theatre they have lived up to the idea that they are good managers.

No one will dispute the point. Whatever you do for your theatre and your patrons is a step nearer proper managership.

But in most houses where business has been consistently good, where there is an air of satisfaction on the faces of the patrons and where everything goes along in smooth order, you will find that they have not overlooked the "little" things. Our own idea of some of these "little" things would be a smile and greeting from the cashier, a pleasant good-day from the doorman, a polite reply from an usher to a patron, and other little services such as serving ice water, helping patrons with their bundles or wraps and hundreds of other ways. It is surprising how long the memory of such things linger with the average theatregoer, long after he has forgotten about the show itself.

One of the most important factors in theatremanagement today is Service and a man who is incapable of including it in his operation of a theatre will not last long.

Keep on doing those "big" things that we all delight in doing, either for ourselves or the people we work for. But don't forget the "little" things are just as important.

Wm. Flynn Gives K. C. Something To Talk About

William Flynn, the manager of the Globe Theatre in Kansas City, engineered an unusually fine campaign on "The Drake Case" which brought marvelous box office results.

Among the stunts which he engineered was a street ballyhoo consisting of a woman with widow's weeds, and a sandwich board reading

"I am heart-broken."

"Mother accused of murder."

"Drake Case."

"Help Me Absolve Her."

"Now on trial at the Globe Theatre."

We will just leave to your own imagination, what this type of ballyhoo meant to the Globe, and suggest that you keep it in mind to use at the next opportunity that presents

In addition to the above, 1300 lawyers were solicited, publicity was secured in all legal news and daily legal papers. Use of pictorial news to advantage in windows in view of the sensational murder case which was occupying local attention at that time.

They also effected a tie-up with a commercial fingerprint identification bureau, through which 10,000 throwaways were distributed, setting forth the value of fingerprints as evidence.

We rather like the way that Flynn engineered this campaign, and the thoroughness which surrounds it. We would welcome some more contributions from this livewire showman.

How about it, Flynn, and you might send your photo along with your next letter, we would like to show the boys what you look like?

Good Boy "Ack"

When we started raving about our members grabbing thirty-one out of the fifty-one places of honor as contributors to the Harold Lloyd press book on "Welcome Danger" we were not fair enough to I. F. W. (Ack") Ackery, manager of Dominion Theatre, in Vancouver, B. C., Canada.

"Ack" was the only Canadian manager from our western division to bring home the bacon and so we rise in recognition of his marvelous showmanship and acclaim him as one of our outstanding managers and members from British Columbia.

Dan O'Keefe Starts Leominster Metro. Off With Bang

We have spoken to you several times about this gentleman, but this is the first time we have had the pleasure of presenting his picture on the CLUB pages.

Mr. Dan O'Keefe first made our acquaintance when he managed the Strand Theatre, in Clinton, Mass., and we found him a hail-fellow-welfmet always tickled to extend the glad hand to brother managers who might be coming his way. This sort of warmed us up to Dan, and we were delighted to hear that he had been engaged to inangurate the new Metropolitan Theatre, in Leominster, Mass., which is once again to be re-opened. This time for the Goldstein Brothers Circuit, of Mass.

We have enough about Dan to convince us that he can make some interesting and valuable contributions to the Club, if he will but put his mind to the task. How about it, Dan, can we sort of renew acquaintance via these pages? Thanks a whole lot and best of luck.

Booth Uses A Variety Of Stunts To Build Up Business Billings Booth, manager of the Princess and Orpheum Theatre in Oxford, N. C., makes a suggestion that his brother showmen take advantage of an angle that he has cashed in on successfully in the past. That is a "Hosiery Style Show."

He has put this over through a local hosiery merchant, or, if there is a mill close enough by, he ran it with a direct tie-up, and thereby secured even better cooperation.

The Show, of course, is conducted much along the lines of a Fashion Show, except that the hosiery is a feature. Of course, this presents many interesting side-lights and angles, but we will leave them to your better judgment to work out when engineering this stunt.

Although this portion of the story and the details are limited, it should afford you sufficient "dope" to start out to put something across. If, by any chance, you find it as successful as we believe you will, pass along the information on how you worked it to the rest of the boys, via these pages.

Another stunt which Mr. Booth has found very profitable was the "Pay Night" idea which has been described on these pages in the past, and consists of handing every patron who enters the theatre a pay envelope which contains an amount ranging from one cent to one dollar or even more, if you want to make it that much more interesting.

Mr. Booth's contention is that if you give about ten per cent of your night's receipts, you can bet on an increase of two to three hundred per cent for the gross on every one of your pay nights.

This gag is entirely within the law, we believe, inasmuch as every patron entering the theatre receives an envelope, and every envelope contains some sum of money, and you would be surprised at the tremendous amount of interest it kicks up among the working group in particular. Theatres located in towns or sections where there are many factories, shops or mills, will find the response even more enthusiastic than in other places.

We are grateful to Mr. Booth for these suggestions, and we would like to hear further from him.

Oh Yeah!

A Real Talking Motion Picture
(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

(All Dialogue)

One might say that this is the first real talking motion picture. It has all the action and thrills that formerly were part of a motion picture, and coupled with it is talk. The result is that it is a picture that is going to prove a box-office wow. It is comedy-drama, with laughs thrills and punches. It starts with a rush and keeps going at a merry clip right to the finish. Don't overlook this one as a real bet, for it is every bit as good as "The Cock-Eyed World."

There are three players that top the balance of the cast. They are Robert Armstrong, James Gleason and Zasu Pitts. Gosh what a team that Jimmie Gleason and Zasu Pitts make. They are a laugh from beginning to end of the picture. But one doesn't want to overlook Bob Armstrong for he and Gleason put over a Damon and Pythias stunt that is a wow

Ex. Daily Review Oct. 11th

Pathe pre-viewed "Oh, Yeah" at the New York Athletic Club last Wednesday night and if you're wondering what kind of a picture it is, you should have heard them laugh!

James Gleason and Robert Armstrong, re-united for the first time since they wowed theatre goers in the stage version of "Is Zat So?" are better than ever in this snappy wise-cracking story with a railread background.

Zasu Pitts also deserves a hand for a characterization much above her usual work, of which higher praise could not be given.

Exhibitors needn't worry about booking "Oh Yeah". Put this one down as a box-office "natural"!

IT'S STILL THE PICTURE

By William A. Johnston

OLLYWOOD—Probably the most hackneyed phrase in the business is: "The picture is the thing".

But this year it is repeated with its greatest emphasis.

In an interview with Harold Franklin the other evening he told me how he was running some six hundred and twenty five theatres, dotting the map from the Pacific shores to Kansas City.

"Further east than that", he added, "Next week I am opening a theatre in Atlanta and it will succeed", he said enthusiastically.

"How can you effect this long distance success?" I asked.

"Distance doesn't count", he said. "Pictures-that's the answer" and he recited a list of eight big productions which would open the theatre. He spoke seriously of the important elements of management, advertising, location, etc. But he came back to pictures.

Pictures—and seats; not too many of the latter, but enough for the calibre of the picture. For, remember, there is no vaudeville these days, very little legitimate, in fact very little of any other theatre attraction, since the big sound picture in itself encompasses all that the stage can offer.

So perhaps we should say: "The sound picture is the thing."

L. B. Mayer says it is and says so enthusiastically; and judging only from previews of the three most recent productions from these studios no one would hesitate to say that his enthusiasm is highly justified. On the M-G-M lot sound stages are going up in towering masses of concrete and steel that certainly savor of a brand new industry to the manufacturers of entertainment. It is all somewhat overwhelming to one who recalls the flimsy shacks of but a few years ago. Surely we are in a great production era.

Mayer has waged a successful and most creditable campaign over the past several years for fine motion pictures; and, always, what he says is worth recording.

"It is one statement here" said he, "that we do not make talking motion pictures: we make motion pictures that talk.

There's a lot in this brief sentence; and in my opinion it is the inevitable basis for the successful producton of sound pictures. What he means, of course, is that they are continuing to make the very best motion pictures their resources are capable of; and sound is added for greater dramatic expression.

"We go after brains" continued Mayer, "and give them free play-the widest possible latitude. It's the only way.

"The bane of the box-office has always been factory-made pictures. The trade papers, you'll recall, used to echo these words. You don't hear of factory made pictures today; and you won't. And the policy that put them into the discard is individual initiative in production."

Sound words these; sound for motion pictures and especially sound for sound pictures.

The vital importance of the picture today, should, it would seem, encourage independent production. Now that we have theatre chains of national scope, giant investments are dependent upon pictures. Pictures used to call for theatres; today it would seem theatres call for pictures.

A theatre magnate—a producer, too, of course—on a brief vacation gave these instructions: "Don't bother me with any details. Just let me know how the pictures are coming along."

Such a man, it would seem, is more interested in his box-office grosses than in the source of the pictures that yield them.

An Insider's Outlook

BELIEVE it or not, a brand new idea has hit this funny old business. Right on Broadway, a theatre, formerly the home of $2 pictures alleged and otherwise, has dropped its swagger, switched to a 25 cent scale with a short, snappy newsreel policy and is knocking 'em stiff.

You know, of course, that the Embassy has changed its monicker to the Newsreel Theatre. What might not have reached you is the fact that business has been S. R. O. since the idea got under way last Friday. The average has been 7,000 paid admissions daily. At a twenty-five cent gate, figure it for yourself.

When the stunt was first conceived—Nick Schenck is understood to have doped this one out—the purpose was merely to ballyhoo the talking newsreel and drive into the exhibitor consciousness its importance. It didn't take more than three days, however, for enthusiasm in the Fox-Hearst forces to run riot and for plans to be made to extend the innovation to important key cities. This is being done.

The Newsreel Theatre has now rounded out its first week. What comes later, of course, may alter matters. But, based entirely on the record to date, the idea looks like a wow. And the exhibitor, if he is smart, by this time should have grabbed the tip.

To set up a formula that will click for theatres scattered all over the map is one tough job. We don't propose to take it upon our young shoulders. It does seem, however, that the plan has enough latitude for a broad application. We would suggest doping out an all-newsreel show during early morning hours and picking up at night after the regular show has been tucked away to bed. It's a pencil and paper job to dope out the possibilities as against the overhead. Viewing it from this forum, the odds are in favor of it as a short route to increased profits.

Dear Old First Nat'l

It looks as if the days of kicking First National about are ended. In the latter day history of the business, there has been no other instance to parallel the stormy career of this major company. The president's chair has been filled more times than memory can easily recall. But now Harry Warner has parted with $10,- ooo,ooo in cash—hot or cold, as you like—and the sailing is clearly defined. Bill Fox's minority interest has been purchased and First National goes to Warners one hundred per cent.

While First National and the Warners are now neighbors as well as each other's severest critics, indications are that both companies will be operated as is. You know, the General Motors idea. Competition, plenty of it, and yet a close, mutual co-operation for their dual good.

Repercussions

The inside is boiling. When stocks bit the dust last week, the story goes that two important banking institutions which have been financing two equally important film companies indulged in separate hair-tearing spasms. All of which may be too bad but would carry no particular significance were it not for the fact that their groans found echo in this business.

The two film companies—never mind their names—are reported more than slightly embarrassed. So much so that—the story continues—Adolph Zukor, always the champion of the industry, may find himself in a spot where he will be compelled to extend aid purely as a step to protect the stability of the business with the outside world.

You may not know it, but for years Zukor has been a clearing house for celluloid complaints. In the days before producers turned more exhibitor than producer, the Paramount chief regularly made loans to big circuit operators to tide them through financial stringency. The role of savior in this latest, and far more serious instance, therefore, would not be new to him. Zukor, for no announced reason, has terminated his European trip when it had just gotten under way. He reached New York yesterday and from this day on some things may be expected to happen.

The current situation might easily result in more mergers. If not that, perhaps closer working agreements and a greater degree of co-operation in quarters where such co-operation would have seemed slightly humorous a year ago.

The ironic slant enters the picture in the attitude of the Department of Justice, which very soon now is expected to abandon its policy of big brother on the question of mergers by refusing to hand out advance rulings on the legal phases of proposed amalgamations. In other words, if this industry determines on bigger and better consolidations, it will have to decide for itself if such steps are entirely within the law. On the sidelines will sit the Justice Department playing the Sphinx and holding the deck in the form of the Sherman anti-trust laws. It's no way to run out on motion pictures, but all industries are similarly affected. There may be consolation in that.

Around The Town

That Lloyd man. Harold, the great, is a rare combination of producer, star and business man. The latter probably rates first. Now on his way to the coast, Lloyd spent a goodly portion of his time at the Rivoli here in New York clocking laughs, noting audience reactions to "Welcome Danger" and jotting down what he learned in a copious, mental notebook for future guidance.

Lloyd holds no illusions about motion pictures as an art. He continues definitely committed to a platform bolstered by himself for himself over the years of avoiding smut or suggestiveness in his pictures. Aside from that, he will tell you he is in this business to make money for Harold Lloyd and Lloyd customers.

The public may have its vagaries, but this comedian's amazing hold over the years demonstrates fickleness may exist for others but not for Lloyd. A smart showman from every angle.

Questions, No Answers

What company is about to swing the axe in distribution by lopping off the collective head of most of its salesmen? Not a retrenchment move. This outfit now owns enough theatres to guarantee a profit on every picture it makes without crashing an outside house. Therefore—but you know the rest.

Why Bill Fox, who only the other day insisted on $25,000,000 for his 25,000 shares of First National stock, accepted $10,000,000 in cash from the Warners? And that, a handful of hours later.

If a certain executive, not now in New York, will be brought East to operate one of the industry's largest theatre chains?

And, finally, if a certain big league executive doesn't renew with the organization he sent over the top this year, exactly where will he go?

Financial Stress, Due to Stocks, May Prompt More Picture Mergers

Radio Agitating?

The copyright question on music is expected to be torn wide open when Congress meets in regular session next month. Music publishers were informed this week by Congressman Sol M. Bloom that a tussle impends.

Radio interests are reported organizing a lobby in Washington to stir up the proceedings.

Bitter Fight On Copyrights Seen

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington. — Reassembling of the House of Representatives for the regular session December 2 is expected to be marked by the re-introduction of copyright legislation, which has now been before Congress for several years. A new feature of the legislation will probably be the introduction by Representative Sol Bloom of New York of a measure to have the United States join the Berne copyrights convention, which is essential, aecording to the New York Congressman, if Americans are to have their interests properly protected abroad.

As has been the ease in past sessions, it is expected that consideration of copyright legislation by the committee on patents will be marked by hitter controversies. In prior years these fights between the authors, composers and publishers and the antagonistic interests have made it impossible for the legislation to get through Congress, and there is no reason to believe, according to observers in Washington, that there has been any change in the situation.

Two Big Companies Reported Hard Pressed—May Call On Zukor To Aid As Industry Protective Move

The hurried return of Adolph Zukor from Europe yesterday is linked with inside stories that the head of Paramount may be called upon to protect the name of the industry by extending aid or perhaps absorbing two important companies hard hit by the Wall Street crash.

A kick-back on the stock smash, far more serious than was at first suspected,

Action Soon On Arbitration Plan

Attorneys for Hays members have already held several conferences with Government counsel in an effort to arrive at revisions made necessary in the existing arbitration system by the recent decision of Federal Judge Thacher in New York.

Gabriel L. Hess goes to Washington next week to confer with Federal officials. Exactly how long it will take to revamp the arbitration structure to conform with the law as interpreted by Judge Thacher cannot be gauged at this time. In the meantime, the Hays office declares arbitration continues to function under the old formula.

No Pathe-Shubert Deal Possible At Present

There is no possibility of a deal between the Shuberts and Pathe at the present time. The report to the effect that negotiations were to be resumed was emphatically denied by an executive in a position to know every move that was being made in connection with the earlier talks.

"With the Shubert stock away off in the market and the general condition in the Street being what it is, there is not only no chance of a Pathe-Shubert deal, but for any other deal of a like nature," was his comment.

Tiffany In Three B'way Long Runs

Tiffany is about to crash the hig street with three long run theatres on Broadway. The company has just closed for a year's lease on the Gaiety beginning January 1 and on Monday takes over the Globe, opening the latter house with "Woman to Woman." N. William Fitelson, attorney for the company, is negotiating for a third house.

"The Lost Zeppelin" or "Peacock Alley," Mae Murray's first talker for the company, will be the opening attraction at the Gaiety, to be followed later by "Journey's End."

nore serious than was at first suspected, eame to light this week in the internal affairs of the two corporations in question which are reported finding themselves in difficulties because their hankers have been hard pressed.

The banking house behind one of these companies is on the verge of disaster, it is reported and, therefore, can no longer finance the operations of the film company which it has been backing to the extent of millions. Market conditions have compelled the banking group behind the second film organization to cut off its financial support.

Huge Financing Called Off

One of the companies, about set to float a large issue, has been compelled to call it off on the insistence of its bankers who take the stand that the investing public is in no circumstances to absorb the stock. The banking firm facing financial duress is reported finding itself in its present condition as a result of a spite move engineered by a former business associate who withdrew several years ago over a misunderstanding in the pool operations involving one of the picture companies now embarrassed. This operator is said to have been awaiting the opportunity to even his old score. Last week he got it.

Insiders eredit the quick return of Zukor to New York to the general condition of the money market and the manner in which it is reflecting upon the industry. Zukor, occupying a dominant position in this industry in the eyes of the hanking world, may find himself in a position where a general trading plan with a view to mergers or cooperative operating agreements will be necessary in order to protect the two companies involved and thereby the general reputation of the industry. So the inside story goes.

Zukor Hurries Home

Zukor sailed for Europe three weeks ago. He was expected to be absent at least three months. When the market started tottering frantie efforts were made to reach him ahroad to ascertain his wishes regarding protection of Paramount stock. By the time contact was made, the market had been shot to pieces and there was little to do but assume a waiting policy until the market rebounded. The general stability of Paramount was not disturbed although in company with the entire list of a thousand or more issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange, this stock hit a new low figure for all time. In the face of an unsettled market, Paramount since has been making slow but certain recoveries. Earnings for October are reported considerably ahead of the same month in Advance Rulings on Mergers Dropped; Industry in Dark on Future Course

Legality Of Amalgamations Must Be Determined Prior To Completion—Justice Dept. No Longer Will Advise

Washington.—If picture mergers are to continue, the participants will have to take a chance and determine first and for themselves whether or not any sections of the Sherman anti-trust law have been violated.

The Department of Justice, at which many criticisms have been levelled as a result of giving advance rulings on proposed amalgamations, is about to abandon the practice. This would throw the burden of responsibility directly on the merging eorporations with the Department sitting on the sidelines ready to step in later if, in its opinion, the Federal statutes have been stepped on.

Under its present plan of aiding big business to grow bigger, the Department has been guiding eorporations bitten by the merger bee over the hurdles. Thus, the Warner deal for Stanley, the the Fox deal for Loew's, Inc., and of late the Para-for Loew's, Inc., and of late the Paramount-Warner consolidation plan were submitted to Washington for its approbation or otherwise. This service is about to end.

Swanson Breaks Rialto, N. Y., Record

"The Trespasser," Gloria Swanson's first all-talkie, has broken all existing records at the Rialto, New York, for the first week of its engagement at that house. Up to Tuesday, which included Election Day, receipts were $46,800 and the week still had three days to go. It was conceded the week would finish with a boxoffice return of about $69,000.

Publix Building New House On Staten Island

Workmen have started razing the old Commodore Vanderbilt mansion at Stapleton, Staten Island, to make way for a $750,000 theatre to he built by Netoco Theatres Corp., a subsidiary of Publix. The new house will be called the Paramount, and will seat 2,302, and be completed in from nine to ten months. Architects are C. W. and George L. Rapp, of New York.

Overseating Problem Faces Portland, Ore.

Portland, Ore.—Film men here are beeoming apprehensive over the possibility of this city becoming seriously over-seated. John Hamriek, who also controls the Music Box, has switched the Blue Mouse into a first-run. Statisties show that there is a sent for every fifteen residents.

The city's theatres downtown, in addition to Hamriek's two, are as follows: Four for Fox, two for Publix, one for RKO, and four in independent control. In the suburban and East Side localities Fox has five, the only other being Tebbett's Oriental. The downtown theatres in Portland—which many claim are over-seated—and their capacities, are as follows:

For—Broadway (1912), Alder (933), United Artists (957), Rivoli (1222). Publix—Portland (3068), Rialto (1498). RKO—Orpheum (1723). Independent—Auditorium (3500), Circle (700), Capitol (783), Dufwin (1287). Hanvick—Blue Mouse (671), Music Box (1335).

East Side and suburban:
Fox-Hollywood (1494), Bagdad (1294), Egyptian (1025), State (747), Rob White (500). Independent—Tebbett's Oriental (2040).

U. A. Theatre Net For 1929 Shows 50% Increase

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., and subsidiaries for the year ended August 31, 1929, show a 50 per cent increase over the same period in 1928, or a net income of $1,113,732, as compared with $516,919 for the previous year. After deducting preferred dividends of $280,000 on 40,000 shares of stock, there remains an equivalent of $1.66 per share earnings on the common. The agreement U. A. made with Paramount whereby the latter operates five first runs jointly with U. A. is advanced as one reason for the gain.

Washington Silent

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News) Washington.—If William Fox's relinquishment of his holdings in First National will have any bearing on the frequently discussed Paramount-Warner merger, officials of the Department of Justice here are not admitting it. In fact, they are neither admitting nor denying anything—just sitting tight and, in conformity with departmental policy, refusing to talk.

Still In Control

Wilmington, Del.—Warner Brothers deny the report current here that John J. Raskob and Pierre S. du Pont had gained control of Warner Brothers Pictures.

Raskob has owned stock in the company for some time.

Harry M. Warner stated this week: "Warner Bros. have come to the conclusion that they will remain as they are, free of mergers with any company, as they feel capable of continuing to develop their own business in the future as they have in the past."

He referred, of course, to the oftrepeated reports of a merger with Paramount.

F. N. To Continue As Separate Unit

With one hundred per cent control of First National held by Warner Bros. hy virtue of purchase of William Fox's minority interests in that company for $10,000,000 in cash, it is expected First National will continue operations as a separate eompany.

Fox, who controlled 25,000 shares of First National stock through control of Weseo and blocks purchased from former First National franchise holders, had been holding out for $25,000,000, or $1,000 a share. A few days ago, it is understood Fox ealled Harry M. Warner and at midnight agreed to sell out his interest at $400 a share, making a total of $10,000,000. It was a eash transaction. Fox's stock appeared on First National's books at $3,842,072.

Explains Why Fox Sold

The deal was engineered through Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia broker, who describes bis reasons for developing the transaction as follows:

aetion as follows:

"I simply saw that it was uneconomic for Fox to go on holding stock in First National. I took it up with him and found that he was ready to sell, if he could get a fair price. I then found the Warner people ready to buy. I had read the Department of Justice objected to a merger between Paramount and Warner so long as Fex held stock in the Warner subsidiary, but I do not know that to be a fact. I had also read some reports that Fox had threatened to sue for an accounting, but I don't know about that either. I simply saw a situation where a broker could accomplish something and proceeded to act."

Offered $40,000,000 For F. N.

In discussing the transaction, Harry M. Warner declared his company had been angling for Fox's First National interest for some time while Fox, he said, had once offered $800 a share or $40,000,000 for the Warner interests which total 50,000 shares. Warner said First National control will add $25,000,000 to the Warner Bros. gross income yearly and a $5,000,000 net annually.

Toys, Sodas Or Whatever Sells Is Publix's New Merchandising Policy

11 More to B. & K.

Chicago.—Ten more Chicago theatres passed to the Publix-Balaban & Katz fold this week with the taking over of the Congress, Covent, Belpark, State, Windsor, Varsity, La Grange, Crystal, Dearborn and Berwyn. All are located in outlying neighborhoods or nearby suburbs.

B. & K. have also acquired the Crystal, 2701 West North Ave., from Schaefer Brothers.

B. & K. Dominate Windy City Now

Chicago.—Balaban and Katz, wholly-owned subsidiary of Publix theatres, is now in virtual control of the theatre situation in the Windy City. This week, Publix purchased all of the common stock of Marks Brothers Theatres, Inc., carrying with it control of the Marbro and Granada, both ace houses and long thorns in the side of B. and K.

The competition between the two groups has been acrid. Yet, the deal came as no surprise to Chicago's Film Row, although from time to time, Fox edged B. & K. out of the rumor race insofar as the Marbro and Granada were concerned.

The Marbro, seating 4,500, is located at 4214 W. Madison St. and is about two years old. The Granada, seating 4,000, is at 6427 Sheridan Road and threw open its doors in 1926.

Both the Marbro and Granda are located in the competitive stronghold of B. & K. theatres, the Marbro being a short distance from B. & K.'s Paradise on the west side and the Granada heing in the territory of B. & K.'s Uptown and Norshore on the north side.

In taking over the houses it is announced there will be no changes in names nor in the general policies.

Publix Springfield House Opens; 3 There In Month

Springfield, Mass.—The opening of the new Paramount-Publix makes the third new house to open here in a month. Dunlop Realty Co. huilt the theatre at a cost of $1,118,000, with an extra $200,000 for equipment. It seats 3,200. Herhert Chatkin, brother of David J. Chatkin, of Publix, is manager.

Full Width Sound Method Claimed By Roy J. Pomeroy

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—A full width method of recording sound on film by eliminating the fractional inch sound track along side of the picture frame, is claimed to have been perfected by Roy J. Pomeroy. Patents are being applied for, it is said.

To Utilize Huge Lobbies And Foyers For By-Products—Katz Idea Now Being Whipped Into Shape

First sheet music, then phonograph records and now fan magazines, toys, perhaps sodas and light luncheons or whatever the public will go for. This is the "new world" showmanship idea being developed by Publix. The utilization of the lobbies and foyers of the chain's theatres in a general merchandising plan is on the way.

The idea had its growth from the success that the sale of sheet music and phono-

1929 Will Be Record Film Year, Says Wall St. Journal

Published earnings of all the major film and theatre companies indicate that 1929 profits will far exceed all previous years in the history of the industry, "The Wall Street Journal" declares. Major declines in the stock market have never in the past seriously affected the film industry, the paper goes on to say. Neither the depression of 1921 nor that in 1926 appeared to affect film companies which since that time have made tremendous progress financially, the paper says. Both the film and tobacco industries are similar in this respect that they do not suffer any appreciable decline due to stock market or temporary industrial depression.

Fox Planning London "Roxy"

London.—While the report lacks confirmation, it is generally taken for granted that Fox is planning to build a theatre here which would he even larger than the New York Roxy.

graph records has met. At this time a survey is being made of the de luxe houses of the circuit with a view to ascertaining just what can be carried on sale in lobbies that will meet response.

Sam Katz, head of Publix, conceived the idea that the motion picture theatre of to-day has advanced beyond the stage of merely a meeting place where screen entertainment is served to the public. With that in mind the general merchandising plan suggested itself.

Magazines Next

At present Publix is operating sheet music and record booths in about eighteen houses. In addition, these booths are now selling popular editions of novelizations of film stories. Added to this in the near future will be the sale of fan magazines, and possibly novelties such as doll reproductions of stars with a direct appeal to youngsters. A special booth is being designed for some houses, this booth to be moveable and rolled easily from the inner to the outer lobby, according to wherever the greater amount of sales is registered.

In crowded downtown locations in some cities it is possible that soda fountains with light luncheons served will be in order to attract luncheon trade from the crowds of office workers during the noon hours.

In other words, it is simply a desire on the part of operating executives to utilize a lot of space in the theatres with a sort of by-product sales idea. And, incidentally, to increase profits.

P.F.-L. Profits Beating All Records, Company Says

Paramount's business is running at a record-breaking pace and is far ahead of the corresponding period of 1928, according to Ralph A. Kohn, treasurer of the company, who states a preliminary estimate of the net for October shows an increase of 68 per cent over the profits for the corresponding month of 1928.

Publix, he said, is running at the greatest rate of profit in its history.

Fox Gains A Foothold In Kentucky Via Lesser Deal

Los Angeles.-Fox gains a foothold in Kentneky and a further wedge in Indiana exhibition by purchase of Sol Lesser's seven-twelfths interest in a group of seven theatres in six towns.

The houses were owned by Lesser in association with Col. Fred Levy, and will be operated in the future by Fox West Coast Theatres. Lesser sold his interests in Principal Theatres, a circuit operating in Southern California, to Fox West Coast some weeks ago.

Big Week End Biz For Zep Trip Film

"Around the World with the Graf Zeppelin," the Hearst Newspapers' presentation of the sound newsreel assembled into almost a feature length picture record of the Zeppelin flight, did a corking week-end business at the little Cameo in New York, getting $2,600 over Saturday and Sunday in a 600 seat house. The Hearst papers put a special campaign behind the presentation. It is understood that the picture is playing the honse on a percentage arrangement of 25 per cent of the first $8,000 with a 50-50 split on anything over the $8,000 figure.

In their operating statement income from theatres, rentals, sales of films and accessories was $108,312,073.26. The land, huildings and equipment of the corporation are listed as totaling $76,291,577.55.

Newsreel Theatre In N. Y. A Smash; National Chain In Key Cities On Way

THE NEWS REEL THEATRAINERST METROTONE NEWSHARST METROTONE

A unique marquee on Brondway—the Embassy, the first newsreel theatre of the nation where the latest in the newsreels are seen and heard. The screen changes as often as the front page of a daily newspaper.

Located in one of the busiest sections in town, the Newsreel Theatre has proved a hit in New York. Note the typical newspaper headline on sign beneath marquee. Others are on display in the lobby.

The various signs decorating the lobby emphasize something new in the way of entertainment—a news medium more potent in scope than the news paper since it appeals to the ear as well as the eye.

Presenting history in the making and news hot off the griddle, the sound newsreel's importance is emphasized by a series of interesting lobbies on display at New York's Newsreel Theatre. They attract crowds.

7.000 ADMISSIONS DAILY

Other Big, Towns Now In Line For Same Type Of House

New York has received its first newsreel theatre with a bang. It has placed its stamp of approval on the Embassy so quickly that within three days after the opening the Hearst-Fox executives were busy with plans for the extension of the idea to other eities. Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Los Angeles and San Francisco are to be the points where the innovation is to be introduced.

Consideration is being given a plan to open newsreel theatres in business centers like Flatbush Ave. and Nevins St. Brooklyn, 149th St. and 3rd Ave. in the Bronx, and others in New York where it is figured drop-in trade will be sufficient to carry the project.

The Embassy, heretofore a home for $2 pictures, was converted into a 25 cent grind house with the showing of newsreels on Saturday, and its name was changed to the Newsreel Theatre. On that day the admissions to the house were almost 7,000 on the day. On Saturday the attendance jumped over Sunday and on Monday figures set by Sunday were bettered. The house is running on a grind from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m., but the late hour business has heen so good that it is now planned to extend the grind for another hour.

500 Admissions Hourly

On an average, the paid admissions have been about 500 an hour since opening. This will give the house a money capacity of $1.875 a day on a fifteen-hour grind playing to about 7,500 people a day in a theatre that seats under 600. The policy is to make changes in the new subjects almost daily with the local news shots

The policy is to make changes in the new subjects almost daily with the local news shots used as a sort of front page newspaper wallop for the customers. One of the Hearst-Fox executives stated at the theatre that the success of the venture more than came up to their expectations. The Hearst-Fox combination has taken the theatre on an outright lease from Loew for the newsreel idea.

A Ballyhoo Only At First

The first thought behind the venture was to drive home more forcibly to exhibitors the value of their newsreels as a box-office attraction and to use the theatre only as a ballyhoo. The stunt has established itself so emphatically that the plan now will be extended to other cities. Larger cities where sound trucks operating in the newsreel division are spotted are being selected.

Opening Newsreel Program A Wallop

The Newsreel Theatre, formerly the Emhassy and believed to be the nation's first, rounds out its first week on Saturday.

The show on the opening day ran exactly fifty-three minutes and contained twenty-four different subjects, twelve of which were labeled Fox Movietone News and the balance Hearst Metrotone News. Every subject that would be covered in a daily (Continued on page 26) newspaper, with the possible exception of a "comic" was included. The range included political news, finance, international news, sports, fashions, science, and what on a daily newspaper would be found on the magazine page.

At the last minute there was rushed from the laboratories a print showing the attempted assassination of Prince Humbert of Italy in Brussels which had arrived from abroad that afternoon by steamer. In the political section the four candidates for Mayor of New York were heard in a last minute speech summing up the campaign, with LaGuardia, Thomas, Enright and Jimmie Walker all driving home their arguments.

Schwab And Forbes On Finance

Charles M. Schwab and C. B. Forbes, the latter the financial authority for the Hearst newspapers, spoke on market conditions; Mrs. Charles Sabin voiced her reasons for resigning from the Republican National Committee and spoke against prohibition from the woman's viewpoint; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson were shown in an interview before departing for South Africa.

Winston Churchill spoke on behalf of international harmony; Maggie Cline, the retired music hall star, gave an interview and sang a song. Then in the freak class there was the showing of an ear-smoker photographed on the streets of Havana; a baby leopard and his mistress; a school in the South Sea Islands.

The weather angle was covered by showing the damage done by a lake storm in Chicago. A baby golfer covered that branch of sport while shots of the Navy-Princeton football game were also included.

Mme. Curie, the mother of radium, was shown being honored at St. Lawrence University while the daughter of Premier MacDonald made an address to American children prior to her returning to England. A fashion review of fur garments was of interest to the women and a shot showing the work of construction on the new Hudson River bridge constituted a New York item of the moment.

On Saturday night, the Navy-Princeton

Murder Confession in Sound Impressive

Fox Movietone News introduced a most dramatic scene through presentation via sound of the confession of William E. Peters of Philadelphia who shot and killed Leona Fishbach on October 31. The picture was recorded in the offices of the Department of Public Safety, in Philadelphia and shown the next day on the screen of the Newsreel Theatre (the Embassy) in New York in New York.

If there ever was a forceful lesson and a crime deterrent this is it. The picture has all the force of an Eugene O'Neill drama. It is life in all its sordid reality. No one can look on this unfortunate and hear his tale without securing a lasting impression that one would never want to be in his boots.

game was taken out of the show and the football event of the day between N. Y. U. and Georgetown put in. On Sunday, the murder confession of a Philadelphia killer was placed in the bill. This caused a tremendous stir and obtained much space in New York dailies. A special showing a Chinese bank in San Francisco, Lindbergh greeting the Soviet fliers, and one of Adolph Lewisohn were new features on Monday.

One of the big kicks of the original bill on Saturday was the Movietone-recorded will of Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver. This is the form in which the noted jurist will leave his last will and testament. His address included the suggestion that the plan was feasible for widespread use.

F. N. Moves To Warner Bldg.

First National is now installed in a new building adjoining the Warner Bldg., 321 West 44th St., New York. Shifting of the various departments, as well as those of other Warner allied companies in the building, will continue for the next few days.

Mrs. Strauss In Hollywood

Hollywood. - Mrs. Florence scenario editor in the east for Fox, is on the coast this week to confer with studio executives on current story material.

How the Newsreel Theatre Operates

The following figures were compiled in order to give exhibitors of the country an approximate idea of the operating cost of the Newsreel Theatre (formerly the Embassy) in New York. They are not exact, but sufficiently close so that an exhibitor may figure the possibilities of the newsreel idea in his own territory.

N. Y. Critics Go For News Theatre

Critics of metropolitan dailies in New York have taken kindly to the Newsreel Theatre. They see an important development for motion pictures in the plan.

"The Telegram" said, in part:

"The Telegram" said, in part:

" * * * only the potentialities of the new idea were born. There were far too many turkeys, political speeches and forsaken actresses and far too few Ishbel MacDonalds, foothall games and Crown Prince shootings. There were too many sequences for the sake of the sound rather than for the sake of interest. " "That there were too many turkeys and too little news on last night's film means nothing as far as what you might see on the same screen tonight, tomorrow or the next day. You gamble with the news, not the theatre; and the news ever—hardly ever—fails in variety. " ""It's an important and interesting gesture, this establishment of the Newsreel Theatre. In many ways it fills a wanted gap in Broadway life, and its effect on this life could be profound as well as merely popular."

John S. Cohen, Jr., in "The Sun," commented as follows:

"Unquestionably, it is the most important development since the little movie theatres took up art and then dropped it. Whether the news reels shown at the week to week program houses will injure the venture is something I cannot say. But an hour of newsreels, in sound, is not only good for the movies, but good for people who want to see as well as read."

In the "Evening Journal," Hearst afternoon paper, Rose Pelswick, said:

"It's a perfectly grand idea in a motion picture entertainment.

"It's a perfectly grand idea in a motion picture entertainment.

"But the first edition was shown last evening to an invited audience, and, judging by the enthusiasm, this innovation will be hugely successful.

"The subjects are varied and exceedingly well selected.

"The American," a Hearst newspaper, called the innovation a triumph. Regina

Crewe, picture critic, said:

"The establishment of the new policy is a triumph which less daring souls have shunned despite the discussion of such a project during the last five years.

"The success of the Newsreel Theatre is assured by the throngs which have proved their willingness to pay their quarters for the most thrilling hour's entertainment offered on Broadway."

The producers kept faith, commented George Gerhard, critic of the "Evening World," said:

Vorld, '? said:

"Fox Movietone News and Hearst Metrotone News opened the Newsreel Theatre at the Embassy, as advertised, and to say that it took on immediately would be to put it lightly. The place had heen virtually swamped ever since.
"Inside the producers kept the faith. They put on a hill of sound newsreel subjects of universal interest, one with a taste so catholic that it exerts an appeal to every walk of life. Everything, was there—everything, that is, which is happening in the world, no matter how remote. The program lasts an hour, and it is one of the greatest entertainments in the city."

"The Evening Post's comment was

". There is little chance of becoming hored with an hour's showing of newsreels. If you find newspapers interesting, there is no reason why you should not find the pictorial record of events as offered at the Emhassy equally worth a little of your time."

Ohio's Exhibitor Convention Set For Columbus Nov. 18-19

Columbus.-The Ohio M.P.T.O. has practically completed arrangements for its annual convention to be held here Nov. 18-19.

Cleveland.-Local exhibitors will leave for Columbus on a Cleveland special, November 18.

Paul Muni In New York

Having completed his second Fox talkie, "Seven Faces," Paul Muni is in New York from Hollywood.

Two Anniversaries Current On B'way

Today two Broadway houses inaugurate the celebration of anniversaries of their opening. They are the Capitol, which has been in operation for ten years, and the Paramount which opened three years ago. Special anniversary features are to be offered at both theatres. The Capitol will have "So This Is College" as the screen attraction and a special stage show. "The Love Doetor" will be on the screen at the Paramount and a special Publix stage unit with added features. Rubinoff, the orchestra leader, will return for the week replacing Charles Davis who has been acting as master of ceremonies. Davis is returning to Indianapolis although he may be brought back to New York later.

14,280,000, Paramount's Total

Both honses are making public figures as to records achieved. But a check-up on the part of Motion Picture News reveals a slight exaggeration. In the case of the Paramount where the claim is made that 20,000,000 persons have visited the house, actual figures are 14,280,000. The biggest single week in attendance was during the showing of "The Letter" and the stage picture house debut of Rudy Vallee when 124,467 people paid admissions. The first week that the house opened in November, 1926, paid admissions totaled 102,524. The money record for the house for the first three years including 1929 to date are as follows:

Picture	Week Ending	Gross
"Underworld"	Aug. 27, 1927	$84,097
"Dock of N. Y."	Sept. 22, 1928	88,179
"The Letter"	May 3, 1929	88,500

During the brief six weeks from the opening until the end of 1926, the record week was that of December with "The Cheerful Frand" as the attraction the business going to $80,932.

Sound Makes Capitol Record

The Capitol's record figure were available for only one-half of its operating life, covering from 1925 to the present. The figures for those years together with the pictures that were the attraction on recordbreaking weeks follow:

Picture	Week Ending	Gross
"He Who Gets Slapped"	Nov. 15, 1925	$70,468
"Graustark"	Sept. 12,1926	72,075
"Road to Romance"	Oct. 15, 1927(A)	95,300
"Dancing Daughters"	Oct. 13, 1928(B)	98,250
"Duke Steps Out"	April 19,1929	91,530

(A) New presentation policy with featured acts was inaugurated this week.(B) First sound feature to play house.

Extra midnight shows which have come into fashion have made it possible to reach these new high marks in box office returns.

"Sunny Side Up" And "Rio Rita" New Hollywood Runs (Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—"Sunnyside Up" has just started a run at Grauman's Chinese, re-placing "The Cock-Eyed World," which finishes after six weeks.

"Rio Rita" is spotted to follow the cur-rent run of "They Had to See Paris" at the Carthay Circle opening in late Novem-

Muzzles and Publishing

The young man evidently has something on his chest. In the current issue of "Greater Amusements," Minneapolis regional, T. E. Mortensen discourses at length under the main mizzenmast of "The Muzzled Trade Press." What he says is this, less a few unimportant deletions:

"In no other field is the trade press muzzled as it is in the motion picture industry and to those who are not intimately familiar with this condition, disclosure would be almost unbelievable. . .

"'Laying off' matters of interest to the exhibitor, for the protection of the buyers of advertising space has caused the regional trade press to become more or less of a house organ for the space buyer and, consequently, of little value to its reading public—the exhibitor. Here, Mortensen modestly explained how "Greater Amusements" alone is doing its stuff. . . .

"In the field of nationally distributed motion picture trade papers, only Harrison's Reports has had the courage of its convictions and its obligations to its readers to give them an unbiased publication. . . .

"Variety, a semi-film publication has plenty of what is termed 'guts' and has sufficient circulation and power to do pretty much as it pleases in disseminating news. Film Daily, which was built by Dannenberg on a solid foundation of giving its readers the news of the industry, regardless of its effects on the advertiser, is showing a perceptible change of heart and assuming more and more proportions of a subsidized journal.

"Motion Picture News has always heeded the dictates of the producer and even with 'Red' Kann now in the saddle, it is questionable if the sheet will change that policy. Exhibitors Herald hasn't taken a stand on an issue since Martin Quigley whipped Adolph Zukor into line at the Cleveland convention years ago. It covers the news field quite well, but uses the blue pencil plenty. Of Exhibitors Daily Review and Motion Pictures Today little need be said. The industry pays little heed to it as its position in defense of the producer at all times is so obvious as to make it of no value to the exhibitor.

"This muzzling of the trade press is really a serious stumbling block in the path of progress of the motion picture itself and the entire industry in general and it is remarkable how well the press has been kept in that line. How long this condition can endure is problematical but it seems not for long.

"Perhaps we need new blood in the publishing field in this industry. If so, let's have it before the muzzled, advertising shackled trade press of the country turns over what little the independent has left to the monopoly. Because after that there'll be no need for the press."

Mortensen is correct. Motion Picture News has been dictated to, but the mandates have emanated from its own publishing conscience. This publication recognizes that the industry can prosper only if its component parts function in harmony. Strife, recrimination, bitter words may be entailed before that pleasant state is reached. But the result will warrant the effort, MOTION PICTURE NEWS believes.

The means to this elusive end has and will involve stern cracking of the whip to bring the domineering, the short-sighted and the self-centered into line. But this forum and what it represents are prepared to so do. Producers will get it on the chin if they merit it. Exhibitors won't be exempted. The left and the right hands will swing freely and in all directions and each will Mortensen should know this, but it is apparent he does not. Which merely proves that Minneapolis is not New York or the rest of the United States and that the young man with a grievance is sadly out of touch.

Seattle Bans Sex Film; Counter-Action By Owner

Seattle.-Following a private screening, the Board of Censors has placed a ban on "Fools of Passion," a sex film described as "frank, daring and brutally trnthful."

Aaron Blum, owner of the film, is seeking an injunction.

Stanley Places Big Order For Pacent Film Track

With alleged patent infringement suits pending in a Wilmington, Del. court, the Stanley Co. of America has placed an order with the Pacent Reproducer Corp. for 140 film attachments for use with Pacent disc equipment now in Stanley theatres.

Publix Deal For "U" Theatres Getting "Hotter", Report Says

A blanket deal for Publix to acquire all of Universal's theatres is making progress, according to reports. Negotiations were first launched six months ago but, Universal executives say, are no further advanced today than at the outset of the Reports from Milwaukee that Universal houses in Wisconsin are about to pass to Publix as the first of a series of moves to counter the grip which Fox Midwesco holds in that territory are denied in New York, Universal officials declaring that under no circumstances will the Wisconsin theatres be sold unless the purchasers take the halance of the company's houses in the same deal.

Publix Expanding In Ohio; Buys In Elyria

Elvria, O .- Indications that Publix is planning to enlarge the scope of its activities in Ohio is seen in an intention to start within sixty days on a new theatre here. While confirmation is lacking from the Publix Ohio Theatre Corp., news of the plan was gleaned from Artemas Beebe and the Reuben Realty Company, both of Toledo. Beehe, who is part owner of the property, states he had sold it to Publix.

New Publix Theatre Planned For Burlington

Burlington, Vt.-A theatre seating 1,787 is to be built here by Publix which already operates the Majestic. There will be 1,186 seats on the lower floor and 601 in the baleony, which will make it the largest theatre in the state. The cost is to be $300,000.

Two New $1,000,000 Houses For Massachusetts

Lynn.-Excavation operations have commenced on the site for the new $1,000,000 Paramount theatre to be built in this city, and completed by June 1, 1930.

Publix will also build in Salem at a cost of $1,000,000.

New Publix-Lytle House For San Antonio, Texas

San Antonio.-W. J. Lytle, president of the San Antonio Amusement Corp., and Publix are planning a new $1,500,000 theatre for this city. Bids will be asked for about Nov. 17. The site adjoins the new Texas theatre on the south side of Travis St. The Lytle-Publix leases on the Princess and Empire theatres here, will expire in December and will not be renewed. The former Majestic, however, has been leased by them and will be operated while the new house is being built.

New Publix Booker

Chicago .- A. Kauffman, formerly booker for the Lubliner and Trinz Circuit has been engaged by Publix as feature booker. He will handle all the bookings for the Publix-Balaban-Katz circuit.

Milwaukee Hears "U" Transfer Is Ready

Milwaukee.-That negotiations for the sale of Universal theatres in Wiseonsin to Publix are on is common talk here. Several large theatre chains, including Fox Midweseo, have been angling for the Universal Local officials of the Universal circuit refuse to make any statement hut it is reported the sale may be completed soon. If completed the deal will effect the Alhambra, State, Koseiusko, Downer, Venetian, Lake, Riviera and Juneau in Milwaukee and Universal houses in Racine, Madison, Sheboygan and Kenosha.

Fox Midwesco is at present the dominant factor in the Wisconsin field. If the Universal houses, as has been frequently reported, went to Fox Midwesco, the Fox grip on this state would be too formidable perhaps to break down.

Columbus Site Purchased For New Publix Theatre

Columbus.-Realty operators for Publix have virtually decided on one of two downtown sites for a new theatre. The eorner selected is said to have been priced in excess of $500,000. There is sufficient footage to permit of the building of house that would seat np to 4,500.

Local exhibitors feel that the invasion of this territory on the part of Publix is a certainty, following the visit here of the corporation's real estate sconts. The report is that when the house is huilt it will have an office building in which Publix headquarters for the Mid-West will be lo-

Publix Secures Option On Capitol In North Adams

North Adams, Mass .- Through its New England operating company, the Olympia Theatres, Inc., Publix has seeured an option to buy within the next two years the unfinished Capitol theatre building from Florence A. Sullivan from whom the company also has under lease the local Paramount. Publix will complete the Capitol in conjunction with the owner, in accordance with an agreement.

Publix May Build In Fall River, Mass.

Fall River, Mass.—A new Publix theatre may develop here, reports have it. If a Publix project does develop, competition would become much keener as William J. Dunn contemplates reopening the Academy.

Tampa Ads Take Slam At "Canned Music"

Tampa.—Advertisements headed "Canned Music" sponsored by the American Federation of Musicians and taking a slam at synchronized scores, are current in local papers. Practically every house here is now wired and orchestras dispensed with.

The Motion Picture News correspendent interviewed a number of theatre-goers and found sentiment here almost unanimously in favor of the "canned" variety. Some stated that they did not like the breaking in on the show for the overture and organ solos, and preferred the continuous music of the synchronized score to orchestras with rest periods.

M. P. Congress Aims At Standard Rentals

Indianapolis.-Standardization of the cost of film rentals is the aim and plan of the newly organized Motion Picture Congress and the Equitable Pictures Corp., the latter the producing organization fer the former. That is what Frank Rembusch, just returned from New York, elaims for the twin organizations with which he has identified himself. Rembusch states:

identified himself. Rembusch states:

"In connection with the organization of the Motion Picture Congress two companies have been formed. One, the Equitable Pictures Corporation, is a producing company composed of independent producers who have been denied the right of marketing pictures through the operation of 'block booking' and 'compulsory arbitration.'

"The other is the Congress, a distributing company formed without cost to the theatre owners and which eventually will be turned over to them. Its purpose is to combine the buying power of theatres and to encourage the showing of pictures made by the Equitable producers who agree to remain out of the theatre field.

"In reality these two companies will standardize the prices of film rentals as both producers and theatre owners will share in the profits that accrue from particularly big pictures. Under the plan the producers and the theatre owners will share and share alike."

Booking Combine In Kansas Grows

Kansas City.—The hooking combine comprising twelve Kansas City theatres launched by Jay Means, owner of the Oak Park, Bagdad and Murray theatres is expanding. The other houses included in the organization are Charley Vanghan's Neptune, Midway, and Art; Fred Meyn's Pershing; William Parson's Alladin; C. H. Potter's Baltie and Admiral; and R. G. Liggett's Gautier and Seventeenth Street theatres, in Kansas City, Kans.

The organization is known as the Independent Theatre Owners, Inc. The purpose, according to Means, is to buy and hook collectively. Means says the service is open to all theatre owners in the territory.

Schnitzer In Hollywood

Hollywood.-Joseph I. Schnitzer, president of Radio Pietures, is in Hollywood to confer with William LeBaron.

Colors vs. Calories

Hollywood.—Alan Crosland, directing "Song of the Flame," has fattened a whole chorus. Instead of sweets and pastries, however, he merely employed Technicolor and now he is joyously broadcasting his discovery to his fellow directors. It came about in this wise: The picture is laid in Russia where they like their chorines twenty pounds heavier than the Americans; the Hollywood extras for years have dieted to keep that school girl figure and could not qualify. Experimenting with a filter and colors, Crosland added the required avoirdupois.

"It's a case of color being quicker than the eyes," he explains.

German Government Backs Emelka Deal

Berlin.—That the strong arm of the German government was behind the recent acquisition of Emelka by a group of bankers and that its motive in interposing in an industrial matter was entirely political, was officially acknowledged here this week and startled film circles. The report was published in Motion Picture News some time ago, but officially unconfirmed until now.

Emelka, ranking next to UFA in size, was about to be swallowed up, together with its forty-odd theatres throughout Germany, when the hanking clique acquired the majority of the Emelka shares and gave the government an option to repurehase.

The admittedly political motive, according to governmental newspapers, was to provide opposition to the UFA organization, financially controlled by Alfred Hugenberg and the Nationalist party.

Pacent Will Extend New Servicing Plan

Pacent Reproducer Corporation's new servicing plan, already inaugurated in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Washington, New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, will be gradually extended to a national seale as the company secures sound engineers with qualifications necessary for key city posts.

The plan calls for inspection of equipment twice a month, with provision for emergency service. The schedule of rates, on contract basis, runs from $15 to $25 a week, depending upon type of equipment and distance of theatre from service head-quarters.

RKO Seeking Another First Run In Spokane

Spokaue.—Negotiations are under way by RKO to secure lease of the American by way of establishing another first run outlet in this city. RKO operates the Pantages as a vandeville and picture house and indications are that the American would be put on a sound picture policy only.

Allied Banner Flying In 39 States, Myers Group Claims

With 30 states claimed in its roster, Allied States Association now claims working agreements with nine others. The membership drive, Allied officials openly declare, is far from ended.

With the return shortly to Washington of Abram F. Myers, Allied president who is now in Honolulu on what is understood to be a honeymoon trip, the association's activities are expected to take a new or-

M.P.T.O. Of Ohio May Join Allied

Columbus.—The M. P. T. O. of Ohio, which will hold a two-day convention here on November 19-20, may vote to throw its lot with Allied. There has been something of a battle between the rival exhibitor organizations for the Ohio body. Allied leaders have been in Ohio from time to time trying to swing this organization into line. At the same time those interested in the continuance of the M.P.T.O.A. organization have also been trying to keep Ohio in line with their forces. The answer will be forthcoming at the meeting two weeks hence. The trend is forceast by announcement that Abram F. Myers, head of the Allied movement is to be one of the principal speakers here.

W. M. James, who has been the president of the Ohio organization for the past five years, is said to want to retire from office, so that it will be necessary to find a head for the organization. J. A. Aekerman, of Cineinnati, has been made chairman of the nominating committee. On the committee with him are:

III. Libson, Cinnonati; J. A. Schwalm, Hamilton; A. Ritzler, Lima; T. G. Evans, Van Wert; Donald Evans, Hillsboro; Harry Smoots, Mt. Vernon; A. J. Paul, Galion; Martin C. Smith, Toledo; M. J. Gross, Athens; Harry Abram, Lancaster; Charles Weidner, Columbus: A. C. Himmelem, Sandusky; John L. Damm, Wadsworth; Caldwell Brown, Zanesville; Lemotte Smith, Alliance; Henry Beiberson, Jr., Delaware; L. F. Eick, Martins Ferry; Dan Robins, Warren; H. E. Horwitz, Cleveland; J. J. Harwood, Cleveland; and Jules Schwartz, Cleveland.

Lesser Back As Producer With "Eyes Of The World"

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—Sol Lesser is planning production of "Eyes of the World," from the novel by Harold Bell Wright, in partnership with Inspiration. It is understood the production will be made as a special in sound, and no release will be set until it is completed. Lesser plans to put the finished picture on for extended runs in New York, Los Angeles and other cities and arrange for distribution after those showings.

If Lesser's plans go through, this will mark the first instance in several years where a hig production costing close to $500,000 has been made without assurance of a national release.

Publix Moves Headquarters

Omaha.—Publix division headquarters will be moved from Des Moines to Omaha.

ganizing spurt.

Allied is pushing its five year franchise with Tiffany and RKO on the assumption that the possibilities are far from exhausted. Myers computes the nation's theatres at 20,000 of which 7,000 are considered to be producer-controlled or producer-affiliated. The balance are considered potential allies of Allied on the franchise plan. In framing the agreement, Motion Picture News learns it was determined to disregard first runs on the theory that any house that fell into such a category could take care of its own welfare. It is the 13,000 unorganized houses at which Allied was aiming.

A spokesman for Myers declared this week that Allied has no argument with the hig producers and distributors, but that the group will resist any attempt to interfere with what they consider to he the rights of the independent exhibitor.

Allied expects to have 3,000 franchises

Allied expects to have 3,000 franchises signed for Tiffany and RKO product by the first of the year.

California Expected To Join Allied Later On

Los Angeles.—The northern and southern California exhibitor units are understood to be preparing a membership drive after which action will be taken regarding affiliation with Allied States Association. The prospects, so far as could be observed this week, favor an ultimate union with the Myers group.

Fox Earnings Estimated At $12,000,000; 50% Gain

According to forecast, Fox Film's full earnings for 1929 will amount to $12,000,-000, or more. This would represent a 50 per cent increase over last year's business when the company earned $5,957,218. The per share earnings on 920,660 shares of Class "A" and Class "B" common stock outstanding, based upon the 1929 estimate, would be around $13.

Loew Cleveland Chain Adds Two More To Its Holdings

Cleveland .- Loew's Ohio Theatres, already strongly entrenched in Cleveland, is about to add two more houses to its string. The circuit is redecorating the Doan, St. Clair Ave. and East 105th St. and is installing Western Electric sound equipment. Loew will also open the Alhambra, Euclid Ave. and East 105th St., which has not been playing pictures for three years.

The Shrine Of The Star

Hollywood.-It may be merely a case of vanity or it may be a tribute to poster art.

Whatever the reason, a certain star whose current picture is playing here has been seen to stop his car opposite a 24-sheet billboard plugging the production on several occasions and to spend considerable time looking at his heroic pose.

It must be hero-worship.

Publix D. M. Moves To Omaha

Omaha.-Everett Cummings, Publix distriet manager for Western Iowa and part of Nebraska, will make Omaha his headquarters instead of Des Moines.

Goldwyn Editor Resigns

Mary Rennie, scenario editor for Samuel Goldwyn, Inc., for past three years, has resigned and is now under contract to George Agnew Chamberlain, as personal representative.

Conspiracy Trial In L. A. On Feb. 5

Los Angeles .- Definite action on the Government's conspiracy charge against Fox West Coast Theatres and nine producing-distributing companies was taken this week when representatives of these firms were ordered to appear in Federal Court ready for trial on Feb. 5, 1930.

Harold B. Franklin, as head of Fox-West Coast, and the other nine companies are accused of violating the Sherman anti-trust law in the matter of protection.

The companies involved are the Fox West Coast Theatres, Inc.; Fox Film Corporation; Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; First National Pietures, Inc.; Universal Film Exchange, Inc.; Vitagraph, Inc.; Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., of California; Pathe Exchange, Inc.; Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corp. and United Artists Corp.

Northwest Immune To Wall St. Crash

Seattle.-The crash of the stock market has had no perceptible repercussions in this section of the country, a survey just completed reveals. The fear that the tremendous losses taken in the Wall Street collapse would be harmful to theatre attendance, as evidenced in pessimistic quarters, has not been manifested bere. Not only has the attendance not been affected adversely, but exhibitors report that business has been "great" and "big," despite the calamity howlers.

Leading exhibitors, replying to a Mo-TION PICTURE NEWS questionnaire on current conditions, reply as follows:

Robert Blair, manager of the Seattle and Metropolitan Theatres for Publix: "This week is one of the hest in recent months at our Seattle Theatre. I have ehecked closely and find that the stock market situation does not affect attendance in the least.'

Claud Saunders, division manager of Radio-Keith-Orpheum: "We bave been doing great business in our Seattle, Portland, Taeoma and Spokane houses and find that the public seeks entertainment even more at this time, according to our box office reports for the current week. Business is big.'

James Clemmer, manager of Fox Fifth Avenue; "Absolutely no let-down in attendance because of market. Slight drop in business last week due to attraction. More than offset this week by good show."

Film Row reported that similar conditions prevailed in neighborhood and suburban houses.

Charges Stanley Company Violated Protection Pact

Philadelphia.-Charging that the Stanley Company of America had violated an agreement not to enter the West Philadelphia territory, Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger has filed suit against the corporation in Common Pleas Court for an injunction restraining it from operating the Leader Theatre at Lancaster Ave. and Forty-first St.

In the bill of equity Nixon-Nirdlinger asserts that he and Stanley entered into a written agreement in March, 1922, under the terms of which the Nixon-Nirdlinger company was to have the privilege of operating houses in West Philadelphia without competition from Stanley Co. It is alleged that the latter obtained control of the Leader in 1924 and since then has operated it at a profit in which the Nixon-Nirdlinger interests have no share.

"Jaydce" Building Mammoth Studios In Great Britain

London.-J. D. Williams is now actively engaged in developing his new project, a producing firm which is about to begin construction of sound studios at Elstree. Williams refuses to divulge complete details of his new venture, but asserts that in two weeks company name, directorate and financial arrangements will be ready. He says, however, he has the complete support of American and Continental producing concerns and all necessary finances,

Bandits Kill A. E. Ratser, Mansfield, O., Exhibitor

Mansfield, O.—Two bullet wounds fired by two bandits resulted fatally to A. E. Ratser, manager of the Ohio.

Ratser was in his office in the theatre when the bandits, disguised as women in Hallowe'en costumes, entered with drawn revolvers and ordered him to surrender the money in his charge. As Ratser made an heroic effort to repulse them they opened fire, one hullet striking him in the head and another in his shoulder.

Western Electric Adds To Chicago Sound Plant

Chicago.—Western Electric has acquired 150,000 square feet of additional floor space by leasing the entire Griswold & Walker building at 43rd and Robey streets. The extra space will be used for warehousing and assembling of parts for talking picture equipment.

Cleveland Vandals Resume

Cleveland.—The stench bomb crusade has broken out again when a bomb hurled from a passing automobile exploded at the feet of a girl as she was passing the Union Square theatre, East 116th St. and Union Ave. This is the twenty-third offense reported to the police to date. The reward of $1,000 is offered by American Plan Ass'n.

Arthur Loew Sees Foreign Film Race

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—With America preparing to make foreign versions of pictures and European producers making English versions, Arthur Loew, foreign manager of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, believes the two countries are on the eve of a production race.

"Enrope now has 2,000 wired theatres, 750 of them in England, and will have doubled this by the first of the year' states Loew. "Western Electric is even now making a sales drive in France. Up to now we have successfully shown American versions, as for instance "The Broadway Melody" in foreign countries with a few explanatory titles in the other language. But the need is imminent of complete foreign talking versions, particularly in Spanish, for the bulk of our revenue is in Spanish speaking nations. I believe the nltimate plan will be to employ separate casts, and use stars who speak several languages in the different versions as central figures."

Stock Slump Fails To Affect Broadway; "Sweetie" Is A Hit

The market slump did not seem to affect Broadway box offices so far as the picture theatres were concerned. Business for last week had "Sweetie" with $84,200 at the Paramount as the hit of the street, with the result that the feature was held over. Marion Davies in "Marianne," her first all-talking picture, drew $69,455 to the Capitol for the second week. On the two weeks, the figures showed $142,630. Harold Lloyd in "Welcome Danger," the Harold Lloyd in "Welcome Danger," the star's first talker, got $43,400 at the Rivoli for his second week, the pieture doing $97,100 on two weeks which is not as strong as it was expected he would do. The pieture is full of laughs and there is a tremendous flash front at the Rivoli but is not packing 'em in.

For the first time in weeks the Roxy dropped below the $100,000 mark with Lenore Ulric in "Frozen Justice." The pieture was roasted by the critics, but even at that it would seem the star would have drawn better on Broadway. The figures were $99,173.

"The Isle of Lost Ships" at the Strand managed to come through with $35,672, while "Why Bring That Up?" in its final week at the Rialto got $20,200, which gives it $141,600 on four weeks. At the Colony, "The Mississippi Gambler" did $13,734 while "Seandal" at the Cameo hit $4,962.

Newsreel Theatre Clicks

The street and trade were on the watch for the opening of the newsreel policy at the Embassy, renamed the Newsreel Theatre. On the first day that house did $1,725 at a 25c grind.

Of the extended run pietures on the street "Disraeli" proved to be the leader for the second successive week, getting $23,-265.75 for its fifth week on Broadway. "The Gold Diggers of Broadway" was next in line with $21,057.75 at the Winter Garden, while "Rio Rita" at the Earl Carroll held third place at $16,897 with a seating capacity of approximately 500 less than the other two houses.

"The Hollywood Revue" after eleven weeks on the street dropped to $16,210 at the Astor, while "Sunny Side Up" at the Gaiety in its fifth week played to $10,297.

Newcomers Create No Furore

Neither of the two newcomers, "Jazz Heaven" or "Broadway Scandals" at the Globe and Cohan respectively, got very far. The former did $11,074 starting on Tuesday while the latter showed $8,954 with a Monday night start.

"Applause" at the Criterion did $9,900 and is slated to go soon and will be replaced by "The Love Parade" with Maurice Chevalier on Nov. 17. "Young Nowheres" finished this week at the Central with $8,972, "Paris" with Irene Bordoni coming in on Thursday night.

The Warners are scheduling "The Show of Shows" as the next Winter Garden attraction. Gloria Swanson in "The Trespasser" opened to record breaking business at the Rialto on Friday night.

"Virginian" Nets Fat Coast Gross

(Hollywood Bureou, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—Breaking its record and establishing a new mark for its Sunday business, the Paramount climbed to the top rung of the ladder last week when "The Virginian" established $39,150 as the gross for the week with the fat average of 157 per cent. It is being held over for another week.

The trend of business was well over the normal average for the following four film attractions which have been gracing the Hollywood boards for the past several weeks: "Gold Diggers of Broadway," in the four days of its sixth and final week at Warners Downtown, $13,100 (153%); "They Had to See Paris," in its seventh week at the Carthay Circle, $16,200 (130%); "Hallelujah," in its third week at Fox Palace, $11,238 (125%); "Coek-Eyed World," in the five days of its sixth and final week, $14,000 (122%).

Two Houses Tied

Both the Warner Hollywood and the RKO were tied with 114%, the former getting $16,000 with "The Careless Age" and the latter $18,200 with "Isle of Lost Ships." $29,200 (108%) was the gate of Loew's State with "The 13th Chair."

"Married in Hollywood," at the Fox Criterion, and "Evangeline," at the United Artists, both in their second week, did not pan out so well, their respective grosses being $8,200 (82%) and $10,000 (74%).

Fine weather prevailed throughout the week.

St. Louis.—The Fox house here has made inroads into the Skouras theatres. Optimistic predictions for the future are being voiced by persons intimately acquainted with the management of the Skouras interests. Lloyd En Route To Coast

Harold Lloyd is en route to the Coast after spending a month in New York in connection with the run of "Welcome Danger" at the Rivoli. His next all-taiking picture will be placed in production about Jan. 1.

Television

"Television will be commercially practical when 150 amperes of 'juice' in the form of light can be photographically controlled," stated an executive of a leading electrical company this week. "Whether this will be discovered within the year, or within the next twenty-five years, not one of us knows. It is possible that one of our staff of electrical research men may jump out of bed tomorrow with the complete formula. It is also possible that this accomplishment is a long way off."

"Hallelujah" Gross Surprises Hollywood

Hollywood.—Spotted for a twice daily run in the Fox Palace, "Hallelujah" surprised the trade here by increasing its gross for the second and third weeks over the opening week.

The Fox Palaee, formerly housing Orpheum big time vaudeville for many years, was converted into a grind house when the new Orpheum opened two years ago. Fox West Coast leased it and remodeled at a cost of $90,000 for a twice daily policy, on account of congested bookings of long run pictures locally. Although it was felt in trade circles that the house would find it difficult to get over, business on "Hallelujah" has surprised everyone. An advertising campaign in the daily newspapers engineered by Frank Whitbeek has admittedly helped considerably in maintaining the level of business.

Talk In Hollywood

By Walter R. Greene

CITY FATHERS have refused permits for several pawnshops to be located in Hollywood. At the present time, there is only one in the film colony, and, oddly enough, it does not seem to be very prosperous. Two years ago, a pawnshop was opened opposite United Artists, but had to close up after a short time because too few film folk walked around to see uncle.

R-K-O studio employees have organized an eight-piece orchestra, limiting membership to those employed on the lot. The group is composed of non-professional musicians, and is headed by J. J. Kennedy, mill time keeper.

THE large number of lights necessary for shooting Technicolor scenes provide problems for producers that are not easily remedied. The lights are so powerful that they are blinding to the actors and others working on the sets; and the heat generated by the lamps is terrific even under the best conditions.

Recently the cast of a musical production is reported to have walked off the set after five hours work, claiming that the heat was unbearable and they could not continue. With the star—in the heavy money class leading the procession, the producer took his loss as gracefully as possible.

THE fire at Consolidated Laboratories, although disastrous to several producers, provided Hollywood wise-crackers with new material for at least ten days. The first wise crack concerns "Hell's Angels," Howard Hughes' air spectacle which has given local funsters many opportunities in the past two years. Between 30,000 and 50,000 feet of negative was lost, which made one wisecracker remark.

"Hughes will only have to re-shoot one closeup to replace the film burned.'

T HIS is told of Paul Fejos, Universal director who had a miraculous escape when he fell 50 feet off a parallel while directing "La Marseillaise." Fejos was recounting his experience, and said, "there I was on the ground after falling, and the darn fools started throwing water in my face.",

Six Films In Work At First National Studios

A temporary lull in production at First National ends this week when six productions will be in actual production. "Song of the Flame," geared for a special, is being directed by Alan Crosland, with Bernice Claire, Alexander Gray, Noah Beery and Alice Gentle heading the cast.

Alnee Gentle heading the east.

"The Lady in Ermine," also in all-technicolor, will utilize several large vocal choruses. "Green Stockings," starring Dorothy Mackaill, is currently shooting; with "Bright Lights" scheduled to start without a day intervening. "Show Girl in Hollywood" started this week, also "Back Pay," with Corinne Griffith, Lloyd Bacon is preparing to start in the next ten days on "Faithful," with Billie Dove starred.

"Humming Bird" A Remake

Paramount has decided to remake "The Humming Bird" as a talker with Clara Bow starred. Lothar Mendes will direct, with adaptation and dialogue being written by Doris Anderson. Gloria Swanson starred in the silent picture for Paramount several years ago.

Forever And Anon

"Hell's Angels," the "patsy" for Hollywood's wisecrackers for the past eighteen months is now in its third year of production; and on its way through the fourth million in cost. The picture started as a silent, with Howard Hughes, the producer, deciding he wanted the greatest air thriller ever made.

He spent nearly $2,000,000 on air spectacles but found recently he had to remake the story in dialogue. The sound version is now half finished, with world premiere announced for February in New York and Los An-

The Melody Makers

SAM COSLOW and Larry Spier started in the music publishing business two and a half years ago with a combined capital of $500 to publish their own musical compositions. Sound pictures came along. In addition, both Coslow and Spier were given five year contracts with Paramount to write original song numbers. Coslow has been assigned to the coast studios, while Spier will work in the eastern Paramount plant. Blame the talk-

RVING BERLIN has written a new "Mammy" song for Al Jolson which is reported to be the outstanding hit number of Jolson's current production of that name for Warners. Berlin also composed five other original numbers for the same production.

S AM PERRY has written 55 musical numbers in three months as a staff writer at Universal. The list includes symphonic poems, incidental music and a number of theme songs. Originally engaged as a staff writer for Universal, Perry was recently made assistant to David Broekman, head of the company's musical department, and is now chief staff composer.

M ARTIN BROOMES is writing several original song numbers for Buster Keaton's next M-G-M musical, "On The Set."

HOWARD JOHNSON, lyricist recently brought from New York by Harry Rapf, has been teamed with Louis Alter at M-G-M. Their first assignment will be several original numbers for the "Hollywood Revue of 1930."

OSCAR LEVANT, who did the music for "Street Girl," "Jazz Heaven" and other talking-singing films, has been added to Radio Pictures' musical staff.

This Thing Called Love

(Pathe—All Dialogue)
Programmer Par-Excellent

(Reviewed by Al Meyers) HERE is the lightest kind of frothy stuff. Yet it is, through capable handling and proper treatment, lifted into above average class. The dialogue sparkles and will draw chuckles from any audience. The direction is noteworthy for the action injected and for the convent lighteres of tene year is nitrations that general lightness of tone used in situations that easily could have been overdone.

Taken from Edwin Burke's play of the same name, "This Thing Called Love" is nothing but a variation of the old "He fell in love with his wife" theme. Robert and Ann decide, after seeing so much unhappiness around them in the so-called love marriages, to make a business agreement for their wedded life. Each is to retain old friends and to freely make new ones. The wife is to receive a salary for her house-hold work and caresses are strictly taboo. They fall in love mutually and naturally complications result.

Edmund Lowe, for the first time in many moons, dons a dress suit and behaves accordingly. Constance Bennett portrays the businesslike Ann charmingly.

His First Command

(Pathe-All Dialoque) Action With U. S. Cavalry

(Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

A COMBINATION of comedy, romance, and color both from the standpoint of background and Multicolor sequences, makes "His First Command" a highly satisfactory piece of entertainment.

Fort Riley, headquarters of U. S. cavalry regiments, gives a fine setting for plenty of comedy and dramatic action. William Boyd, in the star spot, goes through the paces as a rookie cavalryman, finally ending up in love with the colonel's daughter. The story provides lots of opportunity to show off the daily routine of enlisted cavalrymen, while a well-developed script allows for much comedy dialogue.

Boyd is shown to excellent advantage in the lead, with Dorothy Schastian and Paul Hurst providing excellent performances. The cast is of high calibre, with direction by Gregory La Cava finely handled throughout.

For audiences that like the fast tempo and action which was provided by silent productions of the great outdoors, "His First Command" will prove decidedly popular.

Seven Faces

(Fox-All Dialogue)

Muui's Impersonations Unique

(Reviewed by Edwin Schallert)

THIS is an extraordinary feature—extraordinary because it shows Paul Muni, one of the screen's ablest actors of the new film era, performing the amazing feat of impersonating seven widely divergent characters, and because additionally he gives a performance of the utmost sympathy in the dominating role.

"Seven Faces" is a story that could not be imagined in any other medium but the talkie.

It could hardly be acted effectively on the stage, or depicted on the silent screen. There are double exposures where Muni is seen playing two characters, with both engaged in conversation, for instance. There is a fantastic climax to the scene where he does his big protean act, wherein statues in the wax works of which he is caretaker come to life.

The story of "Seven Faces" is essentially different—possibly too different in some respects for the widest popularity. However, its aspects of remoteness are brought down to earth by a

As the story is somewhat out-of-the-ordinary, diversified and light featurettes should be grouped around it.

Good Program Detective Yaru

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly)

RTHUR B. REEVE'S hero, Craig Ken-ARTHUR B. REEVE'S hero, Craig Kennedy, hereby, joins the other cinema detectives: Philo Vance and Sherlock Holmes. He is impersonated by Robert Warwick in a typical detective yarn laid out according to the regulation pattern: a murder under mystifying circumstances, the blame shifted on an innocent girl, the villains at large and last, but not least, the tireless detective who saves her.

All this is told in flashbacks which return to a scene of a society gathering where Kennedy has laid a plot to trap the master mind behind the plot. The man slipped out of the hands of the police when first they captured him, but apparently he has returned just to challenge them again. The detective sees through his disguise and nabs him at the proper time. Warwick handles the role easily although he has nothing to do except walk around, sit and talk.

Comedies and novelties are necessary to strike program balance.

The Forward Pass

(First National-All Dialogue) Actionful Football Story

(Reviewed by Don Ashbough)

TAKING advantage of the annual craze for football comes "The Forward Pass." There football comes "The Forward Pass." There is little new or outstanding in it, yet it provides action entertainment that will prove satisfactory in program spots. The story background is timely right now, which makes the picture a suitable subject for exploitation tie-ups.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is the burly-chested hero who rates as the ace of the college football team. Loretta Young does some fairly good work as the college vamp. The story has the rather well known plot of the best player in the college with does not care to play. His in the college who does not care to play. His friends think him yellow, while the girl finally vamps him for the glory of good old Sanford Marion ("Peanuts") Byron does some nice work, while the others in the cast fill their parts nicely. Eddie Cline directed, and turned out a picture which should provide better than average program fare if booked during, or just after, the football season. It's strictly an action picture of the great American game, and will hit for that reason.

Since the feature contains humor and action, the exhibitor can surround it with short subjects of the screen magazine or educational type.

A Jazzy Hungarian Goulash

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

R ED hot jazz played by the orchestra is the redeeming feature of this. It is that "hot" music that will make the picture appeal to the younger element. In the majority of the outlying cities and towns it may be fairly successful. It is another of those back stage stories lul. It is another of those back stage stories and, as far as Broadway is concerned, a laugh to most audiences. Perhaps O.K. out of town where they are not so sophisticated. Whether or not the name of Ted Lewis will prove a draw remains to be seen, but his talking machine record following ought to help some.

The family of the Royal Austrian orchestra conductor emigrates to America after the war. The father who was decorated by the emperor, insists that his son decorated by the emperor, hisses that is son shall follow in his footsteps. The Gleasons, James and Lucille, have earned a reputation to the effect that they are always good troupers. In this they live up to that reputation. They turn in a uniformly good performance. When they are on the screen the audience will pep up and perhaps forget the shallow story. Both handle their dialogue and their laughs like the veterans they are. Beyond their appearance the picture has little to offer.

The plot is a rehash of the small town skinflint. As a programmer, you could put it over by riding the title for all it is worth, tak-

(Columbia-All Dialogue) Good Crook Drama

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly)

A GOOD program bet. A crook drama with a satisfactory load of fireworks. Good acting from Margaret Livingston and Lloyd Hughes, who are topped by Sam Hardy as head of the "organization" which sends the girl and boy to jail and threatens to have them "canned" when they try to squeeze out of the underworld

The underworld mogul wants the girl for himself, but she has fallen for an aspiring young doctor sent up the river by the "organization." doctor sent up the river by the "organization." The girl set out to save him and when the self-inflated "master mind" sees through her wiles she uses a gun on him. Wounded and helpless he realizes her love for the man and graciously promises non-interference, the police making certain that the promise will be kept when they jail him for the murder charged against this youth. Through its plot the old hoke shines, but fans love it.

Group of good-toned shorts will give it proper support: comedy, newsreel, talkie act,

Box-Office If Played Now

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

THIS picture played as a feature anywhere within the part court of I within the next couple of months should prove worthwhile at the box-office. After that, it would seem that sufficient interest in the hisoric flight will have died.

The picture starts with a brief speech by Dr. Hugo Eckener on the eve of leaving Lakehurst at the start of the world's flight. Then the at the start of the world's flight. course and the progress of the flight is explained by Commander Rosendahl, U.S.N., who was aboard as observer for the United States The shots show the ship leaving, over the Atlantic arriving in Friedrichshafen, Germany and Siberia and the arrival at Tokio. Then across the Pacific over San Francisco and to Los Angeles, then eastward over Chicago and New York and back to Lakehurst.

(Universal-All Diologue) Corking Western In Sound

(Reviewed by Freddie Schoder)

TIIIS production, from a sound recording standpoint, is the best that Universal has turned out to date. The picture is a Hoot Gibson western and it's a corker. When you play it, put a punch behind your advertising and tell the world that here is an honest-to-goodness-western in sound. It will get money and won't dispassive and sound. disappoint audiences. Properly boosted, this looks as if it will get money anywhere and that includes first runs.

The story is a light one, yet pleasing. Gibson is the Ramblin' Kid who fakes a continuous drunk to make the cow town believe he's a bad man, even though he never took a drink in his life. He manages to capture a wild horse, breaks him and win the annual sweepstakes at the rodeo. Although the heavy has him doped. Great rodeo stuff and one of the best horse races ever filmed.

A couple of good fast singing and doncing shorts with this one will send it along. There are thrills enough in the feature, so you won't need to hand them a lot of laughs after it.

Midnight Daddies

(Sono Art-World Wide-All Diologue) More Sad Than Funny (Reviewed by Raymond Gonly)

BY dint of stretching his story over five reels, where it should have been confined to a shorter footage, Mack Sennett has turned out a poor larce vehicle for his two comedy stars, Andy Clyde and Harry Gribbon.

Gribbon is the city boob who trys to inveigle Clyde, the country boob, into forking over his jack for a bankrupt modiste shop. When Andy visits the shop the models swarm around him and otherwise cause him embarrassment. His wife, looking on, decides she will break up his flirtations so she pulls off a fake affair with Harry and thus brings hubby to his senses.

It's never very strong or flushed with real, uproarious laughter. An elongated short, it can be slipped in on a double feature program for a fair break.

Clyde does a lunny bit of work in a scene where he contemplates suicide. Before placing the halter around his neck he looks into the mirror and thereupon berates himself for his flirta-This comedy soliloguy is punctuated with Condemned

Colman Saves It

(U. A.—All Dialogue)

(Reviewed by Red Kann)

NY yarn with the background of the French A penal colony at Devil's Island, one of the pest holes of the world, must of necessity be grim. But, with the success of "Bulldog Drummond" in the background, the producer attempted to follow the same formula with "Con-demned." The results are variable. A strong program picture results. Beyond that, there is little to say.

The producer, Ronald Colman, simply was not permitted to take himself seriously. Placed in the most complex of situations, you find Colman laughing it off. After a time, the effect begins to get rather ridiculous. A convicted thief, he is sent to Devil's Island, falls in love with the wife of the warden in whose house he becomes a servant, escapes through circumstances never explained and joins the girl on a steamer bound for France, only to be cap-tured and sent back to finish his term while the heroine waits for him.

When the picture is serious, it has considerable power. When it turns farcical, it is exactly that.

(Universal-Port Dialogue) Fair Programmer

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly)

INA BASQUETTE is the star of this adult love drama which rates as a programmer. It is the tale of a society deb who becomes involved in the conspiracies of a band of crooks and smartly dupes them. She falls in love with one of the band, whom she finally discovers to be a playwright in search of melo-dramatic material. All during the association the girl had been trying to reform the crook. When his true identity is revealed and the crooks are captured by the police the two fall into the mooning fadeout which marks the end.

The fair Lina does some nifty kicking and makes an attractive eyeful. Exhibitors billing her would do well to emphasize her as the star of "The Godless Girl." Other members of the cast, Reed Howes, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Crauford Kent, do diligent work. The last reel being in dialogue, you can play it up from the talkie angle.

The feature doesn't come through 100 per cent, therefore pep up your program with some bright and diverting short tidbits.

The Last Performance

(Universal-Silent)

Interesting And Well Directed (Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

I N the silent days this feature would have stood up anywhere and prove a real boxoffice attraction. In this day of sound pictures there isn't a chance for it except in silent houses. For those theatres it should prove a real money-getter.

The story is one of back stage life, but instead of a hoofer and a soubrette as the hero and shero, it is a master magician and his assistants who are the principals of the drama. The magician is in love with his youthful assistant. She, in turn, loves one of the youths in the company. When the time comes for the magician to announce his engagement he discovers her love for the other, and plants a murder charge. At the trial when the boy is about to be found guilty the magician confesses

The Bride Of The Desert

(Rayart-All Dialogue) Up-To-Par Programmer

(Reviewed by Raymond Ganly) LICE CALHOUN and Leroy Mason co-A LICE CALHOUN and Leroy Mason costar in this talkie hased on the same theme that characterized "The Wind." The actress appears as the wife of a desert prospector; her nerves are shot by loneliness and she is about to quit when romance and drama enter her drab

A wounded fugitive fleeing from a posse seeks refuge in her home. She hides him in a lean-to where a peddler also happens to stay over night at the invitation of the prospector. The peddler, robbed and murdered, the fugitive is charged by her husband with the crime; but the girl reveals to the sheriff that she had nursed the accused through the night in her own room. At this the husband reveals all the usual signs of high indignation, but the fugitive shows him up as the killer, the evidence on his person convicting the guilty man.

It is a good talkie, with a Western, bad-man flavor. For the quick-turnover house.

It won't satisfy them all by itself and needs support of the comedy, live newsreel type.

"Bring On The Bride" (Allbee-Delf Series-2 Reels) Good Audience Stuff

H ARRY DELF, who directed and produced this little skit, has done a good job. It deals with preparations at the bride's home on her wedding day with the excitement of the occasion causing everyone to flutter around distraught. THE calibre of the Larry Darmour shorts has skyrocketed with the arrival of sound. This one provides some genuine laughs and is Alberta Vaughn, Al Cooke and Lew Sargent are the principals and they come through successfully. Miss Vaughn is right in her element before the mike and sings and troupes with good results. Cooke, as a boob character, also gallops merrily along. Their show dead and broke, the trio get together and concoct a radio broadcast ballyhooing a big speedboard race which will give them a fat profit. Some Good Fun

JOHNNY ARTHUR plays the embarrassed husband of a jealous wife in this Mermaid produced and directed by Jack White. It's a role in which he's quite adept and he turns in a neat performance decorated with many laughs. Pauline Garon as the wife contributes some snappy conversation as well as good looks.

Use bands and singers for remaining shorts.

"The Mask"

(Great Arts-1 Reel)

High Class Entertainment

THIS short, made in part dialogue, gets away from the routine and, as such, should make a pleasant addition to the program. The story is very slight and deals with the legendary tale of Columbine and her two admirers, Bela Lugosi and Duncan Rinaldo, the deaf clown, and how the latter wins the girl's affection. Nice treatment.

Contrasting numbers, light in treatment, are desirable with this.

News. Weather, fine. Opposition, "Salute," and Beanty" offering of 50, Pathe Sound "Dynamite" and "Gold Diggers of Broadway." Rating, 85%.

AD TIPS-Played story and Rod La Roque. Found that the appeal was neither for the young, nor for the old. It held main attraction for the middle aged class and it went over big with everyone who stopped to make comment. Not for aged or kids. It is considered by local folks who discuss 'em as being a mighty fine picture of its type.—RKO Pantages, C. D. Miller, Mgr., Tacoma.

Disraeli (W.B.)

ALBANY-Mark Strand (2,000), 35c-50c, 6 Other attractions, two Vitaphone acts, Fox Movietone News. Weather, variable. Op-position, "The Girl from Woolworth's," "Mar-ried in Hollywood," "Why Leave Home," "The Lady Lies." Rating, 96%.

AD TIPS-Used the name of George Arliss on account of his long prominence as stage star. Featured this picture as one of the real triumphs of the stage that had been transferred to the screen. General audience appeal.— Byron Farley, Mgr., Mark Strand, Albany.

Dynamite (M-G-M)

TACOMA—Fox Rialto (1,350), 35c-75c. 7 days. Other attractions, Mickey Mouse and Fox Movietone News. H'cather, fine. Opposition, "Salute," "Gold Diggers of Broadway," and "Delightful Rogue." Rating, 85%.

AD TIPS-Played De Mille angle. He has made pictures here on Mount Tacoma and in this locale. Lived here and has many friends. This brought out followers, but play seemed to be a bit heavy for general consumption. Critics liked it. Appeal adults.—Fox Rialto,

Evangeline (U.A.)

LOS ANGELES—United Artists (2,100), 7 days, 35c-75c. Other attractions, "Forceful Forceps" (Christie talker), Paramount Sound News, organ concert. Weather, fine. Opposition, "Cock-Eyed World," "They Had to See Paris," "Married in Hollywood," "Virginian," "Thirteenth Chair," "Careless Age," "Isle of Lost Ships," "Gold Diggers of Broadway," "Hallelujah." Rating, 74% (2nd week).

AD TIPS-Heralds were distributed to hotels and apartments, and usual newspaper advertising was done.-George Coppock, Mgr., Royal, Kansas City.

Pictures Opinions On

Flight (Col.)

BALTIMORE—Rivoli (1,981), 25c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions, Pathe Sound News, "The Salesman" (George LeMaire all-talking "The Salesman" (George LeMaire all-talking comedy). Weather, clear cool to clear hot. Opposition, "The Saturday Night Kid," "Broadway Scandals," "Shiraz," "Woman to Woman," "Gold Diggers of Broadway," "Cock-Eyed World," "The Four Feathers," "Why Bring That Up." Rating, 80% (Second World)" "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "Second World," "The Second World," "Second OMAHA—World (2,500), 25c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions, Pathe News and "Dance of the Skeletons." Weather, rainy. Opposition, "Why Bring That Up," "The Saturday Night Kid," and "Young Nowheres." Rating, 110%.

AD TIPS—Lots of chance to play up spectacular angle in this picture. Tied up with Marine Corps recruiting station and local flying company. Used plane in night trip over city with illuminated sign, "Flight," on under wings—great stunt, but ship cracked up second night. Plugged Holt and Graves as "Submarine" team in this first all-talkie of the air. Audience appeal, general.—Lionel Wasson. Mgr., World, Omaha.

AD TIPS-Great stunt for second week's newspaper ad is to have drawing made of airplane crashing through newspaper, with "Flight" in heavy black letters across top. Then, as if written on the parts of the untorn net, as it written on the parts of the union paper, top and bottom, have lettered in script: "Due to its tremendous popular appeal"—title on airplane wing come in here—"will be retained for a second and final week!" Below airplane wing on right list big names. At bottom through another hole supposedly torn in paper have the line "How 'Flight' Crashed the Critics' and give excerpts of reviews.—Frank Price, Jr., Mgr., Rivoli, Baltimore.

Four Devils (Fox)

OKLAHOMA CITY—Liberty (1,800), 7 days, 25c-50c. Other attractions. "Fancy That," "Movietone News. Weather, cool all week. Opposition, "Young Nowheres," "Marianne," "Hollywood Revue," "Vagabond King." Rational 1000% ing, 100%.

AD TIPS-Talking picture of 1,000 thrills. Voices of Gaynor and Duncan the biggest thrills of all. "Four Devils" will stand the acid test, with pathos that reaches your soul, humor that touches your heart. Thrills that thrill your entire being. A picture that will please all seeing it. These were advertising keynote lines .-Liberty, Oklahoma City.

Four Feathers (Par.)

BALTIMORE—Loew's Stanley Theatre (3,654), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions, Hearst Metrotone and Paramount News, organ, Harry Langdon in "Hotter Than Hot." Weather, clear cool to clear hot. Opposition, "The Saturday Night Kid," "Broadway Scandals," "Shiraz," "Woman to Woman," "Gold Diggers of Broadway," "Cock-Eyed World," "Flight," "Why Bring That Up." Rating, 69%.

HOUSTON—Kirby (1,654), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions, Paramount Sound News, 3 Vitaphone acts. Weather, mixed, some rain. Opposition, "Why Leave Home?" "Saturday Night Kid," "Viking." Rating, 100%.

Audience Talks Back At Sound Newsreel

Ottawa.—There have been many curious kinks to hit daylight since sound arrived, but this lands near the top of the heap:

Fox Movietone News, playing the Avalon, included shots of Charlie Farrell being welcomed to Toronto by Mayor Mc Bride who told Farrell that he should settle down in Toronto which was the real centre of the British Empire. Patrons in the Avalon almost rose in a body to argue the point with the talking mayor.

Merely an instance of intense civic pride.

AD TIPS—New story with elements of "Chang" and "Beau Geste," by makers of "Chang." Sensational wild animal scenes, and story of a coward who fights to make good. Wray, Brook, Arlen, and Powell, all names that will draw patronage. Appeal is to everybody, but especially adults.—Kirby, Houston.
Be sure to tell them this is a combination of "Beau Geste and "Chang," with romance, high courage and high adventure, of a coward reborn of love. Name principal members of cast, using cuts of three officers of one side looking at heads of Arlen and Wray on other side, and explain that thousands of wild beasts and legions of the jungle appear in it. Appeal is principally to those who like strong melo-drama.—Charles Raymond, General Manager, Loew's Stanley, Baltimore.

Frozen Justice (Fox)

DENVER-America (1,586), 7 days. Other attractions, Fox Moxietone News, Vitaphone acts featuring Hurst & Vogt, Roger Williams, acts reaturing riurs & vogt, Koger Williams, Ben Pollock Orchestra. Weather, fair. Opposition, "Young Nowheres," "Hollywood Revue," "The Saturday Night Kid," "The Viking," "Gold Diggers of Broadway." Rating, 100%.

Gamblers, The (W.B.)

DES MOINES—Strand (1,100), 20c-30c, 4 days. Other attractions, Collegians comedy, Pathe Sound News, exclusive pictures of Drake home-coming. Weather, variable. Opposition, "Marianne," "Gold Diggers of Broadway." Rating, 90%.

AD TIPS-Play this up as a story of Wall Street expose. H. B. Warner and Lois Wilson have good following. Exclusive pictures of Drake home-coming including frat party and football game as well as activities on campus, were good draw. Ted Emerson, Mgr., Strand, Des Moines.

Girl From Woolworth's (F.N.)

ALBANY-Mark Ritz (1,146), 25c-35c, 6 ALBANY — Mark Ritz (1,140), 25-35c, of days. TACOMA—Blue Mouse (601), 25c-75c, 7 days (third week). Other attractions, Horton's "Gabby" and Sound News. Weather, fine. Opposition, "Delightful Rogue," "Salute," and "Dynamite." Rating, 150% (Third Week).

AD TIPS-Advertised extensively on billboards, with window cards, and whole pages in newspapers. Tied up with music stores and phonograph stores for records and songs. Ran stories about this well known Avery Hopwood comedy, and also tied up with personal ap-pearance of Nick Lucas, who played at the Palace. Appeal for everyone who appreciates fine entertainment.—William Watson, Mgr., Hippodrome, Cleveland.

AD TIPS-Advertise it as all talking-all singing-all dancing and all in color. Also play up cast of Pennington, Lucas, Foster, Lightner and Tearle. Audience appeal, all classes.—W. Dumont, Mgr., Garden, Milwaukee.

AD T1PS-The stars, and especially Ann Pennington, are good draws and were played up as well as the all color. The week did very well in spite of rain and cold. Everybody came.—George Watson, Mgr., Des Moines Theatre, Des Moines.

AD T1PS—No different from first two weeks. This did not seem to need more than the extra newspaper space we have been carrying. Music features have been a big hit. Lucas, having been a miner out here, seems to have done something that others have not been able to do. He appeals to all. Lightner's comedy has been the real talk of the show. The appeal has been so general that it is a shame to have the run cut, even on its third week.—Ned Edris, Mgr., Blue Mouse, Tacoma.

AD TIPS—Exploited as daringly different—neverable minely propagated in interest. Frich von an overwhelmingly powerful picture. Erich von Stroheim featured. Betty Compson advertised as co-star.—Loew's Warfield, San Francisco.

Half Marriage (RKO)

OTTAWA—B. F. Keith's Theatre (2,596), 15c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions, Jack Kneeland's Stage Orchestra, four vaudeville acts, "Girl Crazy" comedy, Pathe Sound News. Weather. mostly rain. Oppasition, "Street Girl," "On With the Show," "The Isle of Lost Ships," "The Man and the Moment," "Lights of New York." Rating, 90%.

AD TIPS—This is a sugar-coated moral lesson, but pleasant to take because of the lesson, but pleasant to take because of the comedy, inviting girls and atmosphere. Talk all you like regarding companionate marriage. all you like regarding companionate marriage. There is an occasional thrill, but it is mostly youthful action and several songs that may not be classed as big hits, although "After the Clouds Roll By" is popular. Olive Borden makes a typical flapper who wants what she wants. Appeal to the young people of the community and bald heads.—J. M. Franklin, Mgr., B. F. Keith's Theatre, Ottawa.

AD TIPS—Billed this as "The Follies,"
"The Scandals," "The Vanities," all in one big spectacle. Described picture as "greatest array of stars ever filmed; the biggest hit of all time." Names of stars in billing will prove a big draw.—Capitol, Oklahoma City.

AD TIPS—Large number of stars in picture was advertised to advantage. Also that picture is a riot of color—song—dance—comedy—haris a riot of color—song—dance—comedy—har-mony. Audience appeal, all classes.—W. A.

Warren, Mgr., Strand, Milwaukee.
AD TIPS—The two angles to be exploited are the title and the fact that the cast includes 25 stars and a list of about 14 of the leading stars should be given in newspaper copy. Copy used: "Dallas is raving about about this mag-nificent spectacle of entertainment. They are niticent spectacle of entertainment. Incy are all praising its melodious songs, its brilliant stars—its gorgeous girls—and its elaborate scenes in Technicolor." Audience appeal, general.—Victor B. Lowrey, Mgr., Melba, Dallas.

Lights Of New York (W.B.)

OTTAWA—Avalon (990), I5c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions, Collegians, "His Angel Child," Fox Movietone News. Weather, mostly rain. Opposition, "The Isle of Lost Ships," "Street Girl," "On With the Show," "Half Marriage," "The Terror." Rating, 85%.

AD TIPS—This was the first local run of this feature and, for some reason, had been passed up by exhibitors. Made a good draw. Frankly mentioned that this was the first talking picture to be made by Warner Bros. and this helped to arouse interest. Night club scenes are not impressive but underworld stuff has thrills. Old home town vs. Broadway is the theme and therefore appeals to all ages.—P. J. Nolan, Mgr., Ayalon, Ottawa.

Love Doctor (Par.)

MINNEAPOLIS—Lyric (1,238), 7 days, 7 shows daily, 15c-25c-35c. Other attractions. Fox Movietone News, selected Vitaphone shorts. Weather, cold. Opposition, "The Virginian," "Modern Love," "Salute," "The Cock-Eyed World (second week), "Gold Diggers of Broadway." Rating, 125%.

H'eather, ideal fall. Opposition, "Return Sherlock Holmes," "Is Everybody Happy?". "The Trespasser," "Flight," "Midnight Parade," "Bulldog Drummond." Rating, 120%.

AD TIPS—Played up popular stars Gaynor and Farrell. Monster stars placed over front, with intermittent electrics pulled well. Wide appeal account previous successes. Strong climaxes of story played up.—Floyd Maxwell, Mgr., Fox Broadway, Portland, Ore.

Madame X (M-G-M)

TROY—Troy (2,000), 25c-40c, 4 days. Other attractions, one Vitaphone, Fox Movietone News. Weather, variable. Opposition, "Careless Age," "The Delightful Rogue." Rating, 100%.

Man And The Moment (F.N.)

OTTAWA—Avalon (990), 15c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions, "Zip, Boom,, Bang" and Fox Movietone News. Weather, mostly rain. Opposition, "Street Girl," "The 1sle of Lost Ships," "On With the Show," "Half Marriage." Rating, 85%.

AD TIPS—This is Elmor Glyn in her most Glynian moment and women only need to be told that she wrote the story. Billie Dove also insures that they will come and the men folks will be glad to accompany them on her account. Dove and Rod LaRocque are heart-stirring in their talk. Billie Dove's voice deserves mention. Adults will like this picture, but children will not.—P. J. Nolan, Mgr., Avalon, Ottawa.

Marianne (M-G-M)

DES MOINES—Paramount (1,700), 25c-35c-50c-65c, Other attractions, Harold Wallace organ number, "Our Own Newspaper"; Publix stage show, "Circus Cabaret," Para-

AD TIPS—Marion Davies has a picture that is "just the cutest thing," audience enthusiastic, especially the women. Stiff competition with a night football home-coming game on Saturday night cut into the business. Fink and Ayres, skating act, got big hand, also Foster Girls in good routine and Lindy Coons with stage hand. Good show.—Jack Roth, Mgr., Paramount, Des Moines.

Married In Hollywood (Fox)

ALBANY — Harmanus-Bleecker Hall (1,800)), 35c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions. Fox Movietone News, Tom Waring and his piano, Jimmy Hussey in "Uneasy Street." "The Girl from Woolworth's," "Why Leave Home," "The Lady Lies." Rating, 105%.

LOS ANGELES—Fox Criterion (1,652), 7 days, 35c-65c. Other attractions, Fox Movietone News. W cother, fine. Opposition, "CockEyed World," "They Had to See Paris." "Virginian," "Thirteenth Chair," "Evangeline," "Careless Age," "Isle of Lost Ships," "Gold Diggers of Broadway," "Hallelujah." Rating, 82% (2nd week).

AD TIPS—Although the picture suffers from its title, this can be partially overcome by advertising it as the first Vienness song romance made by the man who wrote "The Chocolate Soldier." Be sure to feature that the music is by Oscar Straus and call attention to singing chorus of sixty with dancing ensemble of 100 and a symphony orchestra of sixty. Audience appeal, general.—Charles Goulding, Mgr., Harmanus-Bleecker, Albany.

Modern Love (U.)

MINNEAPOLIS—Pantages (1,675), 7 days, 3 shows daily, 25c-50c-75c. Other attractions, Pathe Sound News, 5 acts vaudeville. Il'eather, cold. Opposition, "The Virginian," "Salute," "The Cock-Eyed World" (second week), "The Love Doctor," "Gold Diggers of Broadway." Rating, 60%.

AD TIPS—We played this picture up as a "Love, Honor and oh baby" film.—E. C. Bostick, Mgr., Pantages, Minneapolis.

Mysterious Island (M-G-M)

DES MOINES—Strand (1,100), 20c-30c, 3 days. Other attractions, Kinogram News. Weather, variable, cool. Opposition, "Marianne," "Gold Diggers of Broadway." Rating, 90%.

AD TIPS—The infersea pictures and all the color feature are played up as the big attraction. Attracted all ages, and children especially, in large numbers. Plays to 11 types.—Ted Emerson, Mgr., Strand, Des Moines.

Night Parade (RKO)

PORTLAND, ORE.—R-K-O Orpheum (I, 723), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions, Pathe Sound News, Youth and Beauty Revue, Marie Fokina, danseuse, Elmer Coudy, comedian, Catherine Custer, organist. Weather, ideal fall. Opposition, "Return Sherlock Holmes," "Lucky Star," "Is Everybody Happy," "Flight," "Bulldog Drummond." Rating, 100%.

AD TIPS—Prize fight story, old theme, stars not we'll known. Vandeville bill pulled crowd.—Earl Wadge, Mgr., R-K-O Orpheum, Portland, Ore.

On With The Show (W.B.)

OTTAWA—Imperial (1,200), I5c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions, "Wanted a Man," Hearst Metrotone News. Weather, lots of rain. Opposition, "The Isle of Lost Ships," "Street Girl," "Half Marriage," "The Man and the Moment," "Lights of New York." Rating, 80%.

AD TIPS—Publish your time table so that patrons will see this spectacular musical feature from the start—they will enjoy it better that way. It is literally full of color because it is the first all-color, all talking-singing-dancing spectacle of the screen. Betty Compson has a difficult role but is seen to advantage. The picture is full of pep and the back-stage story maintains interest throughout. Andience appeal—all ages and all classes.—Ray Tubman, Mgr., Imperial, Ottawa.

AD TIPS—Mystery angle puts this one

AD TIPS—Mystery angle puts this one across. Sound effects make it a weird, tense production. Also Ernest Torrence. Appeal, general.—L. J. Carkey, Mgr., R-K-O Orpheum, days. Other attractions, "Our Gang Connedy, Fox Movietone News, and News Reel.

Weather, fine. Opposition, "Delightful Rogue, "Dynamite," and "Gold Diggers of Broadway."
Rating, 75%.
AD TIPS—Tied in with local football games,
Selection of College Paget Sound team coach bringing of College Puget Sound team, coach and boosters in for hurrah in advance of local game between the college and Washington State University for first electric light game in Stadium. Appeal general, but it has to be boosted to get under the rating.—Fox Colonial, Doug, Kimberley, Mgr., Tacoma.

AD TIPS—Timely right now is the football angle on this picture. Play up name of George O'Brien, although Helen Chaudler is a drawing card. Another sure bet is the name of Stephin Fetchit, Negro comedian. Appeal general and particularly to young folks. Ray Grombacher, Mgr., Liberty, Spokane. AD TIPS—Play up the football angle with Naval Academy background. Let the public know that George O'Brien is starred and that it is an all-talking picture. Invite the public to see and hear the Army-Navy Game. Stress the fact that it is a story of brother against brother, with Helen Chandler, Wm. Janney, Stepin Fetchit and Joyce Compton in the cast. Audience appeal, general.—John H. Thoma, Mgr., Majestic, Dallas.

Saturday Night Kid, The (Par.)

SPOKANE—Audian (1,100), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions, Vitaphone shorts. Weather, splendid. Opposition, "The Unholy Night," "Salute," "Jealousy." Rating, 147%.

AD TIP—Clara Bow always is good for capacity here. Use plenty of cuts of the "It" girl in ad layouts. Title is O. K. as it seems twisted of the Absorbed layers over 15 Ed.

typical of star. Appeal, all ages over 15.-Ed.

Reed, Mgr., Strand, Providence.

AD TIPS—Clara Bow is still biggest thing in any Bow picture. Her name should be played for all it is worth, with all the stock adjectives, pert, vivacious, red-headed, "It,"— that go with her. Critics stressed fact that she showed dramatic ability. Appeal is to young people, and Bow fans.—Metropolitan, Houston.

AD T1PS-Plugged Bow to limit with flaming youth of the town, using a special mailing list for high schools and colleges, and even going after grade school business. Increased newspaper advertising space, playing up idea that picture had same locale as "It." Audience appeal for women and school gang.-Charles Pincus, Mgr., Paramount, Omaha.

AD TIPS—Play this up as an all talking, partying, petting, loving story with Clara Bow, the "It" girl at her naughtiest using full forgirl at her naughtiest, using full figure cut of Bow in bathing suit, with James Hall and a glorified cast of flaming flappers. The appeal is strong for Bow fans and the story will be liked particularly by the younger element.—Charles Raymond, General Manager, Loew's Century, Baltimore. AD TIPS—The name of Clara Bow is all that is needed to advertise this picture. Also can play up that she is more lovable than ever in this gay picture, which has more than its quota of romance and heart interest. General appeal.-Ray Grombacher, Mgr., Audian, Spocollege displays-decorated theatre with college banners. Appeals to all who attend college, who hope to go to college and to those who regret never having been at college.—Wallace Elliott, Mgr., Keith's East 105th St., Cleveland.

Street Girl (RKO)

OTTAWA-Regent (1,225), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions, Fox Movietone News, Charlie Chase comedy, orchestra overture. Weather, plenty of rain. Opposition, "On With the Show," "Half Marriage," "The Isle of Lost Ships," "The Man and the Moment," "Lights of New York." Rating, 98%.

AD TIPS—Better correct the impression at the start that this is a story about a street walker, as indicated by the title. It is a blend of old and new world romance, with Betty Compson doing the best acting of her career. Characterizations excellent, particularly those of Ivan Lebedeff as the crown prince and of Ivan Lebedett as the crown France Eddie Kane as the cabaret manager. The orchestra provides plenty of comedy. Hear Betty Compson talk with a foreign accent without a slip. Everybody will like this fea-ture.—T. R. Tubman, Mgr., Regent Theatre, Ottawa.

-CONDUCTED BY AN EXHIBITOR FOR EXHIBITORS -

"Short Subjects"

ERE is a phase in your everyday existence which should not be neglected because it opens up many avenues of patron-interest and profitable reaction.

It offers a most tempting inducement in the way of boosting Kiddie Shows and your everyday programs so that the spice, which comes only with variety, will bring the needed punch to your screen.

It does not even matter if an occasional silent subject is used in conjunction with the proper accompaniment via your non-synchronous apparatus. We have only recently had the pleasure of witnessing some unusually fine silent comedies that would add distinction to any theatre's program. The fact that they were silent, to us, gave added importance to the balance of the show which was in sound.

Exhibitors have complained that there is a shortage of good silent comedies of the brand which particularly appeal to the younger element. How they ever arrived at that conclusion we cannot understand because we immediately checked up and found several distributing companies with plenty of fine, new products in the silent comedy field.

We were delighted to find in several out-of-town theatres, of the better kind, that comedies are as important to the make-up of their shows as the feature and other attractions and considering the success of the majority of the theatres visited, lends added importance to their opinions.

Therefore, why deprive your patrons of something that is not expensive but nevertheless is a welcome addition to your programs? As a statement of fact; many theatres formerly in the double feature class were able to dispense with that evil via the short subject route. And thankful they were for the opportunity.

The short subject will never cease to be the "spice of the program" regardless of what subjects you may select, but don't fall asleep when there is something to cash in on and then start crying because your opposition is getting the business from patrons who have a right to demand, and receive, the best the market has to offer in the way of screen entertainment.

After all, the excitement is dying down and we are all getting back to solid ground. The upheaval (if you must call it that) has stimulated the theatre-goers' interest in the theatre again and we are all anxious to get in on the ground floor.

THE SHORT SUBJECT HAS A MIGHTY DEFINITE SPOT IN THE PRESENT DAY SCHEME OF AMUSEMENT AND IF YOU ARE NOT AWARE OF THAT FACT THEN IT IS YOUR LOSS.

Willard Osborne Stands Aces High In Chakeres Outfit

In introducing Willard Osborne we might as well tell you right now that he was formerly in charge of the State Theatre, in Springfield, Ohio, but has recently been promoted to the position of assistant general manager of the Chakeres-Schine Theatres in that part of Ohio.

He has been directly responsible for the management of all the theatres in this group, but at the same time he kept the Regent Theatre under his own personal supervision.

Another post which falls to Willard is that of supervisor of music for the Circuit, which is quite natural, because he is among the foremost of Springfield's talented musicians. He has studied for a number of years in Europe under several of the greatest masters.

His connection with some of the largest motion picture theatres in the country has given him the experience which he required to become the assistant to Mr. Chakeres.

We do not hesitate one moment in stating that Mr. Osborne is just the type of member that we are so anxious to line up for the ROUND TABLE CLUB, because it is the activities of men of his type that make such interesting reading and are so helpful to our other members and readers.

How about it Willard, don't you think you can find time to keep us posted on what you and the other boys are doing out there in and around Springfield? Thanks a lot for your co-operation and best to the whole crowd.

Miller Has His Sav On The Projectionist Angle

A. H. R. Miller, Manager of the Opera House at Waynesburg, Pa., made the statement some time ago, as you may recall from reading these pages, that every manager ought to be a licensed projectionist, and at least know as much about the equipment as his operator.

We shot back a question to Mr. Miller, asking him to give us a little more "dope" on this subject.

We offer the following, exactly as he wrote it to us and you are entitled to your own opinion on the subject.

We should be glad to get the viewpoint of other managers on the question which Mr. Miller brings up.

Dear Mr. Lewis:

You want the lowdown on operator-managers? Why is a manager a man who does not manage the heart of his theater? How can a manager take the responsibility for sound, for light on the screen, for flickering pictures, for noise of machines, for speed of film, for condition of film, for approval of machine and booth requirements without honestly knowing what he is criticizing, and in case of accidents he is held responsible.

For instance, I was in a house,—unionized—the operator of sudden sickness. The union sent a relief (some time got sudden sickness. later) and the relief says my blankety blank machines need this and that-that my old operator must of been very sick, etc.

The next day the booth requisition total was more than my salary for that week. I wanted to check upon it, and couldn't.

Then and there I learned operating.

Another case (non-union) operator was with house five years-between the matinee and evening shows-he got into some kind of a mixup. Remembering a previous sad experience, I operated myself. I learned first-handed what the machines needed, and the next day it was I who asked the operator why he didn't order this and that, he was so surprised at my being able to run without him, but to check up on him he really improved a lot.

The cases are too numerous to mention. A comparison to the mechanic who is left in charge of a garage when a car is jammed in behind others can't drive and has to call somewhere to get the car out.

One more instance. Hereabouts the sound and manner of the way we run our shows here (a 3,300 town), has caused quite a few exhibitors to come here to see how it's done. quite a tew exhibitors to come here to see how it's done. Even an exchange has sent films here to be tried out. I have two operators (one who was a handy-andy and another who was a radio tinkerer). I taught them operating till they passed their state examinations. I watched them later—they know today that I know when they do something good or bad—that I often go up to the booth and look it over before they get here—that on their arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival I have a material arrival they get here-that on their arrival I have a notation or two for things that ought to be done in spare moments.

I have my license so I let them go down into the audience and see and hear—they get the other fellow's viewpoint and I get real service and when an exchange says we did this or that to the print I know who is right.

A Showman Speaks His Mind—

"I can assure you that my managers in Tampa and I consider the section in the MOTION PICTURE NEWS devoted to the MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB one of the most valuable assets in laying out our program of advertising. There is rarely an issue that we do not get some suggestion that means dollars for us at the box office,"

C. M. Chidley Put Over A Marvelous "Sound" Opening This is the way that C. H. Chidley, manager of E. J. Schulte's Rialto Theatres, Inc., operating the Rialto, American and Rex Theatres, Casper, Wyoming, climaxed an unusually extensive campaign for the opening of sound at their American Theatre.

The majority of full page spreads on the opening of sound that we have seen here at CLUB headquarters generally consisted of a whole lot of cuts or fancy art work, but we are ready to match this page with any we have seen so far, and to say without doubt that this is as attractive a piece of advertising as any of the others regardless of their beautiful art work.

A lot of managers would be surprised how much more attractive their advertising could be if they would fall back on plain type once in a while, and get away from the monotony of too many mats and cuts in all their advertising.

We rather appreciate Chidley's thoughtfulness in sending this contribution in to us because it gave us the opportunity of driving home an idea which we have wanted to go into for some time past.

What applies to this full page can also be applied to your regular house advertising. Try your darndest to get away from the monotony of either too much illustration or too much plain type. Strike a happy medium in your newspaper advt. by going from one to the other to achieve a radical change in appearance and then combine both to get a still more "different" look to them.

Let's hear some more from you Mr. Chidley and we would like to see some more of your newspaper advertising as well as some of your house programs. Won't you oblige us with some samples? Thanks in advance.

Peters And Smith Working With O. F. Glass Out In Neb.

Under the deal which placed the McCook Amusement Co. Theatres under the Fox West Coast Banner, O. Fred Glass, a member of long standing in the ROUND TABLE CLUB assumed supervision for the World and Temple and Star Theatres at McCook, Nebraska and the New Fox Theatre at North Platte which will open very shortly. Mr. Glass has as assistant at the Temple, Mr. K. M. Peters and at the World Mr. Carl Smith.

We would certainly like to hear from these gentlemen as well as Mr. Glass, for we are certain that their exploitation and advertising activities would hold much of interest to the other members and readers of these pages.

E. J. Harvey's Recent Ballyhoo Was A Corker for Derby

Here is one that E. J. HARVEY, the manager of the Community Hull Theatre in Derby, Conn., used to mighty good advantage, and which he feels some of you boys can use.

The total cost to Harvey for this unusual street ballyhoo was about $25 and it created a tremendous amount of interest in the picture "The Valiant."

Here is a brief description of how "E. J." handled it:

On the first day, he sent out this man dressed as a police officer with the boy handcuffed to him without any sign at all. The second day he put a sign on the front of the boy reading "Is This Your Boy?" By this time everybody on the street was stopping to inquire what it was all about. On the third and opening day, a still further sign on the boy's back, explained the picture and the theatre.

Here's a good one to bolster any picture that you expect to run in which this type of ballyhoo would tie in. Don't lose sight of it because it is worth filing away for future reference.

Thank you, Mr. Harvey, and let's hope we get some more stuff from you.

"Bones" Smith Now Managing Two Houses In Missouri

C. A. "Bones" Smith who was formerly manager of the Electric Theatre in Kansas City, Kansas has been appointed manager of the Royal and Hubbell Theatres in Trenton, Missouri.

We have already seen signs of marvelous showmanship from "Bones" when he was in the Electric Theatre and we will now look forward to hearing from him regularly at the Royal and Hubbell Theatres. How about it. Smith, and be sure to send us one of your photographs so that we can properly introduce you in the next contribution you send us. Thanks a lot anyway in advance.

British Member N. G. Farmer, Is Up-To-the-minute

A real example of showmanship comes to us from London, England, from our very interested member, N. G. Farmer, who is managing director of Coliseum Theatre, Manor Park, London.

Like every other good showman, regardless of where he is located, he has certain set rules by which he trains his staff and his primary consideration is to make his patrons feel at home and comfortable. As a matter of fact, his patrons have frequently commented upon the "eager to please" method employed by Mr. Farmer's staff and that in itself is sufficient proof that he has succeeded in the task he set out to accomplish when he trained the employees of that house.

Charles J. Brennan says:

"Now I am going to crash by enclosing my application for membership in the MAN-AGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB, something I have been going to do for many moons.

In my estimation, it is invaluable to the industry, especially so in these days of high-powered exploitation."

Managing Director, Rialto Theatre, Newark, N. J. Many of us are apt to get the idea that all proper theatre management begins, and perhaps ends, here in these United States, but if you have that mistaken idea, take a tip and get it out of your head, because we have come across some fine showmanship from theatres far removed from this country, and with some suggestions that we would all do well to take advantage of and follow.

A suggestion that Mr. Farmer has successfully worked recently, was to use his non-sync. apparatus for a "Hidden Singer" stunt whereby they secured a phonograph record of some well known composition, and sung by some well known singer, and synchronizing it with an orchestration so that his orchestra played right along with the singer. In this way, after a few rehearsals, they had perfected an idea that gets everyone in the audience interested and has resulted in much fine comment.

Such numbers as "The Desert Song," "The Vagabond King," "Indian Love Lyric," etc., were all worked with success by Mr. Farmer, and can be duplicated right here in any theatre that has a non-synchronous equipment.

In the line of exploitation, "N. G." does not have to take a back seat for anybody, because we have before us the details of an unusually fine stunt which he engineered and executed in conjunction with "The Lost Patrol." The idea was to broadcast a poster similar to the kind used in that country for like purposes and with 7-inch block letters across the top reading "Lost." The balance of the poster contained information about a certain patrol that had disappeared, and listed all the ten men who were missing.

He kept this teaser apart from his regular theatre advertising until a week before the play date when he added a narrow strip in red stating that the picture would be shown at the Coliseum and also the date. He reports that the number of people who stopped to read these posters was surprising, and he was so sold on the idea, that the next picture that presents this type of exploitation will be tied in with it once more.

In conjunction with the same picture he worked a tableaux consisting of an automobile truck with a desert setting and a man dressed in a soldier's uniform standing on guard in this desert setting. His business as a result of these stunts was as good as any week during the best part of the season.

Thank you, Mr. Farmer, and let's hear from you again very soon.

Sid Finkelstein Shows Real Club Spirit For M.R.T.C.

Sid Finkelstein the progressive little manager of the Oasis Theatre in Ridgewood, N. Y., comes forward and shows his fine CLUB spirit by proposing for membership the following brother managers on his circuit:

JAMES THOM, Ritz Theatre, Port Richmond, S. I. JAMES TAYLOR, Liberty Theatre, Stapleton, S. I. GUS GREENWALDT, Capitol Theatre, West Brighton, S. I.

JOE BERGEN, Park Theatre, Stapleton, S. I. WILLIE MARR, Strand Theatre, Great Kills, S. I. BILL MORRIS, Stadium Theatre, Tottenville, S. I.

We want to take this means of thanking Sid for this fine piece of work, and we are certain that both we and the heads of his circuit are taking notice of his fine activities as a member and a showman.

Let's hear from you again, Sid, and try to send us one of your photographs with your next letter.

E. L. Connelly Puts Over "Crack" Campaign In Pittsburgh

put over a tremendous campaign on the Columbia feature

The fact that this picture has broken all established records, and is now in its second successful week, is ample evidence that very little was left undone in handling the exploitation for this attraction.

Among the many tieups successfully engineered by Mr. Connelly, were muslin banners stretched across the roadways leading to the different airports in and around Pittsburgh. Radio announcements regularly, loud speaker announcements at the Pittsburgh Butler Airport during the dedication ceremonies. Trip planned for newspaper critics in a special plant to get the atmosphere of "Flight" before seeing the preview at the Harris Theatre. (Plane nose-dived, which immediately gave this a front page

Special luncheon at the William Penn Hotel preceding the preview attended by thirty newspaper people and many famous aviators. Souvenir ash trays of "Flight" given to guests and speeches on aviation and aviation's part in talking sound moving pictures.

Preview brought out many officers of the marines, army and navy as well as the newspaper folk and members of the Variety Club.

Elaborate window displays in leading department stores were arranged in addition to other displays in restaurants, hardware stores and 25 book selling establishments.

The obove photos show the front of the theatre and one of the attractive windows dressed for this attraction by Mr. Connelly

A specially colored fifth wheel ad was placed on over 500 taxicabs which were running all around the city.

There were so many different angles to this picture, that we find it difficult to set it forth in plain cold type, our only regret is that they did not take photographs of the different tieups and stunts so that we could better show how they handled this mighty campaign.

The mere reciting of the fifty or sixty odd angles for the campaign on the picture sounds, unfortunately, like a Sunday School recitation, and we have no intention of boring our many members and readers with this type of description. However, we will say to the credit of Mr. Connelly and the Columbia exploiteer who assisted him, that they have succeeded in a marvelous layout and are deserving of all the credit heaped upon their shoulders by reason of the tremendous success of the campaign.

We would be glad to publish the future activities of Mr. Connelly and what he is doing at his various theatres, and we are sure that we will soon be able to list him as an active member of our great organization.

Advertising That Helps

In last week's issue of Motion Picture News, Paramount ran four pages of advertising on Harold Lloyd in "Welcome Danger" that struck the right chord with showmen everywhere.

It is the type of advertising that every real manager wants because it helps him sell the picture to his public.

It shows him how the picture was sold to New York and, undoubtedly, the layout presented many angles which could be used or converted to suit local requirements.

We hope the time is not too far distant when other producers and distributors will follow the example of Paramount and give us this type of advertising so that we in turn can cash in on it.

Managers' Round Table Club

The complete campaign as covered by this showman is available at CLUB headquarters where copies will be gladly sent to any member or reader who is going to play this attraction or any other type of picture with which such exploitation can be used. Just drop us a line, and it is yours for the asking, complete in every detail.

Levin Finds Many Helps On The Club Pages Every Week

Mr. D. Levin, who manages the Empire Theatre in Brakpan, South Africa, has written a marvelous letter to the ROUND TABLE CLUB, and one that sincerely shows the wonderful spirit that prevails among our members in that far-off country.

There was one point in Mr. Levin's letter that particularly appealed to us, and that was his fine reference to Mr. J. H. Stodel, who he tells us, has instilled some of his marvelous energy and inspiration into the men working under him. This is a wonderful tribute from a subordinate, and from what we have seen and read about J. H. Stodel, we feel that he is certainly entitled to it.

We are sure that Mr. Levin's feelings towards "J. H." are shared by every other manager on the circuit, whether they are members of the ROUND TABLE CLUB or not, but since we have every reason to believe that every manager of the African Theatres, Ltd., belongs to our organization, we know that the feeling is unanimous.

We would be proud to give Mr. Levin all the space on these pages that he would require to pass on some of the showmanship ideas that he is constantly developing and putting across at his theatre down in South Africa, and we urge him to send us any material that he may have at the present time, together with his own photograph, so that we may show the other boys what this live-wire manager looks like.

-THANK YOU.

Here's A Fast One Worked By Mgr. Will. M. Freiday W. M. FREIDAY, manager of the B. F. Keith Theatre in Portland, Maine pulled a fast one on the rest of the showmen in that town, when he succeeded in getting permission to string the banner which we show in the accompanying illustration right across the main street of the town.

This was a marvelous break for RKO's "Street Girl" and incidentally we might report that house records were being smashed throughout the run of this attraction.

Knowing what little we do about politics in Portland, Maine, leads us to suspect that "W. M." must be on his toes all the time to put something like this across and the ROUND TABLE CLUB pages would like to publish some more of his activities.

What do you say, "W. M.," can we look to you for some more "dope" on your exploitation and publicity and at the same time shoot us in one of your own photographs? We would like to let the rest of the world know what you look

Morris Shulman says:

"Your part of MOTION PICTURE NEWS is the greatest exchange of ideas that I have ever seen. I don't see how a manager can keep alive without it. This is not a lot of applesance, but the real honest to goodness truth."

Frank C. Foresman Uses Various Methods To Boost B. O.

As Manager Director of the Alexander Theatre in Electric Mills, Miss., Frank C. Foresman, has had many opportunities to demonstrate his showmanship and ability to operate a modern theatre.

He has followed the pages of the ROUND TABLE

CLUB for a long time, before he actually enrolled as a member of the CLUB, and for this reason he feels like an old timer and we look upon him as an old member. At any rate, the connection was a happy one for both parties, and we now look forward to hearing many interesting things about this young and aggressive showman.

Frank is still another of the ROUND TABLE CLUB readers who has expressed his appreciation for our new page which we call "Personalities," and we are glad to find that this is considered worth following each week. Let's hear some more from you Frank, and tell us what you are doing to put over your pictures out there is Miss.

Goethals Finds "Float Ballyhoo" Good Street Angle

Another old time member steps up to prove that he has not forgotten his interest in the ROUND TABLE CLUB and passes along the details of one of his recent activities.

The photograph of the float on "Noah's Ark," which we are showing with this story was constructed so inexpensively that taking into consideration the amount of attention it attracted and the novelty of this type of ballyhoo, made it all the more worth while and valuable.

Incidentally, George C. Goethals, Manager of the Strand Theatre, in Hattiesburg, Miss., was permitted to run this float at a large football game which was being played here, and he had a young boy with an accordion render a few selections and sing the theme song from the production.

Another angle of his exploitation on this picture, was the use of announcement eards which were placed on every plate in all the dining rooms and every restaurant in the town.

In connection with the showing of this attraction, Mr. Goethals tells us that he ran a midnight show starting Monday morning (no Sunday shows are permitted in that town) and had a personal invitation sent to all the ministers and priests in the town and what is more, they were all there—right on the dot.

We are delighted at this sign of activity again from George, and we know that from this time forward, he will keep us posted as he did in the old days. So long, Goethals, for the present, and best of luck to you.

F. C. Croson's Activities Are Click. ing For Fremont

When F. C. Croson, manager of the Fremont Theatre in Fremont, Nebraska, wrote us his latest letter, he took an apologetic view, because he has not been keeping in touch with us as much as he should.

We don't know whether to excuse him or just sympathize with him, but in reviewing some of the contributions he sent us, we are rather apologetic ourselves, and cannot haul him over the coals.

Listen, "F. C.," no matter how often you write us we are always glad to hear from you; especially showmen like yourself who are constantly engineering and executing upto-the-minute exploitation and publicity.

One point that we rather liked about Croson's activities was his apparent willingness to take advantage of the other fellow's ideas as set forth on these pages from week to week and, in addition, to contribute some original ideas of his own.

On the illustration with this story, we are just calling attention to several of "F. C.'s" activities or what we might term his ordinary everyday work. The monthly calendar, as you will note from the reproduction, is neatly laid out, and he separates his added attractions by the clever use of a box to show the folks exactly what they are going to see at the theatre.

We have, of course, exhibited many different monthly programs and we do not want to set ourselves up as a judgment board on passing on which are the best. The mere fact that any of them are published is sufficient reason for you to assume that we at CLUB headquarters feel that whoever contributed such material has something that his brother showmen might possibly make use of.

The Ladies' Guest Matinee Card is just another way of boosting business on the weak matinees, and of course can be utilized for any number of different purposes. The Police Card Pass was published previously on our pages, in conjunction with the same picture, but it is always handy on any kind of a crook or trial production. The Guest Card which the Fremont Theatre used has likewise a lasting quality, in that it can be used for merchant tieups, congratulation purposes or any other cooperative arrangement whereby the theatre must use this form of ticket.

We are particularly glad to reproduce the Students Ticket which Mr. Croson worked out, and any theatre having a college or university of some sort, included in their patronage, will find this suggestion very timely and good.

The circular to the right of the small card will just give you an idea of how Mr. Croson engineered his Style Show and Revue, and we did take note of this, as well as the All Fremont Revue, circular that the Fremont Stage Band is under the director of Mr. Croson personally.

It would be no small wonder to us to find out before

"The Mailing List"

Quite a few months ago we stressed the value and importance of the mailing list especially in the smaller town and city. We are tempted to bring this subject up again because we really believe it is of great importance.

During the past few months I have had the opportunity of observing many theatres and one of the things that I particularly noticed was that the average successful theatre had a large and welldeveloped mailing list. I never miss the chance to draw the manager into a discussion on this subject because I always want to feel that the suggestions incorporated on these pages actually contain some value and are based upon methods successfully used in other theatres.

Find room for a small writing desk in your lobby, your promenade, your ladies' room (not the men's room, because the boys will use it for a joke) or in fact anywhere that is convenient and will attract attention. Place request cards, pencils or ink and if possible station an usher close by. Push this idea for all it's worth and build up a mailing list that will carry with it the conviction that when you send out an announcement, you have reached the greatest portion of your patrons or theatre-going public.

Keep plugging it through your programs, because I'll assume that you do have a weekly program, (most every "real" theatre has). Use a trailer on the screen. Just keep calling attention to it all the time and every letter received from a patron, regardless of the subject written about, should mean another address for the list.

But "kill" the dead wood and keep it alive with new names.

very long that this showman is mounting the ladder rapidly, and we expect great things from him.

Thank you, "F. C." for keeping us in mind, and don't worry about your not being missed, we miss any livewire showman who is a member of our organization and doesn't keep in touch with us, but we do appreciate the fact that many of them are busy men and have a lot of responsibility, so if they just follow the Club pages-OK.

"Good Work, Boys"

The Fox Thrift Book Drive continues unabated around the Metropolitan Playhouses in New York and their offices have just announced that the first prize was captured by Harry Moore, Manager of the Savoy Theatre in Brooklyn; second prize by H. J. Rice, who manages the Fox Theatre, Brooklyn; and third prize by Morton Green, Manager of the Crotona Theatre in the Bronx.

According to reports Mr. Moore generously divided the prize money among the staff, which helped put the sales over.

The extensive campaign ran for about a month and a half and practically every Fox Metropolitan theatre dug in to see if they couldn't grab off one of

We want to congratulate the three showmen who "copped" the honors, and we would like to know a whole lot more about their activities.

"An Advt. Angle"

It has been suggested by many managers that wherever possible the name of the town or city be worked into the theatre's advertising. This is a mighty good suggestion because we have tried it many times. We cannot say with any particular success because who knows what percentage of business can be credited to any particular form of advertising? But it is eye-arresting to every reader of your local paper and they always like to see their town's name at the head of anything. Such captions as "The greatest show in Blankville"—"Blankville's theatrical event"—"The picture that has all Blankville roaring"—and many more like them will always brighten up your ad. Use such lines in bold type. Make them see it and then rest assured that they will read the rest of your ad.

Shulman & Forster Doing Fine Work At The Fox-Eckel

Backed up by an unusually attractive theatre front, corking good newspaper advertising and many laugh provoking ballyhoos, Morris Shulman, manager of the Fox Eckel Theatre in Syracuse, N. Y., set about and succeeded in putting over the "Cock Eyed World" at that theatre.

The photo on the left will give you an idea of what the front of the theatre looked like and how attractively the displays were arranged. Incidentally, you will notice on the marquee the headline billing that Paul Forster, the assistant manager organist at the Eckel, ran for himself. However, knowing the fine work that Paul is doing up there, we can set your mind at ease at once by acquainting you with the fact that he IS a head line attraction at every performanc in the Eckel Theatre,

But then we didn't start this story with a view of telling you about Forster and his fine organ work, rather to tell you how he and Morris Shulman the manager sold the attraction to the Syracuse theatregoers, and that is what we intend to do.

There were many interesting angles to this thorough campaign, and needless to say, the picture played to terrific business that almost broke house records which would be an achievement at this popular theatre, because of the tremendous crowds they attract for most any attraction they are running. However they never miss up on an opportunity of capitalizing when the attraction that lends itself to proper exploitation and advertising presents itself, and this picture was no exception to the rule.

We are certainly glad that Mr. Shulman and Mr. Forster find the pages of the ROUND TABLE CLUB so valuable to them in laying out the campaign for the Eckel Theatre, and we are equally certain that their brother members and managers all over the world take great interest in reading about the activities of the Eckel Theatre and how they are selling the pictures in that live-wire city.

Sam H. Cohen Leaves Elsinore For New Position

Sam H. Cohen who was recently introduced as a new member and exploitation and publicity director of the Elsinore Theatre in Salem, Oregon resigned to accept an excellent opportunity offered by a large organization in Portland and Los Angeles.

The MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB is only too glad to extend to Sam their best wishes for his future success, and we hope that he will keep us posted on his future activities and moves.

We trust that when Mr. Cohen reads this little announcement, that it will be a little reminder to let us know where he is going to hang his hat, and also to recall to his mind that he is a member of this fast growing organization of showmen.

Will Conner To Help R. E. Charles Out In Chehalis

Will Conner, will be the new local manager of the Fox St. Helens Theatre in Chehalis, Washington.

Mr. Conner comes from Everett and it did not take him long to become enthusiastic both over the new theatre he is to operate and the town where it is located. R. E. Charles continues as general manager of the theatres in both cities for the Fox West Coast chain, but most of his time will be spent in Centralia which calls for his personal attention more often than St. Helenes.

Lots of luck, Will, and lets hear from you once in a while as to what you are doing to sell the pictures to the public.

Now, I ask you, what else can we say about a fellow that writes as snappy a letter as all that? Nothing? Well, you're right, but this much we will add, whether he likes it or not, and that is that Ray is a doggone good showman, and knows the business from A to Z. These little contributions represent but the smallest drop in the ocean when it comes to talking about his ideas for exploitation and publicity and we are certain that the ROUND

TABLE CLUB pages will have many more fine stories about Ray and his activities, (P. S. Listen, Ray, how about getting "Pop" to join?)

Is Theatre Your Prison?

Unfortunately most managers today devote every moment of their time to their theatre, when they should be getting around and doing some visiting. Developing the habit of calling upon brother exhibitors in neighboring towns.

Sit down and talk things over and then let the other fellow come over to visit you. This is the only feasible way that you can find out what your own immediate surrounding communities are doing.

The other way is to follow closely the activities of the different theatre managers through the columns of the CLUB pages in the NEWS, week by week, and above all you must always keep in mind that a portion of these pages are at your disposal. If you have anything to say, whether it be exploitation, advertising or theatre operation, here is the logical medium through which you should express yourself.

M. Meriwether, resident manager of the Concord and Roxie Theatres in Concord, N. C., is now getting set for what he hopes will be the greatest season he has ever had in any theatres under his management.

With the encouragement of his general manager, Roland G. Hill, of the Amusement Enterprises, we have every reason to believe that Mr. Meriwether will more than meet the responsibility that has been placed upon his shoulders and will come through with flying colors.

Our only hope is that in engineering his exploitation and publicity he will be guided by what his many brother managers are doing by keeping in close touch with their activities on our pages.

Incidentally, if he succeeds in putting something over himself, we are sure that Mr. Meriwether will be glad to forward the details to the CLUB so that our other members and readers will have the opportunity of seeing and reading what he has done to increase box office receipts. That is what we are all banded together for and we are sure that the pleasure and profit is mutual.

Let's hear from you again real soon, Mr. Meriwether, and be sure to let us know what is doing theatrically down your way. Thank you.

Many showmen are con-Frank Boucher Con- stantly complaining that they cannot work out single or double truck newspaper tieups unless it is on a particular picture that lends itself to merchants cooperative advertising.

For as long as the ROUND TABLE CLUB has been in existence we have continually preached and constantly tried to drive home the fact that any idea regardless of what picture it was worked on could be rehashed or revamped to fit any picture that you want to exploit.

In discussing the more recent activities of Frank Boucher, City Manager for the Stanley Warner Theatres in Hagerstown, Md., we bring to light a full page merchant tieup which is particularly attractive both from the standpoint of the layout and the wording in connection with the different merchants who took space on this page.

Frank Boucher's activities are not new on these pages, but the items we publish about him generally constitute a lot of original angles which other showmen have found profitable to follow.

Another point that we would bring out at this time is that when the Kiwanis International Club held its convention in Hagerstown, practically every well known merchant carried some sort of a complimentary ad, and not to be outdone, Frank made sure that his theatres would be properly represented in the newspapers, the ad welcoming the Kiwanis Club appearing in the upper right hand side of the local paper and measured four columns by ten inches each.

Arthur K. Grayburn says:

"I have been very interested in reading the activities of the members of the 'ROUND TABLE CLUB' for some time.'

> Manager, Colonial Theatre, Port Arthur, Ontario.

In looking through some more of Frank's newspaper advertising, we rather suspect that he has a leaning toward exchange mats, but we doubt whether anyone will question the attractiveness of these layouts, and we are certain that they are getting the attention that Frank expects of them when he makes up his ads.

Before closing this little story about Boucher, we are reproducing here a very neat card which was printed in gold letters on a soft white background and measured about $\bar{3}\frac{1}{2}$ x 5 inches. These were placed in all the hotels on the tables in the dining room and restaurants, and there is no denying the fact that it is the type of advertising that will command, not only attention but respect. And it is distinctly a credit to Mr. Boucher and his wide awake showmanship.

Let's hear some more from you Frank, and don't mind our condensing your stuff as we have in this presentation, because the mail is getting heavy, and we want to do justice to everything that comes in.

CANADIAN MEMBERS

In response to many requests we shall again run a special section devoted to the activities and contributions of our Canadian members.

"Shoot" your stuff in right away and try to include photos of what your theatre front, ballyhoos, etc., look like.

The special section is scheduled for some time during the month of November. "So step on the Gas"—

D. F. Stevenson's Exploitation Is A Model For Others

The same type of highpowered exploitation and publicity which distinguishes the larger and better known theatres is exactly the type of staff that D. F. Stevenson of the Lincoln Theatre in Trenton, N. J., is continually engineering for that theatre.

The ROUND TABLE CLUB pages have from time to time, described some of his activities and also reproduced many of his newspaper ads, that are generally outstanding in many ways.

At this time, we would call your attention to another type of tieup which Stevenson has successfully worked out for the Lincoln Theatre and one calling for marvelous cooperation because it meant attracting the attention of housewives and their families, direct to the theatre.

In the cut which we show you here, this was a reproduction of an ad, four columns wide by 11 inches deep, and by reading the copy on this ad, you will readily note the play that the theatre gets from this advertisement.

Of course, these tieups are contingent upon a proper cooperative spirit, and are generally conducive of cementing a great amount of good-will between these chain stores and the theatre.

Another angle on this commercial tie-up was the display of many Trenton-made products at the Lincoln Theatre, and we show just one of the many ads which called the public's attention to that fact,

The special herald turned out by Mr. Stevenson is worth reproducing for several reasons, first the front cover with the $7.70 tickets printed on them made them a little different from the general run of such heralds, and therefore worth going into. The inside spread, while consisting of practically exchange cuts, was nevertheless used with good judgment and the little wording that was added was all conducive to carrying out the idea that Stevenson had in mind when he worked out this copy.

On his campaign for "Broadway Melody," a marvelous tie-up with Laggett's Drug Stores, brought about their furnishing 2,000 capsules in which was inserted a piece of printed matter calling attention to the picture as being an excellent potion for the betterment of the health, and these capsules were placed in small envelopes reading "For External Use Only" and containing the prescription "R" in the upper right-hand corner,

In addition, they promoted a huge electric sign which was erected on an office building right on a main street corner about two blocks from the theatre.

Music store window displays, a Fashion Show in one of the larger department stores, Charlie King shirts by a livewire haberdasher and several dance orchestras playing the music from the show, all constituted part of Stevenson's thorough campaign.

In connection with "The Cocoanuts," Mr. Stevenson arose to the occasion and unlike many other showmen, he did not go down into the cellar and weep because it was State Fair Week, but instead tied up with the Fair management whereby 20,000 heralds were inserted in the racing programs, and placed in all the parked cars on the Fair grounds. In addition, two men paraded the crowds, each dressed in pajamas, and carrying umbrellas on which was reading matter calling attention to the picture and the theatre as well as the play date.

One of the theories upon which Stevenson has worked for a great many years, is that with every super-attraction, they endeavor to erect an unusual marquee and lobby display, believing that the money involved is well spent. He thinks that the outside dressing of a theatre is a dependable sign upon which a patron can just about expect what to find on the screen, and there are many other outstanding showmen who believe the same as he does.

We are certainly very grateful to "D.F." for his fine cooperation and CLUB spirit and we want to assure him that the pages of the ROUND TABLE CLUB will be glad to carry his message to his brother showmen. We would like, however, to have a photograph of this live-wire showman, so that his next story will also give the boys an opportunity of seeing just what he looks like. How about it, Stevenson, can you manage it?

Said and Did, in

Yes, it is sad to relate that Harold has taken the vows personal corporation (the "Mrs." usually holds the For Men Only other 90 per cent).

But this does not detract from our set purpose of writing this story to convey to Harold and his wife our heartiest congratulations for a healthy and happy life-time.

But, of course, who ever heard of a story about a showman without mentioning anything about his activities, and right off the reel after getting back from his honeymoon, he comes out with an envevlope boldly reading "For Men Only, We Dare You To Show This To Your Wife." (As illustrated in this story.)

However, it was not so dangerous, and we don't think the wives got excited when the card on the inside was revealed, and we can only offer it to you to give the cash customers something to laugh and to talk about the theatre.

Another angle that we like that Harold has recently worked was on "The Girl From Havana" when he issued this imitation railroad ticket and since this comes along shortly after the one that Metcalf used, you probably all know how we feel about it, and the mere fact that we take the trouble and expense to reproduce it is sufficient endorsement that the CLUB feels it is worth your attention ..

We were certainly glad to hear from Kopplin again and we hope his "marital bliss" will not keep him from continuing his active membership in the CLUB.

Suppose you keep us posted, Harold, and let us know what is going on, and, by the way, can we have the extreme pleasure of publishing the first picture in a tradepaper of Mrs. Kopplin? Shoot one along, will you Harold, and we will be delighted to show the boys what a "good picker" you are. Oak?—Oak!

Local Opposition!

In the average smaller town you will always hear one universal complaint. The amateur theatrical shows and their effect on the box office. We might just as well protest against the weather getting hot in the summer as to protest against this necessary

And it is necessary because in our opinion it stimulates interest in the theatre, it creates a steadier habit of going to theatre, and if you want to take advantage of the situation you will help the idea along.

Suppose some local group decided to put on a play. Don't you think it would be good policy to volunteer them your help? Get them right into your own theatre on some arrangement that means money to you for a slow night. By all of this I don't mean that you should encourage these things, but if they must be, make them as much part of you and your theatre as you possibly can.

When the show is finally staged you will surely find that they have made known the fact that you and your theatre assisted in whatever capacity you did, and such publicity and good will is darned good business anytime.

I, for one, will never consider the average amateur theatrical as opposition. It is merely just part of the life of the town and must be accepted as such. Make it an asset and not a liability.

on our visit there in the summer of 1928 and we brought away from Steubenville many a pleasant recollection and memory of two very fine theatres plus a corking good showman in the person of Bill Hendricks.

In his letter he has promised to write more frequently in the future, and we are sure that he will keep to his promise.

Incidentally, we might tell you that he put over an unusual type of exploitation on "Rainbow Man" when he took advantage of the fact that he had quite a few old picture screens lying around both theatres, and these he securely fastened to buildings in various parts of the town with stereopticons located at strategic points opposite and had slides flashed on the sheets,

This stunt he used in advance and during the run of the picture, and assures us that it certainly attracted plenty of attention. Lest you believe that the promoting of stereopticon machines is difficult, take Hendricks word for it that it was a cinch, because almost every high school or Y. M. C. A. has one which can be secured providing you are working properly with those institutions and they are willing to assist you.

A corking tie-up on the "Sophomore" was the use of a high school football team-having them run signals down the streets at busy hours—four or five of the boys with banners on their backs announcing the attraction and the theatre. In this respect they secured police protection for the boys, and inasmuch as "Sophomore" is timely right now (and ties in with football) it was a very happy thought for Hendricks to capitalize on this angle.

Glad you like the CLUB emblem pin, Bill, and don't forget we are going to look to you to keep to your promise about more frequent communications, and by the way, Hendricks, we don't recall having a photograph of you on record here, and would certainly like to have one by the next mail.

"Good-Will Plans"

Now is the time to start planning your annual Christmas Show for the kiddies.

Don't wait until your opposition beats you to it or it is too late to get set.

Work it in conjunction with your local newspapers, Chambers of Commerce or Welfare Organizations active in Kiddie Work.

And, also, don't forget that Thanksgiving and Christmas opens up another channel for community work in the way of "Old Clothes Matinees" and special performances in the morning at which the admission is some article of cast-off clothing or a toy. Even a grocery or vegetable matinee works the same way.

Oh, hell—why should I have to go into all these details. Every doggone one of you know that there are a million angles to these marvelous stunts and if you are not alive to their value—shoot me a wire and I'll donate a push-cart—then you can start in business for yourself.

Ballyhoo Gave City Some Real "Belly-Laughs" If you happen to be talking about live-wire exploitation men, you had better step up and make the acquaintance of Mr. Charles J. Brennan, managing director of the Rialto Theatre for the Stanley Fabian outfit in Newark, N. J.

As this photograph will show, he put over a "pip" with "Three Live Ghosts" by the use of a trick flivver, which every once in a while kicked up its front wheels, and bumped along on its rear ones, (the three figures draped in white sheets lent the proper atmosphere).

Frank LaFalce, director of publicity from the Warner Theatres in Northern N. J., really planned the stunt, but it was Mr. Brennan's showmanship that successfully executed it. This automobile would travel a short distance along the main business street, then "pop" up and run on its rear wheels with the front of the car in the air. Three ushers from the theatre represented the ghosts. They rode around making laughing noises with kazoos.

It gives us great pleasure to welcome Mr. Brennan to our fast growing ranks of showmen, and we will look forward with great delight to publishing his contributions as regularly as he sends them in. But don't forget our former request, Charlie, we would like to have one of your own photographs with your next letter. How about it?

Are You Invisible?

THIS is the age when we should be seen as well as heard. Don't crawl away into the cellar and do the disappearing act.

The Managers' Round Table Club was created so that exhibitors all over the world could exchange ideas and suggestions for improving business and theatre operation. But we also want to see what you look like.

We are just as anxious to publish your picture as we are to print your story or "stunt"; so, please see that we receive your photo as soon as you can send it on.

COLOR at the price of black-and-white

Eastman Sonochrome Tinted Positive Films were developed specifically to add color to sound pictures at low cost. They do just that. The sixteen subtle atmospheric tints, bringing new color moods to the screen, are so adjusted that they give musually faithful sound reproduction. Yet the films cost no more than ordinary black-and-white positive.

PARAMOUNT NEW SHOW WORLD CHAMPIONS

Dr. Chuckle and

Mr. Hide

¶ Exhibitor Dr. Chuckle (he cures blues) chuckles with pride at the talking short subjects on his screen. His audiences roar with pleasure. It's music in Exhibitor Chuckle's ears—and cash in his till. He knows it pays to book the best—CHRISTIE TALKING PLAYS. ¶ Exhibitor Hide runs for cover when his shorts come on. He passed up the Christies. He didn't think quality counted in one and two reels. He's learned different now — from his audiences—and how! ¶ Here are four more big reasons why CHRISTIE TALKING PLAYS are acknowledged the class of the shorts market:—

"DANGEROUS FEMALES"

Starring Marie Dressler and Polly Moran (hits in "Hollywood Revue"). There's golden laughter in these gals.

"HE LOVED THE LADIES"

Starring Taylor Holmes, well known stage and screen star. With Helene Millard and Albert Conti. Why wives step out!

"THE FATAL FORCEPS"

With Ford Sterling, Bert Roach and Will King. Sterling talking is twice as funny as ever.

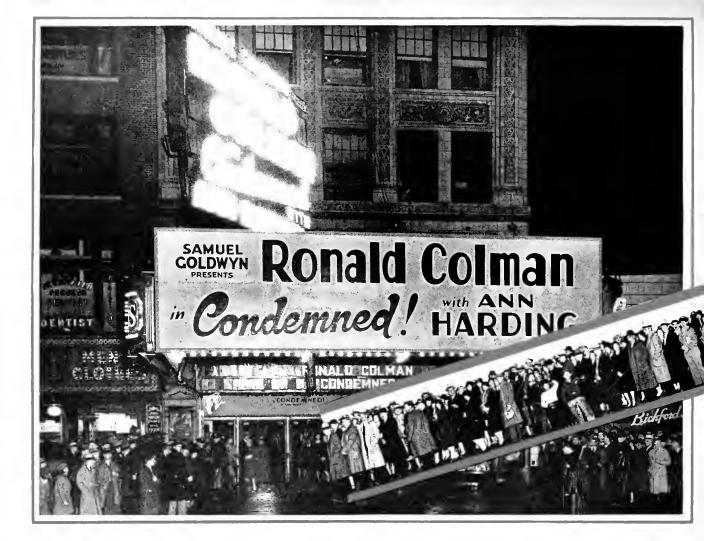

"THE DANCING GOB"

Starring Buster West. With John West and Walter Long. Famous vandeville headliners in a merry melange.

Samuel Goldwyn and Ronald Colman have again stirred New York picturegoers with their latest all-talking production.

At $2.00 top "Condemned!" is playing to capacity business at the Selwyn Theatre in New York City where it is booked for an indefinite engagement.

"Bulldog Drummond" set up new records for box-offices all over the country. "Condemned!", cramful as it is with sure-fire audience appeal, proves itself a tremendous sequel. Laughs, thrills, drama, action, heart interest—"Condemned!" scores from every angle. It's a picture in a thousand.

BROADWAY FALLS INTO LINE

for New York's Greatest $2 HIT!

"Marvelous!" Said the Critics

AMERICAN: "A marvelous talkie. Will attain greater popularity than 'Bulldog Drummond.' Easily one of the finest pictures of this or any year. You Must See It."

NEW YORK DAILY NEWS: "Ronald Colman scores new hit. Should keep vast army of Colman fans bubbling over with enthusiasm."

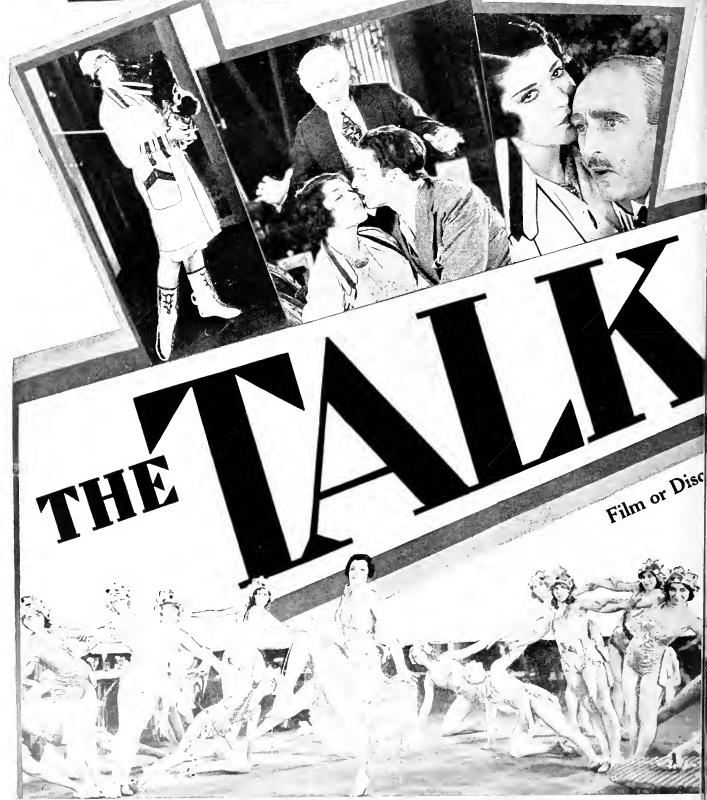

TIMES: "Seldom has any motion picture proved as stirring. It makes one keep ones eyes always fastened on the screen."

GRAPHIC: "The best work which Colman has contributed to the screen. Surpasses anything which Samuel Goldwyn has ever distributed on celluloid."

POST: "A tense and gripping story. Cheering and hat-lifting is in order."

MIRROR: "Still the most attractive hero in the movies."

WILLIAM BOYD "HIS FIRST COMMAND" with DOROTHY SEBASTIAN Directed and Adapted by GREGORY LoCAVA RALPH BLOCK

William Boyd "Preferred" is one of the safest buys on the film market today. This is not a speculative stock but a sound dividend paying investment.

Sharp-shooting showmen who bought William Boyd in "Dress Parade" and "The Leatherneck" are forming a pool to buy in on Boyd in "His First Command" just as soon as released on the market. These astute buyers know that Boyd is a sure-shot in this type of picture. As a Cadet and as a Marine, Boyd hit the highwater mark in real values. As a dashing Cavalryman, with the colorful and spectacular U. S. Cavalry and historic Fort Riley as a background, Boyd eclipses his remarkable record in brass-button roles in a virile characterization with a fine comedy touch, in a gripping military romance with a crashing climax.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN PICTURES!

COLOR and SOUND have been combined successfully in outdoor scenes.

In this remarkable sequence two full regiments of cavalry and two mounted bands in action are shown in one of the most beautiful and inspiring sights ever brought to the screen.

HISTORY IS BEING WRITTEN

N EW YORK, except in limited circles, doesn't realize it, but at this moment all over the land a chapter is being fashioned in the chronicles of the industry.

The business is on trial. Not figuratively, but literally. Out of what happens between now and the day on which Federal Judge Thacher issues his final decree in the matter of arbitration, much in futures hinges.

The court has determined that arbitration, in principle, is a time-saver and a sane business practice. "The system has been reasonable, but has several flaws", the bench states in essence, declaring further that arbitration and the standard exhibition contract both have directly violated the Sherman anti-trust laws.

The significance of the decision to us revolves largely around the important fact that in Judge Thacher's opinion the machinery can be readjusted to comply with the Federal statutes. He suggested, if you will remember, that this be done.

It is being done, but until the time arrives when the new formula is acceptable to the government first and the industry secondly, the business stands in the docket. Washington is scrutinizing current events carefully and upon what it learns will its final attitude be determined.

The Theory Is Sound

In our opinion, no responsible factor in in this business, regardless of the branch, can successfully argue against arbitration in the abstract. Against the operative methods, there is considerable to be said on both sides. The reasons are many.

Between sellers and buyers of motion pictures, the spirit of distrust is deep-rooted. The salesman is usually viewed in the light of a gyp and the exhibitor something worse.

Fundamentally, sales managers are responsible, since they insist upon quotas and care little how the sales branch manager or the salesman gets them. So the exhibitor is usually socked until his resistance gives out. The theatre man, on the other hand, buys and overbuys knowing full well he is loading his house with pictures he can never play. Often, his only objective is to keep them away from his opposition.

Too Much Of The Personal

Always at cross purposes and too frequently blinded by individual viewpoints, it becomes inevitable that discord will arise. Each fellow concerns himself primarily with his own problem and, in the shuffle, the protection which the entire industry deserves is hurled into the discard.

The Film Boards, worthy institutions undoubtedly, are a constructive force if their operations are kept in the clear. Honestly operated on a well-grounded basis of understanding and fair play, they belong. Reared on any other foundation, they are doomed.

If they go and carry with them arbitration, the prospect facing the business is an unhappy one. For this, there should be no occasion. Film Boards and arbitration can be and should be operated with integrity, vision and understanding. If the components part of the industry appreciate this and shape their attitude and their actions accordingly, if by their deeds the Federal courts are convinced of their desire for fair play, the chaos that threatens may be averted.

If short-sightedness, politics and plain irresponsibility run rampant, the final chapter will spell trouble and money—much more than is generally realized.

KANN

An Insider's Outlook

N the days of B. S .- Before Sound or pictures for that matter—Richard the Third, found himself in a jam. His best way out was a horse. Good old Dick knew he was in a spot and so was willing to swap his kingdom for a lively specimen of four-legged horseflesh. And, while all this happened too far back to recall dates and things, the predicament today of Adolph and Jesse, Bill and Nick, Carl, the three Joes, Harry, Abe, Jack not to overlook the others is about the same except that it's stories instead of horses.

For the idea market, it seems, has gone decidedly bearish. Don't take this forum's word for it. Even a casual scrutiny of the current crop of talkers will convince you that they are being built around something resembling nothing. The problems crying for attention may be many, but what is more vital than this?

Courtroom dramas are out, backstage stories are washed up, and mystery dramas don't mystify any more. What next? There's the troublesome question. No-body knows, yet everybody guesses. And while the boys are attempting to solve the riddle, more and more junk film threatens to engulf the poor, unsuspecting public. It's all very sad.

This Is Refreshing

That old kickabout, the two reel comedy, is faring far better today than for years past. Educational says so and offers to prove it. The evidence: For ten weeks straight and at various Broadway theatres, Mack Sennett has crashed through with a talking comedy. In Kansas City one day last week, fifteen theatres played Educational comedies day and date.

Kansas City may be Kansas City, but Broadway is New York. Three years ago there wasn't more than a handful of comedies a year that made the big street grade. Think that over.

Strange Bedfellows

These are funny times. Some of the high hatters are minus head pieces. Sizeable fortunes are scattered in scraps of paper all over the stock exchange floor. The bulls, in many cases, have turned to lambs.

Chaps pushed up the ladder by ability and circumstance and now down by the bursting of the Wall Street bubble are appealing to fellows they ignored these many years for help.

The old map is changing plenty these days.

STOCK exchange poisoning is like ptomaine, except that it lasts longer and hits you in the lining.

THE stock market has replaced talking pictures in film circles. There are a number of stories that would wring the heart, even of an exhibitor, and there are other stories with funny twists.

ONE chap admitted he was sleeping in a cellar, then, said he, "If I do jump, I have to jump up and won't get hurt.

T Broad and Wall Sts., closer to the graveyard than the river, stands a handsome building. Not very formidable, yet carrying about it an air of dignity. You find no name on the doorplate, but everyone will tell you that it is the House of Morgan.

Slipping into the industry's headlines and probably against its own wish at that comes the magic name. Morgan, you may not know, is the banking sponsor of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. which itself hovers in or about $1,000,-000,000 class. A. T. and T. is the parent company of Western Electric which, in turn, is the daddy of "Erpi."

Now when the Morgan firm is reported, as it has, financing two of the industry's representative companies in several of their important deals, the inference might be that A. T. and T. had something to say about it. And, further, if that is correct, the second conclusion might easily be that the electrics are at least edging their way directly into the picture busi-

It looks as if exactly that happened in the last few days.

The New Pest

Hollywood's latest brilliant idea is the dialect talker. Don't tell us you've never heard of the species? It's all for sweet realism's sake.

When the locale is somewhere out of the United States, or even in the Southwest where Spanish is the main drag, the characters immediately assume what Hollywood thinks is the proper dialect. The results, to date, have been both terrible and not a little bit sad. Audiences simply don't get the drift. Either do the play-

This being the day of producer-owned chains, the operator around whom this tale revolves, decided to sell. His deal called for a considerable block of stock in a company whose name, like the hero's, will remain unknown. Then came the stock debacle.

On the basis of the stipulated price, this showman might have gotten far more than he had bargained for. Only he didn't. He told one of the biggest men in the industry he would take his end share for share at the set figure. Regardless of what the tape read.

Big Electrical Interests Now Edging Their Way Into The Picture Industry

One About Jolson

Hollywood.-Al Jolson is credited with turning high hat. Knocking $5 and $10 premieres and all that. But here's a Jolson story that few know about.

A few Sundays ago, Jolson visited the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association sanitarium at Duarte, Cal. One of those unheralded affairs. Joely sang all afternoon. Upon leaving, he slipped a check for $10,000 into the superintendent's hand.

Merely a sidelight on one of the boys for whom the Hollywood hammer is working overtime.

U. A. Expansion Report Premature

Both "premature and unofficial" was the substance of a statement made to MOTION PICTURE NEWS this week by William Phillips, banker-associate of Joseph M. Schenck, in connection with the report that United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., was understood to plan expansion "in two important directions."

While not denying that the company might have future plans under consideration, it was indicated by Phillips that there was nothing definite concerning them.

Fox To Extend In S. W.: Hoblitzelle Confirms Deal

San Antonio.—Fox plans to extend his holdings in Arizona, New Mexico and the Southwest.

Formal announcement of the purchase of the Interstate Amusement Co. by Fox is now made by Karl Hoblitzelle. While the consideration was not made public it is reported here to be between $7,500,000 and $10,000,000. Interstate holdings include the Majestic theatres in San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, Little Rock and Birmingham, which will continue on a vaude-film policy. Hoblitzelle has been retained by Fox as supervisor.

Fox-Publix Tussle Is Seen In Niagara Falls

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—With recent acquisition by Fox of the Hayman theatres bere, and an announcement by Michael Shea, president of Shea-Publix Theatres, at Buffalo, that his organization had leased the local Bellevue and after Jan. 1 would build a 3,500-seat house costing $1,500,000, a tussle between the two chains is looked

A. T. & T. Reported To Have Been Behind Purchase By Warners Of Fox Interest In First National

The long predicted inroads into the film industry by big electrical interests are coming to pass, if current, unconfirmed reports are correct.

The latest rumbling is to the effect that the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. was behind Warner Bros. in their purchase of the Fox interests in First National for $10,000,000.

Kennedy Plans To Push Pathe

A re-organization of policy at Pathe is understood planned by Joseph P. Kennedy. During the stock smash in Wall Street when Pathe stock hit as low as $4 a share, Kennedy is reported to have bought up large blocks, the objective being complete control of the company, which is necessary before re-organization can be effected.

New Paramount, N. Y. Record Predicted For This Week

The combination of Rudy Vallee for a single week's return engagement and Clara Bow in "The Saturday Night Kid" is looked upon as certain to create a new record for receipts at the Paramount, New York, for the current week. The anniversary show which ended Thursday night hung up a good week's business but did not break the house record.

The present record of $88,500 is held by Vallee on his first appearance there with "The Letter" as the screen attraction.

Operator Trouble In Omaha; Quarrel Over Apprentices

Omaha-A clash between the local operators' union and the city council over an apprenticeship clause designed for a revised city ordinance has postponed a final decision in the framing of the law. Operators object to a proposal for the exhibitor to hire an apprentice and force masters and journeymen into an apprenticeship contract. The matter has been pending for

Confirm Myers Marriage

(Woshington Bureou, Motion Picture News)

Washington—Abram F. Myers, president of Allied, was married to Mary G. Connor, an assistant attorney general in the Department of Justice on Oct. 13 after which the couple left for a honey-moon in Honolulu, it was learned here Thursday. Myers' wedding was exclusively reported in Motion PICTURE NEWS several weeks ago, Reports to the effect that the Fox finaneing has been forthcoming through banking houses handling A. T. & T. business, have long been in circulation and not denied. Should this be correct, it would mean that the A. T. & T. has transferred $10,000,000 from one pocket to another, but in so doing managed to step actively into the affairs of two big film companies.

The story is that the electric interests were alive to the opportunity that presented itself through the recent stock market crash and merely stepped in to take advantage of it.

Goldman, Sachs and Co., the Warner bankers, are reported to be the object of attacks in the Wall Street battle of monied interests. The report is common property, although unverified. Fox, a few weeks prior to the market crash, is said to have refused $24,000,000 for his First National holdings. With the near panie on, he accepted $10,000,000. Warner bankers are said to have been unable to advance the money that would give them complete control of First National. The information, it is reported, was relayed that the finances might be had from another source. This source is reported to have been the house of Morgan.

Whether the Warners accepted Morgan financing is not known, but they did buy the Fox stock.

Fox, it is also stated, is in the market buying in Loew stock in order to mass so great a majority of shares that the government will not be able to halt the proposed merger of Fox and Loew's.

New Sound Control Improves Quality

Los Angeles.-Sound reproduction, one of the most serious of bugaboos in theatre operation today, will have less opportunity to cause trouble from now on.

In the place of volume control from the projection room, Fox West Coast Theatres is experimenting with an attachment rigged up in the last row of the orchestra which permits full control directly from the auditorium. A sound engineer is placed at the controls and maintained there throughout each performance. The innovation was first tried at the Carthay Circle while "They Had to See Paris" was playing and also at Grauman's Chinese. Harold B. Franklin is seriously considering extending the idea.

Fox Metropolitan On Eve Of New Theatre Expansion In N. Y.

With 100 theatres in Greater New York now assembled under its banner, Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, Inc., is mapping plans for another drive in the metropolitan territory. No number has been determined upon as the ultimate objective, but the expansion program is expected to be a heavy one. In the immediate offing is understood to be a deal for the Bratter and Pollack houses, numbering about fifteen and located in Northern New Jersey and in districts fringing the New York City line.

Harry Crull, general manager for B. and P. has been conferring with Joe Leo, president of the Fox Metropolitan, thereby adding strength to the report.

Geneva.-Fox Metropolitan Theatres, owner of the Opera House, will spend $300,000 rebuilding it. Stage space will be reserved for vaudeville. The house has been used for varied attractions.

Fox Invasion Under Way In Mid-West

Omaha-Fox continues the invasion of Nebraska and Iowa with acquisition of four additional houses. Two are at York, Neb., one at Beatrice and one at Council Bluffs, la.

The Ritz at Beatrice was leased from a group of business men who built the house a year and a half ago. Fox takes ionmediate possession. The York at York cost $250,000 and the New Sun in the same city was finished only six months ago at a cost of $300,000. The Strand in Council Bluffs is a 1,400seater, recently remodeled as an atmospheric house. These houses will be turned over to Fox December 1.

Predicts Fox Theatre Net For Year At $3,000,000

William Fox, as president of Fox Film Corp. and Fox Theatres Corp., predicts carnings of more than $6,000,000 for his theatre corporation next year. His estimate for the theatre net of the fiscal year ending Oct. 31 is $3,000,000, or a 90 per cent increase over the preceding fiscal year, and the equivalent of $15 a share on each share outstanding.

Fox Opening In San Diego Big Civic Event

San Diego.-Most of this city's population turned out to witness the opening of Fox' new $2,000,000 theatre on B Street, seating 3,000. Harold B. Franklin, Howard Sheehan and Harry Arthur were among those present. Seats sold for $5 in the orehestra and $3 in the balcony. It was San Diego's first "big time" opening.

As master of ceremonies, George Jessel introduced many stars and producers, including Betty Bronson, Ricardo Cortez, Raquel Torres, Victor McLaglen, Polly Moran, George O'Brien, Dorothy Sebastian, Louise Dresser, Sue Carol, Nick Stuart. Gus Edwards, Jackie Coogan, Bessie Love. Charles Rogers, Lila Lee, Lew Cody, David Butler, Frank Borzage and others.

The house will be under supervision of Harry L. Hartman, manager of Fox houses in the San Diego district.

"Stereoscopic Films Soon; Operators Ready"—Canayan

That third dimension projection "shortly will be the vogue throughout the entire industry." and that the industry need have no fear regarding the ability of projectionists to cope with new projection problems, were points stressed in the address of William F. Canavan, International president of the I. A. T. S. E. and M. P. Machine Operators, at a luncheon tendered him by the Projection Advisory Council at the Astor, New York, on Thursday.

The luncheon was the opening gun in a campaign to be carried on by the Council for the purpose of obtaining recognition of the responsibilities of the projectionist.

Speaking of the special qualifications of the good projectionist, Canavan said:

"Real showmanship is one of the most essential qualities for the real projectionist. He must be showminded in all that the term implies, with a background of theatrical experience which will mobile him with that inherent theatrical spirit—'The Show Must Go On.'"

Lester B. Isaac, president of the Council. was toastmaster. P. A. McGuire outlined the purposes of the organization. The open forum concluding the event was presided over by Charles F. Eichhorn.

Don't Be \boldsymbol{a} Robot Charles C. Pettijohn

RTHUR BRISBANE calls attention to the fact that a robot salesman is selling merchandise. Another robot at a distance answers questions; gives information as to the amount of water in a reservoir, etc. An airplane recently traveled from Cleveland to Washington with a robot gyroscope in charge of the controls until the moment of landing.

NOW Mr. Gifford, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, has a telephone that calls out in plain English the numbers dialed. The dial telephone which you have learned to operate can be arranged to tell the central operator what number you want in a voice as clear as that of any phonograph. Mr. Brisbane says "it takes a good imagination to suggest something that man cannot do."

R OBOTS are not men and there are certain businesses and professions which robots cannot and will never do the work of men.

R OBOTS have no imagination; no vision; and no temperament of their own. They do what they are told to do (sometimes); when they are set and keyed to it;-merely the routine. They do not create.

FOR these and many other reasons robots can never make a good motion picture. Robots might help in selling and distribution. There are probably some robots in that branch of the business today, who do not realize that they are robots.

R OBOTS cannot run theatres and exhibit motion pictures. A robot would be a failure as an exhibitor yet there are many exhibitors today who feel that all that is necessary for the proper exhibition of motion pictures is to receive a can of film and run it through projection machine.

HE sensible exhibitor "from now on," as the colored citizen remarked when he was asked how long he had been sent up for, will not be the robot exhi-bitor. The exhibitor who makes it his business to keep abreast of times, who looks ahead, who reads his trade papers, and draws his own logical conclusions from accurate information contained therein, is the exhibitor who will be in business "from now on."

R OBOTS will neither make, distri-bute, or exhibit motion pictures "from now on."

Don't be a robot.

This is a reprint of Pettijohn's editorial in the forthcoming issue of the Film Boards of Trade Bulletin. His advice to the exhibitor is so sound that his views are published in full.

Confusion Over Arbitration Rife; Awards Not Enforced in Many Cities

As Usual In Denver

Denver. - The board of arbitration here is still operating and exhibitors continue to serve. No trouble thus far has been reported by exchanges as a result of the Thacher decision and none is anticipated.

The arbitration board continues to hold regular meetings.

Awards Suspended In Illinois-Indiana

Chicago.-While arbitration is still in force in Illinois and Indiana, the recent ruling of Judge Thacher in New York has resulted in suspension of enforcements until careful study can be made of the final decree which is expected locally by December 15.

Claims of both exhibitors and distributors are being heard, but without resultant action. As against the deposit system of old, it is felt that at least ninety per cent of exhibitors in this territory prefer the arbitration system. Ludwig Siegel, Aaron Saperstein and Edward Brunell are the exhibitor members of the present arbitration hoard.

This territory, according to Edna Pfister, secretary of the Film Board, has probably experienced less difficulty between theatres and exchanges than any in the United States. She stated that there are no current complaints from distributors on the ground that playdates are difficult to secure and no difficulties over the failure of exhibitors to live up to contracts.

No Effort Made To Push Omaha Awards

Omaha.-No let-down in arhitration is noticeable in this territory, but awards are not being enforced. An average of twentyfive cases are being arbitrated here every two weeks, despite the Thacher decision.

While no effort is being made to enforce rulings, many exhibitors of their own accord are complying with the letter of the Exhibitor members are serving in arbitration as usual and, as a matter of fact, that M.P.T.O. of Missouri is on record as endorsing the present form of arbitration. No evidence has come to light that distributors are having trouble in securing playdates.

Northwest Pulls Out Of Arbitration

Seattle-The exhibitor association in the Pacific Northwest has withdrawn from arbitration, pending a discussion of the significance of the Thacher decision at next week's meeting of the exhibitor unit.

Exchanges report no difficulties with overplay dates.

Thacher Decree—Deposits May Return

Playdates In Some Instances Held Back By Exhibitors Pending

The arbitration machinery has been slowed down in many sections of the United States because of widespread indecision over the Thacher decision which ruled that arbitration and the standard exhibition contract are functioning contrary to the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

Playdate Scarcity Bothers Wisconsin

Milwaukee-Exchanges are baving their troubles getting playdates in this territory. In addition, they are in a tussle with the M.P.T.O. of Wisconsin over arbitration.

The exhibitor association has retained counsel because, it is claimed, the Film Board of Trade is arbitrating with a board composed of exhibitors who are non-members of the M.P.T.O. Two meetings so far have been held by this board, one on Nov. 4 and the other on Tuesday.

Henry Staab, executive secretary of the exhibitor unit, told Motion Picture News the general opinion had prevailed that a more equitable system of arbitration would be developed as a result of the Thacher decision, but that the Film Board, ignoring the unfair conditions outlined in that decision, proceeded to arbitrate without members of the M.P.T.O. These are the circumstances leading up to the retention of a lawyer by the association.

A number of cases have been tried since Judge Thacher made his ruling, but the general impression is that no effort has been made to enforce them.

No Interruptions Made In Arbitration In Southeast

Atlanta-If arbitration is disturbed elsewhere in the nation, the Southeast knows nothing of it. Notwithstanding the Thacher decision, plans are going forward for a regular meeting of the arbitration board next Tuesday. While E. L. Cole, secretary of the Film Board, is making no statements, it is known that several exhibitors whose cases are pending have been notified to appear.

L. B. Harrell, executive secretary of the Southeastern Theatre Owners Association, states he expects to appear as usual and represent members of the association who have requested his services.

New Agreement In Cincy; No Shut-Offs In Service

Cincinnati.—Credit committees notwithstanding, no exhibitor in the Cincinnati territory will be shut from service under the terms of a revamped agreement just placed in effect here. Exhibitors have, therefore, resumed their former places on the arbitration board.

In most cities, as revealed by a MOTION PICTURE NEWS investigation, arbitration is continuing without interruption although awards are not being enforced pending either a clearer exposition of the Thacher ruling or a final decree outlining the exact method under which arbitration is to op-

> Reports in New York were current during the week that play dates are not being designated by exhibitors, but investigation, in the main, shows this is true in isolated spots. Distributors claim less than two per cent of the entire exhibitor hody has built up any issues over the decision.

> Judge Thacher, in his decision held that arbitration was beneficial, although he pointed out its formula must be revised. This he suggested should be done and to that end attorneys for the Hays members and the government have already held a number of conferences.

> Guesses over the final terms of a formula agreeable to the government are many. Some executives see no way out other than an individual contract form for each distributor with a deposit clause reinstated for their protection. The element of duress which Judge Thacher held to be illegal in that wise will be eliminated, these opinions hold, if the exhibitor has a contract form other than the standard form to select if he is so minded.

> It is expected that the final decree will be made by Judge Thacher about Jan. 1,

Serenity Reigns In Northern Ohio

Cleveland-While the number of disputes up for arbitration has tripled over pre-vious years, due chiefly to controversies over sound contracts, arbitration in this territory is functioning without a hitch.

The Thacher decision has apparently caused no change, although every effort is understood being made to keep the relations between exhibitors and exchanges entirely cordial, at least during the period between decision and decree. The Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors Association serves on all boards where the dispute concerns one of its members, but does not sit when a case involving a non-member is under discussion. So far as can be learned, there is not a solitary instance where an exhibitor has refused to pay an award because of the Thacher decision.

Cleveland arbitration history reveals that only seven cases have been submitted to a seventh arbitrator and that all but two have been decided in favor of the exhibi-

Mississippi, Alabama Exhibitors Quit Arbitration; Hays Attacked

Seek Legal Steps If Necessary To Force Observance Of Thacher Decision—Charge Hays Broke Promise

New Orleans.—The Independent Southern Exhibitors' Association, composed of Louisiana and Missippi theatre owners and organized only a month ago, will seek a restraining order to prevent arbitration meetings in this territory in view of the Thacher decision handed down in New York recently.

At a meeting held on Wednesday, one hundred exhibitors from New Orleans and other sections of both states heard W. A. Steffes, of Allied, describe Will H. Hays as "the self-styled ezar of the movies and the greatest menace in the motion picture industry today so far as the independent exhibitors are concerned."

To Bat On Arbitration

Immediate action on arbitration is planned. A. J. Bethancourt of Houma, president of the exhibitor unit which incidentally has affiliated with Allied, is scheduled to appear before the local arbitration board on Monday, but R. J. Brunet, J. A. Dicharry and Henry Lazarus, exhibitor representatives on the board, will refuse to sit. Brunet declares to do otherwise would appear in contempt of Judge Thach-

Steffes at this point turned to Bethancourt and said:

"Don't appear at that hearing and absolutely refuse to be bound by any decision they attempt to make. Get any lawyer. Get a restraining order on the strength of Judge Thacher's decision to prevent the board from interfering with that decision."

"We have in this country to date about 11,000 independent exhibitors. A few years ago we had 15,000. We independent exhibitors have got to band together because of the broken promises of the Hays organization. I hope for an equitable contract. It will come to us if we stick to our guns. But we must eliminate Hays and so far as the contracts you have now are coucerned put them in your furnace. Judge Thacher's decision takes care of that.'

Flays Producers

Steffes charged the big producers and distributors were forcing small theatre owners to buy all their output whether they wanted it or not. He charged one company would not permit twenty-seven houses in Wisconsin to show pictures until those pictures were one year old, giving this in-(Continued on page 26)

No Enforcement Of Decisions In Iowa

Des Moines.-Arbitration is operating without a hitch in Iowa, although awards are not being enforced. E. P. Smith, president of the Iowa exhibitor unit, which is an Allied States affiliation, reports the situation is untroubled.

Margaret McGreavy, secretary of the Film Board of Trade, told MOTION PICTURE News no agitation has come to the fore as a realt of the Thacher decision. Exhibitor (Continued on page 26)

Kansas City Reports No Arbitration Rift

Kansas City.-All is serene in this territory, and arbitration is continuing without interruption, according to Leo J. Doty, president of the Film Board of Trade; Catherine Northern, secretary of the board, and spokesmen at the headquarters of the M. P. T. O. of Kansas and Missouri.

The Thacher opinion, Doty told a correspondent for Motion Picture News, has had no effect on the arbitration machinery which, he continued, is being carried on now as it has in the past with exhibitors willingly sitting on the board.

Miss Northern pointed out that Thacher had issued merely an opinion, and added, if the court had rendered a decision, arbitration could not be practiced in any part of the country.

The M. P. T. O. is complaint-proof, it declares. It conceded, however, that a few non-association members have registered kicks, but declared these complaints do not deal with individual eases but with the present arbitration set-up at large.

Seattle Silent; Move For Arbitration Accord Is On

Seattle.-This may be the day of sound pictures, but insofar as Scattle's Film Row and the arbitration system are concerned, silence rules supreme.

The local industry will talk about anything and everything under the sun but the Thacher decision. Exchanges have nothing to say. Exhibitors either have been struck dumb or are acting under legal advice.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS learns, however, that every effort on the inside is being made to iron out difficulties, and that the arbitration tangle is slowly unwinding it-

'Frisco Reports Harmony; Caution Marks Its Attitude

San Francisco.-Caution marks the attitude of the industry in Northern California. Thomas D. Van Osten, secretary of the Allied Amusement Industries of Northern California, has nothing to say about the Thacher decision other than to point out that procedure is harmonious with exhibitors willingly and freely serving as members of the arbitration board.

The Worldly Touch

A chat between producers:

1st P .- "There ain't anythin' in this town money won't huy."

2d P. (who has traveled a bit)— "Yeah, money's all right, but it won't buy you Cointreau-"

1st P.—"Is he that French guy that's directin' the Greta Garbo pitcher?'

Reported by Mollie Merrick, writing from Hollywood for the New York Evening World.

Eastern Missouri Board Carries On

St. Louis.-The Thacher decision has had no apparent effect in this section. The joint arbitration board appointed by the Film Board of Trade and the M. P. T. O. of Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois continues to function satisfactorily.

Locally there has been no friction on the question of arbitration, exhibitors generally feeling their interests are honestly safeguarded by their representatives on the arbitration board. Exhibitors are well up on their playdates under new contract as few cases of overbuying are reported in this territory. Hence distributors are having no serious trouble in setting in their pictures under existing contracts.

Portland Arbitrates, But Awards Are Not Enforced

Portland .- The Film Board of Trade is arbitrating as usual, but distributors are making no efforts to enforce awards against exhibitors, pending a solution of the arbitration situation created by the Thacher decision.

The attitude is one of watchful and careful waiting. The board is scheduled to meet again on the 21st, but it is understood the procedure will be perfunctory.

Doyle, secretary of the board, declares exchanges are experiencing no difficulty in getting playdates.

Berliner Acoustic System On Market

The Berliner Acoustic Corporation, with main offices in New York, has been formed to market an acoustical system invented by the late Emil Berliner. The system involves the application of resonant cells to auditorium walls by means of an acoustic ecment. Sound is said to be amplified in the cells, each of which acts as a "diaphragm" and, it is claimed, climinates reverberations and echoes

The system has been installed at the Guild Theatre in New York, the Stanley in Jersey City, and the Uptown Theatre. Philadelphia.

Warners And Publix After Circuit On Coast; Gauntlet Hurled At Fox

Cruising Sound Truck As Ballyhoo Used By Tiffany

Tiffany attracted considerable attention for the opening of "Woman to Woman" at the Globe in New York this weck via a cruising Stan-A-Phone sound truck with a collapsible screen over which a talking trailer was projected.

The truck was driven along Broadway and other downtown thoroughfares, with the sound equipment going at full blast. Wherever crowds were gathered the truck would stop and show the trailer. Tiffany's publicity department worked this stunt, as well as others by sending notifications of the opening to hotel guests, showing the picture in advance to women's clubs, broadcasting advance announcements over radio and newspaper advertising. Three days were available in which to carry out their campaign.

McCormack Title Set?

Hollywood—It is reported that "I Hear You Calling Me," will be the title of the picture John McCormack is making for Fox.

Bachmann In New York

J. G. Bachmann, associate producer for Paramount on the Coast, is in New York. His last picture was "The Vagabond King," starring Dennis King.

Beatrice Lillie Joins Fox

Hollywood.—Beatrice Lillie, English musical comedy comedienne, is understood to have signed a contract to appear in talkers for Fox.

Jannings In "Blue Angel"

Berlin.—Emil Jannings' first talker for Ufa is "The Blue Angel," now in production at Neubahelsberg under direction of Josef Von Sternberg. Erich Pommer is supervising.

Another In Loew Chain

Loew's Pitkin, at Saratoga and Pitkin Aves., Brooklyn, opens Nov. 23. The theatre seats 3,500.

Southern California First Invasion Territory For The Warners—Retaliation Seen In Publix Decision

Los Angeles.—Fox West Coast Theatres, for some time now the cock of the theatre walk on the Pacific Coast, faces stiff competition. The Warners are now rounding out plans for a wholesale invasion of Southern California with a theatre in every town where the company does not now have representation as the objective.

Publix, already well fortified in the key cities on the Pacific slope, looks the third

N. Y. Theatre Plum Goes To Warners

A hands-off attitude on the part of producer-distributor toward having the Beacon, 75th and Broadway, New York, which has been idle for the past year, was brought to a close this week when Warners announced its acquisition.

Reasons for passing np a 4,000 seat house in a heavily populated section of the city may be traceable to the theatre situation on npper Broadway. It is estimated that there are about 30,000 seats in the radius of a mile from the Beacon, Loew has the 83d Street, Fox has the Nemo at 91st St., and RKO operates the Riverside at 91st Street, and Keith's 81st Street. Then there are numerous smaller houses which provide additional outlets.

Warners had no direct representation in that part of the city, a fact which may explain the inside reason for acquisition of the Beacon which originally was planned as the second theatre in Roxy's proposed New York City chain.

F. P. Canadian Now Has 196 Theatres

Toronto.—The Famons Players Canadian Corp., the ultimate disposal of which still agitates Canadian film circles and a large portion of the public as well, increased its holdings by 50 houses during the fiscal year ending August 31, 1929, placing the total at 196 as against 146 for the year ending August 31, 1928.

This came to light when the company's annual statement was made public this week. Gross operating profit was $3,376,-845, or an increase of 124 per cent over the 1928 total. Net profit, after writing off $208,281 for sound equipment installations, was $2,043,849, or $6.24 per share on the 327,540 shares outstanding as compared with $1.44 a share for the previous fiscal year. This large increase was due to talking pictures, according to J. P. Bickell, vice-president of the company.

Assets are placed at listed at $25,717,298 or more than $5,000,000 greater than in 1928. Cash on hand is $1,622,859 as compared with $268,277 a year ago.

cities on the Pacific slope, looks the third contender for ultimate chief honors as the big mogul of exhibition in this part of the nation. In the Publix plan is seen a possible retaliatory move for Harold B. Franklin's invasion of the inter-mountain and Middle Western territories, where Publix is now extremely active. Both chains are about to cross swords in many spots, one in particular, Arizona, where Publix now controls Rickards and Nace, while Fox has acquired or will build in every spot where R. and N. operate.

The first step in the Warner program is the acquisition of McNee's Theatre, in Whittier, a house which opened six months ago and operated independently since then.

Here in Los Angeles, Warners Downtown, the former Pantages, recently became a two-a-day theatre shortly thereafter, the Fox Palace started operations as a two-a-day theatre for Fox West Coast. Both houses were old theatres completely remodeled.

In Hollywood, Warners Hollywood is only a few blocks removed from Granman's Chinese and Granman's Egyptian, both manner theatres in the Fox chain. The Warners, in addition, are going ahead with plans for a long run theatre on a site a stone's throw from their Hollywood, thereby providing additional competition for West Coast.

Schine's Election Wins Sunday Shows

Fairport, N. Y.—As the result of a special election financed by Schine Enterprises, Inc., Sunday shows have been legalized here. The result of the vote, 680 against 420, already has been reported by MOTION PICTURE NEWS. The ballot was in form of a mandate to the village board, which now becomes a village ordinance. Schine Bros. view the $300 election cost in the light of a sound investment.

A Caesarian Appellation

When Arthur Caesar left Broadway for the Coast he left behind him a lot of silence. Arthur and "talkies" were synonyms.

It didn't take Hollywood long to slip him the cognomen of "The Great Gabbo."

Gag that one off, Caesar!

New Building Standards May Result From Acoustic Survey

A conclusion which may have an important bearing on future theatre construction standards is seen in the results of an acoustical survey of 500 sound theatres by Electrical Research Products, Inc., which reveal that theatres with an almost square auditorium reproduce sound with the best results.

The survey, conducted by a special acoustic department of "Erpi" under direction of S. K. Wolf, was completed this week with no word of its activities becoming known all through the period of its func-

The department at present consists of a staff of seventeen. Behind its operations are the research facilities of the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the more than 750 installation and service engineers and technical inspectors of Electrical Research who aid in making surveys and collecting statistical material.

In every ease where an acoustic analysis has been made the department has offered detailed recommendations for treatment to overcome any difficulties caused by theatre conditions. The service is at present being maintained for "Erpi" customers without charge, but a price seale may be determined upon later.

Ready To Aid Exhibitor

The department will make suggestions for acoustic improvements. Complete files of data on all acoustic materials are maintained so that particular material or comhination of materials may be selected that is best adapted to the particular conditions in each theatre. These conditions include a consideration of the cost and appearance in addition to the acoustic requirements.

The work of the aconstic department is divided into two branches: analysis and development. The first is devoted to field work in the practical analysis of theatres. The latter is devoted to research work and the development of acoustic knowledge.

The work of the development branch has already resulted in important findings. It has been determined that the time of reverberation for best acoustic conditions in a sound theatre does not correspond to the figures which have long been accepted by acoustic authorities; and a new figure has been determined. This finding has been

Small Owner Held Tardy Sound Buyer

Atlanta.-The small town exhibitor is a "hard-boiled" customer when the subject of sound installation is brought up and a vast amount of missionary work will be necessary before they will whole-heartedly subscribe to sound. This is the consensus of opinion among sound equipment representatives in the Southeast.

Salesmen report that apparently the small theatre owner is not yet sold on the sound and that the majority are only making installations when they are forced to do so. The attitude, they say, indicates a belief that sound may not be stable and that whatever investment is in that direction now may within a year or two become a dead loss by reason of innovations.

Ten Million New Patrons, Says Hays

Motion picture attendance has been increased by 10,000,00 within the past year, Will H. Hays told the New York Board of Trade at a luncheon this week. He addressed the board on "Motion Pietures and Business," speaking "on behalf of motion pictures and those countless industries of which we are an ally."

Hays also cited the progress made by the industry when talking pictures issued their challenge to the trade, stating that strides since their advent are the swiftest and most complete success of any husiness development in the history of the world. "We met the challenge," he said, "with the necessary investment of $500,000,000 in two years, in the scrapping of old equipment, the purchasing of new and the development of new stories, artists and technique." Turning to financial and statistical subjects, Hays said:

"The total capital necessary in the industry has climbed to two and one half billion dollars distributed among nearly 100,000 stockholders of the great producing companies and thousands of others who participate in theatre ownership throughout the country. The industry employs 325,000 men and women. We use 150,000,000 feet of negative film in this country each year, and 1,500,000,000 feet of positive film."

United Artists To Hold Eastern Sales Convention

Sales managers of United Artists' Eastern exchanges will hold a meeting in New York Sunday with Al Lichtman, who is back in New York from the coast, at the helm. Movies Free Candidate Fails To Get Elected Pottsville, Pa.—Claude A. Lord, the "free movies" candidate for Mayor of Pottsville, who based his campaign largely upon a following he had acquired through operating free motion picture shows in this city for a num-ber of years, went down to defeat at the recent elction. Lord's activities in this direction have cut severely into Pottsville theatre trade and his cam-paign was accordingly watched with paign was accordingly watched with keen interest by local and nearby ex-hibitors. Starting his shows in a church he gradually extended them to street shows which included a program of features and shorts. Lord is an undertaker by trade.

La Falce In Charge Of New Warner Dept.

Frank La Falce has been placed in charge of publicity and exploitation of all Warner houses throughout the United States. The appoint-ment which involves ereation and operation of a new department in the Warner organization, pnts La Falce in direct supervisory contact of over 400 Warner theatres.

For the past three years La Falce has been in charge of advertising and publicity for the Warner theatres in New Jersey, joining the organization as a publicity man in 1926. He succeeded David Weshner, now general manager, as director of advertising and publicity.

Technicolor Will Build 2 European Labratories

Technicolor has definite plans for the establishment of at least two laboratories in Europe to meet the market requirements for pictures in natural color. A large plant similar to one of the two in Hollywood, will be built in London outskirts and the other in an important German city.

Marbro, Granada Acquisition Merely One Step In Plan To Dominate Country's Second Largest City

Chicago-B. and K.'s lightning-like moves are not yet over. Purchase of the Marbro and Granada, bringing to this powerfully-intrenched chain additional strength on the west and north sides of the city, is seen as one move in a series to make Chicago a complete B. and K. stronghold.

Ingram Series For RKO?

Rex Ingram will make a series of six talkers in France for RKO distribution in the United States, according to report. The first, "The Rio Graude" will feature Alice Terry and will have its New York premiere at a $2 house. Efforts to reach RKO officials for a statement proved unavailing.

Franco Closes Office

Franco Films, French company headed by Robert Hurel, has closed its New York office. The organization in July said it would release 20 pictures in this country. One, "Morgane the Enchantress" opened at the Craig in New York on July 20 and a week later it closed.

Fox Signs Four Directors

Hollywood .- Fox has signed four new directors. F. Richard Jones, Lynn Shores, Millard Webb and Alexander Korda are the quartette that have moved into offices at the local Fox plant. No definite assignments have been made.

Rothstein On His Own

Hollywood.-Nat Rothstein has opened an advertising and publicity bureau for producers, players, writers and directors Rothstein will handle the showmanship exploitation for a series of talking features to be distributed by C. C. Burr.

Not Buying Studio

Hollywood-Reports that James Cruze, Inc., will purchase the Educational studio are without foundation. The company is considering an arrangement for space there.

It is the north and northwest sides parts of town where the Publix subsidiary operates the Uptown, Norshore, Harding and Riviera and now the Granada, the competition is still considerable. B. and K.'s holdings are the largest in capacity and gross. Competition includes the Sheridan, Terminal and Portage Park, operated by Fox. On the north side are also such theatres as the Howard, independently owned, Ascher Brothers' Diversey, the Buckingham, Commodore, and several others.

Fortifying In Neighborhoods

B. and K. recognize the situation and proof of it is seen in the designation of ten Lubliner and Trinz houses as "Publix Greater Talkie Theatres," six of them in those two zones, in what is construed as a move to huild up the B. and K. prestige in a string of lesser houses.

With the purchase of the Granada and Marbro, B. and K. come into virtually complete control of Chicago's de luxe houses which, with one or two exceptions, are practically without class competition in their respective neighborhoods.

In the de luxe class there remains in Chicago only three or four high class theatres which, according to those in touch with the situation, are worthy to he considered as future possibilities for the B. and K. fold. Whether B. and K. has ambition to add these houses to their chain, can not he foretold, but is talked about. Even without these houses the strategic position which B. & K. occupies in various parts of the city is very formidable.

Weakest On South Side

On the south side, and this appears to he B. & K.'s weakest spot, the company boasts four de luxe houses. They are the Tivoli, Tower, Maryland and the Regal. The latter is a deluxe house in the negro district having the largest main floor seating capacity in the country. B. & K.'s outstanding opposition on the south side consists of three National Theatres houses, the Avalon, Capitol and the Stratford. The (Continued on page 26)

Rules Sound Prints And Scores Must Be Purchased Individually

Pittsburgh.—Contracting for synchronized prints does not necessarily include delivery of records necessary to play such pictures and both transactions are separate and apart, the board of arbitration with Alexander H. Schullman, as seventh arbitrator, has determined in the case of Vitagraph, Inc., against Authony P. Jim, of the Ohio Valley Amusement Co. owners of the Queen Aliquippa Theatre, at Aliquippa, Pa.

Jim, by ruling of the seventh arbitrator, must now accept synchronized prints of thirty Warner pictures for which he contracted on Sept. 9, 1929, and must make a separate deal with Vitaphone for the necessary records to play with the pictures.

Jim's refusal to play the pictures grew out of the fact that he was unable to purchase scores from Vitaphone at a price agreeable to him. He contended that Vitaphone and Vitagraph were the same organization and that the failure of former to accept his offer for scores could be legally charged as the failure of the latter.

The case was argued before the Pittsburgh arbitration board but as no decision could be reached, a seventh arbitrator was named. At the second hearing, with E. J. Finnigan representing Vitagraph, Inc., the distributor was awarded the verdict.

Reduces Sound Unit To 60 Lb. Portable

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood.—A portable sound recording apparatus weighing no more than sixty pounds has been designed and constructed by E. E. Clark, chief sound engineer of Pathe. The machine can be carried around without difficulty, and is synchronized with the camera so that it registers on the sound track simultaneously with the picture on the same negative. Five ontfits have already been completed, and it is expected complete units will be constructed for use of Pathe Sound News cameramen for use generally throughout the country.

The equipment is held to be especially suitable on location where the regular sound trucks weighing five tons cannot travel.

Butterfield Operates 80 In 30 Michigau Cities Now

Detroit.—The Butterfield chain is approaching its eightieth theatre in Michigan. Leases on the Rex and Majestic in Jackson have just been negotiated from the J. R. Frank Theatrical Enterprises. The new Michigan is under construction and when it opens, in that town, the chain will operate five houses in the city. Another house is making fast progress in Saulte Ste Marie and will be ready March 1. The chain will then operate in thirty Michigan cities.

Negotiations are under way for a new theatre in Muskegon.

Ottawa.—Famous Players Canadian Corp. are huilding a new theatre at Sudbury, Ontario, Canada.

North Carolina T. O. Annual Meet Dec. 9th

Charlotte.—The Theatre Owners Association of North Carolina will hold its annual winter convention at Pinehurst Dec. 9-10. Preliminary arrangements are now being perfected by Charles W. Picquet and Mrs. Walter Griffith, respectively president and secretary of the organization.

Among those who will attend and address the meeting are M. A. Comerford, Seranton, Pa.; Jack Miller, Chicago; Mrs. Anna Aiken Patterson, editor of Weekly Film Review, Atlanta; M. A. Lightman, Memphis, president of the M.P.T.O.A.; W. J. King, of the Milmarjac Seat Indicator, of New York, and Dr. Lee DeForest, of General Talking Pictures.

German Firm Demonstrates New Continuous Projector

(Washington Bureou, Motion Picture News)

Washington.-German projector designers are continuing experiments toward the ideal which has held sway there for several years, elimination of intermittent movement. According to a report to the M. P. Division of the Dept. of Commerce from Trade Commissioner George R. Canty, the newest development along this line was demonstrated in Germany by the A.E.G., German electrical firm associated with Klangfilm. It is a continuous type projector employing a series of mirrors, each moving on its axis as the film travels through so as to keep the image of each frame reflected in its in the center of the screen. The projector already has been installed experimentally in several theatres there, the report says.

Continuous type projectors of German design have been brought to this country in the past. An installation of one make was made at the Capitol, New York, during Roxy's regime th re, and was used for some time, but later removed and American machines re-installed. The principal claim in favor of the continuous projector is that the light transmitted is 100 per cent, none being lost by interception of a shutter, and hat there is less strain on prints due to action of the intermittent on sprocket holes.

Colman Coming East

Ronald Colman is expected in New York next week on a vacation.

What! No Women?

Hollywood.—John Ford, who is about to produce "The White Flame," announces that no feminine voices will be heard in this talkie because it will contain an all-male cast. Ford gallantly admits that women can talk, but that in this case tenors and baritones will have a monopoly. The plot centers about an unsolved World War mystery.

Expect Fur To Fly At Ohio Convention

Columbus.—Fur will fly in generous proportions when the M. P. T. O. of Columbus meets in annual convention here Nov. 13 and 19.

Not only will Charles C. Pettijohn of the Hays office and M. A. Lightman, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, speak, but Abram F. Myers, president of Allied, as well. On the eve of the convention, the impression is prevalent that the state unit, now maffiliated insofar as national exhibitor organization is concerned, will east its lot with Allied.

Four hundred exhibitors from every section of the state are expected, according to advance estimates made by P. J. Wood, business manager of the organization.

The convention will be called to order at one o'clock, on Tuesday, by W. M. James, James J. Thomas, mayor of Columbus, will extend the city's welcome and a response will be given by Vice-President J. J. Harwood, of Cleveland.

Annual reports of the officers will follow and then short talks by Myers, Lightman, Oscar T. Hanson, general sales manager of Tiffany, and M. Van Praag, general sales manager of Universal.

Dr. Lee DeForest will talk on "The Future of Sound Pictures." Theatre acoustics will be covered by H. A. Erf, chief engineer of the Selotex Company, while Col. E. P. Hawkins, of RCA Photophone, Inc., will discuss wide film and television.

The highlight will be a banquet held on the evening of the 19th. Harry Reichenhach will preside as toastmaster. Among those at the speakers' table with him will be Governor Cooper, John L. Clifton, Director of Education, Lightman, Pettijohn, Myers, and Maurice Kann, editor of Motion Picture News. Following the banquet a dance will he held.

On Wednesday, a final business session and election of officers will be held.

Sound Turns Third Runs To First Runs

Ottawa.—The problem of meeting exhibitor demand for sound and talking pictures has caused a direct turn-a-bout in at least one district. It was not so long ago that showmen, fortunate enough to have installed sound equipment, were clamoring that they could not obtain enough pictures to keep their apparatus busy. Now talking pictures have become so plentiful here that houses generally regarded as third runs are presenting first run features.

How About A Menu?

Hollywood.—Here's the latest gag that's clicking with the easy-laughers:

Being behind schedule, a director was being given hourly instalments of his script on the set, to be shot as soon as received. A boy rushes up and hands the director a sheet of paper. The director jumps into action and records half of it before he discovers it's a notice from the publicity department announcing the sale of tickets for a picture premiere.

Washington Ignorant Of Spanish Aid To Musicians

(Woshington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington. — Officials of the Spanish Embassy here declare themselves ignorant of reported steps being taken by their government to protect musicians against "eanned" music.

Press reports from Madrid state that the government, alarmed over the possibilities of sound pictures and mechanical music, has, or is about to, issue an official decree for the protection of musicians.

Drive Against Juveniles Threatens In Baltimore

Baltimore.—Exhibitors might be held liable for harhoring children under 14 or 16 years of age, it is thought, if school authorities decide that motion pictures have been responsible for many Monday morning absentees from the high schools of Baltimore.

Cheaper admissions prevail at carly matinees, truant officers have discovered. Theatre owners may be asked to talk over the situation with school authorities, it is said, if the absence continues.

Third Dimension Claimed Developed By Color-Art

(Hollywood Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Hollywood—Third dimension in motion picture photography is claimed by what is known as the Alder process which asserts its system is applicable to the standard camera loaded with regulation 35 mm. stock.

Color-Art Synchrotone Corp. has acquired the Alder patents and is using the system for "Mamba," now in production.

Injunction Denied; Fort Worth, Tex. To Continue

Fort Worth.—Despite an organized effort on the part of second run theatres in Fort Worth, to seek an injunction against the collection of the present $75.00 annual occupation tax, on the ground the fee is discriminatory, Judge Hal S. Lattimere in the Ninety-Sixth District Court, upheld the law and the present basis of collection is therefore valid.

Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle Already Set—Fox West Coast Has Additional Towns In Mind

Los Angeles.—Close on the heels of the successful debut of the Newsreel Theatre in New York come plans already formulating by Fox West Coast to extend the idea a la wholesale into the West.

A newsreel house in down town Los Angeles will be opened as rapidly as possible. San Francisco is to have one as well.

Newsreel Theatre Gross Holding Up

The second week of husiness at the Newsreel Theatre in New York continues strong. As a matter of fact it is above expectations. The second Saturday and Sunday of the operation of the house under the new policy beat the first. Monday and Tuesday, however, were slightly off, which was considered natural, Monday and Tuesday of the first week having been Election Eve and Election Day, respectively. Monday was 900 admissions and Tuesday 600 above the dope figures.

The gross for the first week was in the neighborhood of $10,250, which was $250 under the estimates made by MOTION PICTURE NEWS early in the first week.

The second program presented for the first time on Saturday held a number of holdover subjects from the first week. This the management soon discovered was a

San Francisco.—This city will shortly have a newsreel house, identical in operation with the Newsreel Theatre in New York. Fox West Coast will sponsor it. Theatre not selected as yet.

Portland, Ore.—A newsreel theatre, with a show running from forty to fifty minutes at 25 cents, is on tap for Portland. It is understood here Harold B. Franklin is now surveying the local theatre field for a likely house.

Seattle.—This city, as well as Spokane and perhaps Tacoma will have an opportunity to approve or not the newsreel theatre idea. Fox West Coast Theatres is to launch the experiment shortly.

Loew's Boston Net Off

Boston.—Earnings on Loew's Boston Theatres Co. for the year ended Aug. 31, 1929, after all deductions amounted to 91 cents a share on 154,884 shares of stock, in comparison to $1.24 a share on 154,290 shares in the preceding year. The net 1929 income was $140,853, in comparison to $191,165 for the preceding year.

Aimed for the Box-Office

"General Crack," John Barrymore's first talker, and "The Vagabond Lover," Rudy Vallee's first dip into the feature field—both hailed by their producers as something approaching the last word. Motion Picture News' reviewing scouts have seen them and this is a flash of what they think:

Carbon M'f'rs Seek Tariff Wall To Meet Foreign Trade

(Washington Bureau, Motion Picture News)

Washington.-An attempt to wrest from foreign companies the manufacture of carbons used in projection is seen in a decision of the Senate Finance Committ to approve an increase in the tariff rate on carbons from 45 to 60 per cent ad valorem. If this provision is adopted, the increase in operating costs of large theatres will be about one cent a day. Carbon imports for the first six months of 1929 totaled 4,576,630 pieces as against 4,486,428 for all of 1928 and indications are that the year will end with a total of 9,000,000. The only company now manufacturing carbons in quantity in this country is the National Carbon Company which, according to information supplied the Senate, is making a profit of only 1.6 per cent on its investment. The greater number of smaller mannfacturers have been forced to discontinne production and it is these companies which now seek a protective tariff wall.

According to figures which came to light in connection with tariff discussions on carbons, American manufacturers, National Carbon Co., sold 17,000,000 sticks of earbon in the United States in 1928, while the total amount of all foreign-made carbons consumed was 4,000,000 sticks. Thus American product got about 80 per cent of the business last year. Claim made by American manufacturers was that the margin of profit, due to foreign competition, was about ½ of 1 per cent.

The bulk of foreign-made carbon used in this market came from Germany, with Hungary another important contributor. Within the past year a French product, sold under the brand name of "Snow White," has been marketed here.

checked by a thorough study of more than 50 sound theatres which are known to possess excellent acoustic qualities, in addition to 500 theatres needing acoustic correction. To carry on its research and experimental work the development branch has fitted a theatre in Brooklyn as a laboratory where tests and examinations in good and bad acoustics are now carried on.

"The most important factor in good sound reproduction is the time of reverberation," declared Wolf in describing the work of his department. "This, defined in lay terms, is the length of time the sound remains audible.

The theatre in which it is most difficult to get good sound reproduction is the long, narrow theatre with a low ceiling. The presence of rugs and carpets improves sound reproduction because they not only absorb sound but lessen the noise caused by movements in the aisles. B. And K. Seek Chicago Control former two the first atmospheric theatres in Chicago, did a sensational business for many years, making drastic inroads on B. and K.'s Tivoli. At the present time, however, these three theatres along with the others in the National Playhouses, Inc., chain are in the hands of receivers, although still doing good business.

What might be designated as the only other de luxe house on the south side is Schoenstadt's Piccadilly, which under the careful guidance of the Schoenstadt Brothers, and because of its strategic location appears to be prospering.

B. and K.'s chief competition on the south side may safely be said to be represented by a number of smaller theatres, such as the West Englewood, Grove, Highland, Cosmo, Jeffery, R.K.O. Englewood, Kenwood, Shore, Chelton, Jackson Park and Harvard. In the group of theatres represented by the latter type B. and K. are conspicuous by their absence.

Powerful On West Side

On what may roughly be designated as the West Side, B. and K. have unquestionably eliminated their strongest competition in the purchase of the Marbro. The three key B. and K. theatres on the west side are the Paradise, Senate, and Central Park. These with the Marbro rate as de luxe houses, and in this district these theatres are without competition from the standpoint of size, beauty and comfort. Almost the same situation exists on the West side as does on the south side in that B. and K.'s competition takes the form primarily of lesser houses. Outstanding in this group are the houses recently acquired by Essaness Theatres, which organization under the direction of S. M. Spiegel, and E. Silverman has amhitious plans under way to become an important factor in the Chicago neighborhood house situation,

The move which gives the Publix B. and K. name to the old L. and T. houses makes the State at 5814 W. Madison St. the only competition furnished by B. and K. among the smaller houses.

Chicago's loop district, is essentially B. and K. Aside from the grind houses the only theatres not controlled are the Orpheum, which is operated by Warners, the Monroe, by Fox, the Woods and the State-Lake by RKO and the Castle by C. E. Beck.

The largest and finest theatres in Chicago are operated by B. and K. in the loop. These are, the Chicago, Oriental, McVickers, Roosevelt, and United Artists.

Worth Crowing About

The Pathe rooster is cocky about this one:

Nineteen years ago, on Oct. 21, 1910, to be exact, Frank Hawes opened his Puritan theatre in Roxbury, Mass., and his first program included the Pathe News. He has shown it continuously since then.

On Oct. 21, 1929, he exhibited his first issue of the Pathe Sound News. Since 1916 neither Pathe nor Hawes have found it necessary to sign a contract for the newsreel, illustrative of a rare mutual confidence.

The rooster asks you to match that.

functioning as usual, she adds.

There seems to be slight difference in opinion, however, over whether or not awards are being carried out. The Film Board states they are, but the exhibitor unit declares such is not the case. The playdate situation is reported on all sides as unaffected.

The last difficulty over arbitration in this territory occurred in August following the exhibitor convention at which a unanimous decision was made to refuse further participation until the standard contract was revamped. At that time, theatre owners did withdraw for one week after which arbitration was resumed.

The whole attitude at present is one of cantion. The Film Board is exercising extreme diplomacy in an effort to keep removed from the situation as much strain as possible.

Glenn Cross, of Battle Creek, Mich., an Allied leader, declared the standard exhibition contract was grossly unfair and said that unless independent exhibitors 'put up the money to fight the distributors they would be walking the streets wondering what became of their theatres in a short time."

"We've got a big man at the head of Allied, Abram F. Myers, formerly chairman of the Federal Trade Commission,' he continued, "and he's fighting for you. Back him up."

"The Trespasser" Hangs Up Rialto, N. Y. Record

Gloria Swanson in "The Trespasser" made a new record at the Rialto in New York last week with $67,800 on the week. This is $9,508 better than the $57,992 record made by George Bancroft in "The Wolf of Wall Street" early this year. The Swanson record was the high spot of the week on Broadway. Otherwise husiness was below the average.
"Sweetie," in its second week at the Paramount, managed to come through with $77,900, which gave the picture $162,100 on its two weeks at the house. Georgie Jessel in "Love, Live and Laugh," at the Roxy, got $105,214, which wasn't enough to let the feature holdover. "Flight," at the Capitol, proved a disappointment in its first popularpriced run on Broadway by getting only

"The Long, Long Trail," the first talking western of the out and out western type, played the Colony and got $11,172 in six days, the house switching its openings to Friday. Harold Lloyd, in his third week of "Welcome Danger" at the Rivoli, turned in $40,400, while "Is Everybody Happy?", at the Strand, showed $30,350. "Around The World Flight of the Graf Zeppelin," at the Cameo, did a corking first week, getting $8,642 and being held over.

Loug Run Status Changing

A general switching is under way on extended runs. The outstanding box office strength heing shown by "Disraeli," Warner's, is the talk of the street. This feature hit $23,935.50 last week, its sixth on the street. And this was top money for the long run pictures. "The Gold Diggers," in its tenth week, got second money with $20,612.50, while "Rio Rita," at the Earl Carroll, maintained a fairly even page coming at $17,784. "The Hollywood Revue," took $17,666 in its twelfth week at the Astor, while "Applause," at the Criterion, got $11,100. "Sunnyside Up," at the Gaiety, according to claims, is supposed to have done better than $17,000, but the general report is that it got $12,700 on the "Young Nowheres" left the Central after five weeks there getting $6,743.75 in its last six days, being succeeded by Irene Bordoni in "Paris." "Jazz Heaven," at the Globe, pulled out after two weeks at that house with "Woman to Woman" now playing for two weeks.

Compromise Looked For To End St. Louis Music Trouble

St. Louis.—A compromise is expected to terminate the musicians' strike here, returning orchestras to the pits on or before November 15. Originally the musicians demanded a renewal of the 1928-29 wage scale and working agreement, including the provision for a minimum orchestra based on the seating capacity of the house. Many neighborhood houses with sound are in a position to dispense with musicians.

mistake as repeats in the audience started complaining. Beginning with this Friday a complete new show goes on. During the week there were a number of day to day changes in the subjects shown, but there was no outstanding news wallop such as was delivered in the murder confession shown last week. Incidentally the running time of the show was cut from 53 to 44 minutes, the ultimate intention to make it a 45 minute grind.

One manner in which the interest is worked up on the outside of the theatre is the daily change of sign billing. A subject released one given day tops the billing, then as it becomes a day old it is dropped down in the billing and the new feature tops it. The idea of the sign advertising is much along the lines of the make-over on the front page of a newspaper for its various editions.

Developing Regulars

A surprising sidelight on attendance is the fact that the house is not getting the drop-in trade as was figured. There seems to be considerable interest and patronage from society people who come directly to the theatre instead of merely dropping in.

Courtland Smith, general director of the Fox Movietone, who is supervising the Newsreel Theatre expects that there would be at least 100 theatres of this type scattered throughout the country in another year. The Newsreel Theatres all over the country will give the picture industry an opportunity to reach almost 750,000 people daily with a speaking screen powerful enough to combat any propaganda that may be launched against the industry, he thinks.

"Virginian" Makes Los Angeles Record

Los Angeles.—Paramount's "Virginian" is making Los Angeles history for the Paramount Theatre by being held for a third week. It is the first time that any picture has accomplished this feat in this house. Last week's returns were $34,000, or a rating of 136%. A Christie comedy and a news weekly were the only support outside of an organ rendition.

Coming to Warners Hollywood for the first time here "Disraeli" also did a thriving trade for its first week, getting $29,000 and hitting a rating of 207%. Vitaphone Varieties were added attractions.

The same is true of the Grand Central. Skouras first run. However, last season theatre owners made no attempt at elimination, superfluous musicians were paid the regular scale of wages whether they were used or not. This season exhibitors sought to reduce their orchestra and to hire musicians when needed. Union officials refused to recede from the minimum orchestra clause demand.

Although the Ambassador and Missouri, operated jointly by Warners and Publix, were willing to retain their regular orchestra and to pay the regular union scale and bonuses, the union refused to sign because the St. Louis Amusement Company sought to reduce the number of musicians employed from 134 to 35.

When the union was unable to reach an agreement, operators and stage hands suggested that Joseph Weber, president of the Musicians' Mutual Benefit Association, he ealled from New York. At his suggestion the union authorized a committee to visit New York and settle differences with Warners and Publix.

It is understood the Ambassador, which uses Publix stage shows, has arranged to have Ed Lowry return as master of ceremonies. Since the strike he has moved into the Bransford, Newark, N. J. At the Missouri, Irving Rose and his pit orehestra will be fitted into the sound program. The stage show policy will also be resumed at several theatres, notably the Granada.

Since the strike members of the Ambassador, Missouri and Loew's State orchestras have found other employment. It will be weeks before the former organizations are entirely recruited again.

General Crack

(Warners-All Diologue)

Barrymore At Ilis Finest

(Reviewed by Edwin Schallert)

THIS production brings a new John Barrymore to the screen. The actor accomplishes the transition to the talkies with flying colors. "General Crack" gives promise of being his biggest success since "The Sea Beast.'

A romantic tale of middle Europe a century and a halí ago is told with Lowell Sherman as Emperor Leopold II of Austria; Marian Nixon, his sister, Maria Luisa, and Armida playing a gypsy girl. The story concerns the fighting general named in the title, and who holds the emperor under a whip-hand. He demands the emperor's sister in marriage, but is attracted to a gypsy band, and weds one of the tribe. One strong situation literally tops the other in the earlier part of the film, and the climax is reached when a traitor among the followers of General Crack is shot for bringing him news that the king and the gypsy girl are involved in

The Night Parade

(RKO-All Dialogue)

Crackerjack Fight Romance

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

JUST what the title "The Night Parade" has to do with this story is one of the mysteries of the picture business. "Ringside" which was the title of the play that Hy Daab wrote, of which this is a picturization, was much better fitted to the story. Be that as it may, it is a crackerjack picture with one of the best ring fights that has been screened in a long time.

The story deals with the prize ring and the hangers on of questionable character attracted by the sport. In this case it is a father who is the manager and trainer of his son who is the world's middleweight champ. The boy is training for a big fight when the gambling ring send a woman after him. She gets him and the night before the fight manages to have him at a party in her house.

The Vagabond Lover

(RKO-All Dialogue)

Money Film Due To Vallee (Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

14 THE VAGABOND LOVER," depending upon Rudy Vallee's wide popularity as a crooning band leader, provides a rather slim story background for the musical entertainment as rendered by Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees. As a production exploiting Vallee and his music, this can be billed heavily for substantial business. Little should be said of Rudy as a screen actor-he just isn't. But Marie Dressler scores heavily as an ambitious society matron, and is responsible for plenty of laughs. Danny O'Shea and Eddie Nugent stand out as the only members of Vallee's screen band that do any talking or acting, and both are capable. Charles Sellon, as a hick cop, is also good.

Vallee is the leader of a small town hand who has taken mail-order instructions from a prominent band leader. A case of mistaken identity arises where Vallee is taken for the maestro and has to go through with the deception.

Phantom In The House

(Continental-All Dialogue)

Excellent Program Value

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

THIS picture, made by an independent, proves as excellent a production as the average programmer turned out by the big companies. It is of the old style meller on which the picture business built its success, and seemingly is what the average picture audience still wants. It has a couple murders, a love story, and a happy ending. That's real picture stuff. The cast is fairly good, and the only weak spot is a former stage actress, Grace Valentine. But Ricardo Cortez, Nancy Welford and Henry Walthall are of value at the boxoffice.

The story concerns itself with a wife who is trying to further the welfare of her husband. She offers her friendship to a man who wants more than friendship and tries to get it. By the time the husband breaks into the room the man is dead. The husband takes the blame. When he is released from jail fifteen years later When he is released from Jan Brockety on the finds wife and daughter in society on the fortune his inventions have earned. But the fortune his inventions have earned. But the mother wants the girl to marry a title. The father tells his wife he will reveal all if she insists on the titled son-in-law. He has his way, but not until the favored young man is accused of murder and cleared.

So This Is College

(M-G-M-All Dialogue)

Corking Comedy-Drama

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

THIS is one that is sure-fire at the box office. Especially in the spots where the more youthful element make up the major portion of the audiences. It is a yarn about the college life of today, and while it has its inevitable football game this one is so well done that it is going to give the audience a great kick. In addition to the usual songs and band touches that are a part of all college pictures this one has a couple of special numbers that help a lot. There are also a lot of laughs.

In line with the old bigger and better policy for pictures this one has two heroes instead of one. A couple of college chums, who have shared everything, but their female conquests, fall for the same girl. They are both serious. it seems, and one requests the other to lay off. Fanny Hawthorn

(Excellent Pictures-Silent)

English-Made Melodrama

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

ANNY HAWTHORN" is an Englishmade silent production from the play "Hindle Wakes." It stacks up as a fair program feature for daily change houses that run double feature bills. It is also a costume play, that is, the action is laid in a manufacturing section of England where they are still affecting the styles of the 'istries. There is an effort ing the styles of the 'sixties. There is an effort to jazz the picture up with a couple of amusement park scenes, including a dance hall which is overshot, and a roller coaster ride. The latter is one of the best bits of the picture.

The clash of the new generation with the old is the theme. Fanny Hawthorn and the mill owner's son spend a holiday together at one of the summer places and then return home. But their secret has been discovered. The boy was to have married the mayor's daughter, but his dad insists that he shall do the right thing by the girl he has ruined. It works out fam-ously until the bride-to-be takes a hand.

If you run this alone you'll need a strong short bill with it with a lat of comedy.

Minstrel-Entertainment

(Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

A LTHOUGH presenting another backstage story where the girl keeps her husband on the right track after a couple of tumbles downgrade, this will prove entertaining because of several excellent performances and a gen-erous amount of music spotted via the minstrel show.

Helen Twelvetrees turns in a sincere per-formance; and Fred Scott does admirably with a talking-singing voice and with no previous screen experience. Scott has a voice that lives up to his minstrel billing as "the silver-voiced tenor." Richard Carle, former stage star, is excellent as the show owner and interlocutor. Two original song numbers, "Molly" and "Sweetheart," should become popular hits, and they will undoubtedly help in putting the picture over through exploitation. The minstrel numbers have been staged in a capable manner by Richard Boleslavsky, and should provide plenty of opportunity for advertising tie-ups.

Good Society Melodrama

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

A SOCIETY drama with a gripping story capably acted. That should spell box-office and in this case undoubtedly will. Clive Brook and Ruth Chatterton are co-featured at the head of a corking cast, and in the bigger cities where there are tabloid newspapers the burlesquing of that type of publication will amuse the audience. There are several little bad kinks in the story that undoubtedly will be ironed out before general release.

The story is of a woman who laughs at death, laughs at her character being drawn through the mire and finally laughs when her plans for revenge go astray and she achieves her final hap-piness. The scene is the fashionable society colony at Southhampton, where the heroine is rescued from the surf by a husky life-saver who believes that this is his opportunity to crash into society. So he breaks into her room at mid-night. The woman is asked to leave the hotel, husband sues for divorce and obtains the custody of her child.

THIS all-dialogue western is the second of its type to be issued by Fox. The first T its type to be issued by Fox. The first was "fn Old Arizona." The principal trouble with this one is the fact that the principals mouth their lines in a Mexican dialect. This may be perfect for Mexican border states, but the rest of the country will wonder what it is all about.

Warner Baxter is featured over Antonio Moreno and Mary Duncan. There is a new-comer in Mona Maris, who is pretty to look at, although no unusual actress.

Bishop Murder Case

Murder-Mystery Thriller (Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

DEFINITELY following the regulation formula of the Van Dine mysteries, "The Bishop Murder Case" has been finely handled. It's a substantial attraction for the week runs, and will entertain in all types of houses. Audience partial to murder mysteries will cling to their seats.

With no outstanding picture names for "draw" qualities, the picture nevertheless has a most capable group of players. Excellent characterizations are provided by Roland Young, Alec Francis, George Marion, Charles Quartermaine, Clarence Geldert and James Donlan. The Shanghai Lady

(Universal-All Dialogue)

Too Torrid For Family Trade

(Reviewed by Freddie Schader)

THIS is sure enough box office and one of the best all dialogue pictures that Universal has done. It is a little too torrid for the regular family trade, but in the regular downtown houses in the bigger cities it should get real dough. The title is a draw and atop of that the performance by Mary Nolan and that James Murray are well worthwhile. The Nolan girl steals the honors. John Robertson, who directed, did a very neat piece of work.

The action is laid in China with Mary Nolan playing Cassie Cook, one of the "girls" in a Shanghai "tea" shop. She is even too wild to be permitted to remain among those entertaining ladies, and when the madame turns her out she vows that she is going to show them that she can pose as a "real lady." She meets up with an escaped convict on a train. She mistakes him for a gentleman and he is likewise fooled into believing she's a lady.

Musical shorts are suggested as fitting with this fcoture.

Ints Jeolure.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Story by John Colton. Scenario by Winnfred Eaton Reeve. Dialogue by Houston Branch and Winifred Eaton Reeve. Directed by John S. Robertson. Edited by Milton Caruth. Photographed by Hal Mohr. Length, 5,908 feet. Running time, 1 hour, 3 mins. Release date, Nov. 17, 1929.

"Stamina"

(Pathe Sound Sportlight-1 Reel) A Crackerjack

RANTLAND RICE opens his Sportlight GRANTLAND RICE opens in Spotting interest-compelling sport shots. At West Point terest-compelling sport shots. the plebes are seen receiving instruction in boxing and wrestling while at Annapolis the mid-dies engage in crew practice. Clean cut and fresh with an interesting oral elaboration upon the various scenes, this sound Sportlight easily is a winner. Football is also discussed in its

Good for any program. Particularly appra-priate to pep up a weak feature and to further improve a good one.

"Tajados Tipica Orchestra" (Vitaphone-1 Reel)

Strictly Spanish Appeal

THIS Mexican orchestra, playing a few Spanish melodies with some vocal work for good measure, appeals strictly to Spanish-speaking people and for others holds little attractions. Members of the orchestra are garbed in typical Mexican apparel. In every way, therefore, this short carries some appeal for the Latin race and can best be presented in big city localities where Latin colonies exist.

Out for general distribution. Appeal limited to those familiar with Spanish.

"His Operation"

(Pathe Variety Comedy-2 Reels)

A Bouquet Of Laughs

THIS Variety comedy, produced by Gordon Bostock, amiably disports itself and tunes in on the laugh station with a successful degree of regularity. It stars Charles Kempner, whose vaudevillian line of chatter is conducive to laughter. Kempner is sent to a hospital for an operation. A good deal of fun runs throughout the hospital scene.

Can be shown in conjunction with a dramatic feature to give program variety or with a com-edy feature to add more laughs.

"From Granada To Toledo"

(FitzPatrick-1 Reel)

H 1STORIC Southern Spain with the voice of Jas. A. Fitz Patrick as lecturer and incidental music cutting into the dialogue is the subject. Interesting and instructive with the added virtue of a limited footage. A nice number, provided the exhibitor knows his audience appreciates this type of material.

Sound acts and jazz bands will round out the bill. Feature may be either dramatic or light.

"Teddy Brown And Band"

(Int. Photoplay Distributors-1 Reel)

Sterotyped Band Subject

TEDDY BROWN is a 400-pound xylophone player working in front of a jazz band. The picture is a DeForest recorded subject with the xylophone registering in good style but the band stuff decidedly flat. Three numbers are played. The first "William Tell" followed by "Humoresque" and finally a popular air. Running time, 10 minutes.

Mediocre number might be used for jazz end of program. Market has many other band numbers that are much better.

"The Redcoat's Code" (Universal Silent-2 Reels) Contains Little Punch

THE old silent Western mine has long since petered out—at least it would seem from the lack of story in this action featurette. To Carson the stalwart mountie, defeats the usual treachery of the villain designed to win the gal. The redcoat has to work against the girl's father to handcuff his man. All ends well in spite of an absence of realism.

The photographer, uncredited, does good work. As a matter of fact he has contributed artistic jobs in innumerable previous Westernettes. He should get a break along with Joseph Levigard, the director who gets credit for their Strong surrounding numbers vital, regardless of type.

"The Barnyard Melody"

(Pathe Sound Cartoon-Running time, 7 Min.)

Noisy And Unfunny

THIS looks more like an early experiment in A combining sound with cartoon action. The familiar characters, Farmer Al, Waffles, Milton Mouse and Percy Pig, and the other characters make noises and in the effort forget the amus ing grotesqueries of action of which they once were capable. It makes a noise but it seemed pretty dumb entertainment to this reviewer. Just routine. Running time, 7 minutes.

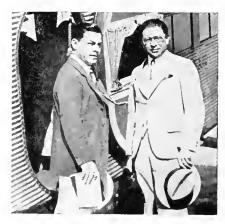

A Filler, perhaps, but it needs some fun be-

"Pathe Review No. 45" (Pathe Silent)

Baseball History Interesting

COMBINATION of the pictorial and the A historical—former in shots of chickens of various breeds, some shown in color, prized in Japan, and latter in views of some former shin-ing stars of the baseball diamond. The ball fans will be interested in seeing Fred Tenney, Syd Farrar, Amos Rusie, Honus Wagner, Johnny Evers, Hank Gowdy, Joseph Harris; as well as views of Cooperstown, N. Y., where the national pastime was born in the year 1839. A good silent Review number.

Seems suitable for most any program.

"His Operation"

(Pathe Variety-2 Reels) A Dull Affair

B EHIND scenes opener, with gals doing dance routine, promises flash that is not realized when scene shifts to hospital for action-and not much action at that. Charles Kemper is featured in this Gordon Bostock production. He specializes in boob style of delivery and may be good if supplied with good material. In this case the material is lean and undernourished, and the hospital setting—never sure-fire for comedy—hurts rather than helps. Not much for younger patrons-too shy on action, and a little too broad in some of its comedy. Running time, 20 minutes.

Companion shorts of speedy action and good gags needed.

"Marching Home"

(I'itaphone-1 Reel)

Fine Dramatic Short

DOUGLAS STANBURY sings this number. It is an adaptation of the manner in which the number was originally presented on the Roxy stage several months ago. It created so big a bit there that it was held over for a week although the balance of the bill was changed. There is a male chorus of fifty voices in a corking silhouette marching finish for the picture. Stan sings well and can be played up because of his radio rep. Running Adaptable for any type bill.

"Rubeville Nite Club"

(Pathe-2 Reels)

Corking Singing-Dancing Sketch

THIS is one of the C. B. Maddock standard vaudeville sketches of the "Rubeville" series transferred to the screen. It is one of the best subjects of its kind from an audience entertainment value that has been seen by the reviewer to date. A night club is opened in Rubeville and the entertainers from the big city are brought out and introduced. There are four specialties. Through this there is a running story of the battle between the village constable and the owner of the club, with laughs galore coming from this conflict. A hurrah finish sends the picture to a close, with a lift for the audience instead of the dead finish that so many of the shorts have. Running time, 22

Fine for bill on which feature is heavy.

"Toot Sweet"

(Educational-Hamilton)

Hamilton In Good Form

LOYD HAMILTON does one of his boob LOYD HAMILTON does one or instructional characterizations in a fairly well gagged comedy about the romantic experiences of a young man who falls in love with the wrong girl. He meets her after buying a Ford for $50, takes her to a night club, where the charge for "breakage" is tacked on the check for food, entertainment, etc. This "breakage" item gets serious when the charming companion hearing gets serious when the charming companion becomes temperamental because she sees the man she loves—an Apache dancer—kiss his partner in the act. It is rather slam-bang, but laughable, and that's what counts. Some draggy moments, but altogether a rather good offering. Running time, 19 minutes.

A good general-purpose number, suitable for all types of patronage.

In Figuring Percentage Rating On Pictures, The Normal Or Average Business Of The Theatre Is Taken As 100%

Behind That Curtain (Fox)

VANCOUVER-Capitol (2,400), 25c-65c, 6 days. Other attractions, Fox Movietone News. Fall Fashion Review (Fashion Features, Los Angeles). On the stage, Alfred Meunier, conducting his New Capitolians. Weather, cold and foggy. Opposition, Christmas pantomine, "Humpty Dumpty," "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," "Salute," "The Valiant." Rating, 75%.

AD TIPS-Featured as a best seller by Earl Derr Biggers, now the best talkie. A trail of intrigue and romance which Scotland Yard follows around the world. Who was responsible for the death of that brilliant barrister, Hilary Galt? Worth while to mention Warner Baxter, Loic Morty and Cilbert French Ardisone. Lois Moran, and Gilbert Emery. Audience appeal, all classes young and old.—Capitol, Lloyd Dearth, Mgr., Vancouver.

Big Time (Fox)

CLEVELAND-Keith's East 105th St. (2,-200), 7 days, 25c, 05. Other attractions, Pathe News (sound and silent), Pathe Review, Sportlight (Pathe), Aesops Fables (Pathe), vaude-ville. Weather, rain. Opposition, "Saturday "Saturday Night Kid," "The Love Doctor," "Twin Beds." Rating, 83%.
